Sarkaar Bachao Budget: Punjab's Unified Cry against the Union Budget-2024

eaders from across Punjab's Leaders from across terr, - the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), Congress, and the Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) — have come together to express dissatisfaction with the Union Budget-2024. The rare consensus highlighted the depth of their griev-ances against the BJP-led Central Government for what they describe as a blatant neglect of Punjab's pressing needs.

In a collective outcry against the BJP-led Central Government's failure to announce any special package for Punjab, they have sharply criticized the budget as a "Sarkaar Bachao Budget", accusing the Centre of tailoring it to benefit NDA allies in Bihar and Andhra Pradesh, while neglecting the vital needs of farmers, the impoverished, and the youth across the nation.

Punjab Finance Minister Harpal Śingh Cheema did not mince words in his critique of the budget presented by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman as he condemned the budget as a "complete disappointment" for Punjab. He accused the Centre of ignoring the state's specific demands, such as a package for crop diversification.

Cheema's scathing remarks underscored a perceived stepmotherly treatment towards border states like Punjab, with crucial sectors such as roads, health, and education left wanting. The reduction in fertilizer subsidies by 36 percent was

Echoing Cheema's senti-ments, Punjab Congress president and Ludhiana MP Amarinder Singh Raja Warring accused the BJP of prioritizing political gains over the welfare of the nation, citing the allocation of special infrastructure funds to Bihar and Andhra Pradesh as a glaring example. Warring's disappointment was palpable as he highlighted the lack of attention to Punjab, a state vital to India's agriculture and military. SAD president Sukhbir Singh Badal also joined the chorus of disapproval, describ-ing the budget as discriminatory towards Punjab. Sukhbir emphasized the omission of any substantial support for Punjab's farmers, particularly in terms of debt waivers and incentives for crop diversification. The absence of a legal guarantee for Minimum Support Price (MSP) was another significant point of contention. He criticized the budget for failing to provide necessary tax concessions to the state's industrial sector, further highlighting the eco-nomic distress faced by Punjab.

AAP MP from Anandpur Sahib Malvinder Singh Kang and the Leader of Opposition in Punjab Vidhan Sabha Partap Singh Bajwa amplified the col-lective grievance. Kang pointed out the pro-corporate focus of the budget and demanded immediate release of funds for Punjab's Rural Development Fund and National Health special package for Punjab's agriculture sector, criticizing the Centre for overlooking the state's critical role as the food bowl of India. Bajwa also highlighted the budget's failure to address the demands for MSP on 23 crops, a promise made by Prime Minister Narendra Modi that remains unfulfilled. Senior Congress leader argued that the allocations for agriculture were insufficient to pull the sector out of its deepening crisis, further exacerbating the challenges faced by Punjab's farming community.

SAD's Bathinda MP Harsimrat Kaur Badal also criticized the Union Budget 2024 as a 'Sarkar Bachao' budget, crafted primarily to appease NDA allies in Bihar and Andhra Pradesh, while neglecting the needs of farmers, the poor, and the youth nationwide. She lamented that Punjab has been overlooked for the sixth consecutive budget cycle since Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) left the NDA alliance. She demanded accountability from those who, under the guise of addressing Punjab's issues, have instead perpetuated the state's ongoing neglect and discrimination by the Centre.

Punjab BJP terms Budget as a beacon of progress and prosperity

The Punjab unit of the BJP has warmly embraced the Union Budget 2024 with state BJP president Sunil Jakhar terming it as a significant step towards the vision of a 'Viksit Mission. Bajwa, on the other hand, lamented the lack of a focus on youth employment, agricultural resilience, and tax relief, signaling a new era of development and prosperity for the nation. Jakhar lauded the budget as a testament to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's foresight and Finance Minister Sitharaman's pragmatic approach. He emphasized that the budget's empha-sis on job creation, education, and infrastructure aligns perfectly with the aspirations of the vouth and the needs of the agricultural sector. The allocation of Rs 1.48 lakh crore for education and employment over the next five years, aimed at benefitting 4.1 crore youth, is a landmark initiative that Jakhar believes will significantly impact the country's future.

Hailing the budget, Punjab's former Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh posted on X, "Kudos to Hon. PM @narendramodi ji & FM @nsitharaman ji for a futuristic & inclusive budget. Your vision for a stronger, more resilient India is truly commendable....The initiatives announced today will surely boost growth, innovation & prosperity for all!" BJP national spokesperson Jaiveer Shergill added his endorsement, calling the budget a transformative document that promises "happy days" for diverse sections of society, including youth, women, farmers, and the MSME sector. Shergill underscored the budget's ambitious goals, such as the Rs 1.54 lakh crore earmarked for agriculture and the provision for a new skilling scheme aimed at 20 lakh youth over the next five vears.

Harsimrat pushes for legal guarantee of MSP with private members bill

n a significant move to bolster farmers' rights, SAD MP from Bathinda Harsimrat Kaur Badal has introduced a Private Members Bill in the Parliament seeking to make the Minimum Support Price (MSP) a legal guarantee for all crops.

The move is seen as a critical measure to address the financial distress faced by the farmers and to align with the Swaminathan Commission's recommendations for agricultural sustainability.

The proposed bill aims to ensure that farmers receive a price for their produce that includes a 50 percent profit over the comprehensive cost of production. Currently, farmers are disheartened by the fact that they only receive about 30 percent of the price paid by consumers, leaving them vulnerable to debts and financial instability. Harsimrat's proposed bill seeks to rectify this imbalance by securing MSP as a statutory right. Emphasizing the urgency of the bill, Harsimrat said: "Farmers are the backbone of our nation, yet they are struggling with inadequate compensation for their hard work. This bill is designed to provide them with the financial security they need and deserve. I urge all political parties to come together in support of this measure to stabilize farmers' incomes and promote sustainable agricultural practices."

In a show of solidarity, Harsimrat, along with MPs from other Punjab-based parties, including members from Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) and Congress, met with farmers in Delhi earlier this week. During this meeting, they assured the farmers of their unwavering ommitment to addre Prior to the introduction of the bill, farmers had also submitted a petition to all MPs, excluding the 240 BJP members, urging for the inclusion of a legal MSP guarantee in the budget session. They highlighted that this legislative move was essential for their financial stability and promised to closely monitor the actions of all political parties, adjusting their strategies based on their support for this critical issue. "In a landmark event to secure the just rights of the "Annadaata", Shiromani Akali Dal MP @HarsimratBadal_ has moved a Private Members Bill in parliament to make Minimum Support Price (#MSP) a legal guarantee on all crops...This is the need of the hour to save farmers from indebtedness. This should be done as per the Swaminathan Commission recommendations which calls for ensuring a 50 % profit on the comprehensive cost of production? I appeal to all political parties to support the Bill to provide financial security to farmers, stabilize their income and encourage sustainable agriculture practices," SAD president and Harsimrat's husband Sukhbir Singh Badal posted on X.

 $F^{\rm armers,\,a}$ section of which has been protesting at the Shambhu border since February, have expressed deep disappointment over the Central Government's budget proposals, which they claim have once again failed to address their critical concerns. The much-anticipated budget has been criticized by the farmers for its lack of provisions for a Minimum Support Price (MSP) guarantee law and for neglecting vital aspects of agricultural sup-

Voicing a strong disapproval of the budget, farmer leader Sarwan Singh Pandher labeled it as "pessimistic" while accusing the Modi Government of disregarding the farming community for the seventh consecutive year. Pandher's criticism highlights the absence of any measures for MSP guarantees and debt relief for farmers - the key demands that have been central to the ongoing protests.

In a sharp rebuke, Pandher pointed out that out of the Rs 48 lakh crore budget, a mere Rs 1.52 lakh crore — less than three percent — is allocated to the farmers. "This is a stark reminder of the government's continued neglect of the agricultural sector, despite the fact that farmers and labourers constitute nearly 70 percent of the population," he argued.

The budget's provisions for natural farming incentives, seed development, and rural growth have been dismissed by Pandher as "unrealistic and insufficient". He asserted that the budget fails to offer any tangible solutions for improving the farming sector or addressing the pressing issues faced by farmers.

Pandher further criticized the budget for lacking vision and direction, particularly in terms of youth employment. He dismissed the promises of government jobs and corporate sector opportunities as mere illusions, arguing that they do not address the core issues affecting farmers and rural communities.

PUNJAB FM CRITICIZES UNION BUDGET AS "COMPLETELY DISAPPOINTING"

Chandigarh: Punjab Finance Minister Harpal Singh Cheema on Tuesday strongly criticized the Union Budget describing it as "completely disappointing" and claiming that Punjab's inter-ests have been deliberately ignored. Cheema's critique focused on the budget's neglect of women, the poor, and farmers, along with its failure to address regional disparities. Cheema expressed grave concerns about the Union Government's decision to slash fertilizer subsidies for FY 2024-25. He pointed out that this reduction would place a significant burden on farmers nationwide and have particularly adverse effects on Punjab's economy, where agriculture is a cornerstone. "This move is alarming, especially given the Union Government's claims of prioritizing farmers' welfare and aiming to double their income. The budget's omission of a crucial Minimum Support Price (MSP) guarantee only deepens the uncertainty facing our farmers," Cheema said. He also crit-icized the budget for not addressing the specific challenges faced by Punjab's farmers, such as water management, crop diversifi-cation, and sustainability. Despite the state's vulnerability to flooding, the budget failed to allocate significant funds for flood management and irrigation projects tailored to Punjab's needs. Cheema accused the Union Government of exacerbating regional imbalances by neglecting Punjab in favour of prefer-ential treatment for neighboring hill states and other regions.

UNION BUDGET DISAPPOINTED HARYANA: HOODA

Chandigarh: Former Haryana Chief Minister and Leader of Opposition Bhupinder Singh Hooda on Tuesday said that Haryana is hugely disappointed with the Union Budget as there was no mention of Haryana anywhere in the budget. Hooda said the budget has also completely disappointed the farmers, small traders, middle class, poor and housewives of the country, because the people who are facing the brunt of continuous inflation and heavy taxes were not given any relief from inflation. The farmer's hands remained empty once again and this budget was silent on MSP guarantee. There was no increase in the amount of Kisan Samman Nidhi either. Optimistic outlook

The Economic Survey for 2023-24 emphasises the urgency of addressing inequality and unemployment

he Economic Survey for 2023-24 released on the eve of the Union Budget is optimistic about the Indian story of growth and development; however, it also indicates the areas of concern on which it suggests the Central Government to act on priority. It is customary to have the Economic Survey just before the budget as it sets the tone of the budget and puts things in perspective. This year round it is buoyant on growth and pegs India's GDP growth at 6.5 -7.0 % in this fiscal year. The Economic Survey, a comprehensive report that reviews the developments in the Indian economy over the past year, forecasts robust growth in various sectors. This optimism is grounded in several factors, including strong domestic consumption, increased investments, and favourable government policies. Interestingly this is despite the fact that most economies around the world are struggling to attain much lower levels of GDP. The survey underscores the Government's focus on infrastructure as a critical driver of growth. Ongoing projects in road, rail, and port development are expected to boost connectivity and efficiency, facilitating smoother trade and commerce. Besides, the rapid expansion of the digital economy is another significant area of growth. Though open to criticism, the Survey maintains that the 'Make in India' initiative continues to show promising results.

The survey notes that boosting exports, particularly in high-growth industries such as pharmaceutical, electronics, and textiles, could significantly enhance India's global economic standing. The Survey also talks about the problem area of the Indian economy. Agriculture, the backbone of the Indian economy, remains a priority. The survey recommends further reforms to increase productivity and ensure sustainable growth in this sector. Innovations in technology and better access to markets are crucial to achieving these goals. The Economic Survey rightly numerates various factors which could pull down the economy and be an impediment in the national growth. The biggest stumbling block is of course inflation. The survey suggests a balanced approach to monetary policy to manage inflation without stifling growth. Unemployment yet another constraint needs to be addressed on priority. The survey calls for policies that support skill development and entrepreneurship to harness the potential of the burgeoning young population. PM Modi reaffirmed the government's commitment to fostering an environment conducive to growth. Indeed, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman's Budget for 2024-25 incorporates several suggestions made by the Economic Survey. Setting a roadmap for the third term of Modi Government, Union Finance Minister has defined nine priorities. These are agriculture, employment, human development, energy security, manufacturing, innovation, infrastructure and next generation reforms. These would indeed go a long way in reducing unemployment, curbing inflation and giving economy a push that would be inclusive and sustainable.

India backs Philippines in South China Sea standoff

As China continues its aggressive tactics, the Philippines, bolstered by international alliances, stands resilient against Beijing's coercion enemy's enemv is my friend is a fitting adage for India; 's support to the Philippines which is fighting a battle royale in the South China Sea with China. Chinese Coast Guards have been regularly intruding into the Philippines Exclusive Economic Zone (PEEZ) which they regard as part of the South China Sea under its default claim of 10 dash line that was rejected by an arbitration court at Hague under UNCLOS in 2016. Bash on regardless is PLA's dictum in coercing the Filipinos as they to us along LAC. Foreign Minister S Jaishankar visited Manila in May and expressed full support for the Philippines in its claims in PEEZ.

Foreign Ministry spokesperson after the 17 June clash said " We oppose destabilizing unilateral action to change status quo by force or coercion". Earlier in 2022 India made its first international sale of the Brahmos anti-ship missile system to the Philippines. I was in Manila last month, days after the 17 June incident comparable to our own Galwan clash on 15 June 2020. It was evident that the Chinese were bullying Filipinos in their waters. The 17 June incident has been flogged with Chinese but mainly Filipino accounts. In brief, Chinese Coast Guards are trying to force out Filipino Coast Guards from their outpost on Thomas Shoal 2 which they preemptively occupied in 1999 denying a free run to China in seizing unoccupied islands in PEEZ.

Like pirates, the Chinese Coast Guard are even poaching in EEZ of Asian countries. Chinese have unilaterally promulgated la in the South China Sea laws that allow them to seize for 60 days without trial, foreign vessels and even fire at them -which they have not done - if necessary.

Chinese Coast Guard is employing lethal weapons short of firearms like picks, axes, spears and rods to inflict casualties with medieval warfare equipment that the PLA used to surprise Indian troops in Galwan. Malaysia, settle disputes by internation-Brunei, Vietnam and Indonesia have quietly accepted Chinese ners in their backyard". The US bullying while the Philippines is wary of opening another financial support to the Philippines. In Manila, after the violent incident near Thomas Shoal Chinese Coast Guard intercepted the Philippines Coast Guard that was trying to resupply its small island garrison. Seven Filipino sailors were wounded in the clash and one lost a thumb. Seven rifles were also impounded and have not been returned. President Bong Bong Ferdinand Marcos Jr who had recently warned China at Shangrila Dialogue of 'consequences' and vowed not to yield 'even an inch or a millimeter' has been blowing hot and cold as have his ministers also.

The Philippines has a Mutual Defence Treaty of 1951 with the US whose conditions are more specific and binding than the US-Taiwan Act. Still, no one wants to invoke the Treaty over the 'territorial integrity of a Shoal'. American Ambassador to the Philippines Mary Carlsson said in Manila on 24 June that China should al law and "not bully our part-front after Ukraine, Gaza and the Red Sea, even as the risk of accidental escalation or misunderstanding is high in the Taiwan Straits. The US plans to revive and modernize Subic Bay and adjoining Clarks Airbase and is deploying the deadly Typhon missile system at some of their ten bases in the Philippines.

The Indian Brahmos missiles are located in Luzon facing the South China Sea and can reach out to Chinese-occupied Mischief Reef, Thomas Shoal 2 and Scarborough Shoal. It is believed that some 3 to 400,000 Americans reside in the Philippines and US-Philippines relations under Marcos Jr are back to its heyday. The Philippines is actively collaborating with QUAD-US, India and Australia.

The code of conduct in the South China Sea under preparation for over two decades is expected to be finalized in 2026.

However, the most recent agreement is about establishing hotlines at various levels for stopping maritime incidents. From the US and Indian perspective, the Chinese claimed preeminence in the South China Sea has to be contested by QUAD, AUKUS, the new trilateral between Japan, the Philippines and South Korea.Further resistance to the reunification of Taiwan must continue and Taiwan Straits remain free for navigation and overflights.

As China's economy declines, and Asian economies grow through new supply chains and the realization of India's Act East policy, Western collective deterrence will dampen Chinese bravado in the South China Sea. To mitigate heatwave effects we must priortise innovations in RE ndia is no stranger to scorching summers. Recently, the country has endured its longest and most intense heatwave in recorded history, with temperatures in some areas soaring to a blistering 50 degrees Celsius.

Heatwaves in India typically occur between March and June, with May being the peak month. The Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) defines a heatwave as a period where temperatures exceed 40°C in plains, 37°C in coastal areas, and 30°C in hills, with significant deviations from average temperatures. When this deviation reaches 6.5°C or more, it is classified as a "severe heatwave." The public health implications of such extreme temperatures are severe. Heatstroke, dehydration, and heat exhaustion become common, exacerbating pre-existing conditions like heart disease and respiratory issues. Vulnerable populations, including children, the elderly, and outdoor workers, are particularly at risk. The heatwaves also impact wildlife, causing water scarcity, disrupted food chains, and habitat loss. Livestock suffers from

THAT GOOD MORNING THUD

Madam - Day after day, month after month and year after year, I have waited, and have been rewarded with, the familiar thud of a bundle of newspapers at my doorstep. Two newspapers rolled into a cylindrical bundle, a Hindi one for my significant other, and an English one for myself, have made their presence felt at a fixed time, and at a designated landing spot - a coir doormat placed just outside of our front door. Kudos to our "paperwallah bhaiya" whose throw never misses the mat. And what's more, the bundle always aligns itself in the North-South direction, even after a seemingly careless throw.

The soft thud is much like the firing of a starter pistol before a sprint, albeit much less noisy. The familiar thud signals that yet another day has begun, and we have no time to fritter away. What remains now is to pour the hot coffee into our waiting tumblers, put on our specs and try to take the world in our stride.

MAMATA'S GOODWILL GESTURE

Madam — This is in response to the news report titled "Opposition curses NDA Sarkar" (July 22). A state government might not have any locus standi to offer shelter to foreign citizens within its border, but West Bengal Chief minister Mamata Banerjee must be appreciated for displaying such warmth for the innocent Bangladeshis running away from internal unrest. After all humanity must reign supreme over petty artificial international borders. So instead of maligning Banerjee with all sorts of ridiculous accusations possible, BJP leaders must ask it's own government in New Delhi to act as gallanthearted as Indira Gandhi (during the 1971 turmoil prior to formation of Bangladesh) and allow refuge to the escaping Bangladeshis in the neighboring Indian states including West Bengal.

BANGLADESH BLUES

Madam — Apropos, "Trouble in Bangladesh," Jul 22. The tragic death of about 100 people in violence triggered by the students' protest demanding a roll-back of 30 percent job reservation for relatives of veterans who fought in the 1971 war in Bangladesh, has shown the Sheikh Hasina government in poor light. The quota provision has been under fire as it apparently benefits the supporters of PM Hasina, whose Awami League party led the independence movement.

She had defended it on the grounds that veterans deserved the highest respect for their contribution to the liberation, regardless of their political affiliation. However, the PM cannot afford to ignore the present realities. A meritbased system for jobs will help Bangladesh sustain its impressive economic march. Hopefully, the government will implement the apex court's order in letter and spirit. The tragic deaths resulting from the students' protest against job reservations have cast a shadow over the Sheikh Hasina government. While the PM defends the quota for veterans, a meritbased system is essential for Bangladesh's economic progress.

The government must heed the apex court's order to ensure fairness. This situation also serves as a cautionary tale for India, where prioritising political considerations in job quotas could have serious repercussions.Now the apex court of Bangladesh has toned down the quotas it is likely that Bangladesh will once again have peace and chart on its path to progress. FIRSTCOLUMN HARNESSING THE POWER OF OPTIMISM

In the high-pressure maze of the corporate world, optimism emerges as a powerful antidote to stress

he corporate world is a maze of challenges, deadlines, and pressures that often leave an employee drained and disheartened. However, amidst this complex and mostly daunting environment, there lies a strong antidote: optimism. That very saying, "The whole world runs on hope," has within itself a very deep message that can turn around professional life and make it work wonders. Optimism, not pessimism, is not some feel-good philosophy but a very practical way to build resilience, increase productivity, and foster a more positive workplace culture.Long-term optimism is the positivity of thinking towards the occurrence of good things and ultimately positive results from our efforts. This mindset should be at the core of every working principle in a corporate setting. Projects may fail, market conditions may go for a toss, or other obstacles might impede; it is then that the optimist who views these obstacles not as insurmountable barriers but as opportunities for growth and learning.

Consider its effect on workplace morale. The optimistic frame of mind can make a lot of difference in the general feel of an office. If leaders or team members have bright, twinkling eyes and a positive outlook, this no doubt will breed others to emulate and follow in their footsteps, creating an upward spiral of sentiments. This sort of collective optimism yields openness to collaboration, increasing innovation, and a willingness to take calculated risks. A team that believes in the possibility of success is going to realize it far more than one that is bogged down in doubt and negativity.Optimism allows for an increase in resiliency. When faced with setbacks, an optimistic person is more likely to try again and views these failures as being transitory, or conquerable

This elasticity can prove particularly useful in business circles where preservations are often what distinguish between giving up and breaking through to success. In its instance, the optimistic approach will make individuals keep themselves motivated and move consistently toward their goals, even when the odds are not favourable. Even so, optimism needs to strike a correct and delicate balance with realism. Blind optimism that is not based on the real situation brings over-optimistic expectations with a sense of subsequent disappointment. The key here is to adopt realistic optimism: know the challenges, and uncertainties, but emphasise solving the problems and cultivating the outcomes. This balanced approach will keep one hopeful without losing sight of practical considerations. One of the ignored facts about optimism is its relationship with the capability of stress management. The corporate world itself is a very stressful environment with great stakes and constant demands. Optimism hence acts as a defence mechanism against this stress and thus helps them cope better under pressure. Optimistic employees must, therefore, be more likely to resort to proactive coping strategies like problem-solving and seeking support than become prey to anxiety and despain This kind of camaraderie enhances job satisfaction, reducing turnover rates and generally creating a stable and harmonious work environment.Inculcating optimism in professional life does not mean one gets oblivious to challenges and uncertainties in a business environment. Instead, it is a manner of relating to them with hope and activity. Without attachment to the outcomes, giving it our best creates the opportunity for a whole lot of possibilities to start unwrapping. Life itself, much like work, is unpredictable. Embracing that uncertainty optimistically makes us able to move through the corporate landscape resiliently, creatively, and in high spirits. Optimists by choice can build a workplace that is productive, enriching, and supportive. This means that optimism is not merely a personal virtue; rather, it is a business asset with its key to professional success and better careers.

Income tax amendment promises relief for MSMEs

The biggest problem faced by small enterprises is delayed payment of their dues by large enterprises as it results in a shortage of working capital severely impacting their production

n amendment to the Income Tax Act, introduced through Finance Act 2023, and effective from April 1, 2024 stops businesses from claiming tax deductions for payments beyond 45 days to the Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) for supply of goods and services has caused much consternation. The MSMEs are ancillary units engaged in the production, manufacturing and processing of goods and commodities (mostly intermediate goods) which are supplied to large enterprises or master units. These units operate on a small scale and are further categorized into micro, small and medium enterprises depending on the investment' and 'turnover' threshold as defined under the Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises Development Act,

A micro-enterprise is one where investment in the plant and machinery or equipment doesn't exceed Rs 10 million and turnover doesn't exceed Rs 50 million. A small enterprise is an entity where investment in the plant and machinery is less than 100 mil- IN THE PLANT AND lion and turnover doesn't exceed Rs 500 million. For a medium enterprise, the thresholds are set at Rs 200 million for investment in the plant and machinery of equipment and Rs 1000 million for turnover. According to the Ministry of Statistics & Programme Implementation, the share of MSME Gross Value Added (GVA) in India's Gross Domestic Product (GDP) is around 30 per cent. The share of MSME manufacturing output in all India Manufacturing output is even higher at around 36 per cent. The share of export of MSME-specified products in all India exports has oscillated between 44 – 50 per cent during the last couple of years, according to the Directorate General of Commercial Intelligence and Statistics (DGCIS). As for employment, according to a report released by the McKinsey Global Institute (MGI), MSMEs in India contribute 62 per cent to the total. Looking at the omnibus 'informal' sector - apart from MSMEs, it also includes proprietary household and partnership establishments – its contribution to employment is even higher at more than 75 per cent whereas in GDP its share is almost 50 per cent. The MSMEs thus play a predominating role in shaping the prospects of the economy more so in promoting 'inclusive' development with particular emphasis on increasing employment and income and reducing income inequalities.

Yet, they have borne the brunt of far-reaching economic decisions implemented by the Modi -Government during its first two terms such as demonetization (2016) and introduction of the Goods and Services Tax (GST), 2017 also the devastating impact of the Corona - pandemic (2020). The government has taken several mitigation steps including a Rs 500,000 crore Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) for businesses/MSMEs; equity A MICROinfusion of Rs 50,000 crore through ENTERPRISE IS MSME Self-Reliant India Fund; no global tenders for procurement up to Rs. 200 crores (it bolsters their ONE WHERE chances of securing government contract); relaxing threshold for classification of MSMEs; extension INVESTMENT of non-tax benefits for 3 years in MACHINERY OR case of an upward change in status of MSMEs; inclusion of retail EQUIPMENT and wholesale trades as MSMEs;

and small enterprises within 45 days in case of written agreement (in case, there was no written agreement, the time limit was set at 15 days). In 2019, the Ministry of Corporate Affairs came up with Specified Companies the (Furnishing of information about payment to micro and small enterprise suppliers) Order that required large firms to file returns every six months even if there is no outstanding to MSME beyond 45 days

Yet, the problem persisted forcing numerous firms to down shutters. This prompted the Union Government to look for a solution under the IT Act (1961). The Finance Act 2023, inserted Section 43B(h) in the IT Act (1961), which prescribes that if a larger company doesn't make payments to micro and small enterprises within 45 days in case of written agreements, it cannot deduct that expense while calculating the taxable income of the relevant financial year. How does it impact the large enterprises? To arrive at the profits during a financial year (FY) and hence the income on which tax is levied (known in IT parlance as 'taxable income'), a company deducts all expenses incurred on running the business from the total revenue it earns. The payments made by it for the purchase of goods from the MSMEs are an important item of expense; therefore it is deductible from the revenue. If, it doesn't pay the small firm say Rs 5 lakh within the prescribed 45 days, Section 43B(h) will kick in and the large firm won't be allowed to deduct this amount in that FY thereby increasing its taxable income to that extent. So, it will end up paying more tax during that FY. Taking an effective corporate tax of 34.9 per cent (basic corporate tax of 30 per cent plus 12 per cent surcharge plus 4 per cent Health & Education Cess), the extra tax works out to Rs 174,500/-. This will be a deterrent strong enough to dissuade large enterprises from holding back payments to MSMEs. It is not as if this extra tax ends up impacting the company's balance sheet forever. This additional tax paid (albeit due to delays in making payments to MSMÉs) can be adjusted the following year when the company pays the supplier.

The Section thus strikes a good balance between the interests of all stakeholders. Even while creating a strong incentive for large enterprises to prioritize payments to the MSMEs thereby bolstering the latter's financial health and growth, it doesn't unduly penalize the former. Meanwhile, the Ministry of Corporate Affairs has also relaxed the reporting requirements under its 2019 Order. A notification issued on July 15, 2024, requires that "only those specified companies which are having payments pending to any micro or small enterprises for more than 45 days from the date of acceptance or the date of deemed acceptance of the goods or services under section 9 of the MSMEs Development Act 2006 shall furnish the information". Earlier, they were required to furnish even if there was no outstand ing to MSME beyond 45 days. Yet, industries and businesses have asked Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman to defer the implementation of the clause in the IT Act by a year to April 2025. At the same time, we see reports of large enterprises arm-twisting small firms by deciding not to buy from MSMEs; instead deal with those MSMEs that are not registered with the Udyam portal (It's an online system for registering MSMEs, launched by the Union MSME ministry) or from non-MSMEs. This must be avoided. Section 43B(h) of the IT Act should be given a fair chance to succeed. (The writer is a policy analyst; views are personal)

EXCEED RS 10 MILLION AND TURNOVER DOESN'T EXCEED

DOESN'T launch of Udyam Assist Platform (UAP) to bring the Informal Micro Enterprises (IMEs) under the formal ambit for availing the benefit under Priority Sector Lending (PSL); launch of an online Portal "Champions" to cover various aspects of e-governance including grievance redress and handholding of MSMEs and so on.

RS 50 MILLION Even as all these initiatives seek to address issues of credit availability, technology infusion, market support etc, a problem haunting small enterprises has to do with delayed payment of their dues by large enterprises. When they don't receive payment for the goods supplied by them, it results in a supplied by them, it results in a shortage of working capital severe-ly impacting their 'ability to con-tinue with production'. To address this problem, Section 15 of the MSMEs Development Act 2006, had mandated payments to micro

A new chapter has been added to the BNS specifically to address offences against women and children (Chapter V) and the introduction of community service for minor offences (Sections 4, 202, 209, 226, 303, 355, 356). For its effective implementation, and creating awareness among all stakeholders including police, prisons, prosecutors, judicial, forensic personnel as well as

Government has organised several rounds of orientation and training programs. The awareness is happening at different levels to understand the legal system better concerning the newly introduced three criminal laws. National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) has made 23 functional modifications to the existing CCTNS (Crime and Criminal Tracking Network and Systems) application to facilitate technology compatibility with new criminal laws, including the filing of an FIR. The Bureau of Police Research and Development (BPR&D) has developed 13 training modules for capacity building of police, prisons, prosecutors, judicial officers, forensic experts and central police

The Bar Council of India has made it mandatory to include the three new criminal laws in the curriculum of universities and legal education centres from the academic year 2024-25. Justice Talwant Singh, Former Judge of Delhi High Court is all praise for the role of academicians in drafting the new laws. He suggests that in the days to come the country will require an ample number of forensic experts. In contrast, the more new laws are unfolded; the more is the possibility of its lacunae being exposed. Is growing incidents of crime good for police and lawyers, is a million-dollar question! Palestinian factions unite after China-brokered talks

PTI BEIJING

In a rare show of solidarity amidst the war in Gaza, 14 Palestinian factions, including Fatah and Hamas, have jointly pledged to end their deep divisions and strengthen Palestinian unity by signing a declaration on Tuesday at a meeting brokered by China.

China's Foreign Ministry, which coordinated the dialogue among the rival factions for the past three days, said on Tuesday that the declaration was a first step to promote a "comprehensive durable and sustainable ceasefire" in the Gaza Strip battered by Israeli attacks.

Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi who met the leaders' factions said the signing of the agreement was "an important, historic moment in the Palestinian cause He said that under the deal the rival groups had agreed to set up an "interim national reconciliation government" to govern post-war Gaza. The pact aims to unite Palestinians in their conflict with Israel which launched the war against Hamas in Gaza in October last year following the abduction of over 200 Israeli hostages

Signatories included senior Hamas official Mousa Abu Marzouk and Fatah envoy Mahmoud al-Aloul along with emissaries from 12 other Palestinian groups

The Chinese foreign ministry said it was the first time the 14 rival groups had gathered together in Beijing for reconciliation talks.

"Reconciliation is an internal matter for the Palestinian factions, but at the same time it cannot be achieved without the support of the international community," Wang said.

"The core outcome is that the PLO (Palestine Liberation Organisation) is the sole legitimate representative of all Palestinian people," Wang said adding that "an agreement has been reached on post-Gaza war governance and the establishment of a provisional national reconciliation government." It was unclear from Wang's comments what role Hamas, which is not part of the PLO, would play in such an arrangement, or what the immediate impact of any deal would be

Israeli govt quietly funds West Bank settler outposts

AP JERUSALEM

The Israeli government has budgeted millions of dollars to protect small, unauthorized Jewish farms in the Israeli-occupied West Bank, underwriting tiny outposts meant to grow into full-fledged settlements, according to an anti-settlement monitoring group.

Documents uncovered by Peace Now illustrate how Israel's prosettler government has quietly poured money into the unauthorized outposts, which are separate from its more than 100 officially recognized settlements. Some of those outposts have been linked to settler violence against Palestinians and are sanctioned by the US. Palestinians and the international community say all settle-ments are illegal or illegitimate and undermine hopes for a two-state solution. The Ministry of Settlements and National Mission, which is headed by a far-right settler leader, confirmed it budgeted 75 million Shekels (USD 20.5 million) last year for security equipment for "young settlements" the term it uses for unauthorized Jewish farms and outposts in the West Bank. The money was qui-etly authorized in December while the country's attention was focused on the war against Hamas in Gaza. Peace Now said the funds have been used for vehicles, drones, cameras, generators, electric gates, fences and new roads that reach some of the more remote farms. The group esti-mates approximately 500 people live on the small, unauthorized farms and 25,000 more live in larger outposts. Those outposts, while not officially authorized by the government, often receive tacit support before they are retroactively legalized.

Hagit Ofran, director of Peace Now's "settlement watch" program, said the funding was the first time the Israeli government has channeled money to the outposts so openly. Rights groups say the expanding

West Bank hilltops are the primary drivers of violence and dis-placement of Palestinians. In the last month alone, Israel's government has legalized five formerly unauthorized settlements and made the largest land grab in the West Bank in three decades, declaring a wide swath of the territory state land in preparation for new construction.

Palestinians say violence by peo-ple associated with these farms has soared since Hamas' October 7 attack, which sparked Israel's war against the militant group in the Gaza Strip. On Friday, the top United Nations court said Israel's presence in the Palestinian territories is unlawful and called for an immediate halt to settlement construction. Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu quickly denounced the nonbinding opinion, saying the territories are part of the Jewish people's historic homeland.

Israel captured the West Bank, east Jerusalem and Gaza areas claimed by the Palestinians for a future state — in the 1967 Mideast war. It has settled over 5,00,000 Jews in the West Bank, most of whom live on authorized settlements, in addition to over 2,00,000 others in contested east Jerusalem, which it claims as part of its capital.Netanyahu's far-right government is dominated by West Bank settlers and pro-set tler politicians. Netanyahu has placed his finance minister. Bezalel Smotrich, in a new position inside the Defense Ministry overseeing settlement construction and development.

United States, Britain, and the European Union have imposed international sanctions on 13 hard-line Israeli settlers, some of whom are associated with the outpost farms — as well as two affiliated outposts and four groups - over accusations of attacks and harassment against Palestinians. The measures are meant as a deterrent, and they expose people to asset freezes and travel and visa bans, though the freezes have been less effective. The office of Orit Strock the Minister of Settlements and National Mission, said the funds were coordinated with the Defense Ministry and "carried out in accordance with all laws? It added that Strock, herself a longtime settler leader, "sees great importance in strengthening settlements" despite international condemnation. The budget was approved in December and predates the sanctions.

 $R_{\rm place}^{\rm ishi}$ Sunak will remain in Opposition Leader for over three months after the Conservative Party set out the timetable to elect his successor by November, with nominations opening on Wednesday. The 1922 Committee of backbench members of Parliament responsible for the Tory lead-ership race on Monday evening unveiled a two-phase election process that will see the new leader being installed on November 2. The 44-year-old British Indian leader, who had announced his resignation on July 5 after the party's worst general election defeat, had said he would remain in place as interim Tory leader until his successor has been elected. Taiwan cancels air force drills due to approaching typhoon

AP 📕 TAIPEI

An approaching typhoon prompted the cancellation of air force drills off Taiwan's east coast on Tuesday, although naval and land exercises were set to continue in other parts of the self-governing island democracy, which China threatens to invade. The Air Force 5th Tactical Mixed Wing announced the cancellation, citing adverse weather conditions. According to the Central Weather Bureau, Typhoon Gaemi was heading westward toward the island with sustained winds of 144 km (about 90 miles) per hour and gusts of up to 180 kph (110 mph). Ferries and some domestic flights were cancelled Tuesday, Taiwan's Central News Agency said. Military spokesperson Sun Li-fang said the annual Han Kuang military exercises are on track to continue with adjustments to ensure the safety of personnel and equipment, although some sea and air exercises would be altered due to the weather. This year's drills follow the election of Lai Cheng-te as presi-

"It would be inappropriate for me to make any comment about the leadership campaign or candidates. I am confident that this timetable decided by the party board and the 1922 Committee will allow for a thoughtful, professional and respectful contest," he added.

Among the leading Tories expected to contest to become the Opposition Leader include former Indian-origin home secretaries Priti Patel and Suella Braverman, shadow ministers Cleverly, James Kemi Badenoch, Tom Tugendhat and Mel Stride, and former minister Robert Jenrick.

To be nominated, each candidate will require a proposer, seconder, and eight further nominations which would mean a maximum of 11 possible Tory MPs could be on the ballot paper by the time nominations close on July 29. This will be followed by a first round of campaigning in August after which the Conservative Parliamentary Party will whittle down the candidates to four MPs, with votes scheduled between September 4 and 11.

UK police warn: Violence against women at 'epidemic' levels

London (AP): Violence against women and girls has reached "epidemic levels" and police are treating it as a threat on the same scale as terrorism, Britain's police chiefs said Tuesday

More than 1 million violent crimes against women and girls were recorded by UK police in 2022 to 2023 accounting for one-fifth of all recorded crime, a new report commissioned by the National Police Chiefs' Council and the College of Policing said. One in every six murders was related to domestic abuse in the same period. At least one in every 12 women each year will be a victim of crimes including sexual offenses, rape, stalking, harassment or online sexua abuse, the report estimated, with the exact number thought to be much higher because of crimes that go unreported.

Taipei and the surrounding regions also held a regularly scheduled air raid drill Tuesday

Troops were also deployed to the port of Tamsui, a key entryway to Taipei's river system which a motor boat from China entered last month. The boat apparently went undetected by radar and other security systems in what was seen as a test of Taiwan's capacity to respond to covert missions by the Chinese military.

Choudary, 57, was found to have taken on a "caretaker role" in the Al-Muhajiroun (ALM) and a trial at Woolwich Crown Court in London heard that he direct ed the terror group for a significant period after 2014 and encouraged support for it by addressing online meetings.

He now faces a life imprison ment term when he is sentenced on July 30 following the conviction, which was the result of investigations bv the Metropolitan Police, the New York Police Department, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

"ALM's tentacles have spread across the world and have had a massive impact on public safety and security," said Commander Dominic Murphy, head of the Metropolitan Police's Counter-Terrorism Command ALM was first proscribed, or banned, by the UK in 2006 under the name Al Ghurabaa. In 2010, ALM was included in the ban as an alternate name. Choudary was one of the orig inal three members of ALM which was founded in 1996.

The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) said he was still acting as its leader as late as July 2023, making online speeches to a USbased offshoot called Islamic Thinkers Society (ITS). That group was infiltrated by undercover law enforcement officers in the US, who were present at online lectures in 2022 and 2023. The court heard that Choudary said he viewed being called an extremist as a "medallion" during lectures. Choudary was released early from a fiveyear sentence for inviting sup port for the Islamic State (ISIS) terror group in October 2018 but his licence conditions prevented him from using the internet until July 2021.

"Such an outrageous miscarriage of justice is profoundly un-American, and a complete reversal is the only means available to restore public confidence in the integrity of the New York judicial system," Trump lawyer Christopher Kise said in a statement. He called Engoron's decisions "legally bereft" and "untethered to the law or to commercial reality, and described the staggering judgment as "draconian, unlawful, and unconstitutional."

The Appellate Division has said it will hear oral arguments in late September. Trump's lawyers initiated the appeal days after Engoron's ruling and had until Monday to file written arguments.

James' office said Trump and his lawyers are raising unfound-ed arguments."We won this case based on the facts and the law, and we are confident we will prevail on appeal," James' office said in a statement.

Vice President Kamala Harris is making her first visit to a battleground state Tuesday after locking up enough support from Democratic delegates to win her party's nomination to challenge Republican former President Donald Trump, two days after President Joe Biden dropped his reelection bid. As the Democratic Party continues to coalesce around her, Harris is travelling to Milwaukee, where she will hold her first campaign rally since she launched her campaign on Sunday with Biden's endorsement. Harris has raised more than USD 100 million since Sunday afternoon and has scored the backing of Democratic officials and political groups.

Tuesday's visit was scheduled before Biden ended his campaign, but it took on new resonance as Harris prepared to take up the mantle of her party against Trump and looks to project calm and confidence after weeks of Democratic Party confusion over Biden's political future. The visit comes a week after the Republican National Convention wrapped up in the city and as Harris works to sharpen her message against the GOP nominee with just over 100 days until Election Day. Wisconsin is part of the Democrats' "blue wall" of Michigan, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania that is critical to their 2024 plans.

The vice president previewed the themes that will be prominent in her campaign against Trump on Monday during a stop at her campaign headquarters in Wilmington, Delaware, contrasting her time as a prosecutor with Trump's felony convic-tions — "I know Donald Trump's type," she said - and casting herself as a defender of economic opportunity and abortion access

"This election will present a clear choice between two different visions. Donald Trump wants to take our country back to a time before many of us had full freedoms and equal rights," she said in a statement responding to the AP delegate tally. " believe in a future that strength ens our democracy, protects reproductive freedom and ensures every person has the opportunity to not just get by, but to get ahead."

"I am grateful to President Biden and everyone in the Democratic Party who has already put their faith in me, and I look forward to taking our case directly to the American people," she added. By Monday night, Harris, who also ran for president in 2020, had the support of well more than the 1,976 delegates she'll need to win on a first ballot, according to the AP tally of delegates. No other candidate was named by a delegate contacted by the AP.

Nearly 40 mn had HIV in 2023: UN

United Nations (AP): Nearly 40 million people were living with the HIV virus that causes AIDS last year, over 9 million weren't getting any treatment, and the result was that every minute someone died of AIDS-related causes, the UN said in a new report launched Monday.

While advances are being made to end the global AIDS pandemic, the report said progress has slowed, funding is shrinking, and new infections are rising in three regions: the Middle East and North Africa, Eastern Europe and Central Asia, and Latin America.

In 2023, around 630,000 people died from AIDS-related illnesses, a significant decline from the 2.1 million deaths in 2004. But the latest figure is more than double the target for 2025 of fewer than 250,000 by UNAIDS, the UN agency leading the global effort to end the pandemic.

Gender inequality is exacerbating the risks for girls and women, the report said, citing the extraordinarily high incidence of HIV among adolescents and young women in arts of Africa.

The proportion of new infections globally among marginalised communities that face stigma and discrimination sex workers, men who have sex with men, and people who inject drugs also increased to 55 per cent in 2023 from 45 per cent in 2010, it said.

UNAIDS Executive Director Winnie Byanyima said: "World leaders pledged to end the AIDS pandemic as a public health threat by 2030, and they can uphold their promise, but only if they ensure that the HIV deaths, according to the report response has the resources it needs, and that the human rights of everyone are protect-

As part of that pledge, leaders vowed to reduce annual new HIV infections to below 370,000 by 2025, but the report said in 2023 new infections were more than three times higher at 1.3 million

Last year, among the 39.9 million people globally living with HIV, 86 per cent knew they were infected, 77 per cent were accessing treatment, and for 72 per cent the virus was suppressed, the report said

César Núñez, director of the UNAIDS New York office, told a news conference there has been progress in HIV treatments — injections that can stay in the body for six months, but the two doses cost USD 40,000 yearly, out of reach for all but the richest people with the virus.

BAPS Hindu temple vandalised in Canada

The CHCC urged the Canadian government and local authorities to take immediate and effective measures to combat Hinduphobia and protect religious institutions and communities from such acts of violence and intolerance, the statement said and called for united efforts. Last year, there were at least three incidents of attacks on Hindu temples, including at Mississauga, Brampton and Windsor, and some saw Khalistani referendum posters with veiled threats to Hindus.

The latest vandalisation in Edmonton also invoked strong reactions from all quarters, including from elected public representatives.

Chandra Arya, a member of Parliament from Nepean in the House of Commons said, "During the last few years, Hindu temples in the Greater Toronto Area, British Columbia and other places in Canada are being vandalised with hateful graffiti. Gurpatwant Singh Pannun of Sikhs for Justice last year publicly called for Hindus to go back to India?

"Khalistan supporters publicly celebrated in Brampton and Vancouver the assassination of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and brandishing images of deadly weapons," he said in a post on X and added, "As I have always been saying, Khalistani extremists seems to get away with ease with their public rhetoric of hate and violence." "Again, let me put it on record. Hindu-Canadians are legitimately concerned. Like a broken record, I again call on Canadian law enforcement agencies to take this issue seriously before these rhetorics get translated into physical action against Hindu-Canadians," he said.

Jailed Pakistan prime minis-ter has moved a top court here to get jail amenities in line with international standards for him and his wife, according to him and his wife, according to a media report on Tuesday. Geo News reported that Khan and Bushra Bibi filed the peti-tion at Islamabad High Court on Monday to seek "high-quality facilities" at Rawalpindi's Adiala Jail where they are lodged. The 71-year-old cricketer-turged-politician who was turned-politician, who was ousted from his office via a noconfidence motion in 2022, has been in prison for more than a year after his arrest in various cases, including the Toshakhana, cipher, and the un-Islamic marriage cases. Bushra, 49, has also been behind bars for months in the Un-Islamic marriage case as well as the Toshakhana corruption case.

In the plea filed by their lawyer Azhar Siddique, the secretaries of cabinet, interior and law have been made parties. It was also prayed that the Punjab chief secretary, the Federal Investigation Agency (FIA), the National Accountability Bureau (NAB), and Islamabad Inspector General are also made parties in the case, Geo News reported. Lahore (PTI): Jailed former Pakistan prime minister Imran where petrol bombs were made, and attacks on the state Khan's residence here became a "training hub for terrorists", where petrol bombs were made and attacks on the state were planned, Punjab Chief Minister Maryam Nawaz claimed on Tuesday.

Maryam claimed that during a four-month period when the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) leader feigned leg injuries, they orchestrated the May 9, 2023, attacks on government build-ings and key military installations.

In a statement, Maryam con-demned the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) as a group focused on creating chaos and damaging the state, The Express Tribune newspaper reported reported.

were planned, the report added. The May 9 riots were triggered across the country after 71year-old Khan was arrested by the National Accountability Bureau (NAB) in a 190-million-pound corruption case. He faces over 200 cases and has been in jail since August last year.Hundreds of PTI workers and senior leaders were put behind bars for their involvement in violence and attacks on military installations, including the Jinnah House, ISI building in Faisalabad and General In Faisalabad and General Headquarters (GHQ) in Rawalpindi, last year on May 9. The Punjab Chief Minister also accused PTI of conspiring to default the country, writing letters to the International Monetary Fund, waving cipher messages (diplomatic cables), and disrespecting memorials as part of a larger plot.Maryam called for strict action against the PTI under the Constitution and law, citing national security and interests.

The plea also requested that a complete list of those persons who wanted to meet the jailed Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) founder at the Rawalpindi jail should be summoned, as well as a report on the duration of their meetings.

The lawyer, in his petition, also pleaded with the court to ascertain the reasons from relevant authorities if the ex-premier was kept in solitary confinement.

The fresh petition was filed after Khan claimed in an interview with British newspaper The Sunday Times through his lawyers that he was imprisoned in a death cell, where "terrorists" are kept to ensure "they have no contact with anyone' The federal cabinet rejected Khan's claims on Monday and termed his prison cell a presidential suite" which is "better than a middle-class person's house". The former prime min-ister has claimed many times that he's not being provided several facilities, however, the government submitted documentary evidence of facilities being provided to the PTI founder in Adiala Jail, rebutting his claims that he was being kept in solitary confinement. The photos shared with the court showed that the PTI founder was provided with several facilities, such as an exercise bike and stretching belt for physical fitness, books, a separate kitchen, a special menu, an exclusive gallery for walking, LED, a room cooler and a study table since he's a former prime minister.Earlier this month, there was hope that the former couple would be released from prison after a court suspended their sentence in the Toshakhana corruption case, while other courts overturned his convictions in the cipher and iddat cases, respectively. However, their hopes were dashed when NAB arrested them on fresh charges related to the sale of state gifts. The chances of Khan's release from jail further dimmed after the Lahore police declared his arrest in several cases related to the May 9, 2023, riots that erupted after his detainment from the IHC premises last year in which protesters targeted government and military installations. In the new Toshakhan corruption case, the National Accountability Bureau (NAB), the anti-corruption watchdog, accused the couple of purchasing a jew-ellery set from the Toshakhana and selling it by violating the laws. Toshakhana is a repository where presents handed to government officials from for-eign officials are kept. According to Toshakhana rules, gifts/presents and other such materials received by persons to whom these rules apply shall be reported to the Cabinet Division.Êarlier, the two were arrested on July 13 following their acquittal in the un-Islamic marriage case.

China has scaled up its rela-tions with Maldives, since Muzzu, widely regarded as a pro-Beijing leader, took over power last year.

In May, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) warned the Maldives that it faces a risk of debt dist out significant policy changes. The IMF noted that the Maldives' current account deficit is expected to remain large and that its overall fiscal deficits and public debt are projected to stay elevated. Subsequently, the Muizzu gov ernment sought restructuring of loans from China. The Maldives' debt to China reportedly amounted to over USD 1.3 billion.

PPP challenges SC verdict allocating reserved seats to Imran Khan's party reported.

The PPP's review petition seeks to overturn the July 12 Bilawal Bhutto decision that previously annulled the decisions of the Peshawar High Court and the Election Commission of Pakistan directing that the reserved seats be allocated to reserved seats to jailed former prime minister Ímran Khan's party a week after its ruling PTI. This ruling affirmed PTI's coalition partner Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) submitted a review

However, Chief Justice Qazi Faez Isa, dissenting from the majority decision, argued that the summer holidays should be cancelled to address the review petitions promptly, the report said. Isa emphasised that the Constitution should take precedence over the convenience of judges, stating that delaying the hearing would be unjust, the newspaper said.

Qureshi seeks open trial in May 9 riots case

Lahore (PTI): Former Pakistan foreign minister and veteran opposition politician Shah Mahmood Qureshi has sought an open trial instead of an incamera trial in an anti-terrorism court in connection with the May 9 riot cases.

Qureshi, a senior leader of jailed former Pakistan prime minister Imran Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) party, is accused of abetment to the attack on Shadman police station here following Khan's arrest on May 9 last year. He has denied all charges against him but was indicted in this case.Punjab police shifted Qureshi, 68, to Lahore's Kot Lakhpat Jail from Adiala Jail, Rawalpindi last week and was on Monday presented before the Anti-Terrorism Court (ATC), a hearing for which was held at the Kot Lakhpat Jail. During the hearing, the ATC-I Lahore Judge Khalid Arshad directed the lawyers of Qureshi and other suspects to crossexamine the prosecution wit-Shadman police station attack case. Most of the prosecution witnesses are policemen. During the hearing, Qureshi, who is the PTI party's vicechairman, requested the court to hold an open trial in the case. "Open trial is my fundamental right. The public should know about the allegations and evidence against me and other suspects in the fake cases of May 9," he pleaded.

Maduro strengthens Venezuela military Lankan govt to apologise to Muslims on forced support ahead of critical vote

AP AGUA CALIENTE

At a crossroads not far from a gas station overgrown with weeds, young men and women in faded green fatigues stop vehicles returning from a rally for opponents of Venezuelan President Nicolas Maduro, ask passengers for their identifications, and inspect their cars, trucks and motorcycles.

Such checkpoints have proliferated across the country's vast tropical plains, forested highlands and beach fronts in the run-up to Sunday's presidential election, aiming to intimidate and occasionally detain government critics. They often involve a request for a ride, bananas or "collaboration" — Venezuela's euphemism for a small bribe. But the power play frequently falls flat. When their superiors slip away from the scorching sun, the grunts betray their displeasure with Maduro and openness to a new commander in chief.

"Did the lady arrive? Were there a lot people?" one giddy soldier asks about opposition leader Maria Corina Machado. We wanted to watch, but there is no Wi-Fi here," whispers another.

Since taking power in 2013, Maduro hasn't hesitated to deploy troops to crush protests while rewarding senior officers with lucrative government jobs and control of key industries. But days away from a hotly disputed vote that threatens Maduro's hold on power, the self-proclaimed socialist is working harder than ever to shore up the loyalty of the armed forces — the traditional arbiter of political disputes in Venezuela - and keep top commanders in line. In recent days, the president has appeared on state TV attending graduation ceremony for 25,000 police officers, praising them as the first line of defense against what he called attempts by rightwing hardliners to provoke a tragedy. He also promoted dozens of officers and bestowed a new title on his longtime defense minister, Vladimir Padrino Lopez: "General of the Sovereign ident in 1998, he purged offi-

People." "The destiny of Venezuela depends on our victory," Maduro said at a rally this month. "If we want to avoid a bloodbath, or a fratricidal civil war triggered by the fascists, then we must guarantee the biggest electoral victory ever." The top brass has stood fast with Maduro, delving deep into political mudslinging instead of sticking to its tradi-tional role safeguarding the vote

Gen Domingo Hernandez Larez, the head of the joint chiefs of staff, posted a photo on social media purportedly showing Machado speaking in front of a white board scribbled with notes calling for the "elimination" of the armed forces Machado, who was banned from running and is backing stand-in candidate Edmundo Gonzalez, has called the accusation "fake news." A media watchdog group said the image was manipulated. Maduro's opponents have long struggled to win over doubters in the military. The armed forces have been an integral part of Maduro's grip on power ever since his mentor and predecessor, former tank commander Hugo Chavez, led an uprising against an unpopular austerity government in 1992. When Chavez was elected pres-cers indoctrinated in the US to fight communism, placed fellow coup plotters in top positions and poured the country's oil wealth into fighter jets and expensive military hardware. Maduro, without Chavez's military pedigree, has nonetheless empowered his own crop of uniformed allies, many of whom, like the president, face allegations of corruption and human rights abuses. The National Guard has also quietly imported anti-riot gear and refurbished armored vehicles that could be used to quel protests, according to retired Gen Rodolfo Camacho, a Maduro opponent who writes a report on military affairs. Meanwhile, the government hasn't hesitated to punish soldiers who step out of line. Members of the armed forces make up about half of the 301 Maduro opponents currently imprisoned and classified as political prisoners by Caracasbased legal assistance cooperative Foro Penal.

The Defense Ministry did not respond to an emailed request for comment. While nobody is predicting a barracks revolt, discontent among the rank and file is widespread, said William Brownfield, a former US Ambassador to Venezuela and senior fellow at the Wilson Center in Washington.

cremation of Covid victims

Colombo(PTI): The Sri Lankan government on Tuesday said it would formally apologise to the island nation's Muslim minority community for its controversial cremation policy adopted during the outbreak of the coronavirus pandemic.

The mandatory order taken in 2020 to cremate the bodies of COVID-19 victims, which denied minority communities, including Muslims, their religious rights, was later revoked in February 2021 amidst mounting international criticism. The Sri Lankan Cabinet in a meeting on Monday approved the proposal to tender an apology to the Muslim community for the enforced decision made in March 2020, according to a Cabinet note. The Cabinet has decided "to plead the apology on behalf of the Government, from all the communities", it said.

The Cabinet also decided to introduce legislation to prevent a repetition of such controversial moves. The note said the Cabinet also gave nod to a proposed legislation on the burial or cremation of dead bodies based on religious discretion. Attention has been drawn to introducing a law, which allows a certain person or relations to select the burial or cremation of the dead person at their discretion. The Muslim community had opposed the policy of forced cremation, and some even left the bodies of their loved ones in hospital mortuaries. The community members had said that either they were coerced into allowing cremations or that occurred without their knowledge. The cremation of bodies is forbidden in Islam. Accordingly, 276 corpses of Muslim persons were cremated, until the order was revoked in February 2021. The Sri Lankan government was resisting calls to allow burials citing health concerns. It cited the opinion of some experts who claimed that the burial of COVID-19 victims would contaminate the water table thereby spreading the pandemic further.

The country had also come under intense criticism from rights groups, including the UN Human Rights Council, over the cremation order. The rights groups said it failed to respect the religious feelings of the victims and their family members, especially the Muslims, Catholics and some Buddhists.

Himachal Pradesh University Teachers Welfare Association (HPUTWA) has demanded immediate action from the university administration to fulfill the pending demands of the teachers. It is known that HPUTWA has been demanding from the university administration to pay the salary arrears of the teachers which are pending since 2016. Voices have been raised from time to time. Today, while the central government has constituted a new pay commission for 2026, Himachal is the only state that has not yet paid the salary arrears of its employees even after eight years. Hiptwa has raised the issue several times It has also been demanded that the government should issue a notification related to CAS as soon as possible, in the absence of which the internal service progress of the university teachers has been stalled for many years. The union also criticized the administration for closing down many departments and diploma/certificate courses. Apart from this, they also demanded to provide residential facilities to the teachers and proper parking facility in the university. Hiputwa demanded that since Philosophy and Geology are two important subjects, new departments of Philosophy and Geology should be opened. HPUTWA warned that if the administration fails to resolve the pending demands of the teachers, the union will be forced to take tough steps. (Issued by - President HPUTWA Prof. Harish K. Thakur)

PERSONAL, NATIONAL COACHES PIVOTAL IN ATHLETE'S CAREER: VIJAY

medallist lympic shooter Vijay Kumar feels both the personal and national coaches play an equal role in the growth of an athlete as the debate over the role of the two continues to intensify with the Paris Games around the corner.

Several Indian athletes have opted for personal coaches in Paris and Vijay feels there is nothing wrong with it and that due "weightage" should be give to them.

India's medal hopeful in pistol shooting Manu Bhaker has opted for pistol legend Jaspal Rana as her coach in Paris, while rifle marksman Aishwary Pratap Singh Tomar trains with former Olympian Joydeep Karmakar, though the veteran hasn't accompanied his ward to the Games. Athletes in several other disciplines are also taking help of personal coaches as they eye Olympic dream.

Vijay, who was a surprise medal-winner in the 2012 London when he stepped out of the shadow of the likes of Abhinav Bindra and Gagan Narang to clinch silver in rapid-fire pistol, said personal coaches should get due "weightage" as they have played a pivotal role in bringing up the athlete to this level "Well, it's a complicated issue. Personal coaches should also get due weightage. Suppose I become a national coach some day, the shooter who comes to me, he would have been trained by someone to come up to that level by a personal coach," Vijay, an ex-serviceman now serving as DSP with Himachal Police, told PTI.

"So, the contribution of both the coaches is equal. The national coaches give that extra push... That 1-2 point bump in scores, how to handle pressure in international competition," said Vijay, who got enrolled in the Army early and was able to harness his talent in shooting to bring several accolades for the country.

The 38-year-old, however, feels that the shooting federation should appoint coaches with good credentials and those who have faced challenging situations in some of the world. "The federation should only appoint those coaches who have performed at the international level and won medals, so they can teach their wards how to handle those

He feels that the Indian shooting team's preparations have been far from ideal and that a clear roadmap should have been been in place for Paris-bound shooters six circumstances, what thoughts months before the mega event.

"Observing from the outside, I feel it is the planning of players in the last six months where we are lacking. The federation, I feel, should have had a crystal clear roadmap on what all competitions the shooters should take part in and the kind of training they should get and under whom

"So the focus should have been on that. The last six months the focus should be on how to make the players more focused, how much to train them, how much foreign exposure needs to be given, all that needs to be worked to the 'T'," he added. "This year also, I've heard that the team was announced three (two) months before the Olympics. The trials were very the late and team announcement too was late. This exercise should have been completed in January-February, to be very frank," he added.

"The federations policy to have

Antoine Dupont had one focus to what he described as the French Olympic project: a gold medal for the host nation.

The world's premier rugby player will get France's Olympic medal campaign underway Wednesday, two days before the official opening ceremony of the Paris Games, when his team takes on the United States in the first Pool B game of the rugby sevens competition. Stade de France will be at capacity and most of the attention will be on Dupont when the French kick off in the third game of a three-day men's tournament. It'll be the same on Day 2 when the French meet two-time Olympic champion Fiji, the most formidable force in rugby's condensed sevens format.

Tarzan at Olympics: Johnny won 3 gold medals at 1924 Paris Games

AP PARIS

Before there was Michael Phelps or Mark Spitz winning Olympic gold medals for the United States there was Tarzan.

Yes Tarzan, the fictional literary and film character who was raised by apes in the African jungle. This of course was Johnny Weissmuller, who played Tarzan in the films but was also a swimming superstar 100 years ago. He won three gold medals at the 1924 Paris Olympics: the 100-meter freestyle, the 400 free, and the 4x200 relay. Weissmuller also won bronze in water polo in an Olympics that featured many stars including Paavo Nurmi. Weissmuller defeated Duke Kahanamoku in the 100 final after the famous Hawaiian - often called the "father of surfing" - had won gold in 1912 in Stockholm and in 1920 in Antwerp. The 1916 Olympics were set for Berlin but canceled because of World War I. Adolf Hitler and the Nazis hosted the 1936 Berlin Olympics, where the torch relay originated.

Weissmuller's swimming brought fame, and his virile image got him cast in the "Tarzan the Ape Man" film in 1932 - the first of his 12 Tarzan films.

There was, of course, the signature Tarzan yell - akin to a yodel - and what the character's creator Edgar Rice Burroughs described as "the victory cry of the bull ape."

Weissmuller won two more golds in the 1928 Amsterdam Olympics and could have won a third had he not been pulled from the 400 to play for the water polo team.

He set a world record in the 100 of 57.4 seconds prior to the 1924 Olympics that stood for a decade. The world record now is 46.80. He was also the first to go under 5 minutes for 400 meters, setting a world record of 4:57.0 in 1923.

He was a trailblazer, the first to swim 100 meters under 60 seconds. He is regarded as the first athlete to sign an endorsement deal with a sportswear line. He was among the first members inducted into the International Swimming Hall of Fame.

Weissmuller was selected in 1950 by The Associated Press as the "Greatest Swimmer of the Half Century" and made famous the American crawl stroke with his chest high out of the water. TARZAN THE SEX SYMBOL: Hollywood producer Bernard Hyman thought Weissmuller's name was too long, but was told he was famous as an Olympian. The name shouldn't be changed, he was warned.

"All right then," he said. "We'll just lengthen the marquee. And put lots of water in the film." The writer Cyril Hume, who worked on the Tarzan script, tells a widely published story about taking Weissmuller in front of Hyman and others for his "screen test. Weissmuller was told to take off his

"I didn't realize what was going on," Weissmuller was quoted as saying "They asked me if I could climb trees and I said yes. And they asked me could I pick up a girl and walk away with her, and I said yes. And that's all there was to the test. I had the part.

clothes

Tarzan's love interest was Jane Parker, played by Maureen O'Sullivan, an Ireland-born actress who was Jane in the first six Tarzan films made by MGM. Her star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame faces Weissmuller's.

Buster Crabbe, who won Olympic gold in swimming in 1932, played Tarzan in one film for Paramount -"Tarzan the Fearless" as it unsuccessfully challenged MGM's series

A hero on the screen, Weissmuller was also a real-life hero. He and his brother, Peter, are credited with saving the lives of 11 people in a boating accident on Lake Michigan in 1927

He was married five times and died in Acapulco, Mexico, in 1984 and is buried there

WEISSMULLER'S ROOTS: Weissmuller was born Janos (Johann) Peter Weissmuller on June 2, 1904, to German parents in Freidorf, which is now a district of the Romanian city of Timisoara. At the time it was part of the Austro-

Hungarian Empire. The family immigrated to the United States when he was an infant and eventually settled in Chicago in 1908. He contracted polio as a 9year-old and took up swimming as a remedy. Some of his first swimming lessons were in Lake Michigan.

He was discovered by famed coach Bill Bachrach and, in an official biography of Weissmuller, Bachrach recalled an early meeting.

"He had the gawkiness of an adolescent puppy. Also the stroke he used was the oddest I ever saw," Bachrach said. "But the stopwatch told it all. Nearly record time." Weissmuller became a symbol of American culture in the early part of the 20th century, popularized swimming and often bragged that he never lost a race.

'That is not true, but it's close," said Olympic historian Dr. Bill Mallon. Mallon said Weissmuller was defeated in a backstroke race - not Weissmuller's primary stroke - by Ludy Langer. And likely in another race against Langer, also an Olympian.

"He definitely stands out," Mallon added. "Don't know if he was overshadowed by (Paavo) Nurmi at least not in the USA.

BETTER THAN SPITZ?: In a 1972 interview with the New York Times, Weissmuller compared himself to Spitz, who won seven gold medals that year in the Munich Olympics. He won two more on relays in 1968 in Mexico City.

'I was better than Mark Spitz is," Weissmuller said. And he explained why.

"It's easier to go faster now," he said. "On a turn, they don't have to touch with their hand, they just flip and push off; that's a split second. The platform is higher and the pool is deeper so when you enter the water that's a couple strokes. And the water's smoother. We didn't have the lane ropes, we had to get up higher in the water to avoid the little waves.

harith Asalanka was on Tuesday named captain of the Sri Lankan T20 team for the three-match series against India, starting here on July 27, replacing spin all-rounder Wanindu Hasaranga, who stepped down after the team's early exit from last month's T20 World Cup.

The 27-year-old comes with considerable captaincy experience. In the absence of Hasaranga, who was facing suspension due to ICC code conduct violations, of Asalanka had captained Sri Lanka in two T20Is on the tour of Bangladesh earlier this year.

A former Sri Lankan U-19 captain, he also led Jaffna Kings to the Lanka Premier League title last week. Sri Lanka Cricket Selection Committee opted for several changes following the team's dismal show at the T20 World Cup, where the island nation managed to win only one game and made an early exit. Overall, the 16-member squad is a good mix of experience and youth.

The seasoned pair of allrounders Angelo Mathews and Dhananjaya de Silva, Sadeera wicketkeeper Samarawickrama and leftarm pacer Dilshan Madushanka have been left out of the squad.

Returning to the squad are Dinesh 34-year-old Chandimal, who last played a T20I in February 2022, and Kusal Janith Perera. Uncapped all-rounder Chamindu Wickramasinghe has earned a maiden call up. Right-arm seamer, who had been training at the MRF Pace Academy in India, has been rewarded for his breakout LPL season. Pacers Binura Fernando and Avishka Fernando also find themselves back in the national fold.

Sri Lanka will play the first of the three T20Is on July 27 here, followed by games on July 28 and 30.

The Indian team, which will be led by a new captain in Suryakumar Yadav as well, landed here on Monday night for the series, which also ODIs features three scheduled next month.
