Violence erupts at Sambhal mosque survey, three dead

Police and security personnel stand guard amid protest by locals during a second survey of the Jama Masjid, claimed to be originally the site of an ancient Hindu temple, in Sambhal, Sunday, November 24, 2024. Tensions flared into violence on Sunday as a court-mandated survey of the Mughal-era Jama Masjid triggered clashes between locals and police resulting in the deaths of three individuals. Over 40 people including policemen were reported injured in the violence. Eyewitnesses say that during a second survey of the mosque, a mob attacked police personnel with stones and set vehicles ablaze. The police responded with tear gas and a baton charge to control the situation. Over 20 police officers and more than two dozen civilians were injured in the clashes, with reports of three deaths adding to the unrest. According to police, violence erupted when a crowd of nearly a thousand gathered outside the mosque to prevent a survey team, led by a court-appointed advocate commissioner, from entering. As tensions escalated, some individuals in the crowd reportedly began pelting stones at the police, leading to retaliation with tear gas. Amid the chaos, over ten vehicles were set ablaze. "Some miscreants in the crowd resorted to violence. The police used minor force and tear gas to bring the situation under control. Those involved will be identified and strict action will be taken," said Krishna Kumar Vishnoi, superintendent of police. District Magistrate Rajendra Pesia confirmed that approximately ten individuals were detained. Videos circulating on social media show scenes of stone-pelting and vehicles engulfed in flames. "Three people identified as Naeem, Bilal and Nauman have been killed. Some policemen including the gunner of the superintendent of police have also been injured," Moradabad Divisional Commissioner

Aunjaneya Kumar Singh said. Despite the unrest, the survey, which commenced at 7:30 am, was completed as planned. Advocate Vishnu Shankar Jain, representing the petitioners, stated that the survey team conducted a detailed examination of the site, supported by videography and photography in compliance with court directives. The report is set to be submitted by November 29. The controversy stems from a court case filed by a Hindu group claiming that the Jama Masjid was originally the Harihar temple. Following a court directive, a commissioner was appointed to survey the site. Last Tuesday, the court-appointed team conducted an initial survey, including videography and photography, lasting about two hours. However, the second survey attempt on Sunday sparked violent protests. The court commissioner is expected to submit a detailed report to the court by November 29. Samajwadi Party (SP) chief Akhilesh Yadav criticised the Uttar Pradesh (UP) government and the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), accusing them of deliberately orchestrating the violence. "The mosque was already surveyed earlier. Sending the team again, unprepared, was a deliberate attempt to provoke unrest and divert attention from pressing electoral issues," he alleged.

BJP win dampens Opposition plans

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI

Winter session of Parliament anticipated to begin on a stormy note on Monday at the backdrop of latest controversy around Adani Group with the Opposition ready to flex its muscles, is now likely to be dampened after BJP's morale booster Assembly results in Maharashtra, by-polls of Uttar Pradesh and last month's Harayana success to its kitty. The Opposition on Sunday asked the Centre to allow discussions in the Parliament on the US prosecutors' bribery charges against the Adani Group even as Union minister Kiren Rijiju made it clear that the matters to be taken up in the two houses will be decided by their authorised committees with the consent of the respective chair. Following the customary all-party meeting on the eve of the Parliament's Winter Session commencing Monday, Rijiju told reporters that the government has appealed to all the parties to ensure smooth conduct of business in the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha. Forty-two leaders from 30 parties attended the meeting, which was chaired by senior BJP leader and Union Defence Minister Rajnath Singh. The meeting was attended by BJP President JP Nadda, Congress leader Jairam Ramesh, DMK's Tiruchi Siva, Akali Dal's Harsimrat Kaur Badal and LJP (Ram Vilas) MP Arun Bharti, among others. The government has listed 16 bills for consideration in the Winter Session. The bills pending in the Lok Sabha include the Waqf (Amendment) Bill, which has been listed for consideration and passage after a Joint Parliamentary Committee (JPC) of the two houses submits its report on it to the lower house. The panel is mandated to submit its report on the last day of the first week of the winter session. On the Congress party's demand to hold discussions on the Adani issue on priority, apart from a host of other matters, including the Manipur unrest, Rijiju said the business advisory committees of the two houses will take a call on the subjects of Parliamentary business with the consent of the Speaker of the Lok Sabha and the Chairperson of the Rajya Sabha. Raising the matter at the meeting, Congress' deputy leader in the Lok Sabha, Gaurav Gogoi, dubbed the Adani issue as a scam, saying the government should not reject or ignore their demand on any technicality as it concerns Indian institutions and investors. Billionaire industrialist Gautam Adani, whose conglomerate includes a host of companies covering power to ports sectors, has been charged by US prosecutors for allegedly being part of a scheme to pay USD 265 million (about Rs 2,200 crore) bribe to Indian officials in exchange of favourable terms for solar power contracts in four Indian states. Congress leader Pramod Tiwari also said the government should set aside other businesses to take up a discussion on the issue on priority.

Accused in policeman murder killed in encounter

SAUMYA SHUKLA
NEW DELHI

A day after a Delhi Police constable was killed while on duty, the main accused in the case was shot dead in an encounter by police personnel in south Delhi's Sangam Vihar area early Sunday morning. The encounter comes a day after Kiran Pal, 28-year-old constable in the Delhi Police, was stabbed to death by three people on Saturday while on night patrolling duty in southeast Delhi's Govindpur area. Two of the three accused, Deepak Max (21) and Krish Gupta (18), were arrested later that day. According to a senior official of the Delhi Police's Special Cell, the third and the main accused in the murder of constable Kiranpal lost his life in an armed encounter with a joint team of local police and special cell. A senior police officer of special cell said that the third accused, Raghav, who stabbed Pal with a knife was hiding in Sangam Vihar. "Late evening on Saturday, information was received regarding the whereabouts of the prime suspect, identified as Raghav alias Rocky, a resident of D-Block, Sangam Vihar.

Shinde, Fadnavis, Pawar to discuss future in Delhi

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

BJP on Sunday said leaders of the ruling MahaYuti alliance and the BJP leadership will decide who will be the next chief minister of the state. Maharashtra BJP chief Chandrashekhar Bawankule said incumbent Chief Minister (CM) Eknath Shinde who belongs to the Shiv Sena (SS), Deputy (Dy) CM Devendra Fadnavis from the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and Dy CM Ajit Pawar from Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) will reach Delhi to discuss on the future shape of the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) government in the state where all sections of the society supported the BJP in the Assembly polls and rejected the Congress. The focus has now shifted to BJP leader Fadnavis, the architect of his party's stunning victory as it bagged 132 of the 149 seats it contested in the state. Political circles are abuzz with reports that the state's second Brahmin to become the CM will don the post for the third time. BJP's national joint general secretary Shiv Prakash and Maharashtra unit head Chandrashekhar Bawankule met Devendra Fadnavis at his residence on Sunday. The tenure of the current state Assembly ends on Tuesday, which has also necessitated meetings among leaders of the ruling allies to finalise the name for the CM's post.

The King and The Prince

Virat Kohli brought all his technical expertise into play while dealing with vagaries of variable bounce during his 30th hundred after heir apparent Yashasvi Jaiswal's classy 161 put India in sight of a remarkable Test victory against a nervous and fumbling Australia here on Sunday. The Indians dominated the third day to first set an improbable 534-run target for the hosts before reducing them to 12/3 at close of play. Once Kohli reached an unprecedented seventh Test century Down Under, Indian skipper Jasprit Bumrah declared at 487 for 6 with five overs to go flat out. The skipper then immediately disposed off debutant Nathan McSweeney (0) and Marnus Labuschagne (3), both of whom got balls that kept perilously low. The nervousness was palpable when rival captain Pat

Cummins walked in as the night-watchman and the decision proved to be a not so wise one. The match would be memorable for many reasons and one of them would be the exhibition of top quality batsmanship by the 'King' and 'Prince' of current India batting but in contrasting conditions and different match situations. Jaiswal built a fascinating structure with care and Kohli (100 not out, 143 balls) polished it and put a beautiful coat of paint while throwing caution to the wind while reaching the landmark. The 22-year-old Jaiswal, on Sunday, emerged as the unofficial flag-bearer of Indian batting for the next decade and a half during his 297-ball stay at the wicket, giving a glimpse of his ever-improving technique and composed temperament. But it was veteran Kohli, who showed how to play on a wicket that consistently misbehaved during his second hundred at the Perth Stadium and 30th overall, which incidentally took him past Sir Don Bradman's 29 Test tons. There were deliveries that simply didn't bounce. One from Mitchell Starc was upper cut for six over backward point while the shot of the day was an on drive off Cummins. When Nathan Lyon started turning the ball square, he either got a big stride forward or brought the sweep shot, which he doesn't play often, out of his closet. His hundred, in fact, came off a sweep.

Mann Ki Baat inspires us to do something new always: CM

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Chief Minister Mohan Yadav has said that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has appreciated the work being done by the people of Madhya Pradesh collectively for environmental protection in his Mann Ki Baat programme. This is a matter of pride and inspiration for everyone. He said that the programme always inspires us to do something new. Chief Minister Yadav expressed this view after listening to the 116th edition of Prime Minister Modi's 'Mann Ki Baat' programme during his stay in Mumbai.

PM mentions plantation done in Revati Hills area of Indore While mentioning the record plantations in Indore under the 'Ek Ped Maa Ke Naam' campaign in his Mann ki Baat broadcast on Sunday, November 24, Prime Minister Modi said that more than 12 lakh trees were planted in 24 hours under the campaign in Indore, Madhya Pradesh. Due to public participation in the campaign, the barren area of Revati Hills of Indore will now be transformed into a green zone.

No provision called digital arrest in the government Prime Minister Modi, while mentioning Mahesh of Bhopal as part of the initiative the youth took to make the elderly participants in the digital revolution, said that he has taught many elderly people of his locality to make payments through mobile. These elderly people had a smartphone, but no one told them its proper use. Prime Minister Modi called upon the youth to come forward to save the elderly from the dangers of digital arrest. He also said that we have to make people understand repeatedly that there is no provision in the government called digital arrest. This is a complete lie, a conspiracy to trap people. It is a matter of happiness that the youth of the country are participating with full sensitivity in this work of awareness and are inspiring others too.

Vikas Bharat Young Leaders Dialogue will be held in Delhi on 11-12 January

Prime Minister Modi said that 'Mann Ki Baat' is about the collective efforts of the country, achievements, capabilities of the people, dreams of youth and aspirations of the citizens of the country. He appealed to the youth to join NCC in large numbers and said that it helps build a personality for any career. Prime Minister Modi informed that the Vikas Bharat Young Leaders Dialogue is being organized in Delhi on 11-12 January. About two thousand youth from villages, blocks, districts and states will participate in it. Prime Minister Modi said that libraries have an important role in empowering society. Youth should also take the initiative to make friends with books. He also discussed the Oral History Project. Sensitivity towards environmental protection and cleanliness is must

Prime Minister Modi, while inspiring people to be sensitive towards environmental protection, said that the sparrow (Gauraiyya) has special importance in maintaining biodiversity. Unique efforts are being made in various states for the return of this bird. By making such efforts of everyone around us, the sparrow can again become a part of our lives. Prime Minister Modi also mentioned the special cleanliness campaign launched in government offices to remove old files and scraps and appealed to implement the idea of best out of waste (Kachre se Kanchan) by recycling plastic waste and things considered unusable.

Dowry death case against 7 in woman's suicide

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Bajaria police have booked 7 people including the RPF personnel, his mother and father in suicide case of RPF personnel's wife who committed suicide on November 15 at Dwarka Nagar; it was revealed that family used to demand dowry of Rs 20 lakh. Police said that on the night of November 15 newly married woman Kritika Mandrai committed suicide by hanging with the ceiling. After investigating the case, Bajaria police station has registered a case against 7 people including the deceased's RPF personnel, mother-in-law and father-in-law. At present, no one has been arrested. Police investigation made it clear that the accused were pressurizing the woman to bring Rs 20 lakh as dowry. They used to harass her if the demand was not met. They used to taunt her and pressurize her family to bring money in dowry. Her husband had come to Bhopal just two days before the suicide and had a quarrel with his wife. He even had a scuffle with her. Instead of stopping her, mother-in-law, father-in-law, husband and family members used to taunt the woman. According to ACP Surabhi Meena, on 15 November, the body of Kritika Mandrai was found hanging at her in-laws' place in Dwarka Nagar. Kritika was married to Sushil Mandrai 9 months ago. Since the marriage, her in-laws were pressuring her to bring dowry. RPF jawan Sushil is posted in Mumbai. He was not even taking Kritika with him to Mumbai. The reason was that the dowry demand was not being met. Based on the facts revealed in the investigation and the statement of the parents, a case of dowry murder has been registered against the accused husband Sushil Mandrai, Manohar Lal, Vimala, Kanchan, Anita, Sangeeta and Lokesh Jatav. Kritika Mandrai lived with her husband Sushil Kumar Mandrai (25) in her in-laws' house in Dwarka Nagar. She was preparing for competitive exams. Her father Vishnu Prasad Gwale said that the daughter was married on February 14 this year. The son-in-law is an RPF personnel and is currently posted in Mumbai. At the wedding, he gave all the necessary items to the daughter and a bullet bike of her choice. Even after this, the son-in-law used to harass the daughter since the wedding demanding a car and an expensive plot in dowry. Kritika's husband lives alone in Mumbai. Even after telling her many times, he was not ready to keep Kritika with him. Every day he used to tell stories of other girls who were ready to marry him by giving expensive dowry.

An FIR has been lodged against three individuals for the misbehaviour and physical assault of an electricity company employee, as well as for obstructing government work. The incident was reported from the Chakaldi headquarters of the Rehti distribution centre under the Sehore circle of the Madhya Kshetra Vidyut Vitran Company (MKVVCL). It is important to note that Rajkumar Jaget, an out-sourced line helper in the area, was part of a team conducting a power check. The check resulted in the disconnection of power lines at the house of one Chhote Lal Sahu due to an outstanding balance of Rs 66,982. Later, when the team went to disconnect the power supply to Chhote Lal's shop, Chhote Lal, Shubham, and Ramesh Sahu attacked Rajkumar Jaget with sticks and rods, using abusive language and caste-based slurs while physically assaulting him. Consequently, an FIR was filed at the Rehti police station in Sehore district under various sections, including Section 132, 121(1), 296, 351(3), 3(5), BNS 3(1)(d), 3(1)(h), 3(2), and 3(VA) of the SC/ST Act. The investigation has been initiated. The MKVVCL stated that the incident has been taken very seriously by company officials, as it comes amid a surge in assaults and misbehaviour towards electricity workers. Such incidents lower the morale of electricity officers and employees. Therefore, all control officers working within the company's jurisdiction have been instructed to take any cases of misbehaviour or physical assault against field officers and employees with the utmost seriousness. The company has advised field officers and employees to continuously monitor the electricity supply situation and contact the District Collector/Police Superintendent to seek necessary support in case of any untoward situation.

700 participate in free coaching entrance

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Nearly 700 students participated in a qualifying examination for free coaching for civil services examinations in the state capital on Sunday. The coaching classes, a brain-child of District Collector Kaushalendra Vikram Singh, were announced last month in association with Adarsh Parivar and Aadhunik Nalanda, a welfare organisation already involved in the successful conduct of such classes in Gwalior. The joint coordinator of the initiative, Ram Lakhan Meena, said the test was conducted in 21 classrooms at the local Hamidia Arts and Commerce College, with Principal Pushplata Choukse maintaining a strict vigil at the examination centre. Several college professors and assistant professors supervised proceedings at the college, where the free coaching initiative will soon commence. The free coaching initiative aims to draw on voluntary contributions from academicians, students, and working professionals, who are being urged to take a couple of hours from their busy schedules for the benefit of the young aspirants.

Cyber criminals attempt to cheat Addl DCP at Indore

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Cyber criminals in Indore tried to cheat Additional DCP by making a video call and when they found that they had connected to a police officer, the call was abruptly disconnected. The cheaters were surprised after finding police officer in uniform was sitting in front, after which the call was disconnected immediately. An attempt was made to digitally arrest the Additional DCP posted in Indore. He was sitting in his office at around 2 pm on Sunday afternoon when he received a call, it was a voice call. The caller said on the phone that a transaction of Rs 1.1 lakh has been done wrongly from your credit card. An FIR has been registered for this. The officer understood that this was a fraud call. He kept talking to him. After a while, a video call was made to the officer to take the statement. In which the caller disconnected the phone after seeing the uniformed officer in front. Additional DCP Crime Branch Rajesh Dandotia said that he got an automated call. In which it was told that your credit card has been misused. Your bank account will be closed within 2 hours. I thought it was a case of digital arrest. I kept talking to them. He said that he kept asking them what I have to do. They told that we can help you so much that we will connect you to the police station. After this, they connected me to the police station. There a fraudster talked to me pretending to be a police personnel who shared that Aadhar card had been misused. An FIR has been filed against you in Andheri West. When did you come to Mumbai, I replied that I have not come to Mumbai for 10 years. Then they said that you will have to come to the police station in 2 hours. I said - I live in Indore. It is not possible to come in 2 hours. Their answer was that we will make you talk to our officer. He went inside, said Jai Hind and said that it was a digital fraud case. Can we take a statement, I have permission. After seeing me in uniform, he asked who was with you, so I said it was me. I am a police officer. After this he disconnected the call. Additional DCP Rajesh Dandotia told that at that time I was going to give a routine brief to the media. Then this call came. I understood that the person who made the digital arrest was a fraud.

White topping as pilot project on 14 roads in Bhopal soon

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

In a bid to rid roads of potholes and other monsoon-related damage, the Public Works Department (PWD) has decided to add a white topping to existing bitumen roads. The new road-building technique will first be used on 41 roads in 21 districts, for which the tender process has already been completed. The work, set to commence soon, is scheduled to be completed within a four-month time frame. White topping refers to the laying of a Portland Cement Concrete (PCC) layer above existing bitumen roads to enhance their longevity. The roads earmarked for the pilot project include 14 prominent roads, including Vallabh Bhavan road and the CM House Road located at Shyamla Hills. As part of the project, the PWD has selected one road each in Agar Malwa, Umariya, Khandwa, Guna, Chhatrapur, Dewas, Narmadapuram, Neemuch, Betul, Morena, Ratlam, Raisen, Rewa, Satna, and Harda districts for reconstruction.

CM for success of the 'Hum Honge Kamayab' campaign

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Chief Minister Mohan Yadav has called for the success of the special awareness campaign, 'Hum Honge Kamayab' fortnight, dedicated to the safety and dignity of women. In his message, Dr. Yadav emphasized that ensuring women's safety and respect is not solely the responsibility of the government or police but a shared duty of every individual in society.

The campaign, scheduled from 25th November to 19th December, highlights the pivotal role of men in fostering change. By adopting positive attitudes and behaviors, men can challenge the societal norms and prejudices that fuel violence against women, paving the way for a safer and more respectful environment for all.

Yadav said that it is the responsibility of all men to keep our women safe and worry about them in our society and family. We have to teach the boys in the house right from their childhood to respect every woman. We must ensure that daughters do not face physical violence or exploitation and consider them our equals.

Yadav said that parents must make their children aware and oppose violence against women. Also, create an environment of equality for all in society and family. Discrimination between son and daughter and woman and man should end. For the respect and safety of women, equal cooperation between society, government and law is necessary. Only then will we be able to build a better society where every woman and every sister will be safe and will be able to realize their dreams.

Dial Chidline 1098 or Women's Helpline 181 for help Yadav said that if anyone needs help, they can immediately dial Chidline 1098 or Women's Helpline 181. Help can also be sought by contacting Dial 100. Chief Minister Dr. Yadav said that the state government will never forget the contribution of the society especially towards women. The government will always stand with women. Let us all come together to make the "Hum Honge Kamayab" fortnight a success.

Many awareness activities will take place during the fortnight Awareness activities will be organized in co-ordination with various departments for 15 consecutive days in the "Hum Honge Kamayab" fortnight. On the first day of the fortnight, there will be a state-level two-day gender sensitization consultation programme, in which officers and employees of the concerned departments of all the districts will participate virtually.

On the second day, there will be a dialogue with the youth on "Gender-Based Violence" and a discussion on 'Psychological Impact of Gender-Based Violence'. Besides, there will be webinars and workshops for Anganwadi workers, child care institute employees, One Stop Centre, Shakti Sadan, Shaurya Dal and Shakti Niwas and Urja Mahila Desk workers on dealing with gender sensitivity and gender-based issues at the district and development block level.

On the third day of the fortnight, on 27th November, a webinar and session will be organized at the district, block, and village level on the Child Marriage Prohibition Act, Child Marriage Prohibition Act and the legal consequences of violation of these laws and a pledge will be given for a child marriage free India.

In this sequence, to create awareness about women's rights, the helpline and SHE BOX portal, major laws like POCSO, domestic violence and prohibition of child marriage will be publicized through various mediums of communication. Dialogues will be organized on the Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act at the district, development block, and village levels. Activities focused on the importance of reporting domestic violence and accessing support services available will be held.

Summit 2025 in Bhopal: Industrialists of Bhopal and state welcome decision

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Chief Minister Mohan Yadav said that Madhya Pradesh is making rapid progress across various industrial sectors, with a strong focus on strengthening the state's economy through collaboration with the industrial sector.

He emphasized that investments from other countries will boost the state's growth, while equal importance will be given to local industrialists. Priority will be placed on developing diverse industries by leveraging new technologies and creating maximum employment opportunities for the youth.

Yadav addressed a gathering of leading industrialists, representatives from industrial organizations, and various sectors who had come to express their gratitude to the state government for its decision to host the Global Investors Summit (GIS) in Bhopal in February 2025. During the event, organized under the Shubhamastu program, several organizations extended their appreciation to Yadav for bringing the GIS Summit to Bhopal.

Additionally, the industrial community conveyed their best wishes to the Chief Minister for his upcoming visit to the UK and Germany from November 24 to 30. This visit, aimed at attracting industrial investment and advancing the vision of a Vikasit Madhya Pradesh, was lauded as a significant step in fostering global collaborations and promoting the state's development.

Yadav highlighted the vast potential for industrial development in Madhya Pradesh, emphasizing opportunities in sectors like medical tourism, health, and space science. He noted the continuous expansion of healthcare and medical facilities in the state, which enhances its appeal for medical tourism. The state's natural beauty has also paved the way for growth in tourism-related industries, with places like Bhopal emerging as key contributors. Dr. Yadav remarked that Bhopal, with its numerous lakes, surpasses even Udaipur in Rajasthan, offering unique opportunities for the tourism industry. He further pointed out that while South India has traditionally been a hub for space science and research, Madhya Pradesh is now creating an enabling environment in this field.

Initiatives such as conferences for young scientists are encouraging student participation, and the newly established IIT Indore campus in Ujjain is fostering educational and technological growth.

To support the milk business, the state government is providing necessary assistance to cattle rearers for systematic and clean animal husbandry. Dr. Yadav mentioned the Bhoomi Pujan of a hi-tech cowshed, costing ₹15 crore, which was performed earlier that day in Barkhedi Dob near Sukhi Sewaniya, Bhopal. Spread over 25 acres, the facility will accommodate 10,000 cows.

He also highlighted Bhopal's distinction as the cleanest capital in the country, adding that such hi-tech cowsheds not only promote urban cleanliness but also contribute to sustaining the city's achievements in the cleanliness sector.

Yadav said that Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi deserves congratulations. He has brought India from the 11th position to the 5th in 2014. Madhya Pradesh is working at a fast pace to realize Prime Minister Shri Modi's resolve of Vikasit Bharat. The state budget will increase by 15 to 20 percent every year, which will help in the goal of doubling the budget in the coming five years. On this occasion, Chief Minister Dr. Yadav expressed his gratitude to the industrialists for this programme organized by them.

In the Shubhamastu programme, Chief Minister Yadav's views for industry promotion efforts in Madhya Pradesh were discussed. Dilip Suryavanshi said that the issue of removing BRTS is full of human sensitivity as it is the vision of our Chief Minister Dr. Yadav. Recently, new investments are coming in the field of soybean industry in the state.

Rotary delegation from S Africa, Namibia arrives

Chief Minister to visit British Parliament

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Chief Minister Mohan Yadav has begun his UK tour, aiming to establish the state as a prominent player on the global investment stage. The tour's primary objectives include attracting foreign investment, promoting global industrial cooperation and engaging the Indian Diaspora in the state's progress.

Dr. Yadav, on Monday will visit the British Parliament where he will be welcomed and accompanied by British MP Baroness (Sandip K Verma). He will then tour the Parliament with MP Baroness Verma and pay homage to Mahatma Gandhi's statue at Parliament Square, Westminster.

The Chief Minister will host a lunch at the Taj Hotel, St. James' Court in honor of British MPs including Baroness Verma, Lord Kulveer Singh and Shri Bob Blackman. He will also meet with British representatives and discuss investment opportunities in Madhya Pradesh.

CM Dr. Yadav will then visit the King's Cross site in London, where he will meet with administrative and trade representatives from Madhya Pradesh, as well as Dr. Param Shah from FICCI and CEO of King's Cross Management, Tom Goodall. They will discuss industrial investment opportunities in the state.

Yadav, in the evening will take a cruise on the River Thames and later engage in investment-related discussions with the Indian Diaspora and Friends of MP at the Royal National Hotel in London. He will also host a dinner for the guests.

Yuva Shakti Mission to empower youth leadership and shape Madhya Pradesh

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Chief Minister Mohan Yadav, on December 13, 2024 will complete one year of his tenure, marked by his strong and visionary leadership. Under his guidance, the government has focused on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's mantra GYAN (Garib, Yuva, Annadatra, and Nari-poor, youth, farmers, and women). As a New Year 2025 initiative, the state government will launch the Yuva Shakti Mission on January 1, 2025.

This mission aims to develop leadership abilities and enhance the skills of Madhya Pradesh's youth, enabling them to play a pivotal role in the state's progress. The initiative is designed to utilize the immense potential of the youth for the holistic development of Madhya Pradesh. Chief Minister Dr. Mohan Yadav believes that the foundation of the state's development lies in strong and capable youth leadership.

Mission to bridge gaps between education, skills and employment The Yuva Shakti Mission envisions empowering the youth by fostering key leadership qualities such as education, skill development and community service, enabling them to play a proactive role in the socio-economic growth of Madhya Pradesh. With youth at the core of the mission and the nation's progress, the primary goal is to provide them with the necessary resources and opportunities to develop into capable leaders. The mission aims not only to ensure that the youth are well-educated but also professionally skilled. Through the effective use of modern technology, the mission will enhance their professional skills, enabling them to secure well-paying jobs or become successful entrepreneurs contributing to the state's economy.

As part of the initiative, the government is creating diverse employment opportunities for the youth by collaborating with industries and business organizations. To promote entrepreneurship, the mission will support self-employment through skill training, financial assistance, and expert guidance. The Yuva Shakti Mission aspires to transform the youth of Madhya Pradesh into job creators rather than job seekers, fostering an environment where they can drive economic and social development.

The mission will develop leadership qualities in the youth. The 'Yuva Shakti Mission' under the strategic leadership of Chief Minister Dr. Yadav is engaged in implementing Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision of youth empowerment. The main aspect of the implementation of the mission is leadership development in the youth. For this, by involving the youth in governance and community service, capable and efficient leadership qualities will be developed in them. Chief Minister Dr. Yadav believes that the participation of youth in local development projects enhances their skills, as well as makes them responsible citizens. Youth Empowerment Through Strategic Use of Technology Modern technology plays a pivotal role in the successful implementation of the 'Yuva Shakti Mission.' The government has introduced online platforms to ensure that skill development courses are easily accessible and understandable for the youth. These platforms are designed to provide equal opportunities for young people in both rural and urban areas to benefit from the mission. To further enhance its reach, the government has devised a strategy to leverage social media effectively. This approach aims to disseminate information about the mission widely, increasing awareness among the youth and encouraging their active participation. The youth mission developed from the vision of Chief Minister Dr. Yadav will emerge as an effective mechanism for empowerment of youth power included in the mantra of Prime Minister Modi's 'Gyaan Par Dhyaan'.

From supplements to steroids, the unhealthy side of fitness

ANKUSH SINGH ■ BHOPAL

Recent social media trends have sold unrealistic fitness goals to gullible youngsters, prompting them to use performance-enhancing supplements and even drugs, without assessing the risks involved. The melee for bulging biceps and six-pack abs is making these youngsters attempt to hack their genetic makeup and achieve unrealistic muscle growth and definition, while constantly fighting to lower their body fat percentage.

On an increasingly low-carb diet, gym-goers rely on protein shakes, pre- and post-workout medication, creatine, and even anabolic steroids to fuel muscle growth, often on the advice of trainers who lack the qualications to prescribe these supplements. While there's nothing wrong with working out or even desiring a set of toned muscles, the worrying aspect is the obsessive nature of the sport and the exposure to health risks. Medical practitioners flag the growing trend as a cause for concern, saying many of these medications and powders may be harmful to kidney and liver health. They warn that supplements often contain hidden harmful ingredients that are not listed on the labels.

Continuous steroid use can lead to addiction and harm mental health. Adolescents and young adults, whose bodies are still developing, suffer from hormonal imbalances and sexual health issues due to these substances. City-based kidney specialist, Dr Dinesh Upadhyay, says, "Steroids cause numerous side effects, and the list is extensive. If a doctor doesn't prescribe them, people should avoid using them. Even doctors only recommend steroids for short-term use." He cautions that protein powders too carry substantial risks for the kidneys and liver. "I've seen cases where kidney failure occurs, and patients end up requiring dialysis. Young people should avoid these products. Eating regular, nutritious home-cooked food and focusing on exercise is the best way to achieve good health and fitness." Senior liver specialist, Dr Onkar Patel, concurs, saying, "Overusing steroids and protein supplements severely damages the liver. Many patients suffer liver damage. If protein supplements contain preservatives, people should completely avoid them. These products can harm the body." "We receive many cases of severe conditions like acute and chronic hepatitis. Using these products without medical guidance is dangerous," adds Dr Patel. Fitness athlete, Arpit Pateria, says, "I have been going to the gym since childhood and use protein powder, but I always consult experts because my body needs it. I prefer crude, unflavoured protein since many powders include artificial flavours and sugars that harm the body." Experts say bodybuilders will rarely admit that they're misusing drugs or are on a steroid cycle unless they encounter medical issues. Even then, they will first go to their trainer and seek quick-fix remedies. Amir Khan explained, "I have been working out for six years and have six-pack abs. For the last two years, I have used protein powder and experienced no issues. I also own a health supplements shop." "I complete in district-level bodybuilding competitions. If people take protein powder, they must work out accordingly; otherwise, it will harm their bodies," he advised. What those in competitive bodybuilding don't tell you is that athletes keep cutting down sodium intake in the run-up to an event, take diuretics, and stop drinking water or liquids about 48 hours prior to a competition so their dehydrated muscles look more defined. Loss of life in the arena is not uncommon.

AIIMS restores vision of 2 individuals

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Under the guidance of AIIMS Bhopal's Executive Director, Prof. (Dr.) Ajai Singh, the institute successfully restored the vision of two patients through corneal transplants during this Diwali.

This achievement highlights the dedication of the Ophthalmology Department team and the growing awareness of eye donation in society. Expressing his delight over this accomplishment, Prof. Singh stated, "Diwali is a symbol of light triumphing over darkness, and there can be no greater gift than the gift of vision during this auspicious occasion."

While people spend time with their families on the occasion of Diwali, our doctors have shown their dedication and sacrifice by performing eye transplants on these patients, illuminating not just their eyes, but their lives as well. These successful surgeries have demonstrated the immense importance of eye donation. I urge everyone to promote eye donation in society so that light can reach those in need." Dr. Priti Singh and her team performed these successful transplants during Diwali. The first patient, a 28-year-old woman, had been unable to see from one eye since childhood due to an injury.

The second patient, a 50-year-old man, lost his vision due to an infection. Both had sought treatment at various places but could not undergo corneal transplants. Their names were registered at AIIMS Bhopal, and as soon as eyes became available in the eye bank, the team swiftly arranged all necessary preparations to successfully perform their transplants. Both patients are now healthy and have been discharged from the hospital.

They expressed their heartfelt gratitude to AIIMS Bhopal and the medical team for giving them the gift of sight. This success not only reflects the excellence of AIIMS Bhopal's medical services but also delivers an important message about the significance of eye donation.

Viksit Bharat Young Leaders Dialogue to be held in Delhi on January 11-12: PM Modi

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Sunday announced that a "Viksit Bharat Young Leaders Dialogue" will be held on January 11-12 here and said the initiative was part of efforts to connect youngsters having no political background with politics. He said Swami Vivekananda's 162nd jayanti on January 12 would be celebrated in a very special way next year. On this occasion, a "Maha Kumbh" of young minds will be held at Delhi's Bharat Mandapam on January 11-12 and the initiative will be called the Viksit Bharat Young Leaders Dialogue.

"Crores of youths from all over India will participate in it. Two thousand such youths selected from villages, blocks, districts and states will gather at Bharat Mandapam for the Viksit Bharat Young Leaders Dialogue," Modi said. In the 116th episode of his monthly "Mann Ki Baat" radio broadcast, Modi also called on people to celebrate inspiring stories of the Indian diaspora who made their mark globally, contributed to freedom struggles and preserved "our heritage".

"You might remember that from the ramparts of the Red Fort, I urged such youths to join politics, none of whose family members or even the entire family have had a political background. To connect one lakh such youths, new youths, to politics, many special campaigns will be run in the country. The Viksit Bharat Young Leaders Dialogue is one such effort," he said. Noting that experts from the country and abroad would be present for it, Modi said many national and international personalities would also be there and he would be present for as much time as possible. The prime minister also hailed the National Cadet Corps (NCC) and noted that the NCC name reminded one of their school and college days.

"I myself have been an NCC cadet, so I can say with full confidence that the experience I got from it is invaluable for me. The NCC instils a spirit of discipline, leadership and service in the youth," he said.

The compassion and energy of India's "Yuva Shakti" in helping senior citizens is commendable, Modi said and cited the example of a young person from Lucknow helping the elderly submit digital life certificates.

He also talked about a person from Ahmedabad who is warning and making the elderly aware about cyber-crimes, including digital arrests. "I had discussed digital arrest in the last episode of 'Mann Ki Baat'. The elderly are the most common victims of such crimes. In such a situation, it is our responsibility to make them aware and help them stay safe from cyber fraud," he said.

"We have to explain to people again and again that there is no provision of digital arrest in the government; this is a blatant lie, a conspiracy to Guyana, Dr Irfan Ali, is also of Indian origin and is proud of his Indian heritage," he said.

"When I was in Guyana, a thought struck my mind that I am sharing with you. Just like Guyana, there are lakhs of Indians in dozens of countries across the world. Their ancestors have their own stories of decades; even those over 200-300 years ago. Can you be on the lookout for such stories of how Indian immigrants made their mark in different countries?" he said.

"How they took part in their freedom struggle! How they kept their Indian heritage alive! I want you to find out such true stories, and share them with me. You can also share these stories on the NaMo app or on MyGov with #IndianDiasporaStories," the prime minister said. Modi also highlighted an extraordinary project underway in Oman and said numerous Indian families had been living in the country for many centuries, with most of them who settled there being from Kutch in Gujarat.

These people created important trade links and, even today, they have Omani citizenship but Indianness is ingrained in their personae, he said.

"With the support of the Indian Embassy in Oman and the National Archives of India, a team has started the work of preserving the history of these families. Thousands of documents have been collected under this campaign so far. These include diaries, account books, ledgers, letters and telegrams. Some of these documents even date back to the year 1838. These documents are full of sentiments," he said.

The "Oral History Project" is also an important basis of this mission and, in this mission, senior people from there have shared their experiences, he said. A similar "Oral History Project" is being carried out in India as well, he added.

Under this project, history enthusiasts are collating the experiences of the victims during the country's Partition, the prime minister said.

"Now, there are very few people left in the country who have witnessed the horrors of Partition. In such a situation, this effort has become even more significant. The country that preserves its history, its future is also secure. With this very thought in mind, an effort has been made in which a directory has been created to preserve the history of villages," Modi said.

Talking about the Ek Ped Maa Ke Naam campaign, Modi said people from all over the country participated in it with great enthusiasm.

"I am very happy to tell you that this campaign has crossed the important milestone of planting 100 crore trees. Hundred crore trees, that too, in just five months," he said. Modi pointed out that the campaign was now spreading to other countries as well.

"You must have noticed that as soon as someone mentions a 'government office', a picture of a pile of files emerges in your mind. You must have seen something similar in films, too," he said.

"So many jokes are made on these piles of files in government offices; so many stories have been written. These files used to gather dust after lying in offices for years and years, and would start accumulating dirt," he added.

A special Swachhata Abhiyan was launched to remove such decades-old files and scrap and this campaign brought amazing results in government departments, he said, adding that the cleanliness drive freed up a lot of space in offices.

Army Chief's Nepal visit culminates in stronger defence, bilateral ties

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

Army Chief General Upendra Dwivedi's five-day official visit to Nepal has culminated in stronger defence and bilateral ties. He returned to New Delhi on Sunday after a resoundingly successful visit, army said here.

The visit, which exceeded all stated objectives, further solidified the robust defence cooperation, cultural ties, and mutual respect between the two nations. It underscored the shared commitment of the Indian and Nepali Armies to fostering peace, security, and partnership in the region.

During his visit, the Army chief engaged extensively with Nepal's political and military leadership. He held high-level meetings with President of Nepal Ram Chandra Paudel, Prime Minister K P Sharma Oli and Defence Minister Manbir Rai.

He also engaged in meaningful discussions with General Ashok Raj Sigdel, chief of Nepal Army along with other senior military officers. These interactions were characterised by exceptional openness and mutual respect, reflecting the shared commitment to strengthening bilateral relations. Strengthening India-Nepal ties was a central theme of the visit. General Upendra Dwivedi and his Nepalese counterpart discussed aspects of mutual interest and avenues to strengthen bilateral defence cooperation. General Dwivedi was briefed by the Director General of Military Operations (DGMO) of the Nepali Army and engaged in high-level discussions with other senior military leaders. These discussions focused on enhancing military bonds, joint exercises, training cooperation, and capability development, reinforcing the shared commitment to global peace and security. As a gesture of friendship between the two armies, the Indian Army presented Valour Mount horses and Sentinel dogs to the Nepali Army. General Dwivedi was conferred the Honorary Rank of General of the Nepali Army by President Paudel. This unique tradition underscores the deep-rooted historical and cultural ties between the Indian and Nepali Armies.

Enlightening the future leaders at the Nepal Army Command and Staff College in Shivapuri, the visiting Army chief delivered a lecture on "The Changing Character of War". He emphasised on strengthening and deepening the engagements for mutually building the competencies & capabilities of both Armies. He attended an Ex-Servicemen Rally at the Pension Paying Office in Pokhara, interacting with Gorkha veterans and Veer Naris of the Indian Army. The bond between the veterans and the Indian Army was very visible and thriving, reflecting their strong ties.

This visit, marked by comprehensive discussions and mutual respect, has reinforced the strong partnership between the Indian and Nepali Armies. The outcomes of the visit are expected to usher in a new era of collaboration, with a greater focus on defence cooperation, cultural exchange, and regional security.

CRPF sets up three new forward bases in Chhattisgarh's hardcore naxal areas

RAIPUR

The Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) has opened three new forward bases in the "hardcore" Maoist violence affected districts of Chhattisgarh's Bastar region to provide security forces with "strategic" hubs for launching intensified anti-Naxal operations. The forward operating bases (FOB) have come up in Tumpalpad and Rayagudem in Sukma district and Kondapalli in the adjoining Bijapur district. These bases have been made operational over the last week or so, officials told PTI.

The central force is working on a strategy to make inroads into "hardcore" Naxalite areas of the state where the final battle against Left Wing Extremism (LWE) is concentrated.

The FOBs act as launching pads for all security forces, including the CRPF and state police units, to launch specific and intelligence-based anti-Naxal operations in core areas, they said.

All these three villages in the two districts of Bastar region have served as the logistical centres for the Maoists for decades. Kondapalli, as per LWE theatre experts, used to be an important recruitment centre for the "most vital" PLGA battalion no. 1 of the Maoists. The village located on the banks of river Talperu also served as a training area for the Maoists. Similarly, Tumpalpad, on the banks of the Chintavagu river, served as a halt area and corridor for the Naxals, the experts said.

The Tumpalpad FOB was operationalised by the 74th battalion of the force while the Kondapalli base has been created by the 170th CRPF unit.

The specialised jungle warfare unit of the CRPF, Command Battalion for Resolute Action (CoBRA), provided active security to the teams which created these FOBs, the officials aid.

These FOBs will act as physical barriers and curb the free movement of Naxals in these areas called as 'no go' territories for government authorities and security forces till now, they said.

The CRPF has created more than 40 such FOBs in Chhattisgarh over the last three-four years as the toughest anti-Naxal operations combat remains concentrated in Bastar that borders Odisha and Telangana.

Centre issues guidelines for disability reservation to ensure uniformity

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

The Centre has issued comprehensive guidelines to streamline reservation and identification of posts for persons with at least 40 per cent disabilities, mandating periodic identification of such posts and formation of committees to assess them. The guidelines also state that if a post is deemed suitable for them, all subsequent promotional posts will also be reserved for persons with disabilities.

The guidelines are in line with the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (RPwD) Act, 2016.

The move comes after the Delhi High Court flagged inconsistencies in implementation of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (RPwD) Act, 2016 and criticised entities like the Kendriya Vidyalaya Sangathan (KVS) for unauthorised actions in identifying posts.

The high court earlier this month observed that KVS had overstepped its authority by independently identifying posts for PwBDs and highlighted inconsistencies in the understanding of the Act among various departments. The court mandated the Department of Empowerment of Persons with Disabilities (DEPwD) to establish uniform guidelines.

The updated guidelines aim to ensure inclusivity, fairness, and uniformity in the employment of persons with disabilities across central government establishments.

The new guidelines also ask ministries and departments to form committees, including representatives with disabilities, to assess all posts for their suitability.

A comprehensive review of identified posts is required every three years to incorporate technological advancements and evolving job requirements.

The guidelines also mandate a four per cent reservation in direct recruitment and promotions across categories, including blindness, locomotor disability, hearing impairment, and intellectual disabilities. Additionally, they emphasise timely filling of backlog vacancies, wide publicity to ensure accessibility, and a three-year validity period for exemptions from reservation policies.

The government has also clarified that exemptions from reservation are valid for a maximum of three years and must be periodically reviewed. The move aims to ensure fairness while leveraging advancements in assistive technology.

Effective immediately, these guidelines supersede all previous instructions on the matter, except notifications issued in 2021 and 2022. Arman Ali, Executive Director, National Centre for Promotion of Employment of Disabled People (NCPEDP), said identifying posts suitable for persons with benchmark disabilities is not just about fulfilling reservation mandates; it's a stepping stone to enabling career growth.

Extending this process to promotional positions ensures that persons with disabilities are not confined to entry-level roles but have equal opportunities to advance in their careers.

"It's important to emphasise that the one per cent reservation for different categories of disabilities does not imply any hierarchy or chronology. While these measures need to be enforced more effectively in the past I welcome this step as a positive move towards inclusivity. The formation of expert committees and their regular meetings must be strictly adhered to," he said.

"I see the two most crucial tasks of the committee are to ensure the inclusion of people with intellectual and developmental disabilities which is the most important part and to have people with disability have a seat on the table," he said.

Ex-CJI Chandrachud removed fear of law from political defectors: Raut

PNS ■ MUMBAI

Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Sanjay Raut on Sunday slammed former Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud, alleging that he had removed the fear of the law from politicians who defected from parties in Maharashtra.

Raut claimed that by not deciding on the disqualification petitions, Chandrachud kept doors and windows open for defectors. The Shiv Sena (UBT) leader's statement comes after his party faced a severe drubbing in the state assembly elections, as it managed to clinch only 20 out of 95 seats it contested as part of the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA).

The performance of the party's alliance partners was no better, with the Congress winning only 16 out of 101 seats and NCP (SP) getting only 10 out of 86 seats it contested. Talking to reporters, Raut alleged, "He (Chandrachud) has removed the fear of the law from defectors. His name will be written in black letters in history."

Following the split in the undivided Shiv Sena in 2022, the party's faction headed by Uddhav Thackeray filed petitions in the Supreme Court on the disqualification of party MLAs who defected along with Eknath Shinde. The apex court put the onus on the assembly Speaker to decide on the disqualification petitions, which he did earlier this year, declaring the Sena bloc led by Shinde as the "real political party".

Raut alleged that the results of the assembly election were pre-decided. If the then CJI had decided on the disqualification petitions on time, the outcome would have been different.

"We are sad but not disappointed. We will not leave the fight incomplete. Division of votes was also a factor, and the RSS played an important role in the election. The poisonous campaign impacted us negatively," he said.

He said the swearing-in ceremony for the new government should be held in neighbouring Gujarat.

Meanwhile, in his weekly column "Rokhtok" in the party mouthpiece "Saamana", the Shiv Sena (UBT) leader claimed that it was time to offer condolences to the Election Commission, which turned a blind eye to the use of money power. "The courts have been in the ICU for a long time," he alleged.

Cong's performance shocking, worst-ever in Maharashtra polls, says Chavan

PNS ■ MUMBAI

Senior Congress leader and former Maharashtra chief minister Prithviraj Chavan on Sunday said his party's defeat was "shocking" and dubbed it as the "worst-ever" loss in the state assembly polls.

Talking to PTI, Chavan said the Mahayuti government's Ladki Bahin Yojana, for providing financial assistance to women, clicked with voters in rural areas while polarisation hit the opposition Maha Vikas Aghadi's (MVA) prospects in urban parts of the state. "It is difficult to say whether there was a wave or tampering," said Chavan, who lost from his Karad South seat.

The results of the November 20 polls to the 288-member state assembly were announced on Saturday. BJP's Atul Bhosale defeated the former CM in Karad South by a margin of 39,355 votes, as per the results announced by the Election Commission on Saturday.

Chavan said that in the 1977 Lok Sabha polls, Congress' tally of 20 out of 48 seats in Maharashtra was the lowest ever.

"This is a shocking defeat and is the worst-ever in the assembly polls," he said, referring to the just concluded state elections.

Chavan said he had spoken to All India Congress Committee in-charge for Maharashtra Ramesh Chennithala, who has left for Delhi to discuss the state results with the Congress leadership.

Puri Jagannath temple administration urges ASI to start repair work of Ratna Bhandar

PTI ■ BHUBANESWAR

The Shree Jagannath Temple Administration (SJTA) has requested the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) authorities to immediately take up the repair, maintenance and conservation work of the entire Ratna Bhandar (treasury) in the 12th century shrine in Puri. SJTA chief administrator Arabinda Padhee on Saturday said the temple administration will extend all its cooperation to ASI in the repair and maintenance of the Ratna Bhandar.

"We have received the report of the Ratna Bhandar's GPR-GPS survey conducted by the ASI," Padhee said. He said the SJTA has all along been careful about the stability and security of the temple. Earlier, the ASI had conducted the GPR-GPS survey of the 12th-century shrine's Ratna Bhandar (treasury) with the assistance of Hyderabad-based NGRI (National Geophysical Research Institute). Padhee said the ASI has given a 45-page report on the survey. "There has been indication of damage done to the floor and wall of the Ratna Bhandar. However, the technical report needs to be studied further by our team," he said. Ratna Bhandar was reopened in July this year after 46 years for an inventory of valuables and the repair of its structure, officials said.

Yogi Adityanath's by-election win paves way for 2027 dominance

BISWAJEET BANERJEE ■ LUCKNOW

Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath has emerged stronger after the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) clinched a decisive 7-2 victory in the state's by-elections. This triumph not only revives the BJP's morale following its disappointing performance in the Lok Sabha elections earlier this year but also cements Yogi's leadership ahead of the 2027 assembly polls. "This is a booster dose for our workers," said Vijay Bahadur Pathak, a senior BJP leader. "The results show that when we work unitedly under Yogi ji's guidance, the BJP is unstoppable." The BJP's campaign focused on unity, encapsulated in Yogi Adityanath's rallying cry, "Batege to katenge" (If we divide, we will be cut). The slogan resonated deeply, underscoring the party's collective strength. Prime Minister Narendra Modi reinforced this message during a campaign in Maharashtra, stating, "Ek hain to safe hain" (If we are united, we are safe). Political analyst Rajesh N. Bajpayee highlighted the impact of this messaging. "The BJP's narrative of unity struck a chord with voters and played a key role in their victory. It's a lesson in disciplined, cohesive campaigning." The Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), often the BJP's ideology backbone, amplified its support for Yogi Adityanath during the by-polls. Unlike its limited involvement in the Lok Sabha elections, the RSS fully backed Yogi's leadership in these by-elections, emphasizing societal cohesion. "Yogi ji's vision aligns with our principles," said a senior RSS functionary during a high-level meeting in Mathura. "His leadership is crucial for the BJP's continued success in Uttar Pradesh." Opposition in Turmoil While the BJP celebrated, the opposition struggled. The Samajwadi Party (SP), touted as the BJP's primary rival, secured just two seats. SP chief Akhilesh Yadav's reliance on caste-based vote banks failed to counter the BJP's development narrative. "The SP's inability to tap into anti-incumbency sentiments is glaring," Bajpayee noted. "Akhilesh Yadav must rethink his strategy if he hopes to remain relevant." The Congress performed dismally, opting to contest only a handful of seats. In Phulpur, Congress district president Suresh Yadav rebelled and contested independently, managing just 1,365 votes.

The Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) fared no better, with over 60% of its traditional vote bank shifting to other parties. The by-election results provide a glimpse into Uttar Pradesh's political future. While the BJP has regained its footing, the opposition faces an uphill battle to recalibrate and mobilize effectively before 2027. As the dust settles, the by-polls have reaffirmed Yogi Adityanath's stature as a formidable leader. Whether the BJP can sustain this momentum will depend on its ability to address voter aspirations and maintain its narrative of unity and progress.

Shinde's party defeats Uddhav's outfit in 36 seats, loses in 14

PNS ■ MUMBAI

The Shiv Sena led by Chief Minister Eknath Shinde has trounced rival Shiv Sena (UBT) of Uddhav Thackeray in 36 assembly seats in Maharashtra, putting to rest the debate over which is the real party founded by late Bal Thackeray. Shinde's Sena, a constituent of the ruling Mahayuti alliance, won 57 of the 81 seats it contested in the state polls, the results of which were announced on Saturday. The Sena (UBT), a partner in the opposition Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA), managed to bag only 20 despite fielding 95 candidates. In 14 seats, it defeated Shiv Sena candidates. In one of his biggest political gambles, Shinde rebelled against Uddhav Thackeray's leadership in June 2022 and aligned with the BJP along with his backers to become the chief minister. The move split the Sena, led to the collapse of the Thackeray-led MVA government and sparked almost daily bickering between the two factions. Subsequently, Shinde got the party name and its 'bow-and-arrow' symbol from the Election Commission. Shinde had retained most of the sitting MLAs, who chose to be with him when he led the rebellion two years ago. They delivered for him on Saturday when votes for the state polls were counted. Minister Abdul Sattar defeated Suresh Bankar in Sillod. Pradeep Jaiswal, who fought against Balasaheb Thorat, was the winner in Aurangabad Central. Sanjay Shirsat beat Raju Shinde in Aurangabad West seat, while Vilas Bhumre came on top in his fight against Dattatreya Gorde in Paithan. Chandrakant Sonawane, who replaced his wife and sitting MLA Lata Sonawane, defeated Prabhakar Sonawane of Sena (UBT) in Chopda. Sanjana Jadhav trounced Udayraj Rajput in Kannad, while Sanjay Bangar emerged victorious against Santosh Tarfe in Kalamnuri. Ganesh Dhattrak was bested

Ramesh Korgaonkar in Bhandup West. Murji Patel, who had earlier lost to Rutuja Latke in Andheri East, bounced back as the winner. Tukaram Kate defeated Prakash Phaterpekar in Chembur. Both Latke and Phaterpekar were sitting MLAs who had stayed with Uddhav. Bharat Gogawale got more votes than Snehal Jagtap to bag the Mahad seat, while Shambhura Desai trounced Bhanupratap Kadam in Patan. In coastal Dapoli, Yogesh Kadam defeated Sanjay Kadam. Minister Uday Samant won against Bal Mane in Ratnagiri, while Kiran Samant beat sitting MLA Rajan Salvi in Rajapur. Nilesh Rane, who switched from BJP to Shiv Sena before the polls, defeated sitting MLA Vaibhav Naik in Kudal. In Sawantwadi near Goa, Deepak Kesarkar got the best of Rajan Teli. Prakash Abitkar defeated KP Patil in Radhanagari. The Sena (UBT) won against the Shiv Sena in 14 seats. In Mehkar, Rambhau Kharat defeated Shiv Sena's Sanjay Bhaskar Raymulkar, while Nitin Bhiknrao Deshmukh was the winner in Balapur. Shiv Sena's Bhagwan Siraskar came third. Sunil Raut defeated Suvarna Karanje in Vikhroli and his Sena (UBT) colleague Anant Nar was the winner in Jogeshwari West after a face-off with Manisha Waikar. Sunil Prabhu defeated Sanjay Nirupam in Dindoshi. Mahesh Sawant beat Sada Sarvankar in Mahim. Uddhav Thackeray's son and former state minister Aaditya Thackeray retained his Worli seat by defeating Milind Deora, who recently joined the Shiv Sena from Congress. Manoj Jamsutkar defeated Yamini Jadhav in Byculla. The vote share of the Sena (UBT) was 9.96 per cent compared to Shiv Sena's 12.38 per cent. The BJP-led Mahayuti alliance on Saturday retained power in Maharashtra, pocketing a whopping 230 of the 288 assembly seats, as the Congress-led Maha Vikas Aghadi's dream of wresting power fizzled, with the opposition combine managing to garner just 46 seats. The Election Commission announced that the BJP has won 132 seats, the Shiv Sena won 57, while the NCP got 41 seats. In the MVA, the Nationalist Congress Party (Sharadchandra Pawar) candidates won 10 seats, Congress won 16, while Shiv Sena (Uddhav Balasaheb Thackeray) won 20 seats.

Will collectively introspect 'shocking' drubbing in Maharashtra polls: Congress

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ THIRUVANANTHAPURAM/NEW DELHI

A day after BJP-led Mahayuti retained power in Maharashtra, the Congress on Sunday said that the party and other partners of the Maha Vikas Aghadi will collectively introspect the reasons of their 'shocking' drubbing in the crucial polls. The BJP-led Mahayuti alliance on Saturday won 230 of the 288 assembly seats in Maharashtra and the Congress-led Maha Vikas Aghadi managed to garner just 46 seats. AICC general secretary K C Venugopal said that the assembly poll results in Maharashtra was 'shocking' and 'unbelievable'. "We don't understand what happened. It was not just the debacle of the Congress party but that of the entire alliance," he said. So, we will sit together and collectively introspect (its reasons), Venugopal added. The Election Commission announced that the BJP had won 132 seats, the Shiv Sena 57, while the NCP 41 seats. In the MVA, the Nationalist Congress Party (Sharadchandra Pawar) candidates won 10 seats, Congress 16, while Shiv Sena (Uddhav Balasaheb Thackeray) 20 seats. When asked whether the grand-old-party suspected any sabotage in the Maharashtra election results, the leader said they were not raising any such allegation soon after the debacle. "We suffered huge setbacks in the strongholds of Sharad Pawar, Uddhav Thackeray and that of the Congress. It is the failure of not just the Congress party but that of the entire alliance," he said. So, we will sit together and collectively introspect (its reasons), Venugopal added. The Election Commission announced that the BJP had won 132 seats, the Shiv Sena 57, while the NCP 41 seats. In the MVA, the Nationalist Congress Party (Sharadchandra Pawar) candidates won 10 seats, Congress 16, while Shiv Sena (Uddhav Balasaheb Thackeray) 20 seats. When asked about Priyanka Gandhi Vadra's huge majority win in Wayanad, the AICC general secretary said it was the result of collective work of the entire party leaders and workers. "The party expected this huge majority in Wayanad. Soon after the polling, there was a huge concern about the majority. But, after the internal assessment of the party, we were sure that the low poll percentage would not impact Priyanka's majority," he said. He also made it clear that the Wayanad landslide tragedy and the subsequent issues would be one of the issues that would be raised by Priyanka in the Lok Sabha. Rejecting the opposition campaign that she would not visit Wayanad frequently, Venugopal said she would prove them wrong through her actions. He also said that Priyanka would continue her interventions in north Indian politics as well, along with being the MP of Wayanad.

Maharashtra poll results were rigged, alleges Congress

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ KOCHI

The Indian National Congress which was mauled by the BJP-led alliance in the election held to the Maharashtra assembly said on Sunday that the poll results were rigged and do not reflect the real feeling of the electorate. "This is shocking and mysterious as we had scored a fantastic victory under my leadership in the Lok Sabha election held in June 2024. The results of the assembly election in Maharashtra is shocking and dubious. We have doubts about the authenticity of the electronic voting machines used in Maharashtra," said Ramesh Chennithala, veteran Congress leader who was in charge of the Maharashtra assembly polls. Speaking to reporters at Thiruvananthapuram on Sunday, Chennithala said that he was entrusted the responsibility of Maharashtra election by the High Command because it was confident that he could lead the party to impressive win, similar to the Lok Sabha win. "A thorough probe should be held about the poll results in Maharashtra. The changes in the poll prospectus over the last four months is shocking, unbelievable and against the will of the people," said Chennithala. When asked about the results of the Jharkhand assembly election which saw the INDI Alliance led by the Congress romping home and retaining power, Chennithala was evasive. "May be the EVMs in Jharkhand performed well while those in Maharashtra were faulty," said the aging leader from Kerala who is a strong contender for the chief minister's chair after the 2026 assembly polls in the State. Chennithala said he was equally shocked over the poll results of Haryana which was won by the BJP. "The communist BJP had no chance of winning the Haryana election and we were confident of returning to power in the State. But Haryana result too was against the will of the people," said Chennithala. He also said that the Congress would take up the issue in the national level itself and investigate the factors behind the volte face in the will of the electorate. The Maharashtra poll result has come as a shocker to Chennithala because he fears that the outcome may dampen his chances as a strong contender for the top job in Kerala.

Didn't expect winning margin to be so huge: BJP's Ramveer Singh

PNS ■ LUCKNOW/MORADABAD

Like all politicians, BJP's Ramveer Singh dreamt of ending the losing streak of his party, but little did he know his victory would be so stylised, featuring a rout by 1.44 lakh votes of his nearest rival. Singh won the Kundarki assembly constituency, a seat BJP had been losing since 1993, defeating Samajwadi Party's Mohammad Rizwan, who bagged 25,580. His victory assumed more significance as it came against an all-Muslim lineup in a constituency where around 60 per cent of the electorate comes from the community. Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath termed it a victory of nationalism. "What was once a dream has become a reality today," he said on Saturday after the results were announced. Singh claimed that when the seat became vacant, he was approached by hundreds of Muslims, who urged him to contest the bypoll.

Bypolls in Kundarki were necessitated following the election of its sitting MLA, SP's Ziaur Rehman, as the Lok Sabha MP from Sambhal parliamentary constituency earlier this year. "I was expecting a victory margin of 50,000 to 60,000. But workers told me I would win by more than 1 lakh votes. People had a feeling of love towards me. They were disappointed by the SP, as cases were framed against lakhs of people, and thousands of them were put behind bars during the SP rule from 2012 to 2017," Singh said. "When the seat got vacated, hundreds of Muslims came to me and asked me to seek a ticket. We will make you an MLA, we have made up our mind," they said. Because they requested, I remained active, and the party leadership also listened to the voice of the people," he said. To Rizwan, who alleged that the elections were rigged, Singh said he was hiding his failure. "He can get the election conducted once again. He will know what his worth is," Singh said. On Saturday, when the results were announced, Rizwan contested the mandate, alleging booths were captured.

"It is not the defeat of the Samajwadi ... people did not vote here and the booths were looted," he told PTI. Rizwan served as Kundarki MLA in 2002, 2012, and 2017. The Muslim-dominated seat in west UP's Moradabad was a test of BJP's Hindu unity plank. The party's campaign in the bypolls largely revolved around 'Ram aur Rasht'ra' against the opposition Samajwadi Party's bid to consolidate the OBC-Dalit-Muslim vote bank. The win came as a salve for the BJP, which suffered a massive cut in seats in the Lok Sabha polls held earlier in the year. It won six of the nine Assembly seats in the state where bypolls were held on November 20. Adding to BJP's emphatic performance, its ally Rashtriya Lok Dal clinched Meerapur, the lone seat it contested. The Samajwadi Party emerged victorious on the remaining two seats -- Karhal and Sishamau.

Veg diet, alcohol abstinence, behaviour training: UP cops prep for 'pleasant' Maha Kumbh

PNS ■ PRAYAGRAJ (UP)

A strict vegetarian diet, alcohol abstinence and behavioural training are among the steps the Uttar Pradesh Police is taking to ensure its personnel act as "servants of faith" and create a pleasant experience for the devotees gathering in this holy city for the Maha Kumbh. The Maha Kumbh will commence on January 13 on the occasion of Paus Purnima and conclude on February 26 on Mahashivratri. Senior Superintendent of Police (Kumbh) Rajesh Dwivedi emphasised that the primary focus of the police, alongside maintaining security, would be to foster a welcoming environment for the pilgrims.

He said, "Our aim is to ensure that the devotees have a pleasant experience, and the police behave with warmth -- not just as enforcers of the law but as servants of faith." Police personnel to be deployed for the Maha Kumbh are undergoing behaviour-focused training at a designated facility within the mela area. External trainers are also being invited to impart lessons in etiquette and public service. So far, 1,500 police personnel have completed the training. By the time the mela commences, 40,000 personnel will have completed the exercise. Atul Kumar Singh, the training programme in-charge, said 700 police personnel were receiving training at a time, following a 21-day module.

The duration will gradually come down to 14 days as the mela draws closer, he added. Personnel such as Satish Kumar Yadav, a head constable from Mathura who will be deployed during the mela, expressed appreciation for the training. "I have learned the importance of courteous behaviour and how to assist the devotees during times of distress. The training also covered topics such as cybercrime prevention," he said. The force is also receiving expert instruction from the National Police Academy. Personnel trained there are now preparing trainers who, in turn, are equipping the larger police contingent for their role at the mela. In addition to behavioural training, the police are also being instructed to maintain the Maha Kumbh's sanctity. District police chief Dwivedi reaffirmed the Maha Kumbh's strict policies regarding food and drink and said non-vegetarian food or alcohol would not be permitted in the mela ground. "The food in the police mess is entirely vegetarian and we have instructed all personnel to act in a manner that respects the devotees' faith," he said. New technologies will also be deployed at the Maha Kumbh this time. An AI chatbot -- Kumbh Sahayak -- is being developed to assist the devotees with information in more than 10 languages via the Bhashini app. This initiative is designed to bridge language barriers and provide instant support to the vast number of devotees.

The police will also deploy bilingual personnel and translators to assist non-Hindi speaking devotees. Mounted police on 160-170 horses will assist in crowd control, ensuring safety while maintaining a harmonious atmosphere. With cybercrime on the rise, the personnel were also briefed by domain expert Pawan Kumar. Security measures, including the use of cutting-edge technologies, are being incorporated to ensure both safety and a positive experience for the devotees. In preparing for the Maha Kumbh, the authorities are combining tradition with modern technology, ensuring that this once-in-a-lifetime gathering will be as safe, respectful and efficient as possible.

Ruling JMM retains Jharkhand and the BJP-led Mahayuti, Maharashtra, indicating anti-incumbency is not at play right now

The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), alongside its allies, achieved significant electoral victory in Maharashtra while the Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) fought its way to victory in Jharkhand despite many handicaps proving once again that it is difficult to read the voters' mind. In Maharashtra, the BJP-led Mahayuti coalition, including factions of the Shiv Sena and the Nationalist Congress Party (NCP), secured a decisive majority, capitalising on effective consolidation of OBC votes and strategic welfare schemes like direct cash transfers for women. Prime Minister Narendra Modi's leadership and grassroots outreach programmes further bolstered their appeal. Meanwhile, in Jharkhand, the BJP failed to wrest power from the ruling alliance of JMM. It could not emphasise governance issues and leverage dissatisfaction with the Hemant Soren-led coalition. The JMM's success was amplified by strong voter mobilisation in tribal areas and development-focused messaging. In Maharashtra, the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) alliance, comprising the Congress, Shiv Sena (UBT), and the original NCP struggled with internal divisions and a lack of clarity on critical issues such as reservations for the Maratha community.

In Jharkhand, the BJP's limited reach and failure to address rural distress effectively diminished its appeal. The electoral outcome in Maharashtra underlines the BJP's ability to adapt and dominate state politics. All this while the Opposition struggled to regain voter trust. The NDA led by the BJP, achieved notable success in Maharashtra due to a combination of strategic alliances, effective voter outreach and targeted welfare initiatives. In Maharashtra, the BJP presented itself as a cohesive force with Eknath Shinde's Shiv Sena faction and Ajit Pawar's Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) group, ensuring a consolidated voter base. The party's focus on OBC consolidation, welfare schemes such as direct cash transfers for women, and the influence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's leadership resonated strongly with voters. But it was different story in Jharkhand where the BJP could not harness dissatisfaction with the governance of the Hemant Soren-led coalition and failed to highlight local issues like unemployment and tribal welfare and banked more on its national agenda. The JMM also benefited from a grassroots campaign that addressed tribal and rural voter concerns, further solidifying its position. Similarly, in Maharashtra the opposition failed to effectively capitalise on the BJP's perceived shortcomings, such as economic challenges and allegations of governance lapses. In Maharashtra, the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) coalition, comprising the Congress, Shiv Sena (Uddhav), and Sharad Pawar's NCP, struggled with internal divisions and inconsistent messaging, particularly on sensitive issues like Maratha reservations. In Jharkhand, JMM and Congress were able to counter the BJP's narrative and present a compelling vision for change. These results indeed underscore the innate acumen of the voters to vote on the issues they deem important.

Grey divorce: The new reality of modern relationships

Far from a rash dissolution of vows, grey divorce is reshaping societal views on commitment, showcasing that it can lead to new beginnings

The entertainment media is abuzz with news of AR Rahman's separation from his wife of many years, Saira Banu. It is not the first time that famous couples, married for several years, have called it quits. What was once anathema in the old scheme of things—namely, a marriage breakup—has now become a lot more common, giving rise to a new term in the nuptial dictionary: grey divorce.

erating at the same time. We have now entered a new era of human relationships, where binding and breaking look like two sides of the same coin. While separation at a younger age is more common than parting at twilight or thereabouts, even long-standing unions are no longer immune to the reconfigurations of modern relationships. Grey divorce has come to symbolise not just the unravelling of a marriage but the assertion of individuality—a reclaiming of one's universe after years of compromise and shared existence. For couples who part ways after decades together, it is not a rash decision taken in the heat of conflict but the culmination of deep reflection and an honest appraisal of their shared journey. It is not about undoing the years they spent together or dismissing the love they once held; rather, it is about recognising that their paths have diverged, their goals have shifted, and their needs have evolved in ways that no longer align. Marriage, in its ideal form, is a partnership where two people grow together while allowing each other room to flourish individually. But as life unfolds with its relentless demands and shifting priorities, it is not uncommon for this delicate balance to tilt. What once felt like a harmonious duet may start to sound discordant, not out of malice or neglect, but simply because human beings are not static.

Divorce in later years, though heart-wrenching, is often an act of self-preservation—a decision to honour the person each has become rather than clinging to a version of themselves that no longer exists. It is a painful shedding of skin that no longer fits, and like all transformations, it comes with its share of sorrow and scars. Yet, it is also an opportunity for renewal, a chance to readjust one's life with one's inner truth. Couples who choose to separate after years together are not betraying the sanctity of marriage; they are embracing the courage to let go of something that no longer serves their mutual wellbeing. It is a quiet revolution in the way society views commitment—not as an unyielding contract but as a partnership rooted in growth, love, and respect, even when that means stepping away. While the process is undeniably painful, it also holds the promise of freedom and self-discovery. It allows individuals to reclaim their lives, find joy in their own company, and pursue paths that were perhaps once abandoned for the sake of togetherness. Grey divorce is not the undoing of a life lived together; it is the rewriting of two lives that are still unfolding. It reminds us that while love may not always last in its original form, the lessons it imparts and the growth it inspires are eternal. And in that, there is hope—a hope that even in endings, there can be beginnings. As Rahman said, they will eventually find meaning in the shattering. Emerging contours of artificial intelligence

VINAYSHIL GAUTAM

The interplay between AI and human intelligence offers both challenges and opportunities, heralding a future where adaptability and innovation are key

The foundation of understanding an organisation lies in understanding the role relationships within it. An individual may even, lose their identity in living up to the requirements of his organisational role. Illustratively, the President of an organisation is no longer just an individual who occupies that position. The person who occupies that position becomes the President of the organisation with the President's characteristics, the President's traits, and the President's attributes.

Being a true President may often require his acting in denial of his inclinations in favour of the role requirement. This issue has usually constituted the foundation of organisation analysis and operations. The theoretical basis of this thinking was laid out in 1952 by Elliott Jaques in his classical book "Changing Culture of a Factory." This was a report of 1948 and 1950 of a Glacier Metal Company, London. The Tavistock Institute of Human Relations was the sponsor.

The significance of the book lies, among other things, in the theoretical and operational implications of the research findings. The study went back to 1938. That is another story. Since then, few things have so fundamentally affected organisations understanding till the coming of artificial intelligence (AI). These are indeed seminal times in terms of understanding organisations. AI has affected how one looks at manufacturing, finance, logistics, and more. The expressions of job design have changed. If the basis of job design has changed, the understanding of organizational structure stands to change. The key issue is whether the fundamental changes through the new model of business products for increasing profit have impacted organisational operations. And how they have affected pricing, job market changes, and created or altered new revenue streams. Currently, the world of products and academia is dealing with a lot of jargonise. The popular references are two models, one is the platform-based model, other is the subscription model.

There may be several others but are yet to acquire significance. Many of them who would survive, would get modified, and much of them would evolve into something totally different. Time can tell. For the present, efforts are being made to understand business models and their impact on work conduct. An obvious outcome of AI is the redundancy of many tasks. As the character of tasks changes, the character of organizational models is open to change.

The whole approach of aggregation of organizational tasks into job designs has undergone a fundamental change. Many humanly rendered tasks have become redundant, and they have then been replaced either by machines or machine-led aggregation of skills. This whole process is akin to a major revolution in the understanding of the work. It needs to be realized that once such forces are generated, there is no reversal that can take place in its entirety. It also impacts job designs, which for whatever reason may not change. Put simply, the nature of the task itself has revolutionized organizations. Practically everyone needs to understand AI because there is nothing that can be quite untouched by that process. The overlapping jobs would disappear, skill shifts would take place, and reskilling and upskilling would become the order of the day as never before. When such fundamental changes are let loose, job displacement is not just job displacement but the seedbed of new forms of job creation. The interesting thing is that AI acquires some human characteristics that are still in the domain of documentation, understanding, and interpretation. The bias in AI would have been the act of abbreviation and one might say, even the dispensation of organization fair play. Privacy and security are concepts that change, and nothing stays quite what it was even a quarter of a century ago.

The upshot of all these is the creation of a paradigm of organization management, whether the top management may not be necessary at the top but acquire primacy even while imbibed in the heart of an organization. This would happen because of the ability of the AI specialist to affect the nature of the work itself. The chances are clear that AI as a service is on the way to acquiring a character of its own. For some AI will be the first language, and they will affect the running of the organization in a very critical manner. For the rest, AI would be a second language, and everyone would need to understand a little bit of the nature of AI.

Put simply, the future of work will be a diligent factor in many ways, which might be an outcome of the revolution of AI. The fascinating thing is to observe how the character of AI affects other functions of the organization like finance, marketing, the functioning of ports, and more. The above is not to say that pathways are clear and the shift in organisational nature is irrevocable. The AI is a job in progress. It's a work in progress that is still taking shape and a character that remains in service of organization management, will only gradually become clear. How this will roll out is difficult to predict, but one thing is clear: AI is here to stay. All in all, it will be interesting to observe how AI and human intelligence deal with each other and create an amalgam of human efforts for organizational growth. The future is here, and over time, it will take shape with better clarity and hopefully some predictability.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ADANI GROUP CONTROVERSY

Madam— Adani Group Chairman Gautam Adani, his nephew Sagar Adani and six others were indicted by US prosecutors in New York on Wednesday (November 20) in an alleged Rs 2,029 crore bribery case that could be a much bigger blow for business than the Hindenburg report. Side by side, it could upset the group's global expansion ambitions, hinder capital-raising and tarnish the fundraising abilities of other Indian firms by association. Though the White House expressed confidence in the resilience of India-US ties despite allegations against industrialist Gautam Adani and his associates of orchestrating a $265 million bribery scheme to secure state energy contracts.

Even after all this, citizens of the country strongly believe that whether Adani paid the bribe or not is to be probed by the agencies. When Indian agencies failed, US court indicted him for the bribery. Let Adani & his companies defend themselves in the US courts. If Adani has invested in the non-BJP-ruled states, that is only for the minerals, forests, lands and other resources of those states. Where Indian compromised agencies failed, the US caught him on the wrong foot. Let him and his other conspirators face the music. Remember, the US laws are very strict in the cases of bribery or anti-competition laws. Let Adani face the music in the US courts and international financiers or hawala money suppliers. Whatsoever, for the clean image of the country, India must also set up a probe into this matter and be prepared to go by the evidence presented to the US regulators and courts to determine if there has been wrongdoing on our soil.

Women's hockey team wins ACT

The Indian women's hockey team has created history once again by retaining the Asian Champions Trophy title after beating China. It would always be a moment of pride seeing Indian women securing victory in India's national sport, hockey. The title is extremely prestigious for all of us, and our women players deserve this victory due to their constant hard work of managing seven victories in the seven matches. India beat China with 3-0 and holds the ACT (Asian Champion Trophy) crown once again, for the third time now, after securing the same in 2016 and 2023.

The team under Harendra Kaur is collecting worldwide appreciation for their high-quality, victorious performance and hopefully, if Team India continues the same magic in the upcoming Los Angeles session in 2028, we all back at home will be in the epitome of cheers for our girls. Meanwhile, it's time for Indian women's hockey to enjoy and dip into the victory celebration. The nation extends heartiest congratulations to them for their success.

leader Eknath Shinde. The magic wand of Sharad Pawar had lost its power while his breakaway factions of Sena and NCP led by Uddhav Thackeray and Sharad Pawar, had seen the downside quite significantly. The Shiv Sena chief Uddhav Thackeray termed the victory as note-jihad by attacking the BJP leader Vinod Tawde and alleged that cash for votes marred the end results. While all parties facilitate cash for votes, it's not that how much one bribe matters and, at the end, how much of welfare the party extends to the people that brings such a huge victory need to be respected. The BJP has used their arm of RSS to campaign to target women, farmers and OBCs in the last six months and has gained momentum by a constructive approach to focus on this landmark victory.

LONG-TERM PLANNING NEEDED

Madam — This refers to the editorial, 'Cars the Main Culprit', wherein it was observed that the real culprit behind Delhi's toxic air is not stubble burning but the city's overwhelming vehicular emissions. The Supreme Court, concerned about the health of the residents of the capital and commuters, has taken a commendable initiative to close schools up to class 12 and implement all the necessary restrictions of the Graded Response Action Plan-Stage 4. A section of the society is praising the commendable effort of the judiciary wholeheartedly.

The Aam Aadmi Party in Delhi has come under fire over the deteriorating air quality in the national capital. But instead of controlling the worsening conditions, the Aam Aadmi Party is bent on criticising the Modi government at the Centre. Before the upcoming Assembly elections, the Atishi government will have to show its work on the ground in Delhi. The Central and State governments should together take practical steps on a concrete action plan to reduce pollution and improve the environment in Delhi.

ONLINE PREDATORS

They exploit the anonymity and reach of digital platforms to target vulnerable individuals, particularly children

SHAINY SHARMA

The emergence of the internet has revolutionised the way an individual connects, communicates and accesses information. However, alongside its numerous benefits, this emergence has also given rise to various dangers, one of the most concerning being the presence of online predators - someone who uses the internet to exploit others for personal gain, often engaging in deceptive and manipulative behaviour. These individuals exploit digital platforms to manipulate, exploit and harm unsuspecting victims, often targeting vulnerable populations such as children and teenagers. Social media platforms, online gaming environments, chat rooms and even educational forums provide predators with access to potential victims. The motives range from financial fraud and identity theft to emotional manipulation, sexual exploitation and many more. The anonymity of the internet emboldens these individuals, allowing them to craft fake personas and deceive others without immediate risk of detection.

Online predators employ various strategies to target and exploit their victims. One of the most common is grooming, a process in which predators build trust and emotional connections over time. This tactic often begins with flattery, attention or shared interests making the victim feel valued and understood. Once the trust is established, the predator isolates the victim by discouraging contact with family or friends, making the victim more dependent on them. Not only this, but these predators also exploit vulnerabilities, such as low self-esteem, loneliness or a desire for acceptance. They use threats, blackmail or promises of love or gifts to control their victims. In some cases, the predators coerce victims into sharing sensitive information or explicit content, which can later be used as leverage. Victims falling prey to an online predator can be devastating. They may experience emotional trauma, anxiety, depression and a loss of trust in others and if it's a minor then the outcomes are even worse affecting their development and relationships.

A combination of education, vigilance and robust digital safeguards and awareness campaigns can teach individuals, especially young people, about the risks of interacting with strangers online for they tend to put up in place as younger influencers who will share their lives on camera. And the importance of protecting personal information.

Technological solutions, such as parental controls, advanced privacy settings and reporting mechanisms, can also help deter predators. There is no denying that the threat of online predators is a sobering reminder of the darker side of the digital age. While the internet offers incredible opportunities for connection and growth, it also demands vigilance and responsibility from all users.

By understanding the tactics of online predators and implementing protective measures, individuals can work toward a safer online environment. Only when education, communication and technology unite to combat this pervasive issue, can society ensure that the Internet remains a tool for empowerment rather than exploitation.

If you suspect someone is being targeted by an online predator, report it to the authorities or an organisation like NCMEC (National Centre for Missing & Exploited Children) through their CyberTipline.

Trump 2.0: Stark challenges for the climate and global stability

B K SINGH

With promises to overhaul bureaucracy, impose steep tariffs and retreat from climate commitments, Trump's policies are set to reshape the US and the world

Donald Trump will take over as US President on January, 20 2025 and his pre-election promises would have economic and environmental consequences. On the economic front, countries worldwide would face still stronger dollars sucking money out of emerging markets, high protectionist tariffs imposed and consequent trade war slowing the growth and increasing inflation globally. His regime is not only committed to sacking thousands of bureaucrats and replaced by his supporters but has also announced a new department named the Department of Government Efficiency (DOGE) to be headed by Elon Musk and Vivek Ramaswamy to slash the bureaucracy.

No doubt it would disrupt the continuity of the functioning of government, and it would also lead to job losses. Nationwide federal government employs nearly 3 million people. Trump says Musk and Ramaswamy would dismantle government bureaucracy, slash excess regulations, cut wasteful expenditure and restructure federal agencies. While Musk has announced to cut $2 trillion from the federal budget, Ramaswamy has proposed to eliminate the education department and FBI.

Internal Revenue Service as well as cutting the federal workforce by 75 per cent in a mass layoff. Trump has consistently maintained to levy a 10 per cent tariff on all imports in the US, 60 per cent on imports from China and 100 per cent on cars imported from China. This would mean cutting imports from many countries which may even result in trade wars. Capacities created in countries like China would be rendered unutilised. With limited domestic consumption in China, the country would face a backlash.

If all countries take action to cut on imports, it certainly boomerangs somewhere and exports would be adversely impacted in most cases. A 10 per cent tariff on imports would increase US prices of goods by at least 3 per cent and a continued trade war may even further raise the prices. While domestic producers in the US would welcome it, the consumers will have to pay more. Tariff is not the solution to all problems. Trump's idea to shift manufacturing back to the US may be hit by supply chain disruption on account of higher tariffs.

The job creation in the US may be impacted. In his first term, Trump increased tariffs on Aluminum and Steel to bring its manufacturing back to the US, but the goal was not achieved. His acceptance of higher prices to be paid by consumers, while protecting producers had also made consumers pay 18 per cent extra on Washing machines in 2018. Later some of Trump's tariff was increased by Biden too. It went up to 100 per cent on electric vehicles, 50 per cent on solar cells and 25 per cent on batteries from China. It had its impact on climate action too - the transition to cleaner energy was slowed down. Herbert Hoover, a Republican, US President nearly a century ago had similarly announced the imposition of tariffs, which ultimately culminated in the adoption of the Smoot-Hawley Act, of 1930 and increased tariffs by 40 to 60 per cent.

It led to a trade war and the US faced retaliation from its trade partners too. It triggered the great depression and the worst economic crisis humankind has ever experienced. Presently global economy is already facing considerable headwinds, any trade war can have disastrous consequences. US's technological advancement for decades has placed it as the leading powerhouse in the world.

Its investment in research and development has been quite rewarding as evident from the fact that there have been more Nobel laureates in the last five or six years than the rest of the world put together have produced. With its technological superiority, the rest of the world is dependent on it economically too and the tariff policy would leave them behind in the trade war. So far China's growth has been manufacturing followed by exports. With the slowdown in exports, it is dealing with the problem of overcapacity of its industries and making efforts to boost domestic consumption. There has been budget constraint in Europe - money is spent on subsidies in several countries, causing growth retardation. Germany, to continue producing in the country has to match the US subsidy offering 900 million euros to Swedish battery makers Northvolt, which is experiencing sluggish growth of the economy. Subsidies continue to slow the growth globally.

As the growth suffers, climate action also suffers. For instance, countries in the African subcontinent have vast potential for solar and wind energy, which has remained untapped so far. China's interest in Africa is going up through its Belt and Road initiatives; it has an eye on the natural resources of the continent. It is to be seen whether Trump 2.0 can counter China in Africa.

In his election speeches, Trump has already sought to restore US manufacturing and has targeted to end the Chinese dominance in sectors like advanced information technology, high-end numerical control machinery, robotics, aviation equipment, maritime engineering technology, sophisticated rail equipment, energy-saving vehicles, electrical equipment, medical devices and agriculture machinery etc.

European business finds it now difficult to continue investing in China and India should try to leverage the churn to its advantage. President-elect has already announced Immigration hardliner Tom Homan for the deposition of illegal immigrants. He said that there is nobody better in policing and controlling US borders and there is no doubt that Homan will do a fantastic job which has been long awaited.

Homan also spoke to the press supporting the deportation of even US-born children of undocumented immigrants. Another Immigration hardliner Stephen Miller has been announced to be deputy Chief of Policy in the new administration. Unprecedented deportation is around the corner, which is bound to impact the labour force. What will happen to manufacturing? Also, his tax cut promise would lead to a fiscal deficit; the US has one of the highest fiscal deficits 22 per cent of GDP, more than four times as high as India.

The country is already under heavy debt and indebtedness would further increase the deficit. Despite a good chemistry between Trump and Modi, India may not be spared of 10 per cent tariff, which may impact our imports. By 2028, when Trump's term ends, not only the US, but many other countries will be reeling under high inflation and poor growth. UN is also reconciled to accept a cut in US funding in Trump 2.0. A US retreat at the UN is likely to open the door for China, which has been building influence in global diplomacy. The best part of Trump's promises is that he would stop funding war. The end of war in West Asia and Ukraine is expected soon. The re-election of Trump has cast a shadow on the ongoing world climate summit in Baku, Azerbaijan. His withdrawal from the Paris Agreement in his first term and halting climate funding has slowed down the progress globally.

Trump in his election campaign has vowed to ignore any climate emergency. He has been categorical in his election speeches - abandon climate, drill, baby, drill. He has also joked in speeches that if the sea level rises, we will have more properties facing the sea. In some other speeches, he said that why should we be concerned if the sea level rises by a thousandth of an inch after thousands of years? Global leaders at Baku perceive the inaction and obstructions from the US and debate whether they can afford such inaction for four more years. They must work out the strategy and pursue advanced climate actions and goals. Barbados PM has invited Trump for a face-to-face meeting on climate.

Goa's timeless allure: Ultimate destination despite misleading claims

Recent reports claiming a decline in its popularity seem at odds with the reality on the ground

Goa has long been a dream destination for both domestic and international travelers. Its blend of scenic beauty and cultural richness has earned it a prominent place on the global tourism map. But is the charm of Goa fading? Is it losing its allure? Certainly not. In fact, anyone visiting Goa would find its flights fully booked well in advance, its hotels packed, and its beaches bustling with lively crowds. However, some media reports have suggested a decline in its popularity, which seems at odds with the reality and the figures.

For decades, Goa has been synonymous with sun-kissed beaches, lively shacks, and a carefree lifestyle that has charmed travellers from around the world. Beyond its picturesque coastlines lies a treasure trove of history, culture, and tradition waiting to be discovered.

Ironically, a report from the CEIC (China Economic Information Centre) claimed a drastic drop in foreign tourist arrivals to Goa, alleging a fall from 8.5 million in 2019 to just 1.5 million in 2023. This narrative suggested that Goa was losing its allure to international competitors like Thailand, Sri Lanka, and Vietnam. Interestingly report is bereft of the details of the sources and how they were collected. Casting aspersions on the motive of the report in first place. These claims have been contested by Goa's Tourism Department, which points out significant discrepancies in the data. Official figures indicated approximately 450,000 foreign arrivals in 2023—a notable recovery post-pandemic-while domestic tourism surged to 8.17 million in 2023, surpassing the 7.12 million recorded in 2019. Altogether, Goa welcomed 8.62 million tourists in 2023, exceeding pre-pandemic levels. Addressing these concerns,

Tourism Minister Rohan A Khaunte has criticised the report, describing it as a deliberate attempt to misrepresent Goa's standing. "The numbers are manipulated to present a false narrative," he stated. "In 2023, we recorded 4.5 million international tourists and about 9 million domestic tourists. It's not just about quantity but the quality of tourism and the revenue it generates. Domestic tourists are now spending more, opting for premium accommodations." To further boost the international Khaunte stresses the importance of improving Goa's international connectivity, particularly with emerging markets in Southeast Asia, the West Asia and Europe. He revealed ongoing efforts to establish direct flight routes to key destinations such as the UAE, Malaysia and South Korea. "These regions hold immense potential for quality tourism," he noted. In fact, Goa has gone notch up to promote tourism that is both sustainable and rejuvenating. In 2023, Goa launched a pioneering regenerative tourism campaign, emphasising sustainability across the pillars of economy, environment, and society. This initiative aims to go beyond sustainable practices, creating tourism models that leave a positive impact on local communities while offering unique, meaningful experiences for travelers. "Regenerative tourism is about ensuring that tourism not only sustains but enriches the local culture, economy, and environment," Khaunte explains. Despite its many strengths, Goa faces ongoing challenges. The lack of app-based taxi services and disputes among taxi operators have been longstanding grievances for visitors, often resulting in complaints about high fares. Additionally, while Goa offers accommodations catering to all budgets, from luxury to backpacker-friendly, the state has been criticised for expensive lodging options. Khaunte acknowledged these concerns, emphasising the need for improved public transportation and better policies to enhance the tourist experience. Indeed the 'Unverified data without revealing the methodology employed and source makes the data suspect and report motivated. What sets Goa apart is its versatility. Whether you're seeking beach parties, adventure sports, spiritual retreats, or cultural festivities, Goa caters to a wide range of interests. This adaptability has been the cornerstone of its enduring appeal. Goa's enchanting landscapes and vibrant culture have long served as a cinematic muse, making it a favored backdrop for filmmakers worldwide. From Bollywood blockbusters to Hollywood thrillers, Goa's charm has been immortalised on screen. Iconic films like Ek Duje Ke Liye (1981) was all about love in the Goan air, while Dil Chahta Hai (2001) redefined the idea of weekend getaways, inspiring a generation to explore its idyllic beaches. Dear Zindagi (2016) captured its serene vibe, while the Golmaal series (2006-2010) added a playful twist to its allure as a honeymoon destination. Even international cinema embraced its beauty, with The Bourne Supremacy (2004) using Goa as a stunning backdrop for its high-stakes drama. Whether on screen or off, the magic of Goa continues to captivate and mesmerise, unaffected by reports or negative propaganda.

Lebanese soldier killed, 18 wounded in Israeli strike

AP ■ BEIRUT

An Israeli strike on a Lebanese army centre on Sunday killed one soldier and wounded 18 others, the Lebanese military said. The Hezbollah militant group meanwhile fired barrages of rockets into northern and central Israel, wounding at least five people. Israeli strikes have killed over 40 Lebanese troops since the start of the war between Israel and Hezbollah, even as Lebanon's military has largely kept to the sidelines.

There was no immediate comment from the Israeli military, which has said previous strikes on Lebanese troops were accidental and that they are not a target of its campaign against Hezbollah. Lebanon's caretaker prime minister, Najib Mikati, condemned it as an assault on US-led cease-fire efforts, calling it a "direct, bloody message rejecting all efforts and ongoing contacts" to end the war. "(Israel is) again writing in Lebanese blood a brazen rejection of the solution that is being discussed," a statement from his office read.

The strike occurred in southwestern Lebanon on the coastal road between Tyre and Naqoura, where there has been heavy fighting between Israel and Hezbollah.

Hezbollah fires rockets after strikes on Beirut

Hezbollah began firing rockets, missiles and drones into Israel after Hamas' October 7, 2023, attack out of the Gaza Strip ignited the war there. Hezbollah has portrayed the attacks as an act of solidarity with the Palestinians and Hamas. Iran supports both armed groups.

Israel has launched retaliatory airstrikes since the rocket fire began, and in September the low-level conflict erupted into all-out war, as Israel launched waves of airstrikes across large parts of Lebanon and killed Hezbollah's top leader, Hassan Nasrallah, and several of his top commanders.

Hezbollah fired barrages of rockets into northern and central Israel on Sunday, some of which were intercepted.

Israel's Magen David Adom rescue service said it was treating two people in the central city of Petah Tikva, a 23-year-old man who was lightly wounded by a blast and a 70-year-old woman suffering from smoke inhalation from a car that caught fire. The first responders said they treated three other people in northern Israel, including a 60-year-old man in serious condition.

It was unclear whether the injuries and damage were caused by the rockets or interceptors.

Israeli airstrikes early Saturday pounded central Beirut, killing at least 20 people and wounding 66, according to Lebanon's Health Ministry.

Israeli attacks have killed more than 3,500 people in Lebanon, according to Lebanon's Health Ministry. The fighting has displaced about 1.2 million people, or a quarter of Lebanon's population.

On the Israeli side, about 90 soldiers and nearly 50 civilians have been killed by bombardments in northern Israel and in battle following Israel's ground invasion in early October. Around 60,000 Israelis have been displaced from the country's north.

EU envoy calls for pressure on both sides to reach a truce

The Biden administration has spent months trying to broker a cease-fire, and US envoy Amos Hochstein was back in the region last week.

The European Union's top diplomat called for more pressure on both Israel and Hezbollah to reach a deal, saying one was "pending with a final agreement from the Israeli government."

Musk, Ramaswamy seen as biggest threat to Beijing

PTI ■ BEIJING

US President-elect Donald Trump's plan to overhaul the government with a new department headed by tech billionaire Elon Musk and Indian-origin entrepreneur Vivek Ramaswamy will be the biggest threat for China as it has to compete with far more efficient US political system, a policy advisor to the Chinese government said. China's biggest risk during Donald Trump's 2.0 would be US government overhauls driven by Musk and Ramaswamy, according to Zheng Yongnian, China's top academic and policy advisor to Beijing.

"A more efficient US political system would put huge pressure on China's current system," Zheng, dean of the School of Public Policy at the Chinese University of Hong Kong's Shenzhen campus, said while speaking at Baichuan Forum hosted by the Institute for International Affairs (IIA) on Saturday.

"Of course, the pressure is not exclusive to China but also others, especially Europe," he said.

Trump named Musk and Ramaswamy to lead a new Department of Government Efficiency (DOGE).

The duo has already planned to scrap "thousands of regulations" and reduce the size of the government workforce. Zhena said, "In the medium to long term, the greatest pressure on China may come from changes within the US."

If Trump succeeds in his efforts to overhaul the government, the US would "develop a new, more competitive system," Zheng said, calling it a form of "state capitalism with American characteristics".

"I think we should not underestimate the institutional reforms prioritised by figures like Musk," he warned, the Hong Kong-based South China Morning Post reported on Sunday.

China is gearing up for Trump's second term, beginning on January 20 next year, on several fronts, including his threat to impose a 60 per cent increase of tariffs on its over USD 427 billion annual exports to the US.

Trump, who acted tough on China during his previous term, is expected to reinforce measures against Beijing on various global fronts, including Taiwan and the South China Sea. China asserts Taiwan as part of its mainland and claims ownership over most of the South China Sea.

The Philippines, Vietnam, Malaysia, Brunei and Taiwan have counterclaims over the area.

To counter tough tariff increases by the incoming Trump administration in the US, China announced new policy measures on Thursday to back its export sector against "unreasonable foreign trade restrictions" and to create a "good environment" for its exports.

Mobile industry seeks enhanced air cargo handling capacity

Mobile phone players want Indian airports to ramp up their existing cargo handling capacity to support a projected eight-fold increase in device exports to USD 180 billion by 2030, industry body ICEA said.

"To achieve the USD 500 billion of electronics production by 2030 requires airport capacities to increase parallelly to handle USD 180 bn of exports, the vast majority on an annual basis which would be 6 times higher than the current exports.

PREVENTIVE POWER FOODS

By KAVITA DEVGAN

If you're aiming to keep your blood sugar levels steady and support heart health, these super foods offer powerful preventive benefits. Incorporate them into your diet consistently for best results.

FOR BLOOD SUGAR CONTROL AND HEART HEALTH

FENUGREEK SEEDS (METHI SEEDS)

WHEN TO HAVE IT: Early morning. Fenugreek seeds help slow sugar absorption and stimulate insulin production. FOR TRYING: Add them to dals or soak 1/2 tsp of seeds in water overnight and have in the morning.

BARLEY

WHEN TO HAVE IT: Lunch. Rich in soluble fiber, barley slows down digestion, preventing blood glucose spikes. FOR TRYING: Boil soaked barley and have it for breakfast with walnuts, honey, and a sprinkle of cinnamon.

PUMPKIN SEEDS

WHEN TO HAVE IT: As a mid-meal snack. Pumpkin seeds, high in lignans and magnesium, improve insulin efficiency. FOR TRYING: Make seedy bites by roasting 50g musk melon seeds in ghee, adding 50g jaggery, and shaping into small balls.

APPLES

WHEN TO HAVE IT: As a mid-meal snack. Apples are rich in quercetin, which enhances insulin secretion and helps reduce insulin resistance. FOR TRYING: For a quick snack, chop an apple, add 30g pecans and 1 tsp pumpkin seeds, and sprinkle with cheese.

ADDRESSING POLLUTION-RELATED ILLNESSES

By Dr P.N. ARORA

The rising air pollution is taking a toll on people's health, influencing everything from respiratory function to cardiovascular well-being. In urban areas like Delhi-NCR, where rapid urbanisation and population growth have surged, air pollution has emerged as a crucial public health concern. Following Diwali celebrations, Delhi is facing a significant pollution crisis, with a recent survey indicating that 69% of families in the capital and the National Capital Region (NCR) report health issues stemming from deteriorating air quality. The Air Quality Index (AQI) surged to a staggering 999 on the night of Diwali, marking one of the highest levels recorded in the area. These conditions are particularly pronounced during winters when a combination of vehicular emissions, construction dust, and seasonal crop stubble burning create a toxic haze that blankets the city. This persistent state of poor air quality poses an urgent challenge, demanding immediate attention to mitigate its far-reaching health implications. A recent survey by LocalCircles highlighted the significant health impact of air pollution on residents in Delhi-NCR. The findings revealed that 31% of families reported members suffering from breathing difficulties or asthma, while another 31% experienced frequent headaches. Additionally, 23% of respondents noted symptoms of anxiety or difficulty concentrating, and 15% reported trouble sleeping due to poor air quality. On a somewhat optimistic note, 31% of families stated that no one in their household had encountered pollution-related health issues, underscoring the varied effects of air pollution across different households. Prolonged exposure to poor air quality has far-reaching consequences for public health, affecting multiple body systems and leading to a surge in pollution-related illnesses. One of the most immediate and visible impacts of poor air quality is on respiratory health. Long-term exposure can lead to reduced lung function and increased respiratory infection risk. Pollution caused due to poor air quality also leads to inflammation and oxidative stress, increasing the risk of heart attacks, hypertension, and other cardiovascular diseases. Besides, certain groups are particularly vulnerable to the adverse effects of air pollution. Children, with their developing lungs and immune systems, are at a heightened risk, as prolonged exposure can lead to stunted lung growth and a higher likelihood of respiratory diseases later in life. Older adults also face significant risks, with their age-related susceptibility making them more prone to respiratory and cardiovascular issues. Additionally, individuals with pre-existing asthma and heart diseases experience more severe health impacts, often requiring increased medical attention during high-pollution periods. The government has also implemented several initiatives to combat poor air quality with a multifaceted approach. One of the initiatives is the imposition of GRAP, which outlines a series of measures to be enacted based on the severity of the air quality index. This plan includes a range of actions, such as controlling construction activities, enforcing vehicle restrictions, and promoting the use of public transport during periods of high pollution. Therefore, improving air quality requires collective action from both communities and individuals. Community initiatives, such as tree plantation drives, are vital in enhancing air quality. Trees act as natural air filters, absorbing pollutants and releasing oxygen. Engaging in proper waste disposal practices, including segregating waste and avoiding open burning of garbage, helps prevent the release of harmful toxins into the air. Thus, collaboration and commitment across all sectors are vital for achieving lasting improvements in air quality and safeguarding public health.

CINNAMON

WHEN TO HAVE IT: Early morning. Cinnamon contains hydroxychalcone, which helps manage fasting glucose levels. Add a pinch daily to your tea or sprinkle it over your breakfast cereal. FOR TRYING: Brew cinnamon tea by steeping 1/4 tsp of powdered cinnamon in a cup of boiling water for 10-20 minutes. Drink it early in the day to maximise its benefits.

INDIAN GOOSEBERRY (AMLA)

WHEN TO HAVE IT: Anytime during the day. Amla, high in vitamin C, stimulates insulin-secreting cells in the pancreas. FOR TRYING: Enjoy an amla daily or try this chutney: Boil 2 deseeded amlas, grind with half a cucumber and 2 green chillies, and mix with 1 tsp mustard oil and salt.

BITTER GOURD

WHEN TO HAVE IT: Anytime during the day. Bitter melon (karela) has a compound similar to insulin that helps reduce blood sugar levels. FOR TRYING: Include bitter melon in your meals twice a week or drink karela juice 3-4 times weekly.

AMERICAN PECANS

WHEN TO HAVE IT: As a mid-meal snack. Pecans are low in carbs, high in fiber, and rich in protein, helping regulate blood sugar and lower LDL cholesterol, which supports heart health. FOR TRYING: Make a healthy dip: Blend 1/2 cup pecans, 1 cup hung curd, mint, coriander, garlic, salt, and pepper.

Rishabh Pant becomes most expensive IPL buy at ₹27 crore

PTI ■ JEDDAH (SAUDI ARABIA)

Rishabh Pant became the most expensive player in the history of IPL as Lucknow Super Giants splurged a humongous Rs 27 crore to buy the flamboyant India keeper-batter in the tournament's mega auction here on Sunday. The amount LSG spent for Pant ensured Shreyas Iyer's record of being the tournament's costliest player lasted barely a few minutes after Punjab Kings broke the bank to buy the India batter for Rs 26.75 crore. Moments before Pant emerged as the most expensive player, Iyer surpassed the record held by Australian pacer Mitchell Starc, who was bought by Kolkata Knight Riders for Rs 24.75 crore in the last auction. Pant went to LSG after his former franchise Delhi Capitals did not use the Right to Match card to buy him back. Starc got a much lower price this time and was sold to Delhi Capitals for Rs 11.75 crore, while England's Jos Buttler went to Gujarat Titans for Rs 15.75 crore. Among others, left-arm seamer Arshdeep Singh's consistency earned him a massive bid of Rs 18 crore, also from Punjab Kings via the Right to Match card, while South African speedster Kagiso Rabada was bought for Rs 10.75 crore by Gujarat Titans. Iyer, the former Kolkata Knight Riders captain, started with a base price of Rs two crore. Delhi Capitals had the bid at Rs 26 crore for him but PBKS raised the amount to get the player. Chennai Super Kings started with the first bid for Arshdeep, whose base price was also Rs two crore. Eventually, after an intense bidding war, the seamer was bought back by Punjab, who exercised the right to match option to complete the deal, having released him earlier. This is the second time an IPL auction is being held outside the country after last year's event in Dubai.

I played with fearless mindset, took brave decisions: Yashasvi

PTI ■ PERTH

Yashasvi Jaiswal termed his "fearless mindset" and ability to take "brave decisions" as the catalysts behind his exceptional hundred against Australia in the ongoing first Test, here on Sunday. Jaiswal made a 161 in only his second innings on Australian soil and added 201 runs for the opening wicket with KL Rahul (77) to lay the foundation of India's imposing 533-run target. "It was a very special moment for me. I always wanted to tour Australia and do well and this knock is very important for me," Jaiswal said in the post-day press meet. "I always wanted to play with a fearless mindset. I always believe in myself and take brave decisions. So, it was an amazing experience to play against such quality bowlers in their country, and it's special to score a hundred against the world's best," he added. Jaiswal, who was dismissed for an eight-ball duck in the first innings, said the focus was on negating the new ball spell by Australian quicks. "The wicket was seaming a bit more in the first innings. In the second innings we were discussing how to play the new ball better — which balls to leave and which to play. So, it was important for the team that I play the new ball better." Jaiswal said he had set small targets for himself in the second essay. "I never thought I would get this big a hundred, as my goals were small, taking it session by session. Then I had a good partnership with (KL) Rahul bhai. He was guiding me during the partnership, so that was helpful." So, what was the conversation between him and Rahul during the alliance?

"We have been playing together for a while, we all know each other well and talk between ourselves in the dressing room. "Whenever I felt nervous in the middle, Rahul bhai was telling me to remain focused and calm. It was helpful because you are going to get some good balls in these kinds of pitches," he said. The left-hander said the team was prepared to tackle the bounce at Perth. "We knew that the ball would bounce here. We were prepared for the bounce. We had a nice camp here ahead of this Test. We were practicing in similar conditions with the same kind of mindset as how we can score runs in these conditions. It's all about practicing hard and learning what shots to play here," he explained. Jaiswal brought up his fourth Test hundred with a remarkable ramped six off pacer Josh Hazlewood. The 22-year-old said he was mentally prepared for it. "To be honest, I knew he was going to bowl a bouncer because the field was set like that and I was ready for the bounce, and I was ready to play that shot. Happy that I pulled it off and carried on for some more time," he said. "Virat paaji is incredible." Virat Kohli brought up his 30th Test hundred a while after Jaiswal reached the landmark, and the youngster said it was a privilege to watch and play alongside the star batter. "I have seen Virat paaji making runs at Perth (in 2018) on TV. Now, I have seen it live too. He has been doing it for a long, long time. So, he is just incredible. "We were so happy for him that he could finish it. We were all waiting for his 100. He played amazingly," he said.

Justin Greaves scores first century as West Indies lead Bangladesh by 410 runs

AP ■ NORTH SOUND

Justin Greaves scored a patient maiden century in only his third test before West Indies declared at 450-9 on the second day of the first test against Bangladesh. Greaves, who finished 115 not out, had a previous highest score in tests of 33 and only one century in 43 first-class matches before compiling a composed hundred from 181 balls, batting at No. 6. He completed the first century of West Indies' innings after Mikyle Louis was out for 97 and Alick Athanaze for 90 on the first day. Bangladesh was 40-2 at stumps, trailing by 410 runs when bad light stopped play with seven overs left in the day. Shahadat Hossain was 10 not out and Mominul Haque on 7. The tourists lost Mahmudul Hasan Joy (5) and Zakir Hasan (15) in 20 overs before the close.

West Indies resumed Saturday at 250-5 after being sent in when Bangladesh won the toss. They were 261-7, the match closely balanced, when Greaves was joined by Kemar Roach, batting at nine. The pair put on 140 for the eighth wicket to fully turn the match in West Indies' favor. Roach made a painstaking 47 from 144 balls, following the example of Greaves whose innings of 206 deliveries included 128 dot balls. "Me and Justin are from the same country and he understands my batting ability so he just backed me in the situation and obviously it paid off," Roach said. "We're good mates, we have very good conversations at the cricket and outside cricket so that's what helped us in the middle." The 30-year-old Greaves, playing his first test for 10 months, hit only four fours, including the boundary that brought up his century. Otherwise, he took 52 runs from singles, 38 from twos and nine from threes in an excellent example of running between wickets. His batting form had been hinted at by the fact he scored four centuries in domestic one-day matches in West Indies. "It was a fantastic effort," Roach said. "He's one who wants to learn ... I've had big hopes for him from the time he started." Roach also restrained his attacking instinct, hitting two boundaries and scoring at a strike rate of 32.6 as he played a vital support role to Greaves. When Roach came to the crease, Greaves was only 18 after resuming Saturday at 11 not out. The pair came together in the 87th over after Alzarri Joseph (4) was brilliantly caught in the gully by Zakir Hasan from the bowling of Hasan Mahmud. They built their partnership diligently, ticking off milestones. Greaves reached his half century from 88 balls and by lunch the West Indies had recovered to 336-7, scoring at a steady three runs per over. Brief rain breaks failed to disturb the batters' concentration. Roach finally was out in the 134th over when the total was 401-8. Mahmud delivered a ball outside off stump which beat Roach's shot as it curled back to hit middle. Greaves was 98 when Roach was out but kept his concentration and avoided the fate of Louis and Athanaze who both fell just short of maiden centuries. He reached his personal milestone four balls later, raising his bat to acknowledge the applause of the crowd.

Hyderabad FC host Odisha FC

PTI ■ HYDERABAD

Hyderabad FC will play hosts to Odisha FC in the Indian Super League here on Monday as both sides seek to climb up the ladder to strengthen their positions in their respective first matches after the international break. After a tough campaign last year, Hyderabad FC have shown increasingly encouraging signs by securing two victories and a draw in their seven matches thus far. Their seven points place them at the 11th spot and with the sixth-placed Punjab FC merely five points ahead (12), the home team can begin thinking towards bridging the gap with the higher-ranked opponents. Odisha FC, positioned ninth in the table, have nine points from eight games. Head coach Sergio Lobera has been amongst the most competitive tacticians in the competition regardless of the team that he has been at the helm of, and the Spaniard would hence want better results with consistent performances from the Juggernauts. This away fixture gives them the opportunity to begin maximising points in the matches coming their way. Hyderabad FC believe in making early inroads into the opposition's defence, ensuring that they set the tone for the flow of the proceedings. This has resulted in them netting 43 per cent of their goals in the opening 15 minutes of the matches in ISL 2024-25, with three out of their seven strikes so far coming in this phase of the game.

Will they push Odisha FC back with an early breakthrough here too? Interestingly though, Hyderabad FC play their best away from home. That explains their concerning home form, since they have not registered a victory in the previous 15 matches in their backyard. In fact, their last win at the stadium came back in February 2023 against Mohun Bagan Super Giant by a 1-0 margin. Having worked on their impediments this year, can they brush aside this concern to go on an upward surge? Odisha FC have recorded eight sequences of 10+ open play passes per game in ISL 2024-25. This is the highest such average by any team and it clearly suggests that Hyderabad will have to strategise through which they can secure points despite not having possession for a large chunk of the game, since Odisha FC prefer keeping the ball.

Verstappen captures 4th F1 championship

AP ■ LAS VEGAS

Max Verstappen cruised to a fourth consecutive Formula 1 championship by finishing fifth in the Las Vegas Grand Prix. Verstappen needed only to finish ahead of Lando Norris of McLaren to give Red Bull a fourth straight driver championship. The Dutchman started fifth but was already up to second by the 10th lap around the street circuit that includes the famed Las Vegas Strip on Saturday night. Norris, who had to score at least three points more than Verstappen to extend the championship fight, finished sixth. Verstappen needed only to finish higher than Norris to win the title, which he did with two races remaining on the season.

"Max Verstappen you are a four-time world champion," team principal Christian Horner said on the radio. "That is a phenomenal, phenomenal achievement. You can be incredibly proud of yourself as we are." Verstappen, only the sixth driver in F1 history to win at least four titles, sounded unusually emotional on the radio. "Oh My God, what a season. Four times. Thank you, thank you guys," he said. "We gave it all." The race was won, meanwhile, by George Russell who was followed by Lewis Hamilton in the first 1-2 sweep for the Mercedes drivers since 2022. Hamilton came from 10th on the grid — two weeks after a demoralizing race in Brazil — to capture his podium finish.

The duo crossed the finish line under a checkered flag waved by actor Sylvester Stallone. Carlos Sainz Jr. Finished third for Ferrari as the constructor championship remains a tight battle between leader McLaren and Ferrari. Charles Leclerc, his teammate, was fourth. Red Bull had won the title that pays roughly $150 million in prize money the last two seasons but has slipped to third in the standings. But that championship battle appears headed to next month's season finale in Abu Dhabi. Verstappen, meanwhile, made easy work of Norris after a season where the McLaren driver pushed him harder than he'd been challenged since Verstappen's 2021 first title. He was cruising in third with about 20 laps remaining and not overly pushing when Red Bull urged Verstappen to be patient over the team radio. "Max, just don't lose sight of our aim today, yeah?" he was told. Verstappen wasn't interested in receiving any instructions.

Virat Kohli doesn't have anything to prove, his contribution is unparalleled: Kapil Dev

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Legendary Kapil Dev said Virat Kohli doesn't have anything to prove and his contribution is "unparalleled" after the Indian batting star made his 30th Test hundred against Australia in the ongoing first Test at Perth on Sunday. Kohli (100 not out) joined young gun Yashasvi Jaiswal (161) in rewriting record books as they put Australia to swords on the third day of the Test with their respective tons powering India to a huge 533-run lead. Kohli also surpassed batting legend Sachin Tendulkar (6) for hitting most centuries by an Indian batter with his seventh ton Down Under. "People who have to criticise will criticise. If a big player takes a lot of time to bounce back, (the) media's job is (to do) that," Kapil told PTI at the Vishwa Samudra Golden Eagle Golf Championship. "One has to see his ability and talent. He's a big, big player. He doesn't have to prove anybody, prove me or prove (it to the) media." "What he's done for cricket is amazing. We should all say, well done (to him). (Even) if he doesn't get too many runs, it's (also) okay. But what he's given to cricket is unparalleled," Kapil added. Kapil said he was happy to see the mix of young and senior Indian batters making their mark. "I don't like to compare. I just want to see our youngsters coming out and playing well. The new records are (always) going to be made. (But) it's important (for) the youngsters to come out and take the responsibility, represent the country and perform better," he said. "Don't compare any player with anybody. It's unfair, (they play in) different conditions, different eras. Today's youth are far more intelligent. They are much more ruthless and they have much more confidence," he said, referring to Jaiswal. The 1983 World Cup-winning captain said Indian cricket "is in the right place" as new players like Harshit Rana and Nitish Reddy have also made a good beginning. "I just want to say it's great to see the youngsters coming out and expressing themselves. It's good, Indian cricket is (in) the right place," he said. Kapil also praised Jasprit Bumrah for leading India's fight from the front in the Perth Test and said the visitors have so far performed beyond expectations. Bumrah, the stand-in captain for the Perth Test, led the team's charge towards a vital 46-run lead in the first innings returning 5 for 30, as Australia were bowled out for a mere 104. Bumrah's 11th five-for in Test cricket was also his seventh in SENA (South Africa, England, New Zealand and Australia), which put him at par with Kapil for most five-wicket hauls in these nations. "Special congratulations must be given to Bumrah because it is very rare that bowlers are chosen as captains and it feels very good to see him lead the way he has done," Kapil told the media.

Kapil lauded Bumrah for bringing fast bowling back into the discussions in the country. "I need not say anything — his records show (how good he is). He is the top bowler in the world, what else do we need?" he said. "I hadn't thought before that a fast bowler would be discussed so much in India but that is happening today and I feel happy and proud about that," he added. Kapil said India's performance was contrary to the exceptions given the team was recently trounced 0-3 by New Zealand at home. "The team is playing really well. They should win the first Test, positive thinking should always be there," he said. "It wasn't expected that the team would play so well after the New Zealand series. You feel angry when they play badly but also (rediscover the) love when they do well," he said. "It (the praise) is for all, it is a team game. One player has done the job today for the team and tomorrow there would be someone else."
