Give peace a chance

The Cairo talks represent a glimmer of hope for war ravaged Gaza in an otherwise bleak situation s fighting continues unabated in Gaza, negotiators gathered in Cairo this weekend for crucial discussions aimed at securing a ceasefire. The talks come at a pivotal moment, with the conflict between Hamas and Israel now in its tenth month. Despite the ongoing hostilities, there is hope that a breakthrough might be within reach, though significant hurdles remain. The war has left Gaza in ruins and triggered a humanitarian crisis of immense proportions. The conflict has displaced nearly all of Gaza's population at least once, and efforts to broker a ceasefire have so far failed to bring lasting peace. The international community, led by the United States, Egypt, and Qatar, has been engaged in persistent but ultimately inconclusive negotiations to end the violence. The Cairo talks, held under the shadow of ongoing violence, are seen as a critical step towards ending the conflict. However, the talks are complicated by the fact that Hamas, while sending a delegation to Cairo, has stated that it will not participate directly in the negotiations. Instead, the Hamas delegation is expected to meet with senior Egyptian officials to receive updates on the progress of the talks. Hamas continues to insist on a complete withdrawal of Israeli forces from Gaza, including from the Philadelphi Corridor along the Gaza-Egypt border, a key sticking point in the discussions. Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has his own reservations and is unwilling to withdraw troops from border,

The framework for the current talks is based on a plan outlined by U.S. President Joe Biden on May 31, which has been endorsed by the United Nations Security Council. The plan envisions a three-phase process, beginning with a full and complete ceasefire, during which hostages would be exchanged for Palestinian prisoners in Israeli jails. Despite initial agreement on the plan by Hamas leadership, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has expressed reservations, particularly regarding the continued presence of Israeli troops along the Gaza-Egypt border, which he argues is necessary to prevent Hamas from rearming. The United States is exploring new proposals to bridge the gap between Israel and Hamas. The success of talks likely hinging on whether the U.S. can pressure Netanyahu into accepting a compromise. Meanwhile the war rages on in Gaza. Israeli airstrikes and artillery fire have devastated the territory, with reports of dozens of civilian casualties in recent days. The United Nations has reported large-scale evacuations from areas such as Deir el-Balah and Khan Yunis, as Israeli military operations intensify. The humanitarian situation in Gaza remains dire, with displaced families forced to flee daily in search of safety. Both Israelis and Gazans are increasingly desperate for an end to the bloodshed. Protests have erupted across Israel, with thousands calling for a deal to secure the release of the remaining hostages. The path to peace remains fraught with challenges, and the coming days will be crucial in determining whether a lasting ceasefire can be achieved.

Gender reform in 19th-century Bengal

In the 19th century, a complex interplay of reformist and colonial influences emerged, particularly concerning the status of women

n the 19th century, as British colonialism reshaped the Indian socio-cultural landscape, intel-lectuals like Captain N. Augustus Willard and Indian reformers grappled with the status of women in India. Willard, like many British officials, viewed Indian women with a mixture of pity and a sense of moral duty, perceiving them as victims of ignorance, reflected in their preference for songs that were considered passionate and sensual. At the same time, English-educated Bengali elites, inspired by both Western ideas and traditional Hindu values, sought to reform women's education while retaining patriarchal norms. It is pertinent to mention the role played by the renowned social reformer Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar, a key figure among the Bengali bhadralok, who championed the cause of widow remarriage and women's education.

Influenced by Western education, et deeply rooted in his cultural heritage, Vidyasagar sought to balance these dual influences. He established numerous schools for girls, believing that education vas essential for their empowerment and societal upliftment. Another key figure in India's renaissance movement, Bankim Chatterjee Chandra (Chattopadhyay), a luminary in Indian literature, is celebrated for his seminal contributions to both educational reforms and the Indian freedom struggle.

His multifaceted legacy extends beyond his literary genius, encapsulating his role as an intellectual force in the socio-political landscape of 19th-century India. Bankim Chandra was a pioneering figure in the sphere of educational reforms in India. His vision for education was grounded in the belief that a modern, enlightened society could only emerge through an educated populace. Chatterjee advocated for the modernization of the education Kundanandini, and Rohini. In "Sitaram," the tragic effects of polygamy are highlighted, while "Anandmath" contrasts the nation's depiction as Mother, while the exclusion of women from the fight for its cause is also depicted. It can be said that Bankim Chandra Chattopadhyay's depiction of strong, independent female characters - despite their complexities - challenged existing gender norms and inspired a rethinking of women's potential and place in society. By showcasing women as central figures in the fight against oppression and as leaders in their own right, Bankim Chandra's works resonated with the growing movements for social and political reform. Anybody would have been shocked and put their head in shame to feel pity for the people who have voted for the respective candidates from their constituency by the fond hope that they will deliver well for them. The update is that there are as many as 151 sitting MPs and MLAs declared cases related to crimes against women in their election affidavits, with West Bengal having the highest number of lawmakers facing such cases, according to a recent report by a poll rights body.

West Bengal tops the list with 25 sitting MPs and MLAs facing charges related to crimes against women, followed by Andhra Pradesh with 21 and Odisha with 17, according to the report that comes under the ongoing nationwide protests. BJP tops the list with 54 MPs and MLAs facing charges of crime against women, and Congress follows with 23. It would be more appropriate if the law takes its course to prove or clear those of charges by putting them before the fast track so that people's trust on them can be delivered on its own merits.

There should be important laws and regulations for the protection of lands. Such laws need to be framed and strictly enforced. Special ordinances should also be framed to protect temple lands. People's cooperation is very important for the protection of temple lands. Conservation of lands is possible if temples, their administrators and local people work together.

All necessary measures regarding protection of lands can be taken by deputing specially trained personnel to protect temple lands. By recording land status and other details in digital form, illegal encroachments can be detected quickly. It is good for conservation of lands.

Protection of temple lands means protection of spiritual, cultural and social rights. Hence, it is imperative that the overnment, local institutions, and people work together.

FIRSTCOLUMN ALL WORK AND NO SPORTS MAKES YOU DULL

Sports are essential for achieving physical and mental balance to have wholesome life

he guestion of whether India is overly focused on work and less on sports is a valid concern, especially in a country where academic and professional success is often prioritized over physical activities. In many Indian families, there is a strong emphasis on academics and securing stable, well-paying jobs. However, this focus often overshadows the importance of sports, which sometimes are viewed as extracurricular activities rather than potential career paths. Despite living in the 21st century, the competitive nature of academic exams, such as the IIT-JEE, NEET, IIFT and various public service exams, place enormous pressure on students to excel in academics and as a result, sports often end up taking a backseat during the crucial educational years.

There is no denying the fact that sports teach valuable life skills such as teamwork, leadership, discipline and resilience, which are beneficial in both personal as well as professional life. Today, if we look back, India's journey in the Olympics has been marked by significant achievements, challenges and a growing presence in various sports disciplines be it archery, weightlifting, badminton, athletics and the list goes on and on. Increasing media coverage of a diverse range of sports beyond cricket has helped in promoting other sports. Moreover, sports have proved to be a powerful tool for promoting peaceful and inclusive societies. They bridge divides, foster understanding, and create opportunities for personal and collective growth as can be seen in the 2024 Olympics being held in Paris. Enhancing sports in India requires a multi-faceted approach that involves government support, private-sector investment, grassroots development and public engagement.

By addressing these areas, India can unlock its vast potential in sports, leading to greater national pride, improved public health and economic benefits which even include initiatives to encourage female particpation thereby providing equal opportunities, safety assurance and challenging societal norms that restrict women's involvement in sports. Moreover, sports can be adapted for individuals of all abilities thereby promoting inclusivity for people with disabilities. This will help not only in breaking down barriers but ensuring that everyone has the opportunity to participate. Sports can be a tool for conflict resolution, providing a neutral ground where individuals or groups in conflict can engage constructively. It even teaches important life skills such as leadership, resilience and teamwork. These skills are transferable to other areas of life, contributing to personal development and societal harmony. Programs that use sports for peacebuilding have been successful in areas of conflict around the world. International sports events such as the Olympics often serve as platforms for diplomacy and dialogue between nations, helping to ease tensions and promote global peace. While there has traditionally been a strong focus on academics and work in India, there is a growing recognition of the importance of sports.

How feasible is the goal of $5trillion economy by 2025

analysis 07

Can India truly sustain such high growth rates, or do these figures oversimplify the complex realities of its socio-political landscape?

n any discussion involving econothere will be seven views." This adage humorously reflects the diversity of opinions that often arises in economic discourse. While economists are inclined to project growth through metrics like GDP, inflation, and depreciation rates, these projections sometimes oversimplify the complexities of real-world politics and societal dynamics. Indeed, even the most well-reasoned economic forecasts can falter when confronted with the unpredictable nature of political realities and the broader socio-economic context. Economists from the Reserve Bank of India, World Bank, International Monetary Fund, other big financial institutions, and even our governmentserving prominent experts arrive at different projections of India's growth story. Going by the latest two projec-tions, Krishnamurthy Venkata Subramanian, the former Chief Economic Adviser to the Narendra Modi government and current Executive Director for India at the International Monetary Fund (IMF) says India will be reaching a $55 trillion economy by 2047. Subramanian's projection of a $55 trillion economy appears optimistic, especially when juxtaposed with Ernst & Young's prediction of $26 trillion by 2047. At this point, it is difficult to say whose projection is realistic given the very dynamic nature of the Indian economy where several socio-economic and political forces are at work simultaneously. Subramanian has made a bold claim in his new book, India @100: Envisioning Tomorrow's Economic Powerhouse. Released recently by Union Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal at a Special Session organized by ASSOCHAM in New Delhi, the book envisions India reaching a $55 trillion economy by 2047. Subramanian's proposition, while ambitious, is grounded in a comprehensive analysis of India's economic trajectory and the policies required to sustain high growth rates. It is not difficult to find the economic rationale behind such an ambitious projection, considering India's historical inflation rates, currency depreciation, and recent economic policies. He rightly emphasizes that achieving this target hinges on maintaining a real growth rate of 8% and an inflation rate of around 5%.

Historically, the depreciation of the Indian rupee against the dol-lar has averaged between 3% and 3.5%, primarily due to India's higher inflation rates. Subramanian notes that before the adoption of inflation target-ing in 2016, India's inflation averaged above 7%, necessitating higher depreciation rates. However, with inflation targeting and subsequent economic stability, India's inflation rate has moderated to around 5%, even amid entire economic journey would face a difficult path. Union Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal may disagree as while releasing the book launch, he also emphasized that the tar-get appears realistic due to the current political stability in India. He noted that even in a coalition government, the ability to make government, the ability to make bold decisions has been a key factor in driving economic reforms. Goyal highlighted that political stability, particularly with the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) maintaining a dominant position, provides a conducive environment for long-term economic planning. He pointed out that most seats the BJP lost in the last general elections were by margins of less than 30,000 votes, suggesting a strong underlying support base. This political backdrop, according to Goyal, is essential for over the next two decades and beyond.It is widely admitted that achieving these ambitious targets requires sound economic policies, particularly those that promote formalization, innovation, and entrepreneurship. India's informal sector, which constitutes a significant portion of the economy, is far less productive than the formal sector. Enhancing formalization through digital infrastructure and regulatory reforms could substantially boost productivity. Additionally, the importance of entrepreneurship and innova-tion. Since 2014, new firm creation in India has surged, establishing the country as the thirdlargest entrepreneurial ecosystem globally. Entrepreneurship not only drives productivity in new firms but also compels incumbent firms to innovate, leading to overall economic growth. A key pillar of Subramanian's vision is ethical wealth creation, which he believes government loses its strength the

is essential for fostering a large, prosperous middle class. He refutes the notion that wealth creation and employment are opposing forces, citing examples from his personal experiences and the broader economy. Wealth cre-ators, he argues, generate signif-icant employment and pay higher wages, contributing to overall economic welfare. Emphasis on ethical wealth creation stems from past instances of crony capitalism, which stifled economic growth and led to systemic inefficiencies. By promoting a transparent and fair business environment, India can ensure that wealth creation benefits a broader spectrum of society, thereby enhancing social and economic inclusion. The claim of a $55 trillion economy may be viewed by some economists as hypothetical, given the complexities of global and domestic economic landscapes.

Nevertheless. India's inherent economic strengths and resilience could indeed support the realization of the India@100 vision. Despite the slowing pace of globalization, geo-political tensions, and other unseen negative forces could pose signifi-cant threats to India's growth trajectory Nonetheless, with the right policies, particularly those that encourage domestic investment and exports, India can navigate these challenges and sustain high growth rates, controlled inflation, prudent currency management, and robust economic policies that foster innovation, formalization, and ethical wealth creation. As India stands on the cusp of a new economic era, these pillars will be crucial in shaping its journey toward becoming a global economic powerhouse. (The author is a senior journalist. However, for sports to gain equal footing, there needs to be a cultural shift, increased investment and better integration of sports into daily life. By promoting a balanced approach that values both work and sports, India can and will foster a healthier, more active and well-rounded society. Achieving this balance involves effective time management, prioritization and a shift in mindset that values both mental and physical well-being.

Building the foundation for the future: The struggles of adolescent girls in slums

Despite government initiatives, the young girls are often deprived of education facilities as they have to work and shoulder domestic responsibilities n Narrow lanes of Baba Ramdev Nagar, a slum in Jaipur, 12-year-old Pooia (name changed) cradles her three-year-old brother while her mother Sharda cooks nearby. Pooja obediently runs back and forth fetching water and other necessities as her mother instructs.

In contrast, her 8-year-old brother plays undisturbed. The scene takes a poignant turn when a friend of Pooja's, returning from school, stops by. Pooja's eyes light up as they discuss school, revealing her longing for education. But when asked why Pooja isn't attending school, Sharda interjects, "If she goes to school, who will look after the seem to slip further from her grasp.

Sharda and her husband, daily wage labourers, are among the many families in Baba Řamdev Nagar, a slum of over 500 people. Predominantly inhabited by Scheduled Castes and Tribes, including Lohars (blacksmiths), Jogis, Kalbeliyas, and daily labourers, these families have migrated from remote children?" Pooja's dreams rural areas of Rajasthan, driven by the hope of better the city. While some families have settled permanently, others migrate seasonally, depending on the availability of work However, the migration process and the economic hardships it brings take the greatest toll on the education of children, particularly girls.

The struggle to make ends meet often forces families to prioritize immediate survival over long-term investments like education In these situations, girls bear the brunt of the burden. The economic strain on the household disproportionately affects girls compared to boys, stunting not only their education but also their physical and mental development. Another story echoes Pooja's employment opportunities in in this slum-14-year-old

Asha (name changed), the eldest of four siblings. With her parents working as scrap dealers, Asha is left to care for her siblings and manage the household. On days when her mother cannot work, Asha steps in. Despite her strong desire to learn, Asha hasn't seen the inside of a classroom since fifth grade.

Her education, like that of many girls in the slum, halted as she took on responsibilities at home. An elderly resident, Kanti, questions, "If the girl goes to school, who will take care of the house and the younger siblings?" Yet, she remains silent on why these responsibilities aren't placed on the boys. Akhilesh Mishra, a social worker who has been active in the slum for eight years, points out, "There is ents to prioritize income over tain from school prevents still a lack of awareness about educating girls in urban slums like Baba Ramdev Nagar. Economic challenges and a lack of social consciousness about the importance of education lead par-them from benefiting. IndiaSpend's report highlights a concerning trend: while primary school dropout rates for girls in 2021-22 were 1.35%, this figure jumped to 12.25% at the sec-ondary level. The report underscores the urgent need for not just policy implementation but also grassroots awareness. Societal awareness is critical to ensuring girls' education is valued as highly as boys'. The struggle for education is most pronounced for adolescent schooling, often dragging girls, particularly in urban poverty-stricken areas like He adds that although the Baba Ramdev Nagar. Though government has launched some urban areas are beginning to reduce barriers to programs to promote girls' education, the distance girls education, the girls in this slum continue to fight for in Baba Ramdev Nagar main-their right to learn.

In Baba Ramdev Nagar, the pursuit of education for girls like Pooja and Asha faces formidable obstacles. Economic hardships and entrenched societal norms prioritize immediate survival over long-term education, leaving many girls out of school. Despite government initiatives, the gap in educational attainment remains wide due to factors such as child labor and domestic responsibilities disproportionately shouldered by girls. Addressing these challenges is crucial for breaking the cycle of poverty and securing a brighter future for these young girls.

PNS NEW DELHI

Anil Agarwal-led Vedanta Ltd has prepared a war chest of Rs 30,000 crore with recent funds raised through a qualified institutional placement (QIP), offer for sale (OFS) and dividend to pursue further deleveraging and growth, sources said.

Proceeds from the Rs 8,500-crore QIP of Vedanta Ltd, HZL's OFS of Rs 3,200 crore, and Rs 5,100 crore from the second interim dividend, coupled with existing cash reserves of Rs 13,000 crore, will lead to the creation of a Rs 30,000-crore war chest

HARMON OUS BLEND OF LOVE AND LOYALTY WITH HEY KANHA HEY GOPALA

t is the season when Hindu devotees immerse themselves in devotion to the divine deities once more! On Monday, we all observed Krishna Janmashtami and to add to the festivities, the famous singer and Padma Shri awardee Kailash Kher launched his new devotional song Hey Kanha Hey Gopala. However, don't expect it to be a typical release; this one is filled with spirituality, innovation and a hint of Kailash's distinct charm.

"Hey Kanha Hey Gopala was composed during our trip to Mathura and Vrindavan, during which our band Kailasa travelled for a concert,"begins the Teri Deewani singer. During their visit to the temples and ashrams, a huge crowd eagerly anticipated meeting the crew. Hey Kanha Hey Gopala is a deep musical tribute that transports listeners into > the peaceful and holy worlds of worship. The > > soothing

and spirituall uplifting soundscape created by Kailash Kher's emotive vocals, combined with a delicate mix of keys, flute and synthesiser, creates a complex auditory experience. The piece elegantly builds up to a grand climax, capturing the profound journey of love and dedication, and ultimately leaves the audience feeling spiritually fulfilled. "The emotions we experienced back then are reflected in this song. How can we humanise the splendor of God? How can we humanise his wondrous shape? And then, how can we humanise the meadow, the trail, the immaculate physique—everything that has been inscribed within us? Just as the lyrics read, Jamuna teere sameer, Thodi mand mand chale, Brij ki raj mein bhi sugandh, Mere govind ki mile. Overwhelmed during his visit to meet Kanha, the Chand Sifarish singer further recalls, "We were surrounded by a large crowd as we had gone to worship Kanha! was so overwhelmed. I was all smiles. I felt God's presence in the form of my fans.' He believes that, be it at Janmashtami or any other festival, people generally sing for the divine with a wish to be fulfilled. "Bhai maangte hi rahoge kya?' (Will you just keep asking?) he asserts. Hey Kanha Hey Gopala, he says, is a gratitude song. "We need to not always plead to God but rather thank God that we live a beautiful life. You are alive on earth; that is a great blessing. Your life is the biggest blessing. So we always compose songs for gratitude, for God and to describe their beauty An ardent devotional Kailash goes on to explain that just as the divine plants a thought in our hearts, he also provides us with a melody for that thought. Throughout the procedure, we also educate ourselves on sound

I listen to any music. I simply focus on my music and strive to get better. I enjoy listening to classical and folk music. Listening repeatedly has made us grow up and that's why the music is shaped so perfectly. It's not about the music sounding like others, but keeping its distinctiveness. As the chat nears its conclusion, he signs off with great enthusiasm, stating, "Every time I feel inspired to create a song, either for God or any other topic, it is God who provides them waves. "I don't have formal training, nor do with the inner inspiration and the words. This is how all singers and composers aim to incorporate new elements into their songs.

As Krishna Janmashtami dawns, let Hey Kanha Hey Gopala by Kailash Kher become the song that uplifts your spiritual path, connecting you to the eternal love and devotion of Lord Krishna.

Making Janmashtami even more devotional, Padma Shri Kailash Kher has released his devotional track Hey Kanha Hey Gopala. The Pioneer got an opportunity to speak to the ardent devotee as he took us on a devotional ride

For Arshi, this opportunity was not just a dream fulfilled but a testament to her unwavering determination and the resilience that has defined her journey. Her ascent to this pinnacle began ear-lier this year in New Delhi, where she secured the coveted Miss Transqueen India title. Reflecting on her victory, she describes it as "the world to me," cap-turing the magnitude of what it means to represent her country on such a prominent stage. This realisation spurred her to follow pageant stories even before her transition, finding inspiration and motivation to stay focused on becoming the best version of herself. Her path to Miss International Queen 2024 has not been without its obstacles. She speaks has not been without its obstacles, one spears candidly about the financial challenges she has faced in pursuing her pageantry dreams. "People don't realise that pageantry is expen-sive," she explains, shedding light on the difficulties of arranging funds for both nation-al and international competitions. Despite these challenges, she remains deeply grateful to the generous individuals who have supportto the generous individuals who have support-ed her, enabling her to chase her dreams and represent her country on a global platform. For her, participating in Miss International Queen 2024 was about more than just person-al achievement—it's about breaking barriers and challenging stereotypes. "Just by stand-ing on this platform Linguis and give wings ing on this platform, I inspire and give wings to thousands of dreams," she says, recognis-ing the powerful impact of her presence. Her mission is clear: to bring the transgender community into the mainstream through education. She is committed to empowering her community while also sensitising society to be more understanding and accepting. As she stepped onto the international stage, she felt a profound sense of fulfillment. The pressure of representing her country initial-ly weighed heavily on her, but after arriving in Thailand and beginning the rounds, she feels like she is "living the dream life." This experience is not just about her—it's about paving the way for thousands of other trans girls in India and around the world who see in her the possibility of their own dreams

Navigating the stress of such a high-stakes competition is no small feat, but she maintains her mental well-being by focusing on the joy of each moment. "There will be many rounds and you might not be good at some," she acknowledges. However, she believes it's essential to move on and embrace each experience fully. Her approach to the competition is not just about winning—it's about enjoying the journey and growing through it. She is also keenly aware of society's often flawed perceptions of beauty. Reflecting on her own experiences, she notes how dramatically perceptions can shift—from being labelled an "ugly" boy to being celebrated as a "beautiful queen." Yet, for her, true beauty transcends physical appearance. "Beauty isn't only about how you look," she asserts. lear skin and luscious hair is the ultimate beauty dream but the onset of monsoon literally pours water down those dreams. Although all age groups, whether it's millennials or Gen Zs, are actively putting in an increased amount of thought into their personal grooming needs, the high ambient humidity and excessive sweat brought on by monsoon presents new skin and hair care problems. With the skin and hair becoming more oily, peo-ple become vulnerable to hyperpigmentation, increased acne, excessive hair loss and frizz-riddled hair, among the other ones. That said, there are innumerable treatments and products available in the market that are specially formulated to target all these concerns. But the problem is, individuals actively experiment with different products without even understanding the seasonal changes and the associated concerns it preand the associated concerns it pre-sents. Against this backdrop, Clinikally conducted a survey to uncover the top skin and hair problems faced by Gen Zs and millennials dur-Despite the ing monsoon.

Talking about the sur-vey, Dr. Anindita Sarkar, advancements in skincare products, chief medical officer acne breakouts plague (Clinikally and AAYNA Clinics) said, "With the influx of beauty proda lot of people, primarily because ucts, individuals continmajority of the ue to use 'one-size-fitsproducts fail to take all' products, often forgetting about the into account its root uniqueness of their skin and hair."

Oily skin, pigmenta-tion, and acne are some of the common skincare challenges in monsoon cause.

The onset of monsoon brings forth a sense of relief from scorching summer heat but the surging humidity in the atmosphere makes the skin more oily, making it even more challenging for individuals with oily, acne-prone skin to maintain skin health.

Out of 10,500 total responses collected, 30.18% users reported witnessing an increase in pigmentation issues. This is primarily because people often neglect the importance of SPF during the monsoon, but the reality is the sun rays may hide behind the clouds but its effect on your skin is still potent. At the same time, pigmentation also leads to high frustration levels due to the unavailability of right products. The solution is simple, consult dermatologists who can recommend the right product, preferably something that is infused with vitamin C, or niacinamide.

Acne breakouts and scars continue to remain a common concern amidst the heavy rains. This is indicated by 12.97% votes. Despite the advancements in skincare products, acne breakouts plague a lot of people, primarily because major-ity of the products fail to take into account its root cause, ranging from hormonal imbalance, diet, stress, to environmental triggers. As a result, it becomes imperative to understand these triggers before jumping onto the solution.

Damaged and sensitive skin is another prevalent issue, with 10.63% individuals reporting their skin to be irritated and itchy. These common complaints of redness and irritation are typically associated with sensitivity issues as individuals are often prone to severe reactions either because of the wet weather or certain products. In tandem, there is an urgent demand for hypoallergenic and gentle formulations that minimise the damaged skin barrier by rejuvenating the skin altogether. Monsoon means higher sebum production and oily scalp which translates into dandruff and hair loss.

If you consider your hair as the epitome of your beauty, it is safe to assume that hair concerns significantly affect vou. You're not alone in this journey, as 12.39% individuals have noted a drastic increase in hair fall and loss, especially as we move towards the wetter months. Whether caused by increased humidity, genetics, pollutants, or other factors, hair loss is a common challenge and can be addressed by using the right products recommended by expert dermatolo-

Apart from hair loss, 6.41% individuals have also complained about itchy and irritated scalp and 4.63% about dan-druff respectively. The humid weather conditions worsen issues associated with dandruff and itchiness, as the scalp becomes riddled with excessive buildup of product, dirt, and oil. It is best to adopt a balanced approach to target both these symptoms and effects. In addition, 2.44% respondents also highlighted their discomfort over damaged and frizzy hair, underlying the need to curb the usage of heat styling tools and chemical treatments.

I'D LOVE TO WORK WITH PRABHAS AGAIN: SRIDEVI VIJAYKUMAR

ridevi Vijaykumar made her Telugu debut with Rukmini and played the female lead opposite Prabhas in his debut film Eeswar. However, after that, she did quite a few Telugu and Tamil films and almost quit after her marriage. Her last Telugu film was released more than a decade ago, but now she is com-ing back as a lead actress with the film Sundarakanda opposite Nara Rohit. "I feel happy that I am com-ing back with a feel-good film," says Sridevi at the promotional event for her Telugu film. She further went on to share, "I should thank the director of this film, Venkatesh, as he designed my character so well. The title is a good one and gives so much positivity. It's a fresh film and a family entertainer and I am ing this film. I am happy to come back again after a long gap as the lead actress?

"I was excited when I heard this story, and I am sure that my role is portrayed very well. Though I told my director that I would take some more time, he insisted on me and gave me confidence, so I agreed to do it. Though I missed the big screen, I never missed cameras," she said. For the unaware, Sridevi had earlier appeared on the small screen for a few television shows.

"I was keen to do this film and I feel this one is new for me. The entire credit goes to the director, because he has come up with a different story. He doesn't look like he is a debut director, as he worked sure that the audience will definitely enjoy watch- as an experienced one and handled everyone very well. The way he presented me in this film, I am confident that everyone will like it," says Sridevi. Coincidentally, her film Eeswar is re-releasing on October 23 on the occasion of Prabhas' birthday. When asked about that film and Prabhas, she says, "Prabhas is a darling and everyone calls him like that from his debut film. How he was at the time of Eeswar, he is the same person to date. Definitely, I would love to work with Prabhas. I am very excited because Eeswar is releasing on Prabhas' birthday. I am looking forward to it," says Sridevi.

She is now keen to continue working in Telugu cinema and play different roles in the near future. "I want to do good films and portray different roles," she says.

Sridevi Vijaykumar is all set to make her comeback in Telugu after more than a decade. She spoke about her comeback and also about Prabhas, where she acted as the female lead in his debut film Eeswar

Nara Rohit is all set to make his comeback with the film Sundarakanda. Venkatesh is the director and the film started its first promo-tional event on Monday in Hyderabad. Though his film Prathinidhi 2 released a few months ahead of the elections, it didn't do well. "Actually I wanted to come back with Sundarakanda, but I did Prathinidhi 2. The film didn't fare well at the boxoffice," Nara Rohit tells about his film.

Rohit took nearly six years to come back and he took a long break. "There are quite a few reasons for my break. Before Covid I did a couple of films, which

I don't like. If I do the typical commercial films, I feel that they may work out at the box office, but they didn't do well. So I decided to take a break initially, but because of some family issues, the delay prolonged for some more years," said Nara Rohit about his comeback. He said that it's just a co-incident that he is doing films when his uncle (pedananna) Nara Chandrababu Naidu became the Chief Minister. He added that he is not worrying about his existence because he is doing a film after a long time. "Even if you are continuously doing films, the actor's fate is decided by every Friday. So, I am not worrying about the break, there are so many Fridays and I am looking forward to my film's release," he said. About his entry into politics in the near future, he said he is presently concentrating on films. "I don't know, but if everything permits I may enter in 2029, let's see how things are going on, there is a lot of time for that," he said.

These days' audiences come to theaters to watch only star films, the small films they prefer to see in OTT. "I don't think it is right. The best example is Hindi film Stree 2 which is doing very well in theaters. You name any biggest Bollywood Star, but this film is doing better than those star films. If the content is good, definitely audiences come to theaters," said a confident Rohit. He added that the impact of OTT is not there. "Yes, after three weeks the film is streaming on OTT, but audiences wanted to see it first in the theater," he said. Talking about Sundarakanda he says that he has been travelling with director Venky from the last five years. "He wrote a peculiar love story and I loved it. This role is perfectly suited for me now, he savs. "When I was 24 I did my debut film Banam, I played a role which was above my age. Now, I am playing a role in this Sundarakanda that suits me per-fectly," he added.

Introducing Avram Baktha Manchu as 'Thinnadu' in Kannappa

he Manchu family's third generation is now into films. On the occasion of Janmashtami, the makers of Kannappa released the look of young Kannappa played by Manchu Avram Baktha, son of Manchu Vishnu. After Mohan Babu, it was Lakshmi, Vishnu and Manoj taking his legacy and now his grandson Avram is also making his debut on the big screen.

Continuing their promotional strategy of unveiling first-look posters of key racters from Kannappa, the maker introduced Avram Baktha Manchu as 'Thinnadu'. It is Mohan Babu who launched the first look of his grandson Avram and says "Here is my Avram. Happy Janmashtami" (sic) on his social media account. Avram Baktha Manchu makes a striking impression as Thinnadu, a character representing the childhood version of Vishnu Manchu's role. His portrayal exudes a fierce intensity, capturing the essence of the character with remarkable authenticity. From the intricacy of his costumes to his commanding posture, every detail contributes to a compelling depiction. The poster sees Kaali Maa statue in the background. Manchu Vishnu is proud to see his son on the big screen. "Happy Janmashtami! Proud to launch my Avram's look in Kannappa. Excited beyond words for the world to see him as an actor" (sic) wrote Vishnu Manchu who shared another poster of Avram. Kannappa is more than just a cinematic venture. It represents the convergence of three generations of the Manchu family's cinematic journey, featuring Mohan Babu, Vishnu Manchu and Avram Manchu. Avram impresses big time with his appearance in the first look poster. Kannappa is scheduled for a Pan India release in December.

"It's going to be organized by Balakrishna's fans and Pawan Kalyan and Nara Lokesh may attend for that event," says a source.

According to the makers, the story gets interesting when a beautiful girl falls for him, raising questions about why she would choose someone who is overlooked by many educated girls. Here comes the twist as they reveal the other side of this beautiful girl and from here the film turns into another interesting narration and the makers hope that audiences like it. The film is releasing on September 7. Khushbhoo Chowdary is playing the female lead opposite Tejus.

Shefali Shah expresses desire to work in Telugu cinema

C hefali Shah, one of the most versatile Sactresses in Bollywood, has consistently left a distinct mark on the screen with her compelling performances. Always eager to explore more in her craft, she is open to exploring opportunities in Telugu cinema. Recently Shefali was part of a moderated chat with Arundhati Bhattacharya, the CEO of Salesforce, in Hyderabad. The event was attended by over 400 women in person and more than 3,000 online.

During the conversation, Shefali expressed her admiration for Telugu cinema, saying, "I truly admire Telugu cinema. I think they perfectly blend grandeur with the art of storytelling. Look at their films, whether it's the Baahubali franchise, RRR, Kalki or Sita Ramam—they are truly magical. I would love to work with them if given a chance."

KALINGA TO HIT SCREENS ON SEP 13

hruva Vaayu, who got recognition with Kerosene, is now coming up with anoth-er film Kalinga. He took two responsi-bilities for this film which he played as lead actor and also director of the film. Deepthi Kondaveeti and Pruthvi Yadav are the producers. At an event on Monday, the makers announced that they are planning to release the film on September 13. The teaser of my film gets curiosity among both the industry and also the audience. With that the film's business done in all areas since the content has been well-received," says Dhruva Vaayu. He added that this film is not a regular one. "The film has all ingredients such as emotions, love, comedy, horror and thriller," says Dhruva. The actor and director are very confident that the content of the film and screenplay are going to be highlights of the film.

Producer Deepthi Kondaveeti is also confident about the film. Kalinga is Dhruva Vaayu's idea and we just supported him, she said. Pragya Nayan is playing the female lead in this film.

Megastar Chiranjeevi once again demonstrated the deep bond he shares with his fans. This year, he was particularly moved by the dedication of Eshwarayya, a long-time admirer who undertook a pilgrimage from Tirupati to Tirumala hill to pay homage to the legendary actor. Deeply touched by this act of devotion, Chiranjeevi invited Eshwarayya and his family to his home in Hyderabad for a memorable and emotional meeting. The megastar warmly welcomed the family, honoring them with gifts of pattu clothing and offering his unwavering support, further showcasing his well-known generosity and humility.

Ko completed what she described as a "Cinderella-like story" by breaking free from a logjam of world-class talent to win the Women's British Open by two strokes at St. Andrews on Sunday, securing a third major title - and a first in eight years. Just two weeks ago, the 27-yearold New Zealander took gold at the Olympic Games in Paris.

"This is almost too good to be true," Ko said. She rolled in a left-to-right birdie putt at the storied 18th hole on the Old Course to shoot 3-under 69 - for 7 under overall - and then had to wait to finish ahead of top-ranked Nelly Korda, defending champion Lilia Vu and two-time champion Jiyai Shin. That quartet of past or present No. 1s shared the lead at one point down the stretch of an engrossing final round played mostly in cold, blustery and wet conditions before ending in sunshine. Ko was waiting on the practice putting green not far from the 18th green, doing stretches while wearing ear muffs, when Vu lined up a 20-foot putt for birdie that needed to go in to force a playoff. ### Kvaratskhelia inspires Napoli to 1st win of Conte era with 3-0 victory over Bologna

Antonio Conte has Khvicha Kvaratskhelia back to his brilliant best and Napoli back to winning ways. Kvaratskhelia set up one goal and scored the second as Napoli beat Bologna 3-0 on Sunday for the first Serie A win of the Conte era - and the team's first league victory since April 7. Conte became Napoli's fifth coach in little more than a year when he was hired in June but his new team crumbled 3-0 at Hellas Verona in his first match back in Serie A. "The punch in the face we got in Verona made us immediately understand that if we want to forget the past we have to stay in the center of the ring, you give punches and you get them, but you have to keep standing," Conte said.

"I have a lot of faith in this group ... it was a tough week but we united even more, you won't get anywhere individually. These are my

Napoli also lost Kvaratskhelia to a minor head injury in Verona but the Georgia winger was back on Sunday - despite also having recently returned from his home country after his wife gave birth to their first child this week.

Giacomo Raspadori almost scored in the opening minute. Kvaratskhelia

hit the crossbar shortly before halftime with a looping header from the tightest of angles but Napoli didn't have to wait much longer for the first goal under Conte.

Giovanni Di Lorenzo started the move in first-half stoppages, cutting inside from the right before passing to Kvaratskhelia, who played him a superb ball back, dinking it over the Bologna defense for Di Lorenzo to sweep into the far side of the net. And Kvaratskhelia got on the scoresheet himself in the 75th, racing downfield from just inside the Bologna Summer signing Mateo half and firing into the Retegui headed Atalanta into bottom left corner from the edge of the area, with the help of a slight deflection. Kvaratskhelia celebrated by sucking his thumb in an apparent dedication to his newborn son.

Kvaratskhelia also had a hand in the third, in stoppage time. As he threaded the ball through to new signing David Neres, who rolled it across for Giovanni Simeone to slot past Lukasz Skorupski. SURPRISE DEFEATS: Atalanta and Roma both fell the lead in the 26th minute but Che Adams set up Ivan Ilic for the equalizer five minutes later and scored himself at the start of the second half.

Retegui and Charles De Ketelaere saw efforts come off the bar and Atalanta had an even better chance to level in stoppage time when it was awarded a penalty for a foul by Valentino Lazaro on Átalanta teenager Federico Cassa. Mario Pasalic stepped up but saw his spot kick saved by Torino goalkeeper
