WINTER SESSION OF PARLIAMENT FROM TODAY

Adani, Manipur issues likely to dominate

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Amid demands from the opposition to discuss bribery charges against the Adani group, the government on Sunday said the business advisory committees of both Houses will decide on matters to be discussed in the Winter session and appealed to parties to ensure smooth functioning of Parliament.

Ruling party leaders met floor leaders of political parties ahead of the start of the Winter session on Monday. After the meeting, Parliamentary Affairs minister Kiren Rijiju told reporters that the government appealed to all parties to ensure smooth running of Parliament. Responding to a question on opposition's demand for taking up the Adani issue, he said the respective Business Advisory Committees of the Houses will decide on matters to be discussed in Parliament with consent from Lok Sabha speaker and Rajya Sabha chairperson.

At the meeting, Congress members raised the issue of bribery charges against the Adani group as well as the situation in Manipur. Congress leader Gaurav Gogoi said the party wants discussion on Adani as well as ethnic strife in Manipur. He said while the chief minister of Jharkhand was arrested, the government still had confidence in the chief minister of Manipur despite bouts of ethnic violence.

Tussle over Telangana Talli

Govt's statue is on Secretariat premises; BRS's at Medchal

KOLISHETTY VENKATESHWARLU
venkat.k.warlu@gmail.com ■ HYDERABAD

The Congress Government is going to unveil the statue of Telangana Thalli on the secretariat premises on December 9, the day in 2009 when the Union Government announced the formation of a Telangana State and is also the birthday of Sonia Gandhi.

Chief Minister Revanth Reddy himself announced this on August 20 during the 80th birth anniversary function held in front of the secretariat. Work on the statue's pedestal is going on fast on the secretariat premises. The Chief Minister himself inspected the work twice.

However, BRS Working President KT Rama Rao announced on Sunday that the BRS is going to unveil a statue of Telangana Thalli at Medchal on December 9, the day former Chief Minister K. Chandrasekhar Rao ended his hunger strike at the NIMS after the Centre announced its decision to create a Telangana State.

A tussle has been going on between the Congress and the BRS after the BRS designed the Telangana Thalli's features. The Congress has been saying that the BRS's Telangana Thalli statue's features do not reflect the common woman of Telangana but look like a woman of the upper class.

Chief Minister Revanth Reddy said that they will create a Telangana Thalli statue that reflects the common Telangana woman. The CM also handed over the work to the Principal of the Jawaharlal Nehru Architecture and Fine Arts College.

A political observer said that the Telangana people are going to have two Telangana Thallis from now onwards - one is the rich Thalli and the other the common Telangana Thalli as both parties (the BRS and the Congress) are going to install statues of the Telangana Thalli on the same day, that is, on December 9. However, the statues will look different, he said and added that all mothers do not look the same.

Guv's nod to arrest KTR may get delayed

Holding up may hit both Congress & BJP

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Some days ago the Union Minister of Coal and Mines, G. Kishan Reddy, had said that the Governor has to take legal opinion before giving permission to arrest BRS Working President KT Rama Rao. He also said that any delay on the part of the Governor doesn't mean that the BJP and the BRS are one.

However, Congress leaders including Ministers alleged that KTR went to Delhi to protect himself managing the BJP. But things didn't change.

Meanwhile, the BJP's Nizamabad MP, Dharmapuri Arvind, criticised the Congress Government for asking whether the Governor's assent is needed to arrest KTR.

"I am ready to go to jail for three months, do yoga and become fit. I am not afraid of going to jail," KTR had said a few days ago.

Now all eyes are on the Governor but his decision seems to be getting delayed.

Political analysts have been saying that there might be a delay in getting the permission of the Governor to arrest KTR as the prevailing situation is like that. They said that the Maharashtra election results may have an impact on the issue.

However, the delay may help the BRS in local body elections and will adversely affect

A fresh plea has been filed in the Supreme Court seeking a probe into the indictment of billionaire industrialist Gautam Adani who has been charged in the US for alleged bribery and fraud, saying the move "unveiled malpractices carried out by the conglomerate".

The plea has been filed by advocate Vishal Tiwari as an interlocutory application in the batch of pleas in the Adani-Hindenburg row over allegations of stock price manipulation by the Indian corporate giant.

The US Department of Justice has accused Adani of being part of an elaborate scheme to pay USD 265 million (about Rs 2,200 crore) bribe to Indian officials in exchange for favourable terms for solar power contracts in four Indian states.

The Adani Group has denied the charge, saying

CM going to Delhi

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Chief Minister Revanth Reddy is going to New Delhi on Monday to attend Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla's daughter Anjali's marriage. The Chief Minister will return immediately after the marriage function.

Official sources said the Chief Minister will not meet the high command during his New Delhi visit. However, there are speculations that the Chief Minister is going to New Delhi to meet the high command to finalise Cabinet expansion and the candidates for nominated posts.

There was also speculation that the Chief Minister would invite the newly elected Wayanad MP AICC General Secretary Priyanka Gandhi for the unveiling of the Telangana Talli statue on December 9.

The speculations were triggered by the Chief Minister's statement some days ago that the Cabinet would be expanded after the results of the Maharashtra and Jharkhand elections.

BRS will win local body polls, declares Harish

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

The people of Telangana would certainly ensure the victory of the BRS in local body elections, senior BRS leader T. Harish Rao said.

He asked Congress to change its outlook at least now as it had lost badly in the Maharashtra Assembly elections.

Addressing the media at Huzurabad on Sunday, Harish said that there is no democracy in Telangana as the government is not allowing anyone to visit Lagacharla village in Chief Minister Revanth Reddy's own constituency.

"The CM has been telling lies saying that the government will establish an industrial corridor in Lagacharla. The government released a gazette on July 19 stating that it is going to establish a Pharma City in Lagacharla. However, the CM changed his stand after the people opposed it. The CM should accept the truth bravely and withdraw the old gazette. The people would believe the government only if a new gazette is released. The CM should talk to the people of Lagacharla. No one will tolerate the filing of false cases using the police," Harish said.

He said that the CM spread Goebbalian lies about the Kaleshwaram Project. However, the same CM is now saying that 20 TMCs of water will be pumped from Mallanna Sagar and Ranganayaka Sagar to Hyderabad city and has ordered the floating of tenders.

How will the government bring 20 TMCs of water if the Kaleshwaram Project is destroyed," he said.

Harish said that the CM can get a doctorate in speaking lies. But it is not always possible to deceive everyone. The Congress deceived the people of Karnataka and Telangana in the name of guarantees. But the people of Maharashtra rejected the lies of the Congress, he said.

He said the CM and his Ministers should learn a lesson and start implementing their election promises. He demanded that the CM should stop making bogus claims and sending money bags to his New Delhi bosses. Harish said the Congress lost wherever Revanth and his Ministers campaigned in Maharashtra.

US SEC has no jurisdiction to summon foreign national

PNS ■ NEW YORK

US SEC will have to serve the summons on Adani Group Founder and Chairman Gautam Adani and his nephew Sagar in the alleged USD 265 million (Rs 2,200 crore) payoffs through proper diplomatic channels as it has no jurisdiction to summon a foreign national directly, according to sources.

US Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) wants Adanis to explain their stand on allegations of paying bribes to secure lucrative solar power contracts but that request will have to follow the established protocol of routing it through the Indian Embassy in the US and following other diplomatic formalities, two sources aware of the matter said.

The US SEC has no jurisdiction over foreign nationals and cannot send anything by post to them.

Adani notice to go via 'proper channel'

The 1965 Hague Convention and the Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty between India and the US governs such matters. These clearly lay out the established procedure to be followed in such requests.

The summons, which is part of the legal docket that SEC filed before a New York court, will take some time before it can actually be served on the Adanis, they said.

No summons has been served on Adanis so far.

"Within 21 days after service of this summons on you (not counting the day you received it)... you must serve on the plaintiff (SEC) an answer to the attached complaint or a motion under Rule 12 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure," said the US SEC notice of November 21 notice being set through New York Eastern District Court.

"If you fail to respond, judgment by default will be entered against you for the relief demanded in the complaint. You also must file your answer or motion with the court," it added.

Gautam Adani, 62, and seven other defendants, including his nephew Sagar, who is director at the group's renewable energy unit Adani Green Energy Ltd, allegedly agreed to pay about USD 265 million in bribes to Indian government officials between approximately 2020 and 2024 to obtain lucrative solar energy supply contracts on terms that expected to yield USD 2 billion of profit over 20 years, according to an indictment unsealed in a New York court on Wednesday.

Separate from the indictment brought by the US Department of Justice, the US SEC has also charged the two and Cyril Cabanes, an executive of Azure Power Global, for "conduct arising

SECRET MEETING OF BUREAUCRATS SPARKS GOVERNMENT SCRUTINY

A clandestine gathering of approximately 20 IAS and non-cadre officers at a luxury hotel in Shamshabad a couple of days back has set off alarm bells among powers that be in Telangana, jolting the others at the helm in the administration to be on high alert. Believed to have been chaired by a senior IAS officer, the meeting's agenda remains under wraps, prompting the authorities to launch an inquiry into the composition of the attendees and what transpired during their discussions. Pending full investigation, the government is contemplating disciplinary measures against those involved. However, the officers under lens appear unperturbed. One bureaucrat reportedly remarked, "What's the worst they can do, apart from giving a loop-line posting?" This defiant stance, much ahead of punitive action, has widened the gulf in the standoff between the state's administrative machinery and a section of its officials. As we wait for the investigation to shed light on the confabulations, the corridors of power are abuzz with speculations about the potential repercussions and the future dynamics between the government and the section of babudom that has shown spine to hold a secret meeting.

'GIFTED' AP OFFICER UNDER CM'S SCANNER

In administration, to discharge one's functions with gifts of well-honed abilities is one thing and to be gifted property in view of one's position is quite another; the former is admired, the latter despised. A senior bureaucrat in Andhra Pradesh has landed in hot water after allegations of his accepting a villa in Visakhapatnam as a 'gift' from a businessman surfaced. The luxurious property, though registered under the name of a distant relative of the officer to deflect attention, has nevertheless raised concerns within the government. That is not all. Investigations revealed that the uxorious officer has set apart not one but two government vehicles exclusively for his wife's personal use. This blatant misuse of official resources has drawn sharp criticism, with none other than Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu seized of the matter. Insiders hint that the officer might face disciplinary action, sending an exemplary message to others similarly inclined.

BID TO TAME ACTIVIST BABU-TUNED-NETA

RS Praveen Kumar, who called himself "a Bahujan at heart" and who is known for his activism previously as an IPS officer and now as a leader of the Bharat Rashtira Samithi, seems to have ruffled feathers with his bold moves to stir up uniformed forces. His alleged involvement in protests by a battalion of the Telangana Special Police, which triggered the imposition of month-long orders bordering curfew across Hyderabad, has set tongues wagging across political and bureaucratic circles. The aggressive stance that Kumar had taken during the protests is believed to have exacerbated matters. Now, in what is seen as a bid to tame him, senior bureaucrats have reportedly advised him to "keep it in check". Those in the know suggest that it was not just a nudge but a clear signal warning him not to upset the apple cart. Given Kumar's fiery nature and proclivity to push boundaries, it remains to be seen whether backroom messages can soften him. The moot question is: Will Kumar mellow down or stick to his guns? Either way, he is the babu on the watch.

MLA SLIGHTED BY PROTOCOL FOR CS

The Telangana Special Protection Force

--Yours truly

(TGSPF) -- a specialized wing of the Telangana police that protects sensitive installations, including the Reserve Bank of India, Office of the Director-General of Police and the Chief Minister's residence -- is perhaps insensitive to even lawmakers' feelings when it comes to following protocol in areas covered by it. Having replaced the Telangana Special Police personnel at the Secretariat last month, TGSPF personnel caused a stir recently while following protocol for Chief Secretary Santhi Kumari's arrival at the seat of administration. As the CS was about to arrive on the sixth floor, the SPF personnel reportedly instructed everyone in the vicinity, including Wanaparthi MLA Tudi Megha Reddy, to stand aside and make way for her. The MLA, despite introducing himself as such, was made to wait, with the staff maintaining they were merely following orders. The exasperated MLA countered: "Shouldn't there be anybody on the floor when the CS comes?" This unseemly incident has reignited the debate over the SPF's inept handling of elected representatives, with the latest one among the complaints piling up against them being their apparent inability to recognize MLAs. There are now whispers as to whether the CS's protocol has stretched things too far.

PAMELA BUILDS ON SMITA'S GOODWILL IN KARIMNAGAR

At the district level, replacement of the Collector is often followed by chop and change in rules, approaches, and procedures. However, Karimnagar right now presents a refreshing contrast, with Collector Pamela Satpathy earning the admiration of people. With her hands-on approach, she is building on the legacy of, and drawing comparisons to, former collector Smita Sabharwal, who left an indelible mark on the district during her tenure. Pamela, often seen actively engaging with the public on the field, is said to hold Smita in high regard, considering her a mentor. The people of Karimnagar, while still vividly remembering Smita's impactful initiatives, are surprised at Pamela's studied effort to maintain the high benchmark set by her predecessor. This shared admiration for the two officers has sparked a nostalgic buzz, with residents discussing how the legacy of strong, approachable administration continues to inspire. As Pamela carves her path, she seems to be embracing the high, learned expectations; while adding her own unique touch. At the end of the day, they symbolize rare officials who foster strong bonds between the administration and people.

NTR DIST TO GET NEW COLLECTOR AFTER 40 DAYS

Upon notification of elections, the administration may leave much to be desired in some districts due to transfers effected at the instance of the Election Commission. After 40 days, NTR district in Andhra Pradesh will soon have a full-time district collector. Dr Lakshminsha, recently transferred to the district by the state government, could not assume office immediately upon his appointment as he had been deputed as the election officer for the just-concluded Assembly elections in Maharashtra. The Election Commission is expected to relieve Dr Lakshminsha shortly, allowing him to take charge as the NTR District Collector. Dr G Srijana, the previous district collector, was reassigned to Telangana, following a court order. Since then NTR district has been managed by an officiating joint collector.

BRS organising Deeksha Divas to teach Congress & BJP a lesson: KTR

The BRS is going to organise a Deeksha Divas on November 29 to teach a lesson to the wicked Congress and the BJP, BRS Working President KT Rama Rao said.

He said the BRS would organise Deeksha Divas to rekindle the spirit of the Telangana Movement among people and to remember the occasion when former Chief Minister K. Chandrasekhar Rao unified Telangana people.

Addressing the media at the Telangana Bhavan on Sunday, KTR said that Congress rule is filled with oppression and detentions. Today all citizens must bend the necks of the two national parties like KCR who achieved Telangana by 'bending' the necks of those in New Delhi, he said.

"If the Congress gets power, Telangana will be in the same darkness again. Everyone from the rich to the poor are suffering now. That's why the time has come to take inspiration from the Deeksha Divas and save the four crore people of Telangana from the clutches of the Congress. Everyone 'wants' KCR's leadership now. It is time for our ranks to move forward. On November 29, we will organise a grand Deeksha Divas in our party offices in all 33 districts. Remembering again how KCR left an indelible mark on Telangana, we will step up our move and advise both the national parties. We are calling on BRS activists to make the programme a success on November 29," he said.

KTR said that senior BRS leaders have been appointed as in-charges in all districts to manage these programmes.

"We will hold preparatory meetings in all the districts on November 26 for conducting the Deeksha Divas programme. Deeksha Divas will be observed on November 29. We will unveil the statue of Mother Telangana at Medchal on December 9 remembering KCR ending his Deeksha. All our leaders will pay homage to the mother of Telangana on that day. The role of NIMS Hospital in KCR's initiation is also great. That day NIMS became the focal point of the movement. That is why we will conduct Annadanam and distribute fruits to all patients in NIMS Hospital on that day. Along with Deeksha Divas, members of the pink family will make the Telangana mother statue programme a success. We appeal to the media to cooperate in bringing back memories of the programmes and movements of those days," he said.

The resolution to this effect was unanimously passed by all 57 MLA-designates at a meeting held at a suburban hotel.

Let's show our strength in local body elections: Kavitha

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

"Let's show our strength during local body elections. Let's explain the Congress Government's failures to the people," BRS leader Kalvakuntla Kavitha, MLC, said. Addressing a meeting of BRS leaders of Jagtial constituency on Sunday at her residence in Hyderabad, Kavitha said that KCR gave priority to development.

"There is no government that has faced so much public opposition within 10 months of coming to power like the Congress. People will not forgive Jagtial MLA Sanjay who changed party without resigning his post," she said.

Kavitha said no government in Indian history has faced so much public hostility in just 10 months after coming to power. She said that people will not forgive those who changed parties without resigning their MLA posts.

"I have a spiritual connection with Jagtial. Even though I won the LS polls from Nizamabad in 2014, KCR said not to let Jagtial lag in development even if it has a Congress MLA," she said.

Targeting Jagtial MLA Sanjay, Kavitha said that it would have been justifiable if he had resigned his MLA post when he joined another party. She said that people will not forgive such people.

Kavitha said that the pink flag of the BRS means courage of the heart and the Telangana movement's fist. She said the BRS does not need cowards and people obsessed with posts. She said the BRS will show its strength during the elections to local bodies and that BRS workers and local leaders will be fully supported by the party.

People are committing more adharma than dharma: Bhagwat

Everyone should think about Dharma and study our books to learn it," Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) chief Mohan Bhagwat said.

Addressing the Lok Manthan-2024's concluding session on Sunday at the Shilpakala Vedika, Mohan Bhagwat said that the British and other foreigners came to India and destroyed Indian culture, but the nation survived. Our ancestors were told

Eastern region country's growth engine: PM Modi

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi asserted on Sunday that his government considers India's eastern region as the country's growth engine, while the area was considered backward earlier.

Addressing a gathering at the "Odisha Parba" event here, the prime minister said investments of Rs 45,000 crore have been approved within 100 days of the formation of a new government in the state.

"Odisha has always been a land of seers and scholars. The way the scholars here took our religious texts to every household and connected the public with those, it has played a crucial role in the cultural prosperity of India.

"There was a time when India's eastern region and the states there were called backward. However, I consider India's eastern region as the country's growth engine. That is why we have prioritised the development of India's eastern region," he said.

"The budget that we now allocate to Odisha is three times higher than what it was 10 years ago. We are working rapidly in every sector for Odisha's development and the budget has been increased by 30 per cent this year," Modi added.

The prime minister informed that the Centre is committed to promoting ease of doing business in Odisha and said investments of Rs 45,000 crore have been approved within 100 days of the formation of a Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) government in the state.

Minister of Culture and Tourism Gajendra Singh Shekawat said that India flourished as a Centre of Ithihasas, culture and spiritualism if one goes by Indian

There is a need to conduct Lok Manthan programmes to protect Sanathan Dharma and there is also a scientific reason behind praying to trees, he said. Adani, Manipur ...

The opposition party also sought a discussion on the issue of rising pollution in north India and train accidents. Congress leader Pramod Tiwari said his party wanted the issue of Adani to be taken up in Parliament as the first thing when it meets on Monday.

It is a grave issue involving the country's economic and security interests as over Rs 2,300 crore were allegedly paid by the company to politicians and bureaucrats to get favourable deal for its solar energy projects, the Rajya Sabha MP said.

US prosecutors have charged billionaire Gautam Adani for allegedly being part of a scheme to pay USD 265 million (about Rs 2,200 crore) bribe to Indian officials in exchange of favourable terms for solar power contracts.

The group has denied the charges.

The Congress, he said, also wanted a discussion on issues demanding an extension in the timeline to submit its report. They have alleged that committee chair Jagdambika Pal, a BJP MP, is bulldozing the committee meetings and has sought the intervention of Speaker Om Birla.

Rijiju said there is a provision to extend the tenure of the joint committee but as of now, there have been no discussions. He underlined that that the business advisory committee of the Lok Sabha is the platform to discuss the issue of extension of time for the panel.

The presentation, discussion and voting on the First Batch of Supplementary Demands for Grants for the year 2024-25 has also been listed.

The other bill listed by the government for introduction, consideration and passage is the Punjab Courts (Amendment) Bill to enhance the pecuniary (defined as the monetary value of a case) appellate jurisdiction of Delhi district courts from the existing Rs 3 lakh to Rs 20 lakh.

The panel is mandated to submit its report on the last day of the first week of the Winter session. Opposition members on the panel are

Vajpayee statue to be installed in Berhampur

A bronze statue of former PM Atal Bihari Vajpayee will be installed in Odisha's Ganjam district, the BJP said on Sunday. BJP MLA K Anil Kumar laid the foundation stone for the project at the Ramalingam Park in Berhampur.

The total height of the statue would be 17 feet, with a base of 6.5 feet.

Several BJP leaders, including former deputy speaker Ram Chandra Panda and Berhampur's Mayor Sanghamitra Dalei, attended the function.

Kumar said around Rs 20 lakh would be needed for the statue, and it would be spent from his Local Area Development (LAD) Fund. "We are targeting to unveil the statue on December 25, the birth anniversary of the former prime minister," he said

To address this, experts recommend long-term solutions such as promoting electric vehicles and enhancing public transportation. Notably, air quality was significantly better during the COVID-19 lockdown when vehicular traffic was minimised. There's a growing call for an immediate action plan to combat the rising pollution levels in Hyderabad, said experts.

the allegations levelled by the US prosecutors are baseless and that the conglomerate is compliant with all laws. It also vowed to pursue all possible legal recourse.

In his plea before the apex court, Tiwari contended that the allegations against Adani are of "serious nature" and should be investigated by the Indian authorities.

"The SEBI has to inspire confidence by concluding the investigations and placing on record the report and conclusion of the probes. As there were allegations of short selling in the SEBI investigation and the present allegations levelled by the foreign authorities might have connection or may not have, but SEBI's investigation report should clear this so that the investors may not lose confidence," the plea said.

IMD forecasts dip in temperatures in Hyd, misty conditions expected

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

The India Meteorological Department (IMD) Hyderabad has predicted a significant drop in temperatures across Telangana, with lows reaching around 11 degrees Celsius in several districts. The low temperatures are expected to last till Wednesday, pushing a yellow alert for several areas in the State.

The alert applies to Adilabad, Kumaram Bheem, Mancherial, Medak, Nirmal, Sangareddy and Warangal. Although Hyderabad is not under the yellow alert, the city is expected to have misty and hazy mornings with a potential temperature drop. In the city, Marepally recorded the lowest temperature at 14.6 degrees Celsius. The IMD also warned that La Nina conditions could cause a harsher winter in India this year.

Residents in Hyderabad and nearby districts will feel colder mornings as temperatures continue to decrease. While the yellow alert excludes Hyderabad, the city is likely to experience cooler-than-usual mornings with clear skies and misty or hazy conditions during early hours.

People hesitant to disclose personal data

DEEPIKA PASHAM

■ HYDERABAD

The ongoing Caste Census Survey, also known as Comprehensive Household Survey, sparked concerns among individuals who are hesitant to disclose personal information.

The enumerators attending on ground survey everyday get to listen to arguments from individuals that with Aadhaar card numbers already linked to their data, the information of their profession, income and most of it are available digitally. Others fear the survey details being uploaded to computers lack transparency.

Speaking to The Pioneer, Enumerator

Karthik from Medchal Malkajigiri, said, "There is 5 per cent not willing to give details or fill up the forms. They are going through the forms and asking what all details are being collected and letting us know that they don't wish to give information." "In such cases we are writing the family members' names, house number and if contact number is provided," he added.

D Naveen, speaking with The Pioneer explained, "Why should I give my profession, income, caste and property details to any government survey. The agenda should be clear in implementing such surveys. I am a software engineer and I am a responsible citizen who adheres to the rights of paying taxes, voting. No member of my family has any form of support from any scheme of the government. So, I felt it is not necessary to fill up such surveys."

Another situation being encountered on ground is that people who live in rented houses and have property in their villages are travelling and filling the forms as they want to ignore double-time filling of forms.

There are also inter-State individuals who are either opting to write only names of the families or nothing.

P Jagadeesh, speaking to The Pioneer said, "I am a resident of Mumbai and I have shifted to Hyderabad two years ago. I have property in my name in Mumbai. My education details are from Mumbai. So, I felt I am irrelevant to fill in any forms of Caste Census Survey."

My house is a kilometer away from lake: Commissioner Ranganath

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

As allegations arise on HYDRRAA Commissioner AV Ranganath's house in Madhura Nagar being in the buffer zone, he has clarified that his house is a kilometer away from the lake embankment.

"The house was built by my father AV Subhaaya 44 years ago. The Krishna Kant Park now exists as a large lake that was converted into a park over two-and-a-half decades ago. The irrigation department considers land within 5-10 meters below the embankment as part of the buffer zone. However, our house is located over a kilometer away from the embankment."

Ranganath refuted claims circulating in certain newspapers and online platforms that his house lies within a buffer zone, stressing that facts are being misrepresented. The Commissioner further explained the historical significance of the area, noting that temples like the Kattamaisamma temple are typically built near reservoir embankments, which is a common practice in the region's culture and traditions.

Desilting of Bhadrakali Tank in Warangal underway

PNS ■ WARANGAL

Irrigation officials have embarked on the task of desilting the Bhadrakali Tank in Warangal. Accordingly, they discharged the water from the sprawling 382 acre tank.

Having discharged water from the water body, there is waist deep slush in the tank. Once the tank bed gets dried up, the officials will take measures for dredging it. Prior to 1985, the tank water is used for irrigation. However, in 1985 summer, the tank was converted into a reservoir to quench the thirst of people in Warangal.

The Kakatiya Canal empties water into the tank to quench the thirst of the population of Warangal.

Following the execution of Devadula Irrigation Project, Godavari river water is being drawn into the Dharmasagar tank. The water is being used to meet the drinking water needs of the Warangal city. Therefore, for the past five years or so the Bhadrakali tank water remained unutilized for drinking purposes.

"Despite Kaleshwaram project remaining non-functional, the State achieved a historic paddy production of 153 lakh metric tonnes (LMT) from 66.07 lakh acres, cultivated by 40 lakh farmers. To encourage farmers cultivating fine varieties, a bonus of Rs 283.25 crore has been announced, with Rs 80.17 crore already disbursed. Payments worth Rs

2,760.22 crore have been released to farmers, surpassing last year's Rs 2,414.23 crore by Rs 345.99 crore. The remaining Rs 2,279.78 crore will be disbursed soon, he assured.

This procurement reflects the government's robust agricultural policies and unwavering support for farmers, he said.

As part of his commitment to ensuring efficient operations, Uttam Kumar Reddy conducted surprise inspections at multiple grain procurement centres, catching farmers and officials off guard. During these visits, he interacted directly with farmers, who expressed satisfaction with this season's yield but raised concerns about delays in transportation arrangements. Acting promptly, the Minister contacted senior officials to address these issues, emphasising the need for the timely availability of transport vehicles.

"I have directed all officials to ensure there are no delays in transportation or payments. Farmers should not face any inconvenience," Reddy stated during his visit. He also examined the moisture content testing equipment and reviewed other arrangements at the centres to ensure operational efficiency.

One more tiger strays into forests of Nirmal district

PNS ■ NIRMAL

Movement of another tiger sparked panic among residents of Kanakapur and Parimandal villages in Laxmanachanda mandal in the district on Sunday.

District Forest Officer Nagini Banu reported that pugmarks of a tiger were found in a cotton field on the outskirts of Parimandal village. She confirmed that the Forest Department has been actively tracking the tiger's movements using CCTV cameras and animal trackers, though the gender and age of the animal has not yet been determined.

Forest officials suspect that the tiger could be a male, possibly the one identified as S-12, which had been sighted in the forests of Tiryani. It is believed that S-12 may have moved toward Nirmal district to displace another male tiger known as Johnny, which had been roaming in the area until recently.

Johnny, originally from the Painganga Wildlife Sanctuary in Maharashtra's Nanded and Yavatmal districts, had made an unsuccessful 350-kilometer journey across the forests of Adilabad and Nirmal in search of a female companion. After failing to find one, Johnny recently returned to his home territory in Maharashtra.

Meanwhile, S-12 had earlier ventured into the forests of Luxettipet and Kasipet mandals before straying into Kumram Bheem Asifabad district from the Tadoba Andhari Tiger Reserve in search of a new territory.

Authorities have advised villagers to remain cautious and avoid any direct confrontation with the tiger. They also urged farmers not to set up electrified fences to prevent crop damage as this could harm the animal. Forest officials assured the people that compensation would be provided promptly if the tiger caused any harm to livestock.

Residents of Kanakapur and Parimandal villages reported sightings of the tiger in nearby agricultural fields and expressed concern for their safety.

NHRC team visits jail, interacts with detainees

PNS ■ SANGAREDDY

A team from the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) on Sunday visited Sangareddy Central Jail as part of its investigation into the Lagacharla incident.

The assault on the District Collector at Lagacharla village on November 11 led to arrest of a large number of people, including former MLA Patnam Mahender Reddy.

The eight-member delegation interacted with the 19 detainees connected to the case, including A2 Suresh, gathering detailed accounts of their conditions. The visit aimed to assess whether the detainees' rights were being upheld and to evaluate the overall conditions within the prison. This inquiry is part of the NHRC's broader effort to address potential human rights violations and ensure accountability in the ongoing investigation into the Lagacharla case.

On Saturday, the NHRC initiated an inquiry into the arrests of villagers from Lagacharla in Vikarabad district, following an attack on the Vikarabad Collector. The Collector had visited the village for a public hearing regarding land acquisition for a pharmaceutical project. The NHRC team visited the village after receiving complaints that local tribals, who had opposed the land acquisition, were subjected to police violence and illegal arrests.

Earlier, the NHRC had directed the Chief Secretary and the Director General of Police (DGP) to submit a detailed report within two weeks, outlining the circumstances surrounding the arrests, the identities of those taken into custody, and the status of the FIRs.

PNS ■ SURYAPET

In a shocking incident, a farmer couple attempted suicide by dousing themselves with petrol at the IKP rice procurement centre in Annaram village under Tungathurthi mandal in the district after a rice miller rejected their produce on the pretext of poor quality on Sunday. In a state of distress, the farmer couple, Gugulotha Kima Nayak and Punnamma, attempted suicide at the procurement centre.

Gugulothu Keema Nayak and his wife Punnamma hailed from Chowllathanda village under Tungathurthi mandal. The miller had told farmer couple he would only accept the paddy after deducting four to six kg of produce per quintal against the actual weight.

This incident showed that the farmers are still struggling to sell their produce despite the State government's effort to ensure minimum support price (MSP) for the agricultural produce.

Farmer Gugulotha Kima Nayak pouring petrol on his body with his wife Punnamma on his side at the paddy procurement centre at Annaam village in Surypet district on Sunday

The incident of a farmer couple attempting self-immolation triggered tension and farmers staged a protest. On coming to know of the incident, officials rushed to the procurement centre.

According to the farmer couple, they had taken land on lease from Gogula Ramakrishna of Annaram village and cultivated paddy. They sent the harvested paddy to the IKP centre in Annaram in the first week of this month. After drying and storing it properly, the quality of the paddy, including moisture content, was checked by the officials and the produce was accepted. A total of 688 bags, including 425 bags from Keema's farm and 263 bags from two other farmers, were sent by lorry to the Venkataramana Rice Mill in Kodad on November 17.

On November 18, the mill management reported to the IKP centre that the paddy was of good quality. When Nayak and the IKP officials visited the mill to inquire, the miller said that the produce was of poor quality. The miller demanded that he be allowed to deduct three kilograms of paddy against actual weight, but Nayak outright rejected it.

On the morning of Saturday, the mill operators sent the paddy back to the IKP centre without unloading. The IKP officials confirmed that the lorry returned with the paddy. This caused great distress to Nayak and his wife. In their despair, they went to the IKP centre and attempted suicide by dosing themselves with petrol. The farmers who were present at the centre averted the tragedy.

Immediately, Tahsildar DT Kantlamayya, AEO Balakrishna, and APM Rambabu arrived at the IKP centre. They inquired about the situation and, after bringing it to the attention of higher district officials, spoke with the mill management. They arranged to send the paddy back to the mill without further loss. It is reported that the mill will apply a weight reduction of one kilo per quintal of the paddy.

PNS ■ SAMBHAL (UP)

Three people were killed and scores of others, including around 20 security personnel, were injured as protesters opposing a court-ordered survey of a Mughal-era mosque here clashed with police on Sunday.

The protesters torched vehicles and pelted stones at the police, who used tear gas and batons to disperse the mob. "Shots were fired by the miscreants... the PRO of the superintendent of police suffered a gunshot to the leg, the police circle officer was hit by pellets and 15 to 20 security personnel were injured in the violence," Moradabad Divisional Commissioner Aunjaneya Kumar Singh said.

He said that a constable also suffered a serious head injury while the deputy collector fractured his leg.

Tension has been brewing in Sambhal since Tuesday when the Jama Masjid was surveyed on the orders of a local court following a petition that claimed that a Harihar temple stood at the site.

"Three people, identified as Naeem, Bilal and Nauman, have been killed," Singh said, adding that preparations were underway for their post-mortem examination.

Akhilesh claims BJP, govt behind violence and said it would be clear if the Election Commission could conduct a forensic examination of the EVMs.

Yadav made the allegations a day after the UP by-poll results, in which his party managed to win only two seats, while the BJP and its ally RLD bagged the other seven, including the Muslim-dominated Kundarki.

'Ladki scheme, religious polarisation may have played role'

Pawar on Mahayuti victory

PNS ■ KARAD (MAHARASHTRA)

NCP (SP) chief Sharad Pawar on Sunday said the Ladki Bahin scheme, women's participation in voting in large numbers, and religious polarisation may have played a role in Mahayuti's victory in Maharashtra assembly polls.

He said the election results, declared on Saturday, are not on the expected lines but he would revitalise the party.

Responding to a query on his retirement from active politics, Pawar tersely said he and his party colleagues will decide.

Speaking to reporters in Karad city in Satara district, Pawar acknowledged that the NCP led by his nephew and Deputy CM Ajit Pawar secured more seats than the NCP (Sharadchandra Pawar), adding "Everyone knows who founded the NCP".

"The Ladki Bahin scheme and religious polarisation played a role. Women's participation in large numbers could be the reason for the Mahayuti sweep in Maharashtra. We will study the reasons for the debacle and take necessary steps," he said.

Pawar asserted that the NCP (SP) would go to people by re-energising the new leadership.

Responding to a query on EVMs, a day after Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Sanjay Raut expressed doubts over the massive verdict in Mahayuti's favour, Pawar said he would speak about EVMs only if he has official data.

Furious India rejects 'unfair' climate finance deal

PNS ■ BAKU (AZERBAIJAN)

India on Sunday fiercely rejected the paltry US$ 300 billion climate finance package for the Global South and said the COP29 presidency and the UN climate change office forced through the deal before allowing it to voice its objections.

Making a strong statement on behalf of India at the closing plenary of the UN climate conference here, Chandni Raina, Adviser, Department of Economic Affairs, termed the adoption process "unfair" and "stage-managed" and said it reflected the troubling lack of trust in the UN system.

The UN climate conference adopted a new climate finance package of a meagre US$ 300 billion annually by 2035, replacing the US$ 100 billion pledge made in 2009.

The US$ 300 billion figure is a far cry from the US$ 1.3 trillion the Global South has been demanding over the past three years of talks to tackle climate change.

India said its request to speak before the adoption of the climate finance package was ignored. "We had informed the presidency and the secretariat that we wanted to make a statement before any decision on the adoption. However, and this is for everyone to see, this has been stage-managed, and we are extremely disappointed with this incident," Raina said.

Assam to form SIT to probe Gorajan murders

PNS ■ NAGAON (ASSAM)

Assam Police will form a special investigation team (SIT) to probe the murder of four persons, including three of the same family, at Gorajan village in Nagaon district, a senior officer said on Sunday.

Special Director General of Police Harmeet Singh, who visited the house where the murders were committed on Friday night, said that the CID and forensic science experts have already collected evidence from the crime spot.

Speaking to reporters, Singh said, "A SIT will be formed under the leadership of Nagaon Superintendent of Police Swapnaneel Deka to take forward the probe. CID and forensic teams visited the spot on Saturday and collected vital evidence, including blood samples and finger prints." Singh said the crime will be investigated from all angles.

The four persons were killed by unknown assailants with sharp weapons in the residence of Gunadhar Sarkar. Sarkar, his wife Sarojini and their youngest daughter Jayasmrita, and a youth from Nagaon, Anupam Sutradhar, were killed in the attack. Two other members of Sarkar family, a daughter whose marriage was scheduled next Wednesday and her brother, were away in Nagaon shopping for the wedding.

Autopsy of the bodies was conducted at the Nagaon Civil Hospital on Saturday and handed over to the families later.

Delhi air quality fluctuates between 'Very Poor' and 'Severe'

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The air quality index continued to fluctuate between the "severe" and "very poor" categories in Delhi.

The city's 24-hour average air quality index, recorded until 4 pm on Sunday, was 318 (very poor), improving from the severe category recorded the previous day when it was 412, according to data from the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB).

None of the 38 monitoring stations in Delhi recorded AQI in the severe category on Sunday, compared to 20 stations that recorded severe air quality the previous day, according to the SAMEER app, which provides hourly updates on the National Air Quality Index.

An AQI between 0 and 50 is considered "good," 51-100 "satisfactory," 101-200 "moderate," 201-300 "poor," 301-400 "very poor," 401-450 "severe," and above 450 "severe plus."

CPCB data identified PM2.5 as the primary pollutant, with its levels recorded at 138 at 3 pm.

PM2.5 particles, measuring 2.5 micrometers or smaller (approximately the width of a human hair), pose significant health risks as they can penetrate deep into the lungs and enter the bloodstream, according to the CPCB.

The Centre's Decision Support System (DSS) for Air Quality Management estimated that vehicular emissions contributed 18.1 per cent to Delhi's pollution on Sunday. Stubble burning, another major factor, accounted for 19 per cent of Delhi's pollution on Saturday. The DSS provides daily estimates for vehicular emissions, while data on stubble burning is typically released the following day.

Delhi's air quality plunged into the hazardous category last Sunday morning, with the AQI crossing 450 for the first time this season.

Never claimed BJP would win Jharkhand polls: Himanta

PNS ■ GUWAHATI

A day after the BJP bit the dust in Jharkhand, Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma on Sunday said he had never claimed that the party would win the assembly polls in the eastern state.

Hemant Soren's JMM-led alliance stormed to power in Jharkhand for a second consecutive term, winning 56 seats in the 81-member House, despite an all-out blitz by the BJP-led NDA which managed only 24 seats. Sarma was the BJP's co-in-charge for the Jharkhand polls.

The Assam CM stressed the urgency for the JMM-led alliance to perform its constitutional duty of identifying and deporting infiltrators from the eastern state. Addressing a press conference here, Sarma said, "Whenever you (media) had asked me here about Jharkhand, I had said that it is a difficult state. I never claimed that we would win. It was a tough job for our party to fight there but we did a good job under the given circumstances."

Sarma, who had practically camped in Jharkhand to campaign for the party ahead of the assembly elections and claimed that infiltrators were posing a threat to the eastern state, reiterated the need for the government to act against them.

Sabarimala witnesses surge of devotees

PNS ■ SABARIMALA

The Travancore Devaswom Board (TDB) announced on Sunday that over six lakh devotees have visited the Sabarimala Lord Ayyappa temple, within the first nine days of the Mandalam-Makaravilakku pilgrimage season.

TDB President P S Prasanth said the temple, which opened on November 16 (Vrischikam 1), witnessed 6,12,290 pilgrims during this period. This marks a significant increase compared to the 3,03,501 devotees who visited during the same timeframe last year.

The revenue collected during this period has also risen significantly to Rs 41.64 crore,

Revenue touches Rs 41 crore reflecting an increase of Rs 13.33 crore compared to the previous season. Addressing the media at Sannidhanam,

Prasanth attributed the rise to "effective management and improved facilities for devotees."

To facilitate a smooth darshan experience, three spot online booking centers have been established at Vandiperiyar Sathram, Erumeli, and Pamba. Elaborate arrangements have been made at the Manappuram online booking center in Pamba to handle the growing influx of devotees, said Prasanth.

"There is no situation where devotees will have to return without darshan," Prasanth assured, emphasising that the online booking system is equipped to manage the increasing number of pilgrims.

He also advised devotees to carry their Aadhaar card or a copy for spot bookings.

The TDB president also urged pilgrims to support the temple's environmental efforts by avoiding plastics at Sabarimala Poomkavanam.

"Tantri Kandararu Rajeevaru (priest) has directed devotees not to include plastics in their 'irumudikattu' (sacred offerings). However, some devotees are still bringing plastics, which goes against the temple's aim of becoming a plastic-free zone," he said.

Further, Prasanth stressed that leaving clothes in the holy Pamba River is not a part of any ritual and insisted devotees to avoid "polluting the river."

Ruling JMM retains Jharkhand and the BJP-led Mahayuti, Maharashtra, indicating anti-incumbency is not at play right now

The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), alongside its allies, achieved significant electoral victory in Maharashtra while the Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) fought its way to victory in Jharkhand despite many handicaps proving once again that it is difficult to read the voters' mind. In Maharashtra, the BJP-led Mahayuti coalition, including factions of the Shiv Sena and the Nationalist Congress Party (NCP), secured a decisive majority, capitalising on effective consolidation of OBC votes and strategic welfare schemes like direct cash transfers for women. Prime Minister Narendra Modi's leadership and grassroots outreach programmes further bolstered their appeal. Meanwhile, in Jharkhand, the BJP failed to wrest power from the ruling alliance of JMM. It could not emphasise governance issues and leverage dissatisfaction with the Hemant Soren-led coalition. The JMM's success was amplified by strong voter mobilisation in tribal areas and development-focused messaging. In Maharashtra, the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) alliance, comprising the Congress, Shiv Sena (UBT), and the original NCP, struggled with internal divisions and a lack of clarity on critical issues such as reservations for the Maratha community.

In Jharkhand, the BJP's limited reach and failure to address rural distress effectively diminished its appeal. The electoral outcome in Maharashtra underlines the BJP's ability to adapt and dominate state politics. All this while the Opposition struggled to regain voter trust. The NDA led by the BJP, achieved notable success in Maharashtra due to a combination of strategic alliances, effective voter outreach and targeted welfare initiatives. In Maharashtra, the BJP presented itself as a cohesive force with Eknath Shinde's Shiv Sena faction and Ajit Pawar's Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) group, ensuring a consolidated voter base. The party's focus on OBC consolidation, welfare schemes such as direct cash transfers for women, and the influence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's leadership resonated strongly with voters. But it was different story in Jharkhand where the BJP could not harness dissatisfaction with the governance of the Hemant Soren-led coalition and failed to highlight local issues like unemployment and tribal welfare and banked more on its national agenda. The JMM also benefited from a grassroots campaign that addressed tribal and rural voter concerns, further solidifying its position. Similarly, in Maharashtra the opposition failed to effectively capitalise on the BJP's perceived shortcomings, such as economic challenges and allegations of governance lapses. In Maharashtra, the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) coalition, comprising the Congress, Shiv Sena (Uddhav), and Sharad Pawar's NCP, struggled with internal divisions and inconsistent messaging, particularly on sensitive issues like Maratha reservations. In Jharkhand, JMM and Congress were able to counter the BJP's narrative and present a compelling vision for change. These results indeed underscore the innate acumen of the voters to vote on the issues they deem important.

Emerging contours of artificial intelligence

VINAYSHIL GAUTAM

The interplay between AI and human intelligence offers both challenges and opportunities, heralding a future where adaptability and innovation are key

The foundation of understanding an organisation lies in understanding the role relationships within it. An individual may even, lose their identity in living up to the requirements of his organisational role. Illustratively, the President of an organisation is no longer just an individual who occupies that position. The person who occupies that position becomes the President of the organisation with the President's characteristics, the President's traits, and the President's attributes.

Being a true President may often require his acting in denial of his inclinations in favour of the role requirement. This issue has usually constituted the foundation of organisation analysis and operations. The theoretical basis of this thinking was laid out in 1952 by Elliott Jaques in his classical book "Changing Culture of a Factory." This was a report of 1948 and 1950 of a Glacier Metal Company, London. The Tavistock Institute of Human Relations was the sponsor.

The significance of the book lies, among other things, in the theoretical and operational implications of the research findings. The study went back to 1938. That is another story. Since then, few things have so fundamentally affected organisations understanding till the coming of artificial intelligence (AI). These are indeed seminal times in terms of understanding organisations. AI has affected how one looks at manufacturing, finance, logistics, and more. The expressions of job design have changed. If the basis of job design has changed, the understanding of organisational structure stands to change. The key issue is whether the fundamental changes through the new model of business products for increasing profit have impacted organisational operations. And how they have affected pricing, job market changes, and created or altered new revenue streams. Currently, the world of products and academia is dealing with a lot of jargonise. The popular references are two models, one is the platform-based model, other is the subscription model.

There may be several others but are yet to acquire significance. Many of them who would survive, would get modified, and much of them would evolve into something totally different. Time can tell. For the present, efforts are being made to understand business models and their impact on work conduct. An obvious outcome of AI is the redundancy of many tasks. As the character of tasks changes, the character of organizational models is open to change.

The whole approach of aggregation of organizational tasks into job designs has undergone a fundamental change. Many humanly rendered tasks have become redundant, and they have then been replaced either by machines or machine-led aggregation of skills. This whole process is akin to a major revolution in the understanding of the work. It needs to be realized that once such forces are generated, there is no reversal that can take place in its entirety. It also impacts job designs, which for whatever reason may not change. Put simply, the nature of the task itself has revolutionized organizations. Practically everyone needs to understand AI because there is nothing that can be quite untouched by that process. The overlapping jobs would disappear, skill shifts would take place, and reskilling and upskilling would become the order of the day as never before. When such fundamental changes are let loose, job displacement is not just job displacement but the seedbed of new forms of job creation. The interesting thing is that AI acquires some human characteristics that are still in the domain of documentation, understanding, and interpretation. The bias in AI would have been the act of abbreviation and one might say, even the dispensation of organizational fair play. Privacy and security are concepts that change, and nothing stays quite what it was even a quarter of a century ago.

The upshot of all these is the creation of a paradigm of organization management, whether the top management may not be necessary at the top but acquire primacy even while imbibed in the heart of an organization. This would happen because of the ability of the AI specialist to affect the nature of the work itself. The chances are clear that AI as a service is on the way to acquiring a character of its own. For some AI will be the first language, and they will affect the running of the organization in a very critical manner. For the rest, AI would be a second language, and everyone would need to understand a little bit of the nature of AI.

Put simply, the future of work will be a diligent factor in many ways, which might be an outcome of the revolution of AI. The fascinating thing is to observe how the character of AI affects other functions of the organization like finance, marketing, the functioning of ports, and more. The above is not to say that pathways are clear and the shift in organisational nature is irrevocable. The AI is a job in progress. It's a work in progress that is still taking shape and a character that remains in service of organization management, will only gradually become clear. How this will roll out is difficult to predict, but one thing is clear:

AI is here to stay. All in all, it will be interesting to observe how AI and human intelligence deal with each other and create an amalgam of human efforts for organizational growth. The future is here, and over time, it will take shape with better clarity and hopefully some predictability.

Grey divorce: The new reality of modern relationships

ASHA IYER KUMAR

Far from a rash dissolution of vows, grey divorce is reshaping societal views on commitment, showcasing that it can lead to new beginnings

The entertainment media is abuzz with news of AR Rahman's separation from his wife of many years, Saira Banu. It is not the first time that famous couples, married for several years, have called it quits. What was once anathema in the old scheme of things—namely, a marriage breakup—has now become a lot more common, giving rise to a new term in the nuptial dictionary: grey divorce.

All cases of middle-aged separation have been well-thought-out decisions, taken after life has given the couples all their due during their togetherness. The best of relationships can fray, the pristine love that couples vouched for can gather moss, and what seemed like a lifetime's vow can wither after many winters of frozen emotions. What was once considered unthinkable becomes inevitable in the narrative of two people who once thought they would grow old together and be each other's crutch when their feet faltered. What had been held sacred and secure slowly gives way, and couples arrive at a decision that is ironic, painful, and liberating at the same time. We have now entered a new era of human relationships, where binding and breaking look like two sides of the same coin. While separation at a younger age is more common than parting at twilight or thereabouts, even long-standing unions are no longer immune to the reconfigurations of modern relationships. Grey divorce has come to symbolise not just the unravelling of a marriage but the assertion of individuality—a reclaiming of one's universe after years of compromise and shared existence. For couples who part ways after decades together, it is not a rash decision taken in the heat of conflict but the culmination of deep reflection and an honest appraisal of their shared journey. It is not about undoing the years they spent together or dismissing the love they once held; rather, it is about recognising that their paths have diverged, their goals have shifted, and their needs have evolved in ways that no longer align. Marriage, in its ideal form, is a partnership where two people grow together while allowing each other room to flourish individually. But as life unfolds with its relentless demands and shifting priorities, it is not uncommon for this delicate balance to tilt. What once felt like a harmonious duet may start to sound discordant, not out of malice or neglect, but simply because human beings are not static.

Divorce in later years, though heart-wrenching, is often an act of self-preservation—a decision to honour the person each has become rather than clinging to a version of themselves that no longer exists. It is a painful shedding of skin that no longer fits, and like all transformations, it comes with its share of sorrow and scars. Yet, it is also an opportunity for renewal, a chance to readjust one's life with one's inner truth. Couples who choose to separate after years together are not betraying the sanctity of marriage; they are embracing the courage to let go of something that no longer serves their mutual wellbeing.

It is a quiet revolution in the way society views commitment—not as an unyielding contract but as a partnership rooted in growth, love, and respect, even when that means stepping away. While the process is undeniably painful, it also holds the promise of freedom and self-discovery. It allows individuals to reclaim their lives, find joy in their own company, and pursue paths that were perhaps once abandoned for the sake of togetherness. Grey divorce is not the undoing of a life lived together; it is the rewriting of two lives that are still unfolding. It reminds us that while love may not always last in its original form, the lessons it imparts and the growth it inspires are eternal. And in that, there is hope—a hope that even in endings, there can be beginnings. As Rahman said, they will eventually find meaning in the shattering.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ADANI GROUP CONTROVERSY

Madam— Adani Group Chairman Gautam Adani, his nephew Sagar Adani and six others were indicted by US prosecutors in New York on Wednesday (November 20) in an alleged Rs 2,029 crore bribery case that could be a much bigger blow for business than the Hindenburg report. Side by side, it could upset the group's global expansion ambitions, hinder capital-raising and tarnish the fundraising abilities of other Indian firms by association. Though the White House expressed confidence in the resilience of India-US ties despite allegations against industrialist Gautam Adani and his associates of orchestrating a $265 million bribery scheme to secure state energy contracts.

Even after all this, citizens of the country strongly believe that whether Adani paid the bribe or not is to be probed by the agencies. When Indian agencies failed, US court indicted him for the bribery. Let Adani & his companies defend themselves in the US courts. If Adani has invested in the minerals, forests, lands and other resources of those states. Where Indian compromised agencies failed, the US caught him on the wrong foot. Let him and his other conspirators face the music. Remember, the US laws are very strict in the cases of bribery or anti-competition laws. Let Adani face the music in the US courts and international financiers or hawala money suppliers. Whatsoever, for the clean image of the country, India must also set up a probe into this matter and be prepared to go by the evidence presented to the US regulators and courts to determine if there has been wrongdoing on our soil.

Women's hockey team wins ACT

The Indian women's hockey team has created history once again by retaining the Asian Champions Trophy title after beating China. It would always be a moment of pride seeing Indian women securing victory in India's national sport, hockey. The title is extremely prestigious for all of us, and our women players deserve this victory due to their constant hard work of managing seven victories in the seven matches. India beat China with 3-0 and holds the ACT (Asian Champion Trophy) crown once again, for the third time now, after securing the same in 2016 and 2023.

The team under Harendra Kaur is collecting worldwide appreciation for their high-quality, victorious performance and hopefully, if Team India continues the same magic in the upcoming Los Angeles session in 2028, we all back at home will be in the epitome of cheers for our girls. Meanwhile, it's time for Indian women's hockey to enjoy and dip into the victory celebration. The nation extends heartfelt congratulations to them for their success.

The magic wand of Sharad Pawar had lost its power while his breakup factions of Sena and NCP led by Uddhav Thackeray and Sharad Pawar, had seen the downside quite significantly. The Shiv Sena chief Uddhav Thackeray termed the victory as note-jihad by attacking the BJP leader Vinod Tawde and alleged that cash for votes marred the end results. While all parties facilitate cash for votes, it's not that how much one bribe matters and, at the end, how much of welfare the party extends to the people that brings such a huge victory need to be respected. The BJP has used their arm of RSS to campaign to target women, farmers and OBCs in the last six months and has gained momentum by a constructive approach to focus on this landmark victory.

LONG-TERM PLANNING NEEDED

Madam— This refers to the editorial, 'Cars the Main Culprit', wherein it was observed that the real culprit behind Delhi's toxic air is not stubble burning but the city's overwhelming vehicular emissions. The Supreme Court, concerned about the health of the residents of the capital and commuters, has taken a commendable initiative to close schools up to class 12 and implement all the necessary restrictions of the Graded Response Action Plan-Stage 4. A section of the society is praising the commendable effort of the judiciary wholeheartedly.

The Aam Aadmi Party in Delhi has come under fire over the deteriorating air quality in the national capital. But instead of controlling the worsening conditions, the Aam Aadmi Party is bent on criticising the Modi government at the Centre. Before the upcoming Assembly elections, the Atishi government will have to show its work on the ground in Delhi. The Central and State governments should together take practical steps on a concrete action plan to reduce pollution and improve the environment in Delhi.

ONLINE PREDATORS

They exploit the anonymity and reach of digital platforms to target vulnerable individuals, particularly children

SHAINY SHARMA

The emergence of the internet has revolutionised the way an individual connects, communicates and accesses information. However, alongside its numerous benefits, this emergence has also given rise to various dangers, one of the most concerning being the presence of online predators - someone who uses the internet to exploit others for personal gain, often engaging in deceptive and manipulative behaviour. These individuals exploit digital platforms to manipulate, exploit and harm unsuspecting victims, often targeting vulnerable populations such as children and teenagers.

Social media platforms, online gaming environments, chat rooms and even educational forums provide predators with access to potential victims. The motives range from financial fraud and identity theft to emotional manipulation, sexual exploitation and many more. The anonymity of the internet emboldens these individuals, allowing them to craft fake personas and deceive others without immediate risk of detection.

Online predators employ various strategies to target and exploit their victims. One of the most common is grooming, a process in which predators build trust and emotional connections over time. This tactic often begins with flattery, attention or shared interests making the victim feel valued and understood. Once the trust is established, the predator isolates the victim by discouraging contact with family or friends, making the victim more dependent on them. Not only this, but these predators also exploit vulnerabilities, such as low self-esteem, loneliness or a desire for acceptance. They use threats, blackmail or promises of love or gifts to control their victims. In some cases, the predators coerce victims into sharing sensitive information or explicit content, which can later be used as leverage. Victims falling prey to an online predator can be devastating. They may experience emotional trauma, anxiety, depression and a loss of trust in others and if it's a minor then the outcomes are even worse affecting their development and relationships.

A combination of education, vigilance and robust digital safeguards and awareness campaigns can teach individuals, especially young people, about the risks of interacting with strangers online for they tend to put up in place as younger influencers who will share their lives on camera. And the importance of protecting personal information.

Technological solutions, such as parental controls, advanced privacy settings and reporting mechanisms, can also help deter predators. There is no denying that the threat of online predators is a sobering reminder of the darker side of the digital age. While the internet offers incredible opportunities for connection and growth, it also demands vigilance and responsibility from all users.

By understanding the tactics of online predators and implementing protective measures, individuals can work toward a safer online environment. Only when education, communication and technology unite to combat this pervasive issue, can society ensure that the Internet remains a tool for empowerment rather than exploitation.

If you suspect someone is being targeted by an online predator, report it to the authorities or an organisation like NCMEC (National Centre for Missing & Exploited Children) through their CyberTipline. (The writer is an educator; views are personal)

DIVYA BHATIA

Goa has long been a dream destination for both domestic and international travelers. Its blend of scenic beauty and cultural richness has earned it a prominent place on the global tourism map. But is the charm of Goa fading? Is it losing its allure? Certainly not. In fact, anyone visiting Goa would find its flights fully booked well in advance, its hotels packed, and its beaches bustling with lively crowds. However, some media reports have suggested a decline in its popularity, which seems at odds with the reality and the figures.

For decades, Goa has been synonymous with sun-kissed beaches, lively shacks, and a carefree lifestyle that has charmed travellers from around the world. Beyond its picturesque coastlines lies a treasure trove of history, culture, and tradition waiting to be discovered. Ironically, a report from the CEIC (China Economic Information Centre) claimed a drastic drop in foreign tourist arrivals to Goa, alleging a fall from 8.5 million in 2019 to just 1.5 million in 2023. This narrative suggested that Goa was losing its allure to international competitors like Thailand, Sri Lanka, and Vietnam. Interestingly report is bereft of the details of the sources and how they were collected. Casting aspersions on the motive of the report in first place. These claims have been contested by Goa's Tourism Department, which points out significant discrepancies in the data. Official figures indicated approximately 450,000 foreign arrivals in 2023—a notable recovery post-pandemic-while domestic tourism surged to 8.17 million in 2023, surpassing the 7.12 million recorded in 2019. Altogether, Goa welcomed 8.62 million tourists in 2023, exceeding pre-pandemic levels. Addressing these concerns,

Tourism Minister Rohan A Khaunte has criticised the report, describing it as a deliberate attempt to misrepresent Goa's standing. "The numbers are manipulated to present a false narrative," he stated. "In 2023, we recorded 4.5 million international tourists and about 9 million domestic tourists. It's not just about quantity but the quality of tourism and the revenue it generates. Domestic tourists are now spending more, opting for premium accommodations." To further boost the international Khaunte stresses the importance of improving Goa's international connectivity, particularly with emerging markets in Southeast Asia, the West Asia and Europe. He revealed ongoing efforts to establish direct flight routes to key destinations such as the UAE, Malaysia and South Korea. "These regions hold immense potential for quality tourism," he noted. In fact, Goa has gone notch up to promote tourism that is both sustainable and rejuvenating. In 2023, Goa launched a pioneering regenerative tourism campaign, emphasising sustainability across the pillars of economy, environment, and society. This initiative aims to go beyond sustainable practices, creating tourism models that leave a positive impact on local communities while offering unique, meaningful experiences for travelers. "Regenerative tourism is about ensuring that tourism not only sustains but enriches the local culture, economy, and environment," Khaunte explains. Despite its many strengths, Goa faces ongoing challenges. The lack of app-based taxi services and disputes among taxi operators have been longstanding grievances for visitors, often resulting in complaints about high fares. Additionally, while Goa offers accommodations catering to all budgets, from luxury to backpacker-friendly, the state has been criticised for expensive lodging options. Khaunte acknowledged these concerns, emphasising the need for improved public transportation and better policies to enhance the tourist experience. Indeed the 'Unverified data without revealing the methodology employed and source makes the data suspect and report motivated. What sets Goa apart is its versatility. Whether you're seeking beach parties, adventure sports, spiritual retreats, or cultural festivities, Goa caters to a wide range of interests. This adaptability has been the cornerstone of its enduring appeal. Goa's enchanting landscapes and vibrant culture have long served as a cinematic muse, making it a favored backdrop for filmmakers worldwide. From Bollywood blockbusters to Hollywood thrillers, Goa's charm has been immortalised on screen. Iconic films like Ek Dujhe Ke Liye (1981) was all about love in the Goan air, while Dil Chahta Hai (2001) redefined the idea of weekend getaways, inspiring a generation to explore its idyllic beaches. Dear Zindagi (2016) captured its serene vibe, while the Golmaal series (2006-2010) added a playful twist to its allure as a honeymoon destination. Even international cinema embraced its beauty, with The Bourne Supremacy (2004) using Goa as a stunning backdrop for its high-stakes drama. Whether on screen or off, the magic of Goa continues to captivate and mesmerise, unaffected by reports or negative propaganda. (The author is travel writer and influencer; views are personal)

Trump 2.0: Stark challenges for the climate and global stability

B K SINGH

With promises to overhaul bureaucracy, impose steep tariffs and retreat from climate commitments, Trump's policies are set to reshape the US and the world

Donald Trump will take over as US President on January, 2025 and his pre-election promises would have economic and environmental consequences. On the economic front, countries worldwide would face still stronger dollars sucking money out of emerging markets, high protectionist tariffs imposed and consequent trade war slowing the growth and increasing inflation globally. His regime is not only committed to sacking thousands of bureaucrats and replaced by his supporters but has also announced a new department named the Department of Government Efficiency (DOGE) to be headed by Elon Musk and Vivek Ramaswamy to slash the bureaucracy. No doubt it would disrupt the continuity of the functioning of government, and it would also lead to job losses. Nationwide federal government employs nearly 3 million people. Trump says Musk and Ramaswamy would dismantle government bureaucracy, slash excess regulations, cut wasteful expenditure and restructure federal agencies. While Musk has announced to cut $2 trillion from the federal budget, Ramaswamy has proposed to eliminate the education department and FBI.

Internal Revenue Service as well as cutting the federal workforce by 75 per cent in a mass layoff. Trump has consistently maintained to levy a 10 per cent tariff on all imports in the US, 60 per cent on imports from China and 100 per cent on cars imported from China. This would mean cutting imports from many countries which may even result in trade wars. Capacities created in countries like China would be rendered unutilised. With limited domestic consumption in China, the country would face a backlash.

If all countries take action to cut on imports, it certainly boomerangs somewhere and exports would be adversely impacted in most cases. A 10 per cent tariff on imports would increase US prices of goods by at least 3 per cent and a continued trade war may even further raise the prices. While domestic producers in the US would welcome it, the consumers will have to pay more. Tariff is not the solution to all problems. Trump's idea to shift manufacturing back to the US may be hit by supply chain disruption on account of higher tariffs.

The job creation in the US may be impacted. In his first term, Trump increased tariffs on Aluminum and Steel to bring its manufacturing back to the US, but the goal was not achieved. His acceptance of higher prices to be paid by consumers, while protecting producers had also made consumers pay 18 per cent extra on Washing machines in 2018. Later some of Trump's tariff was increased by Biden too. It went up to 100 per cent on electric vehicles, 50 per cent on solar cells and 25 per cent on batteries from China. It had its impact on climate action too - the transition to cleaner energy was slowed down. Herbert Hoover, a Republican, US President nearly a century ago had similarly announced the imposition of tariffs, which ultimately culminated in the adoption of the Smoot-Hawley Act, of 1930 and increased tariffs by 40 to 60 per cent.

It led to a trade war and the US faced retaliation from its trade partners too. It triggered the great depression and the worst economic crisis humankind has ever experienced. Presently global economy is already facing considerable headwinds, any trade war can have disastrous consequences. US's technological advancement for decades has placed it as the leading powerhouse in the world.

Its investment in research and development has been quite rewarding as evident from the fact that there have been more Nobel laureates in the last five or six years than the rest of the world put together have produced. With its technological superiority, the rest of the world is dependent on it economically too and the tariff policy would leave them behind in the trade war. So far China's growth has been manufacturing followed by exports. With the slowdown in exports, it is dealing with the problem of overcapacity of its industries and making efforts to boost domestic consumption. There has been budget constraint in Europe - money is spent on subsidies in several countries, causing growth retardation. Germany, to continue producing in the country has to match the US subsidy offering 900 million euros to Swedish battery makers Northvolt, which is experiencing sluggish growth of the economy. Subsidies continue to slow the growth globally.

As the growth suffers, climate action also suffers. For instance, countries in the African subcontinent have vast potential for solar and wind energy, which has remained untapped so far. China's interest in Africa is going up through its belt and Road initiatives; it has an eye on the natural resources of the continent. It is to be seen whether Trump 2.0 can counter China in Africa.

In his election speeches, Trump has already sought to restore US manufacturing and has targeted to end the Chinese dominance in sectors like advanced information technology, high-end numerical control machinery, robotics, aviation equipment, maritime engineering technology, sophisticated rail equipment, energy-saving vehicles, electrical equipment, medical devices and agriculture machinery etc.

European business finds it now difficult to continue investing in China and India should try to leverage the churn to its advantage. President-elect has already announced Immigration hardliner Tom Homan for the deposition of illegal immigrants. He said that there is nobody better in policing and controlling US borders and there is no doubt that Homan will do a fantastic job which has been long awaited.

Homan also spoke to the press supporting the deportation of even US-born children of undocumented immigrants. Another Immigration hardliner Stephen Miller has been announced to be Deputy Chief of Policy in the new administration. Unprecedented deportation is around the corner, which is bound to impact the labour force. What will happen to manufacturing? Also, his tax cut promise would lead to a fiscal deficit; the US has one of the highest fiscal deficits 22 per cent of GDP, more than four times as high as India.

The country is already under heavy debt and indebtedness would further increase the deficit. Despite a good chemistry between Trump and Modi, India may not be spared of 10 per cent tariff, which may impact our imports. By 2028, when Trump's term ends, not only the US, but many other countries will be reeling under high inflation and poor growth. UN is also reconciled to accept a cut in US funding in Trump 2.0. A US retreat at the UN is likely to open the door for China, which has been building influence in global diplomacy. The best part of Trump's promises is that he would stop funding war. The end of war in West Asia and Ukraine is expected soon. The re-election of Trump has cast a shadow on the ongoing world climate summit in Baku, Azerbaijan. His withdrawal from the Paris Agreement in his first term and halting climate funding has slowed down the progress globally.

Trump in his election campaign has vowed to ignore any climate emergency. He has been categorical in his election speeches - abandon climate, drill, baby, drill. He has also joked in speeches that if the sea level rises, we will have more properties facing the sea. In some other speeches, he said that why should we be concerned if the sea level rises by a thousandth of an inch after thousands of years? Global leaders at Baku perceive the inaction and obstructions from the US and debate whether they can afford such inaction for four more years. They must work out the strategy and pursue advanced climate actions and goals. Barbados PM has invited Trump for a face-to-face meeting on climate.

Goa's timeless allure: Ultimate destination despite misleading claims

Recent reports claiming a decline in its popularity seem at odds with the reality on the ground

Goa has long been a dream destination for both domestic and international travelers. Its blend of scenic beauty and cultural richness has earned it a prominent place on the global tourism map. But is the charm of Goa fading? Is it losing its allure? Certainly not. In fact, anyone visiting Goa would find its flights fully booked well in advance, its hotels packed, and its beaches bustling with lively crowds. However, some media reports have suggested a decline in its popularity, which seems at odds with the reality and the figures.

For decades, Goa has been synonymous with sun-kissed beaches, lively shacks, and a carefree lifestyle that has charmed travellers from rative suggested that Goa was losing its allure to international competitors like Thailand, Sri Lanka, and Vietnam. Interestingly report is bereft of the details of the sources and how they were collected. Casting aspersions on the motive of the report in first place. These claims have been contested by Goa's Tourism Department, which points out significant discrepancies in the data. Official figures indicated approximately 450,000 foreign arrivals in 2023—a notable recovery post-pandemic-while domestic tourism surged to 8.17 million in 2023, surpassing the 7.12 million recorded in 2019. Altogether, Goa welcomed 8.62 million tourists in 2023, exceeding pre-pandemic levels. Addressing these concerns,

Tourism Minister Rohan A Khaunte has criticised the report, describing it as a deliberate attempt to misrepresent Goa's standing. "The numbers are manipulated to present a false narrative," he stated. "In 2023, we recorded 4.5 million international tourists and about 9 million domestic tourists. It's not just about quantity but the quality of tourism and the revenue it generates. Domestic tourists are now spending more, opting for premium accommodations." To further boost the international Khaunte stresses the importance of improving Goa's international connectivity, particularly with emerging markets in Southeast Asia, the West Asia and Europe. He revealed ongoing efforts to establish direct flight routes to key destinations such as the UAE, Malaysia and South Korea. "These regions hold immense potential for quality tourism," he noted. In fact, Goa has gone notch up to promote tourism that is both sustainable and rejuvenating. In 2023, Goa launched a pioneering regenerative tourism campaign, emphasising sustainability across the pillars of economy, environment, and society. This initiative aims to go beyond sustainable practices, creating tourism models that leave a positive impact on local communities while offering unique, meaningful experiences for travelers. "Regenerative tourism is about ensuring that tourism not only sustains but enriches the local culture, economy, and environment," Khaunte explains. Despite its many strengths, Goa faces ongoing challenges. The lack of app-based taxi services and disputes among taxi operators have been longstanding grievances for visitors, often resulting in complaints about high fares. Additionally, while Goa offers accommodations catering to all budgets, from luxury to backpacker-friendly, the state has been criticised for expensive lodging options. Khaunte acknowledged these concerns, emphasising the need for improved public transportation and better policies to enhance the tourist experience. Indeed the 'Unverified data without revealing the methodology employed and source makes the data suspect and report motivated. What sets Goa apart is its versatility. Whether you're seeking beach parties, adventure sports, spiritual retreats, or cultural festivities, Goa caters to a wide range of interests. This adaptability has been the cornerstone of its enduring appeal. Goa's enchanting landscapes and vibrant culture have long served as a cinematic muse, making it a favored backdrop for filmmakers worldwide. From Bollywood blockbusters to Hollywood thrillers, Goa's charm has been immortalised on screen. Iconic films like Ek Dujhe Ke Liye (1981) was all about love in the Goan air, while Dil Chahta Hai (2001) redefined the idea of weekend getaways, inspiring a generation to explore its idyllic beaches. Dear Zindagi (2016) captured its serene vibe, while the Golmaal series (2006-2010) added a playful twist to its allure as a honeymoon destination. Even international cinema embraced its beauty, with The Bourne Supremacy (2004) using Goa as a stunning backdrop for its high-stakes drama. Whether on screen or off, the magic of Goa continues to captivate and mesmerise, unaffected by reports or negative propaganda. (The author is travel writer and influencer; views are personal)

Assam to host business summit in February

Assam will be hosting a two-day business summit in February next year with a focus on attracting investment and developing the state's infrastructure, Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma said here on Sunday. He said Prime Minister Narendra Modi will be inaugurating the 'Advantage Assam 2.0 - the Global Infrastructure and Investors' Summit' on February 24, with Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman to be invited for the valedictory session. "We hosted the first 'Advantage Assam' investment summit in 2018, which led to agreements for investments of Rs 1 lakh crore. But due to the COVID pandemic, we could not hold any follow-up meet, even though the state has been attracting investments," Sarma said, addressing a press conference here. He maintained that good governance and peace have contributed to the state emerging as an investment destination. "Taking it forward, we will be hosting the two-day summit in February. The prime minister has already accepted our invitation, and we are hopeful that the finance minister will also give her consent though we are yet to meet her formally," Sarma said. The CM said the focus of the summit will be equally on infrastructure and investment.

NCL-aided project lights up lives of tribal women

The Singrauli Women Small Holders' Poultry Project -- the CSR initiative of Coal India subsidiary Northern Coalfields Ltd (NCL) -- has benefitted 750 tribal families residing around the operational area of the miniratna firm. The project, which started in 2015, has grown over the years, and with it, more women living in the country's energy hub of Singrauli have benefitted. Inti Devi, a beneficiary of the project remembered how it changed her life. In a conversation with PTI, she said after the death of her husband, she would travel 22 km barefoot everyday leaving her five young children in her shanty only to earn a paltry Rs 40 per day. But her fate changed after she became a part of the Singrauli Women Small Holders' Poultry Project. "After becoming a part of this project, my troubles ended. I earn quite well now and have even married off my elder daughter," Devi, now the President of Singrauli Women Small Holders' Poultry Project, said. Small holder community poultry model helps poor women in rural India to start and run poultry enterprises. Based on this model, the Singrauli Women Small Holders Poultry Project was initiated in which 750 units of poultry farms have been established as one entity -- Singrauli Women Poultry Producers Company Ltd.

Air India Express increases flight operations from NE

Low-cost airline Air India Express has announced an increase in flight operations from three major destinations in the northeast -- Guwahati, Agartala and Imphal -- as part of its winter schedule. This is part of the airlines' expansion of winter services across the country, it said in a statement here. Air India Express has increased its operations to 106 weekly flights from 63 last winter, from Guwahati. It provides direct connectivity to eight domestic destinations of Agartala, Bengaluru, Chennai, Delhi, Hyderabad, Imphal, Jaipur and Kolkata. The airline also provides one-stop connectivity to 18 domestic destinations and six international destinations from Guwahati. In Imphal, the airline hiked its weekly flights to 34 this season, an addition of 20 over last winter, the statement said. Since adding Agartala as a station in September 2024, the airline has increased its flights from 14 to 21 weekly, and connects two destinations -- Guwahati and Kolkata -- directly. It also offers one-stop connectivity from Agartala to 11 domestic destinations. "The expansion not only facilitates easier travel for those wishing to explore North East, but also strengthens Guwahati's role as a vital link with the rest of the country," Chief Commercial Officer (CCO) Ankur Garg said.

IIFCL seeks infra tag for the space sector

Keen to finance satellite vehicles manufacturing: MD

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

State-owned IIFCL has requested the government to bring the space sector under the harmonized list of infrastructure for easier financing of satellite vehicle manufacturing activity in the country.

Currently, India Infrastructure Finance Company Limited (IIFCL) is providing advisory services to the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) through its subsidiary IIFCL Projects Limited (IPL).

"Space sector is something which we have been engaged in through our subsidiary IPL. IPL got repeated mandates from ISRO for helping them in many of their endeavours, including transfer of space satellites," IIFCL managing director P R Jaishankar told PTI.

IIFCL subsidiary has helped in transferring 13 satellites from ISRO to NSIL which involved a very complicated legal process, he said, adding IPL has also done their business plans.

NewSpace India Ltd (NSIL), is the commercial arm of ISRO with the primary responsibility of enabling Indian industries to take up high-technology space-related activities and is also responsible for the promotion and commercial exploitation of the products and services emanating from the Indian space programme.

At the same time, he said, "We would like to engage with the space sector in terms of financing the space satellite vehicles manufacturing and other related areas. So, we have requested the government to include the space sector in the harmonized list of infrastructure so that we can be enabled to provide funding to this sector."

As per the extant guidelines, IIFCL can provide funds only to sectors in the harmonized master list of infrastructure. Presently, it includes five main sectors and 37 sub-sectors.

Earlier this year, the Union Cabinet liberalised Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) policy allowing up to 100 per cent FDI through the automatic route in the space sector.

Foreign firms now planning to build satellites would not require government approval up to 74 per cent of the investment while up to 49 per cent in the case of launch vehicles.

This increased private sector participation would help to generate employment, enable modern technology absorption and make the sector self-reliant.

Besides, Jaishankar said, IIFCL is planning to set up a subsidiary for issuance of asset backed securities (ABS) or covered bonds, as it aims to securitize its assets and conserve capital for further growth in business.

The idea is to hive off part of our assets, he said, adding, "We will maintain a threshold, and we will focus on increasing the sanctions and disbursements more as compared to growing the asset size or loan book size".

Reliance's refining margins recover but retail remains uncertain

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

One of the two drivers of Reliance Industries Ltd's recent underperformance - weak refining margin - has reversed but the other, poor-retail top-line growth, is difficult to anticipate, brokerage JP Morgan said in a report.

Reliance stock is down 22 per cent from its peak on July 8 (NIFTY down 3.3 per cent), sharply reversing outperformance from earlier in the year.

In a market where most stocks are trading well above historical valuations, Reliance's fair relative valuations are an attraction.

The company helmed by billionaire Mukesh Ambani has three main business verticals - oil refining and petrochemical business housed in oil-to-chemical (O2C) unit, telecom arm Jio and retail. It also has a media unit and a new energy business.

Reliance Retail plus Telecom now account for about 50 per cent of total 2023-24 (FY24) consolidated EBITDA. These, JP Morgan estimates, will account for almost all of net EBITDA growth over the next three years. With an EBITDA run-rate of USD 20 billion a year, Reliance is expected to deliver positive free cash flow for the next three years (despite elevated capex plans at new energy complex and in the retail business, and towards petchem capacity expansions).

FPI selling spree continues at Rs 26,533 cr, intensity of outflow reduces

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Foreign investors have pulled out Rs 26,533 crore from the Indian equity market this month so far owing to increasing allocations to China, concerns over muted corporate earnings and elevated valuation of domestic stocks.

While the sell-off continues, the quantum of net outflows has significantly reduced compared to October, when Foreign Portfolio Investors (FPI) withdrew Rs 94,017 crore (USD 11.2 billion) on a net basis.

With the latest pull-out, FPI outflows on a net basis are Rs 19,940 crore in 2024 so far.

Going ahead, the flows from foreign investors into the Indian equity markets will depend on the policies implemented under Donald Trump's presidency, the prevailing inflation and interest rate dynamics, the trajectory of the geopolitical landscape, and the third-quarter earnings performance of Indian companies, Himanshu Srivastava, Associate Director - Manager Research, Morningstar Investment Research India, said.

According to the data, FPIs recorded a net outflow of Rs 26,533 crore so far this month (till November 22). This came following a net withdrawal of Rs 94,017 crore in October, which was the worst monthly outflow. However, in September, foreign investors made a nine-month high investment of Rs 57,724 crore.

Concerns over the elevated valuations of Indian equities persist, prompting FPIs to redirect their attention toward markets offering more attractive valuations, Srivastava said. Additionally, China continues to draw significant foreign inflows at India's expense, bolstered by its compelling valuation levels and the recent announcement of stimulus measures aimed at revitalizing its slowing economy, he said.

GLOBAL CUES, FIIS KEY FACTORS

Markets may react to assembly polls outcome: Analysts

PNS ■ MUMBAI

Global factors and FII activity will dictate trends in domestic equity markets this week while assembly poll results of Maharashtra and Jharkhand may impact stocks on Monday, say analysts.

Stock markets witnessed a spirited recovery on Friday with benchmark Sensex and Nifty notching the best single-day gains in more than five months and offering relief after weeks of correction.

On Friday, Sensex jumped 1,961.32 points or 2.54 per cent to settle at 79,117.11 while Nifty soared 557.35 points or 2.39 per cent to 23,907.25.

"On the domestic front, the outcomes of the Maharashtra and Jharkhand elections will be crucial triggers. Especially Maharashtra where NDA witnessed a one-sided victory which is likely to boost bullish sentiment further. However, global factors continue to pose significant risks. Escalating tensions between Russia and Ukraine, alongside rising crude oil prices, have added to inflationary concerns," Santosh Meena, Head of Research, Swastika Investmart Ltd, said.

A strengthening US dollar index and elevated US bond yields are weighing on the rupee, leading to record foreign institutional investor (FII) outflows.

"The direction of FII flows will remain a key determinant for the markets following the recent correction," Meena added.

The BJP on Saturday pulled off a stunning performance in Maharashtra winning a record number of seats to propel the party-led ruling Mahayuti alliance to a landslide victory while the INDIA bloc stormed back to power in Jharkhand on the back of a spectacular showing by the JMM.

Global oil benchmark Brent crude and the rupee-dollar trend would also influence trading in the stock market.

Global triggers, including US economic data such as GDP growth rate, and FOMC (Federal Open Market Committee) meeting minutes, will play critical roles in shaping investor sentiment, Meena added.

Mobile industry seeks enhanced air cargo handling capacity

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Mobile phone players want Indian airports to ramp up their existing cargo handling capacity to support a projected eight-fold increase in device exports to USD 180 billion by 2030, industry body ICEA said.

India Cellular and Electronics Association (ICEA) Chairman Pankaj Mohindroo told PTI that the turnaround time at customs is a major hurdle for the electronics industry which delays shipments' processing further.

"In China, while the factory to export take-off from the cargo terminal is achieved on Day 1, in India, the export take off happens only by Day 2. This is a glaring chasm especially when seen in the context of the volume of exports which in the case of China is more than 30 times electronics output (USD 959 billion) compared to India (USD 29 billion) in 2023," Mohindroo said.

Electronics is already India's largest export in air cargo while it's ranked third overall behind engineering and petrol.

"To keep pace with the expected growth in exports, concerted efforts are needed at the Central and State level. The infrastructure at current airports has already reached saturation levels as they are operating at 80-100 per cent of their capacity which calls for expansion of existing airports and developing new ones," Mohindroo said.

According to ICEA, total electronics exports stood at USD 29.1 billion for the period from financial year 2023-24, out of which mobiles stood at USD 15 billion.

"To achieve the USD 500 billion of electronics production by 2030 requires airport capacities to increase parallelly to handle USD 180 bn of exports, the vast majority on an annual basis which would be 6 times higher than the current exports. By 2030, electronics will not only be India's top 2 exports (at the rate of USD 180-200 billion per year), but also significantly larger in terms of air cargo as compared to any other export from India," Mohindroo said.

At present 55 per cent of total mobile phone exports from India are handled by Delhi, 30 per cent by Madras Airport and 10 per cent at Bangalore airport.

National Consumer Helpline to roll out AI-based features

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

National Consumer Helpline (NCH) is set to introduce artificial intelligence-based features including speech recognition and multilingual chatbots as part of a major upgrade to its consumer grievance system.

The helpline has also announced partnerships with over 1,000 companies to expedite complaint resolution.

The new AI capabilities, dubbed NCH 2.0, will allow consumers to file complaints through voice input in their local languages, marking a significant technological transformation of the consumer protection platform that currently operates in 17 languages.

The helpline has seen dramatic growth in usage, with monthly calls surging to 141,817 in January 2024 from 14,795 in January 2015. Monthly complaint registrations have tripled to 112,468 in 2024 from 37,062 in 2017.

"These technological upgrades are aimed at making the grievance filing process more seamless, efficient, and inclusive," the Department of Consumer Affairs said in a statement.

The partnership programme, known as the Convergence Programme, has expanded to include major companies across sectors such as e-commerce, travel, education, and banking. The number of participating companies has grown nearly fourfold from 263 in 2017 to 1,009 currently.

IPO PIPELINE TO REMAIN STRONG

10 companies aim to raise Rs 20,000 cr

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The primary market is expected to remain vibrant, with at least 10 companies, including supermart major Vishal Mega Mart and Blackstone-owned diamond grading firm International Gemmological Institute (India) Ltd expected to raise a combined Rs 20,000 crore in the next month, merchant bankers said.

Education-focused NBFC Avance Financial Services, TPG Capital-backed Sai Life Sciences, hospital chain operator Paras Healthcare, and investment bank DAM Capital Advisors are also among the companies planning to launch their IPOs in December, they added. The companies aim to raise a total of Rs 20,000 crore through their public offerings. These IPOs will span various sectors, and deal sizes, and include both fresh issues and offers for sale. Trivish D, COO of Tradejini, an online brokerage house, told PTI that the Maharashtra election verdict and the UP Lok Sabha by-election results have created a positive market sentiment that could boost IPO activity and fundraising efforts.

WITH RAMAYANA TRAIL PACKAGE

Lankan Airlines eyes more Indian tourists

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Sri Lankan Airlines aims to increase flights to the country and attract more tourists, including with the Ramayana Trail package, according to a top airline official. The company sees India as a place that offers "enormous growth" opportunities.

The Ramayana Trail will help people connect with 20 significant locations in Sri Lanka that are linked to the Ramayana story.

SriLankan Airlines CEO Richard Nuttall said growth in the number of tourists from India has been stellar this year but still below the pre-Covid numbers.

He was speaking at a function in the national capital for the launch of the Ramayana Trail package on Saturday evening. High Commissioner of Sri Lanka to India Kshenuka

Senewiratne was also present.

Till the end of October this year, around 20 per cent of the tourists who came to Sri Lanka were from India.

"We have been looking at how to lift and rejuvenate tourism from India to Sri Lanka to the next level," he said while mentioning the Ramayana Trail and added that it was time to do something different.

Currently, the airline operates 88 flights a week to nine destinations in India -- Delhi, Mumbai, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Kochi, Trivandrum, Chennai, Trichy and Madurai.

Emphasising that the airline sees India as a place of "enormous growth and possibilities", Nuttall said it wants to be part of that growth and is working with its Indian partners.

BREAKING STEREOTYPES IN LUXURY REAL ESTATE

aarti.sreenath9@gmail.com

Deepti Malik is making waves in an industry long dominated by men, proving to be a formidable force in luxury real estate. With resilience and determination, she is breaking stereotypes and carving a path for women in this competitive space. Her journey, filled with challenges, has made her a trailblazer in an arena where obstacles often arise not just from clients but from within the industry itself.

"The biggest hurdle isn't always with homebuyers," she shares. "It's often within the industry itself. In the past, men typically took charge of home searches, involving women only later in the process. But platforms like Instagram and shows like Million Dollar Listing have created a noticeable shift. Women are taking charge, driving the process, whether it's for investment purposes or finding the perfect home for themselves."

This shift has empowered women to step into decision-making roles, both as buyers and as professionals in the real estate sector. "It's empowering to see this transformation," she reflects. "Women are no longer sidelined. Instead, they're driving the process, from the initial screening to defining what their dream home should look like."

However, her path hasn't always been smooth. Misconceptions persist, especially among male counterparts and clients who are hesitant to trust women with multimillion-dollar investments. "There's still skepticism," she admits. "Some question a woman's ability to handle complex portfolios or manage large financial transactions. But through experience, successful closures and an unwavering belief in my abilities, I've built my confidence and established myself as a credible name in this field."

As the industry evolves, she credits social media and popular culture with changing perceptions and opening doors for women to see real estate as a viable career path. Her background, a fusion of hospitality and entrepreneurship honed in Switzerland and Dubai—global epicenters of luxury service—has given her the edge in real estate, particularly

As a trailblazing agent and star of Million Dollar Listing India, Deepti Malik is not only closing high-stakes deals but also empowering women to take charge in the boardroom and beyond. In an exclusive chat with The Pioneer, she opens up about her remarkable journey, her vision for a more inclusive and dynamic real estate industry and more in catering to high-net-worth clients on Million Dollar Listing India.

"Studying hospitality in Switzerland, the top destination for hospitality education, taught me the essence of impeccable service," she explains. "Later, working in Dubai, the gold standard for luxury services, refined my ability to cater to ultra-high-net-worth individuals (UHNWIs). These clients aren't just looking for a house—they seek a seamless, organized and professional experience. They want more than a broker; they need a consultant who understands their unique requirements and delivers personalised solutions."

This ethos of customisation has been key to her success. "I don't just facilitate transactions," she says. "I engage with clients from the beginning, helping them refine their vision and tailoring the process to suit their needs. It's about creating a stress-free, professional experience that respects their time and investments." Malik's hospitality background has equipped her with crucial skills like time management and patience—qualities she deems essential in luxury real estate. "Real estate at this level is a long-term process," she notes. "Deals require time to close. Patience is key—knowing when to step back and let the process unfold while ensuring everything runs smoothly."

Her entrepreneurial spirit complements her approach, allowing her to balance work with her personal passions. "Entrepreneurship enables me to design a dynamic life," she says. "I'm a fitness enthusiast, so I integrate workouts, dining out and spending time in inspiring environments into my daily routine. I don't believe in waiting for retirement to enjoy life—I want to work, play and live my passions now." Her journey into luxury real estate wasn't without challenges. While her father's experience with large-scale land deals provided some guidance, she admits the residential luxury market was daunting. "I learned the hard way," she recalls. "I made it a point to meet clients personally and immerse myself in the process. Over time, I realised that success lies in creating a systematic, client-driven approach."

This approach begins with a rigorous screening process. "The first step is to thoroughly understand the client's needs," she explains. "From gauging their seriousness as buyers to identifying their budget, preferred location and property type, the screening helps us focus on what truly matters. It's about narrowing down the search to focus on what's right."

For Malik, being a public figure on Million Dollar Listing India is about purpose, not pressure. With every deal and interaction under scrutiny, she takes it all in stride, seeing her visibility as an opportunity rather than a challenge. "I'm grateful and I love it," she says with characteristic positivity. "There's no pressure because I've always believed in the motto: don't chase, attract. Everything amazing that's happening in my life, I've attracted it. I wanted to be a known face—but for the right reasons. There are many ways to become famous, but I wanted to be recognised for my knowledge, expertise and the positive impact I bring to people's lives," she shares. "As a real estate consultant, you play a crucial role in someone's life. Whether it's helping them find a home or make a significant investment, the responsibility is immense, and I take that very seriously."

Rather than being daunted by the spotlight, she embraces it. "I enjoy sharing glimpses of my life beyond real estate," she says. "It's rewarding to set an example—whether for the industry or for people in general. And mistakes? They're part of the journey. You learn, you grow, and you move forward."

For her, visibility isn't a burden—it's a privilege. "The more you're seen, the more impact you can make. I don't see it as pressure. I see it as an opportunity to inspire, connect and contribute meaningfully to the industry I love."

For her, the thrill of being on Million Dollar Listing India goes beyond the glamour of the show. "The most rewarding moment? Closing a transaction that happens both on the show and in real life," she shares. "It's like hitting the bullseye—a bingo moment in this numbers game."

But the journey isn't just about deals. "Another highlight was meeting incredible people on the team," she says. "From on-screen to behind the scenes, the camaraderie we built was unforgettable. The crew, working tirelessly day and night, truly deserved a reality show of their own! The conversations, relationships and experiences became some of the most special parts of this journey."

For women seeking to enter the luxury real estate market, she offers clear advice: find a mentor. "A great mentor helps you avoid mistakes they've made, saving you time and effort," she advises. "Life is too short to make all the mistakes yourself—learn from others. With resources like social media and the internet at your fingertips, there's no excuse not to learn every single day."

Her aspirations remain high, inspiring others to find their own "bullseye" moments. When asked about the most memorable transaction from Million Dollar Listing India, she skillfully keeps the suspense alive. "I'd love to spill the beans," she teases. "But it would lose its charm! All I can say is it's a blockbuster—a deal worth waiting for. Stay tuned to Sony Liv every Friday at 8 p.m. to catch it!"

Kerala's son revolutionising cinematic genius

Christo Tomy has emerged as a trailblazing force in Malayalam cinema, pushing the boundaries of narrative and artistic expression. In an exclusive conversation with The Pioneer, he takes us into his creative world, sharing the passions, inspirations and experiences that have shaped his remarkable journey as a filmmaker.

In the lush, tropical landscapes of Kerala, India, a voice in cinema has emerged, weaving intricate tales that capture the complexities of human emotions. Christo Tomy, a talented filmmaker from this picturesque region, has been making waves in the Indian film industry with his thought-provoking stories. Now, with his selection for the prestigious BAFTA Breakthrough program, his unique voice is poised to resonate with audiences worldwide.

Being part of the breakthrough program is a dream come true for Tomy. "It means a lot to me. I've been following this program for quite a few years and it's finally this year that I was able to apply for it, with my project because my projects were recently released." Christo's journey to this milestone has not been easy. Despite passing out from film school in 2016, it took him eight years to make films and get them released. "So, it has been a long journey," he reflects. "And after all the hard work, the BAFTA Breakthrough program has happened at the right time."

He believes that this recognition will not only be a great emotional boost but also open doors to new opportunities. "I'm excited about all the opportunities that this will bring in," he says. As part of the program, he envisions himself taking his stories to a global audience. "I want my stories to be seen by people from around the world and the dream is for my films and stories to be celebrated all over the world," he expresses. The Kanyaka filmmaker hopes that the program will help him build relationships with industry experts, directors, producers and actors from across the world, leading to future collaborations on exciting international productions.

Christo's previous projects have already garnered national acclaim, including a National Award. When asked about how these experiences shaped his approach to directing a feature narrative, he recounts the moment he received the news of his National Award win. "I was editing my music video when I got a call from my mother, saying that I won the National Award," he reminisces. Initially, Tomy thought it was a mistake, confusing it with the National Student Film Award. However, upon verifying the news, he was overwhelmed with emotion. "It was a huge moment for me because I was very young and I was winning at that time for a project where it's normally you don't win national awards for a student short film project," he explains.

Receiving a national award is a milestone for any filmmaker and for the Kamuki fame, it has been a surreal experience twice over. He fondly recalls his first trip to Delhi to receive the national award, describing it as a "great experience" that he will always cherish.

His second national award win for Kamuki was a testament to his conviction in telling stories that resonate with him, even if they may seem common to others. Despite initial doubts from others, Christo felt a deep connection to the story and decided to pursue it. The national award win was a huge moral booster, especially during a challenging time in his personal life.

These award wins have had a profound impact on Christo's approach to storytelling. "What these awards did is that it cemented my trust in the stories that I was telling," he reflects. Despite his stories being rooted in non-commercial themes, they have managed to connect with a wide audience. His film Kamuki, for instance, has garnered over 2 million views on YouTube.

In his films, Christo often explores the themes of secrecy and revelation. His movie Ullozhukku, for instance, delves into the complexities of family relationships and the secrets that bind them. "Kerala society puts family at the center of it," Christo explains. "Family and relationships hold very important value in all our lives. At the same time, it is also a society that is conservative."

This conservatism, he notes, can lead to secrets within even the closest-knit families. "A guy going out to see his girlfriend might not be able to tell his parents that okay, I'm going to see my girlfriend because they won't approve of the idea," he illustrates. "More so for a girl, a girl going out won't be able to tell her parents that I am going to meet my boyfriend."

His film Ullozhukku features a powerful performance by Urvashi as Leelamma, a character whose resilience and despair are deeply intertwined. When Christo finished writing the script, he knew that he needed an extraordinary actor to bring Leelamma to life. "I was blessed to have Urushi play the character," he says.

Urvashi's rich personal experiences and emotional depth brought a level of authenticity to her performance. "That is why her performance is very true and very honest," Christo notes. As a director, he often found himself in awe of Urvashi's talent, saying, "Sometimes when she performs, I would just stand there, marvel at the magic that she creates on the screen."

Christo and Urvashi's working method was highly collaborative. Before each scene, Urvashi would read the script, call Christo and they would discuss the character's motivations and rework the lines to make them more convincing. Once Urvashi was inspired by the character's motivations, she would take over and Christo would simply observe the magic unfold. "My job as a director with Urvashi was to get her inspired, to do that scene, to get her inspired in the motivations of the character to do and say those things in the scene," Christo says. "Once she's inspired or seen that space, she just takes it from there and you can just sit and watch the magic happen before you."

Malayalam cinema is experiencing an international resurgence, with audiences keen on its unique storytelling. Christo is enthusiastic about the global appeal of Malayalam films, saying, "I'm excited about Malayalam cinema. I'm excited that the films have done extremely well in the theatres in Kerala. And not just in Kerala, outside Kerala as well." He notes that even unconventional narratives have been huge successes in Kerala, which is encouraging for filmmakers and storytellers.

His experience as a jury for the National Film Awards has given him a unique perspective on the importance of language and title in filmmaking. For Christo, the title of a film plays a crucial role in capturing the essence of the story. "I feel like the title plays an important role because for me, when the title doesn't land, it always feels that something is not right," he explains.

Christo's own experience with finding the right title for his film was a laborious one. He recalls having many options and changing the title over time. "I had a book where I've written options for the titles and the list would go on and on," he says. "And I would ask friends and family about which titles would which title is better." Finally, landed the title.

As the spotlight shines brighter on Christo Tomy, his dedication to his craft, his passion for storytelling and his willingness to take creative risks will undoubtedly inspire a new generation of filmmakers and audiences alike. With his cinematic journey gaining momentum, one thing is clear: Christo Tomy's voice will be heard, his stories will be told, and his vision will leave an indelible mark on the world of cinema.

GAME ON! EDUGAMES MAKING LEARNING FUN AND EFFECTIVE

Imagine a classroom where lessons feel like an adventure, quizzes turn into challenges and students are so engrossed in learning that they forget it is even "routine". That is the power of gaming in education: blending interactive elements of games with educational content can bring students deep engagement, greater retention and more enjoyment than ever before in learning. From problem-solving puzzles to deeply immersed virtual worlds, gaming takes traditional education and converts the dullness of school into a source of excitement, thus opening the doors of real access to learning for the modern generation. An effective learning game is knowledge-based and provides the pupil or learner with room for freedom while learning and discovering things and problems independently. Therefore, game-based learning further helps increase motivation among students more than traditional methods. Reports indicated that students who participated in the mathematics game were characterised by a better attitude toward mathematics compared to those in the control groups. Educational games have been linked to significant cognitive enhancement, especially problem-solving, critical thinking, as well as spatial awareness.

offering customised challenges that foster a deeper understanding of content. This adaptability is crucial, especially in diverse classrooms where students may have varying levels of ability and learning preferences.

DEVELOPMENT OF 21ST CENTURY SKILLS

Multplayer and cooperative games tend to foster social interaction among the students and thereby promote empathy and teamwork within them. The students learn to communicate effectively and solve conflicts building blocks to either academic or personal success. Apart from that, research has shown that children's games are also positive for children's social development and above all, for cooperative skills and empathy.

ASSESSMENT AND FEEDBACK

Educational Games provide instant feedback to learners, allowing them to understand their mistakes and learn from them in real time. This can lead to better attention and understanding of complex subjects. Research shows that students who engage with educational games tend to recall information more effectively, as they are learning through experiences.

SOCIAL INTERACTION AND EMOTIONAL LEARNING

Teamwork is one way through which students will attain better communication skills by solving conflicts that facilitate both academic success and life success. Apart from such purposes, studies conclude that games for the younger generation enhance aspects like cooperation and even empathy.

ENCOURAGING EXPLORATION AND CREATIVITY

Games foster an environment that encourages exploration and creativity. Many educational games are designed to be open-ended, allowing students to experiment and discover solutions independently.

Improvements in attentional skills among gamers were further found to be produced from experiments conducted by Dr. Dye, Dr. Green, and Dr. Bavelier of University of Rochester as essential for performing a given task if the process requires swift thinking as well as multitasking.

The benefits of gaming, among children which more conventional methods failed to achieve: PERSONALISED LEARNING EXPERIENCES

Gaming provides personalised learning opportunities tailored to individual student needs. According to a literature review by Pearson, digital games can adapt to the learner's pace and style,

TELUGU'S OWN MARVEL MUTANT SAGA!

aarti.sreenath9@gmail.com

Behind every iconic superhero on screen lies an unsung hero, one who lends a voice that brings the character to life in a completely new language. For Telugu audiences, Krishna Kaushik, an accomplished actor and dubbing artist, did just that by stepping into the shoes or rather, the voice of Gambit, the suave and enigmatic mutant in the Marvel universe.

In a candid conversation with The Pioneer, he shares his journey of preparing for the role, his creative twists and the challenges of breathing life into a global character for a regional audience.

"When I first got the call to audition for Gambit, I didn't even get to see what he looked like," he begins, his tone infused with excitement. "I had to visualise everything, how he moves, how he talks, his attitude. That was my starting point." A seasoned dubbing artist and actor, he relied on his experience and imagination to craft Gambit's Telugu avatar. "I approached it like I would any character I play on screen—by asking myself how this person would behave if they spoke Telugu. From his subtle humor to his confident charm, I wanted the audience to feel like Gambit belonged to them, even though he's from a different universe."

His creative process didn't stop at simply translating Gambit's lines. "The vocabulary and grammar of English and Telugu are so different that you have to improvise to make the emotions land," he explains. One of his most unique additions? A playful twist on pronunciation. "We decided to replace the 'Pa' sounds in Telugu with 'Fa'. So, 'Papa' became 'Fafa'. It gave the character a humorous edge that resonated with the audience."

This simple tweak not only made Gambit more relatable but also added a fresh layer of wit to the character. "It's these little things that make a difference. They bring the character closer to the audience's hearts," he adds with a smile.

Gambit, known for his quiet confidence and magnetic charm, posed a unique challenge for him. "He's not loud or overly expressive. His power lies in his subtlety—his sharp wit, his mysterious aura. It reminded me of Shah Rukh Khan's style of emoting with his eyes and minimal expressions," he shares.

Since Marvel's dubbing process only allowed him to see limited visuals—mostly just lip movements, he had to imagine Gambit's body language and emotional depth. "It's tough when you don't see the full picture, but as an actor, I've learned to adapt. I visualised Gambit's every move, his cards, his smirks and tried to reflect that in my tone."

In the Deadpool universe, humor and intensity often coexist and he found himself navigating this fine line while dubbing Gambit's dialogues. "I had to adjust my pitch and tone to match the other characters like Deadpool and Wolverine. While Deadpool is loud and irreverent, Gambit is more composed and calculated," he notes. One of his favorite scenes? The introduction. "When Gambit says his real name, it's a tongue-twister. Deadpool reacts with his classic sarcasm, asking him to repeat it. Translating that moment into Telugu was a riot because we added layers of humor that clicked with our audience." Another memorable moment involved a punchline about Gambit's parents. "In English, it's bold and edgy, but in Telugu, we made it funny and colloquial. It's these moments that connect with the audience."

When asked if being a Marvel fan influenced his performance, he beams. "Of course, I'm a Marvel fan! But I made sure my admiration for the universe didn't overshadow the task at hand. I approached Gambit as a character, not just a superhero." And if given the chance to voice another Marvel hero? "Wolverine," he says without hesitation. "I love his raw intensity and Hugh Jackman's iconic portrayal."

For him, dubbing Gambit was more than just a professional milestone—it was a testament to how cinema is evolving. "Post-COVID, there's no North or South in Indian cinema. It's all Indian cinema. With OTT platforms, Telugu audiences are watching Malayalam, Bengali and Tamil films, just as others are discovering Telugu content. Bringing Marvel movies into regional languages is part of that larger movement," he says proudly.

His advice for aspiring voice artists? "Stick to the character. Let the brief guide you and don't let other voices or performances overshadow yours. Even if your character is quiet, like Gambit, find ways to make them memorable. Sometimes, the pauses and subtle nuances speak louder than words."

His work as Gambit hasn't gone unnoticed. Fans have flooded him with messages, praising how he made the character uniquely Telugu while staying true to Gambit's essence. "Some even joked that they saw him in Gambit, not the original actor," he laughs.

As for the future? He hopes to continue exploring uncharted territories in voice acting, perhaps even making his way to Hollywood one day. "For now, I'm just grateful to be part of something as iconic as Marvel. It's a dream come true."

Sunny Leone packs her punch in Shero

Bollywood star Sunny Leone steps into a new realm with Shero, her first multilingual psychological thriller, directed by Sreejith Vijayan and shot in the picturesque locale of Munnar, Kerala. Speaking about the intense preparation for her role, Sunny revealed,

"Learning the dialogues was a significant task. I worked hard to memorise them on my own, and with the help of a dialogue coach, I mastered both the pronunciation and delivery."

When it came to action sequences, Sunny embraced the challenge wholeheartedly, performing all the stunts herself. She recalled, "One particular scene involving a heavy, solid chair was especially demanding and I even experienced a mishap with a harness. But such moments are part of the process and you move on." She added,

Adapting to a South Indian film was a new experience for the actress, but with dedicated language coaches and supportive collaborators, she confidently navigated her role. "Having good guidance makes all the difference," she noted.

Sunny also emphasised her focus on authenticity in portraying her character, avoiding mimicry of existing performances. "I aimed to bring realism to my character, concentrating on her story and emotions, rather than drawing directly from other works," she shared.

Shero promises to be an intriguing addition to Sunny Leone's repertoire, with fans eagerly awaiting this unique cinematic endeavor.

Allu Arjun determined to outshine Prabhas?

Allu Arjun's highly anticipated film Pushpa 2, directed by Sukumar, is slated to release on December 5. While the filmmakers are confident about meeting this date, reports suggest some hurdles remain. A song is yet to be shot and the dubbing work is incomplete, fueling rumors of a possible delay. However, insiders claim the makers are determined to release the film on the announced date, even if it means rushing the post-production process. Amid the final touches, Allu Arjun is reportedly focused on the film's box-office performance. According to sources, the actor has urged the producers to push for a significant hike in ticket prices, up to Rs 600, across the Telugu states. However, such hikes require government approval, and the decision is yet to be finalized.

Meanwhile, whispers from Allu Arjun's PR team suggest the actor has taken a staggering Rs 300 crore remuneration for Pushpa 2. Industry insiders are skeptical, given that the film's production budget is estimated to be between Rs 600 and Rs 700 crore.

The first installment, Pushpa: The Rise, didn't perform exceptionally well in the Telugu states but gained massive traction in the Hindi belt. This time, the actor has strategically focused promotions on the Hindi, Bengali, and Tamil markets, with the Hyderabad pre-release event planned closer to the release date.

Allu Arjun's dedication to the Pushpa franchise is undeniable, having earned him a National Award for Best Actor for the first film. "He worked equally hard on this sequel but is also keen to achieve record-breaking figures at the box office, proving his dominance over Prabhas in the market," said a source. Allu Arjun seems to have set his sights on elevating his box-office stature and proving he's bigger than Prabhas.

Rishabh Pant becomes most expensive IPL buy at ₹27 crore

PTI ■ JEDDAH (SAUDI ARABIA)

Rishabh Pant became the most expensive player in the history of IPL as Lucknow Super Giants splurged a humongous Rs 27 crore to buy the flamboyant India keeper-batter in the tournament's mega auction here on Sunday. The amount LSG spent for Pant ensured Shreyas Iyer's record of being the tournament's costliest player lasted barely a few minutes after Punjab Kings broke the bank to buy the India batter for Rs 26.75 crore. Moments before Pant emerged as the most expensive player, Iyer surpassed the record held by Australian pacer Mitchell Starc, who was bought by Kolkata Knight Riders for Rs 24.75 crore in the last auction. Pant went to LSG after his former franchise Delhi Capitals did not use the Right to Match card to buy him back. Starc got a much lower price this time and was sold to Delhi Capitals for Rs 11.75 crore, while England's Jos Buttler went to Gujarat Titans for Rs 15.75 crore. Among others, left-arm seamer Arshdeep Singh's consistency earned him a massive bid of Rs 18 crore, also from Punjab Kings via the Right to Match card, while South African speedster Kagiso Rabada was bought for Rs 10.75 crore by Gujarat Titans. Iyer, the former Kolkata Knight Riders captain, started with a base price of Rs two crore. Delhi Capitals had the bid at Rs 26 crore for him but PBKS raised the amount to get the player. Chennai Super Kings started with the first bid for Arshdeep, whose base price was also Rs two crore. Eventually, after an intense bidding war, the seamer was bought back by Punjab, who exercised the right to match option to complete the deal, having released him earlier. This is the second time an IPL auction is being held outside the country after last year's event in Dubai.

I played with fearless mindset, took brave decisions: Yashasvi

PTI ■ PERTH

Yashasvi Jaiswal termed his "fearless mindset" and ability to take "brave decisions" as the catalysts behind his exceptional hundred against Australia in the ongoing first Test, here on Sunday. Jaiswal made a 161 in only his second innings on Australian soil and added 201 runs for the opening wicket with KL Rahul (77) to lay the foundation of India's imposing 533-run target. "It was a very special moment for me. I always wanted to tour Australia and do well and this knock is very important for me," Jaiswal said in the post-day press meet. "I always wanted to play with a fearless mindset. I always believe in myself and take brave decisions. So, it was an amazing experience to play against such quality bowlers in their country, and it's special to score a hundred against the world's best," he added. Jaiswal, who was dismissed for an eight-ball duck in the first innings, said the focus was on negating the new ball spell by Australian quicks. "The wicket was seaming a bit more in the first innings. In the second innings we were discussing how to play the new ball better — which balls to leave and which to play. So, it was important for the team that I play the new ball better," Jaiswal said he had set small targets for himself in the second essay. "I never thought I would get this big a hundred, as my goals were small, taking it session by session. Then I had a good partnership with (KL) Rahul bhai. He was guiding me during the partnership, so that was helpful." So, what was the conversation between him and Rahul during the alliance?

"We have been playing together for a while, we all know each other well and talk between ourselves in the dressing room. "Whenever I felt nervous in the middle, Rahul bhai was telling me to remain focused and calm. It was helpful because you are going to get some good balls in these kinds of pitches," he said. The left-hander said the team was prepared to tackle the bounce at Perth. "We knew that the ball would bounce here. We were prepared for the bounce. We had a nice camp here ahead of this Test. We were practicing in similar conditions with the same kind of mindset as how we can score runs in these conditions. It's all about practicing hard and learning what shots to play here," he explained. Jaiswal brought up his fourth Test hundred with a remarkable ramped six off pacer Josh Hazlewood. The 22-year-old said he was mentally prepared for it. "To be honest, I knew he was going to bowl a bouncer because the field was set like that and I was ready for the bounce, and I was ready to play that shot. Happy that I pulled it off and carried on for some more time," he said. "Virat paaji is incredible" Virat Kohli brought up his 30th Test hundred a while after Jaiswal reached the landmark, and the youngster said it was a privilege to watch and play alongside the star batter. "I have seen Virat paaji making runs at Perth (in 2018) on TV. Now, I have seen it live too. He has been doing it for a long, long time. So, he is just incredible. "We were so happy for him that he could finish it. We were all waiting for his 100. He played amazingly," he said.

Justin Greaves scores first century as West Indies lead Bangladesh by 410 runs

AP ■ NORTH SOUND

Justin Greaves scored a patient maiden century in only his third test before West Indies declared at 450-9 on the second day of the first test against Bangladesh. Greaves, who finished 115 not out, had a previous highest score in tests of 33 and only one century in 43 first-class matches before compiling a composed hundred from 181 balls, batting at No. 6. He completed the first century of West Indies' innings after Mikyle Louis was out for 97 and Alick Athanaze for 90 on the first day. Bangladesh was 40-2 at stumps, trailing by 410 runs when bad light stopped play with seven overs left in the day. Shahadat Hossain was 10 not out and Mominul Haque on 7. The tourists lost Mahmudul Hasan Joy (5) and Zakir Hasan (15) in 20 overs before the close.

West Indies resumed Saturday at 250-5 after being sent in when Bangladesh won the toss. They were 261-7, the match closely balanced, when Greaves was joined by Kemar Roach, batting at nine. The pair put on 140 for the eighth wicket to fully turn the match in West Indies' favor. Roach made a painstaking 47 from 144 balls, following the example of Greaves whose innings of 206 deliveries included 128 dot balls. "Me and Justin are from the same country and he understands my batting ability so he just backed me in the situation and obviously it paid off," Roach said. "We're good mates, we have very good conversations at the cricket and outside cricket so that's what helped us in the middle." The 30-year-old Greaves, playing his first test for 10 months, hit only four fours, including the boundary that brought up his century. Otherwise, he took 52 runs from singles, 38 from twos and nine from threes in an excellent example of running between wickets. His batting form had been hinted at by the fact he scored four centuries in domestic one-day matches in West Indies. "It was a fantastic effort," Roach said. "He's one who wants to learn ... I've had big hopes for him from the time he started." Roach also restrained his attacking instinct, hitting two boundaries and scoring at a strike rate of 32.6 as he played a vital support role to Greaves. When Roach came to the crease, Greaves was only 18 after resuming Saturday at 11 not out. The pair came together in the 87th over after Alzarri Joseph (4) was brilliantly caught in the gully by Zakir Hasan from the bowling of Hasan Mahmud. They built their partnership diligently, ticking off milestones. Greaves reached his half century from 88 balls and by lunch the West Indies had recovered to 336-7, scoring at a steady three runs per over. Brief rain breaks failed to disturb the batters' concentration. Roach finally was out in the 134th over when the total was 401-8. Mahmud delivered a ball outside off stump which beat Roach's shot as it curled back to hit middle. Greaves was 98 when Roach was out but kept his concentration and avoided the fate of Louis and Athanaze who both fell just short of maiden centuries. He reached his personal milestone four balls later, raising his bat to acknowledge the applause of the crowd.

Hyderabad FC host Odisha FC

PTI ■ HYDERABAD

Hyderabad FC will play hosts to Odisha FC in the Indian Super League here on Monday as both sides seek to climb up the ladder to strengthen their positions in their respective first matches after the international break. After a tough campaign last year, Hyderabad FC have shown increasingly encouraging signs by securing two victories and a draw in their seven matches thus far. Their seven points place them at the 11th spot and with the sixth-placed Punjab FC merely five points ahead (12), the home team can begin thinking towards bridging the gap with the higher-ranked opponents. Odisha FC, positioned ninth in the table, have nine points from eight games. Head coach Sergio Lobera has been amongst the most competitive tacticians in the competition regardless of the team that he has been at the helm of, and the Spaniard would hence want better results with consistent performances from the juggernauts. This away fixture gives them the opportunity to begin maximising points in the matches coming their way. Hyderabad FC believe in making early inroads into the opposition's defence, ensuring that they set the tone for the flow of the proceedings. This has resulted in them netting 43 per cent of their goals in the opening 15 minutes of the matches in ISL 2024-25, with three out of their seven strikes so far coming in this phase of the game.

Will they push Odisha FC back with an early breakthrough here too? Interestingly though, Hyderabad FC play their best away from home. That explains their concerning home form, since they have not registered a victory in the previous 15 matches in their backyard. In fact, their last win at the stadium came back in February 2023 against Mohun Bagan Super Giant by a 1-0 margin. Having worked on their impediments this year, can they brush aside this concern to go on an upward surge? Odisha FC have recorded eight sequences of 10+ open play passes per game in ISL 2024-25. This is the highest such average by any team and it clearly suggests that Hyderabad will have to strategise through which they can secure points despite not having possession for a large chunk of the game, since Odisha FC prefer keeping the ball.

Verstappen captures 4th F1 championship

AP ■ LAS VEGAS

Max Verstappen cruised to a fourth consecutive Formula 1 championship by finishing fifth in the Las Vegas Grand Prix. Verstappen needed only to finish ahead of Lando Norris of McLaren to give Red Bull a fourth straight driver championship. The Dutchman started fifth but was already up to second by the 10th lap around the street circuit that includes the famed Las Vegas Strip on Saturday night. Norris, who had to score at least three points more than Verstappen to extend the championship fight, finished sixth. Verstappen needed only to finish higher than Norris to win the title, which he did with two races remaining on the season.

"Max Verstappen you are a four-time world champion," team principal Christian Horner said on the radio. "That is a phenomenal, phenomenal achievement. You can be incredibly proud of yourself as we are." Verstappen, only the sixth driver in F1 history to win at least four titles, sounded unusually emotional on the radio. "Oh My God, what a season. Four times. Thank you, thank you guys," he said. "We gave it all." The race was won, meanwhile, by George Russell who was followed by Lewis Hamilton in the first 1-2 sweep for the Mercedes drivers since 2022. Hamilton came from 10th on the grid — two weeks after a demoralizing race in Brazil — to capture his podium finish.

The duo crossed the finish line under a checkered flag waved by actor Sylvester Stallone. Carlos Sainz Jr. Finished third for Ferrari as the constructor championship remains a tight battle between leader McLaren and Ferrari. Charles Leclerc, his teammate, was fourth. Red Bull had won the title that pays roughly $150 million in prize money the last two seasons but has slipped to third in the standings. But that championship battle appears headed to next month's season finale in Abu Dhabi. Verstappen, meanwhile, made easy work of Norris after a season where the McLaren driver pushed him harder than he'd been challenged since Verstappen's 2021 first title. He was cruising in third with about 20 laps remaining and not overly pushing when Red Bull urged Verstappen to be patient over the team radio. "Max, just don't lose sight of our aim today, yeah?" he was told. Verstappen wasn't interested in receiving any instructions.

Virat Kohli doesn't have anything to prove, his contribution is unparalleled: Kapil Dev

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Legendary Kapil Dev said Virat Kohli doesn't have anything to prove and his contribution is "unparalleled" after the Indian batting star made his 30th Test hundred against Australia in the ongoing first Test at Perth on Sunday. Kohli (100 not out) joined young gun Yashasvi Jaiswal (161) in rewriting record books as they put Australia to swords on the third day of the Test with their respective tons powering India to a huge 533-run lead. Kohli also surpassed batting legend Sachin Tendulkar (6) for hitting most centuries by an Indian batter with his seventh ton Down Under. "People who have to criticise will criticise. If a big player takes a lot of time to bounce back, (the) media's job is (to do) that," Kapil told PTI at the Vishwa Samudra Golden Eagle Golf Championship. "One has to see his ability and talent. He's a big, big player. He doesn't have to prove anybody, prove me or prove (it to the) media." "What he's done for cricket is amazing. We should all say, well done (to him). (Even) if he doesn't get too many runs, it's (also) okay. But what he's given to cricket is unparalleled," Kapil added. Kapil said he was happy to see the mix of young and senior Indian batters making their mark. "I don't like to compare. I just want to see our youngsters coming out and playing well. The new records are (always) going to be made. (But) it's important (for) the youngsters to come out and take the responsibility, represent the country and perform better," he said. "Don't compare any player with anybody. It's unfair, (they play in) different conditions, different eras. Today's youth are far more intelligent. They are much more ruthless and they have much more confidence," he said, referring to Jaiswal. The 1983 World Cup-winning captain said Indian cricket "is in the right place" as new players like Harshit Rana and Nitish Reddy have also made a good beginning. "I just want to say it's great to see the youngsters coming out and expressing themselves. It's good, Indian cricket is (in) the right place," he said. Kapil also praised Jasprit Bumrah for leading India's fight from the front in the Perth Test and said the visitors have so far performed beyond expectations. Bumrah, the stand-in captain for the Perth Test, led the team's charge towards a vital 46-run lead in the first innings returning 5 for 30, as Australia were bowled out for a mere 104. Bumrah's 11th five-for in Test cricket was also his seventh in SENA (South Africa, England, New Zealand and Australia), which put him at par with Kapil for most five-wicket hauls in these nations. "Special congratulations must be given to Bumrah because it is very rare that bowlers are chosen as captains and it feels very good to see him lead the way he has done," Kapil told the media.

Kapil lauded Bumrah for bringing fast bowling back into the discussions in the country. "I need not say anything — his records show (how good he is). He is the top bowler in the world, what else do we need?" he said. "I hadn't thought before that a fast bowler would be discussed so much in India but that is happening today and I feel happy and proud about that," he added. Kapil said India's performance was contrary to the expectations given the team was recently trounced 0-3 by New Zealand at home. "The team is playing really well. They should win the first Test, positive thinking should always be there," he said. "It wasn't expected that the team would play so well after the New Zealand series. You feel angry when they play badly but also (rediscover the) love when they do well," he said. "It (the praise) is for all, it is a team game. One player has done the job today for the team and tomorrow there would be someone else."
