Population Census takes off in 2025

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

The Narendra Modi-led government is set to begin the long-delayed Population Census in 2025, with a target for completion by 2026. This will be followed by a nationwide delimitation process for Lok Sabha constituencies, expected to be finished by 2028. However, no decision has been taken yet on whether Caste Census will also be carried out along with the general Census.

This development comes amid demands from several Opposition parties for a Caste Census. However, the government has not yet made a decision, and the details of the Census process are yet to be made public. The upcoming Census round is expected to include the usual surveys on religion and social class, along with counts of General, Scheduled Castes, and Scheduled Tribes.

According to sources aware of the details, the Government has not yet taken any decision on the Caste Census. The process of tabulating the country's population will begin in 2025 and is expected to conclude by 2026, following which the process of carving out constituencies for the Lok Sabha through delimitation will begin.

The last Census was conducted in 2011, and the following round was initially planned for 2021 but was postponed due to the second wave of COVID-19. The Census cycle is now set to follow a 10-year pattern, running from 2025 to 2035 and later from 2035 to 2045.

The Office of the Registrar General and Census Commissioner had prepared 31 questions to be asked to the citizens during the Census exercise. These questions include whether the head of the household belongs to Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe and other family members as asked in the previous Census.

"In all probability, the work for the Census and the NPR will begin early next year and the population data will be announced by 2026. With this, the Census cycle is likely to be changed. So, it will be 2025-2035 and then 2035-2045 and so on in future," said sources adding all these factors will have to be looked into before any decision is taken on delimitation.

The 31 questions to be asked to each family under the Census exercise include the total number of persons normally residing in the household, whether the head of the household is a woman, the number of dwelling rooms exclusively in possession of the household, the number of married couple(s) living in the household among others. The questions also include whether a family has a telephone, internet connection, mobile or smartphone, bicycle, scooter or motorcycle or moped, and whether they own a car, jeep or a van.

The citizens will also be asked what is the cereal they consume in the household, the main source of drinking water, main source of lighting, access to latrine, type of latrine, waste water outlet, availability of bathing facility, availability of kitchen and LPG/PNG connection, main fuel used for cooking, availability of radio, transistor, television etc.

The Congress, Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD) and several other parties have been demanding that a Caste Census be undertaken. Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP)'s alliance partners such as Janata Dal United (JDU) in Bihar have also spoken about the same, but have not put any pressure on the Centre. At the central level, the final decision has been left to Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his cabinet.

The BJP's other ally, Telugu Desam Party (TDP), too is of the opinion that the Census must happen, with Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu actively advocating for 'Skill Census' for the benefit of the masses, especially the young population.

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ VADODARA

India on Monday set in motion the manufacture of C295- , an ultra modern tactical transport aircraft- which can carry troops and logistical supplies from main airfields to forward operating airfields of the country. The aircraft will be made in partnership with Spain, and can also operate on short unprepared airstrips as it is capable of Short Take-off and Landing (STOL). The aircraft can additionally be used for casualty or medical evacuation, performing special missions, disaster response and maritime patrol duties while it can operate from short airstrips just 2,200 feet long and can fly low-level operations for tactical missions flying at a low speed of 110 knots according to parent manufacturer Airbus.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his Spanish counterpart Pedro Sanchez inaugurated the Tata Aircraft Complex in Vadodara, India's first private facility to build these military planes, where C295 aircraft will be produced. PM Modi and Spanish PM Pedro Sanchez on Monday inaugurated the Tata Aircraft Complex for manufacturing C295 aircraft in Vadodara. Noting that the partnership between India and Spain is finding a new direction, Modi said the project would not only strengthen the relations between the two nations but also give momentum to the mission of 'Make in India, Make for the World'.

PM Modi conveyed his best wishes to the team of Airbus and Tata, and also paid tributes to the late Ratan Tata. The Airbus C295 is a medium tactical transport aircraft that

The C295 aircraft factory is a reflection of the new work culture of New India, the PM said, adding India's speed from idea to the execution of any project can be witnessed at the factory, whose foundation stone was laid in October 2022. Emphasising the focus on eliminating unaccounted delays in the planning and execution of projects, PM Modi recalled the setting up of Bombardier train coach manufacturing facility in Vadodara as the Chief Minister of Gujarat. Metro coaches made in that factory are being exported, the

PM said, and expressed confidence that the aircraft made in the facility inaugurated on Monday would also be exported. Quoting the famous Spanish poet, Antonio Machado, PM Modi said, "As we start treading towards the goal, the path towards the goal is created automatically."

A decade ago, the priority and identity of defence manufacturing was about import and none could imagine that defence manufacturing could take place on such a large scale in India, the PM said. "Our government decided to walk on a new path and set new goals for India, whose results are evident today," he said. The transformation of India's defence sector exemplifies how a right plan and partnership can turn possibilities into prosperity, PM Modi said.

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

As the number of hoax bomb threat messages to domestic and international flights crossed over 400, leading to financial loss up to Rs 1200 to 1400 crore to Indian carriers so far. As many as 410 domestic and international flights operated by the Indian carriers have received hoax bomb threats in the last 15 days. More than 60 flights of Indian carriers received bomb threats on Monday.

Once a flight is canceled or delayed due to a bomb hoax, a ripple effect of delays and cancellations of other flights occurs adding to financial losses for not the airline but the flying public. The event is not just a safety concern but also means a costly affair for an airline. "The overall financial damage of the hoax, including costs for unscheduled landing, passenger accommodations, aircraft grounding, and crew replacements, is projected from Rs 25 lakh to Rs 4 crore per incident," said an airline executive, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The overall costs escalate when additional expenses such as unexpected landing charges, hotel accommodations for over 200 passengers and crew, compensation for missed connections, grounding the aircraft for thorough checks, and arranging a fresh crew are factored in. Meanwhile, the airline also faced financial losses from the disruption of its return flight schedule.

Almost November, but no winter vibes?

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

With clear skies, no rain, and absence of snowfall in Himalayas and easterly winds, north and central India including Delhi has been warmer than usual so far in the month of October. The pleasant 'wintery' nip in the air is missing. The National Capital Region has been recording above-normal temperatures consistently in the second half of October 2024.

According to meteorologists and scientists, Octobers in north and central India are getting warmer and are expected to get worse in the coming years with fewer Western disturbances, unpredictable rains during the monsoon season, and the larger impacts of climate change and changing weather patterns are to blame.

Earlier, the India Meteorological Department (IMD) had hinted at the possibility of a severe winter in North India, especially in the northwest and central regions, including Delhi-NCR. This forecast was linked to the potential development of La Nina conditions during October and November.

BY SAUMYA SHUKLA

A day before Dhanteras, the rush at local markets across the National Capital is at its peak, and commuters are finding it hard to get through the narrow lanes. The jams on the roads leading to the markets such as the popular Kamla Nagar, situated near Delhi University, are a horror story for those thronging here to buy utensils, jewellery, silver coins, clothes, decorative items, flowers, diyas and accessories for Diwali. Hawkers and vendors with their shops on either side of the road for long stretches and people creating chaos while being on a shopping spree makes it extremely difficult for vehicles to wade through. This market is also situated near residential colonies, where the haphazard parking is also a problem for the local residents.

A shopper said, "Authorities need to resolve parking issues in residential colonies, encroachment and consequent traffic congestion in markets like Kamla Nagar." Another such market is also in the Govindpuri area where the weekly market, where day to day items are sold at affordable prices, on Wednesday creates a complete breakdown of traffic, making it extremely hard for not just vehicles but pedestrians to move.

Further exacerbating the issue, are the encroachments by vendors who set up their shops on the roadsides, and the consumers who lead to limited space on the road for free flow of traffic on a street which is situated close to Govindpuri metro station and residential apartments.

"I live in Govindpuri extension and every Wednesday, the roads that are already narrow due to encroachments and parking on the roadside become even worse. There are vendors with their shops and the customers are standing on the roads making it very hard to move," an office goer said. Another commuter added that the increased presence of e-rickshaws also adds to the misery. "There are so many in such a small stretch that they jam the entire road on a day when there is barely any space for even a pedestrian to move around," he added, stating that when he comes back from office around 9 pm, it becomes a nightmare to pass through the area.

As per the Delhi Traffic police, 11 such points have been identified in the city where these markets create a chaos with vehicles getting stranded or moving at a snail pace. In the Eastern range, they said in the areas of Mother Dairy, Road No. 57, Pusta Road, and GTB Hospital Red Light these issues are prominent.

"There is a weekly market in Mother Dairy while due to heavy vehicular movement of Jagatpuri stone market on Road No. 57 in Shahdara, the traffic problem arises," a traffic cop said, adding that traffic congestion is also present due to Gandhi Nagar Cloth market in Pusta road and markets are on that route of GTB hospital red light point.

In the Southern range, on BP Marg (Kotla red light to Andrewj Gunj signal) commercial shops (timber and hardware shops) which are located on both sides of the carriageway. "People come to purchase the items and park their vehicles on the roadside as there is no other option of parking," he added. Presence of local markets in Aurobindo Marg (Adhchini Village) and IGNOU Road (IGNOU cut to Z-more) also created traffic jams in the southern range of the city.

In the Western range of the city, heavy footfall in local markets in areas of Uttam Nagar Terminal to Old Palam Road on Najafgarh Road, Road No.201 in Madhu Vihar to Rajapuri on Sector 3/13 Crossing and Phirni Road Najafgarh.

Viral media list creates furore in press fraternity in Madhya Pradesh

GIRISH SHARMA ■ BHOPAL

Political circles in Madhya Pradesh are agog since a list of media persons—targeted with allegations—started doing the rounds on social media a couple of days ago. Both the ruling party and the main opposition Congress are now blaming each other for attempting to tarnish the image of the press. The development has led veterans, in both media and politics, to raise questions about the functioning of the state transport department, which has repeatedly faced allegations of impropriety since the 1990s era of Digvijaya Singh. They say that allegations of corruption in the transport department reportedly have larger contours and involve far bigger names in both the bureaucracy and politics than members of the press in the state. The list of media persons, ostensibly a leak from the state transport department, includes prominent names from national to local outlets, covering both news channels and print media organizations. The four-page list has created a flutter in the media fraternity, with most expressing belief that the list is baseless and aimed at tarnishing reputations. Reacting to the surfacing of the list, Congress leader Vivek Tankha, on Monday morning, posted on his X account, "MP is an amazing state. A list of journalists is out. It is said that this is the list of the transport department for monthly payments. Like the 'Hawala' case of 1996, it has names of all big and small journalists. I don't believe in the truthfulness of the list. It is said that this is the outcome of in-fighting within the BJP. This is the work of those opposing Chief Minister Mohan Yadav. This is a dangerous and direct attack on the dignity of journalists. I request the DGP of MP and the state police to look into the matter and expose those behind this act." Later in the day, State BJP media in-charge Ashish Agrawal said that the list is fake and misleading. Taking to his account on X, Agrawal wrote, "This is an attempt to malign the image of all renowned senior journalists. This seems like the handiwork of Congress' dirty trick department." The comments of Congress leaders on the list are an insult to the media fraternity. Congress should stop muddling on the fourth pillar of democracy." Meanwhile, senior journalist Ravindra Jain has written a letter to Chief Minister Yadav and sought a thorough investigation into the matter to unravel those behind the mischief. Later, in the evening, the Crime branch of Bhopal police registered a case against unidentified persons for defamatory list of journalists on social media. The FIR was registered on a complaint by Rizwan Ahmed Siddiqui, Mrigendra Singh, Dhananjay Pratap Singh and Jitendra Chaurasiya.

CM campaigns for BJP nominees at Mahagama and Poreyahat

Addressing election campaign rallies at Mahagama and Poreyahat constituencies in poll-bound Jharkhand, Chief Minister Mohan Yadav said that the epic battle of Mahabharata was fought between those who agreed with Lord Krishna and those who opposed him.

Yadav said that the emergence of Lord Krishna as charioteer for the Pandavas drew a clear line between those on his side and those who insisted on opposing him ly against the British, and his valour continues to echo in the words of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Yadav remarked that those who do not evolve with changing times will fade away. The struggle for Jharkhand began in 1937, but many stood in the way of its development; their focus was merely on exploitation.

Jharkhand would become number one based on its resources, he said. Launching a tirade, Yadav said that ministers in the state have been found with huge stashes of cash. The Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister reminded people that this election is about confronting all corrupt individuals.

Many schemes like the Kisan Samman Nidhi and Ujjwala Yojana have benefited the underprivileged. India's identity is because of Lord Ram and Lord Krishna. Our ancestors struggled for 500 years to establish Lord Ram in Ayodhya.

Congress blames BJP on shifting projects from Maharashtra to Gujarat

T N RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Accusing Narendra Modi of taking away Tata-Airbus C-295 aircraft and several other important projects and government offices out of Maharashtra, the Opposition Congress said on Monday that the people of the state would give a befitting reply to the "non-biological Prime Minister" and his colleagues in the Assembly polls "for betraying the state".

The Congress' attack against the Prime Minister came on a day when Modi, accompanied by Spanish Prime Minister Pedro Sanchez, inaugurated the Tata-Airbus C-295 aircraft manufacturing facility in Vadodra.

"It (Tata-Airbus C-2950 was the same project that was supposed to be set up in Nagpur, but it was shifted to Gujarat on the eve of Gujarat assembly elections in 2022. Due to which Maharashtra was deprived of this important investment. One can certainly imagine the politics behind the scenes for that," AICC General Secretary in-charge Communications Jairam Ramesh said.

In the first combative state that came from the Congress a day ahead of the close of nominations for the State Assembly polls, Jairam Ramesh charged that under the direction of the "non-biological Prime Minister" the Centre and the BJP-led MahaYuti government had completed surrendered Maharashtra's interests in getting new projects or getting support from the Centre in that regard.

Citing other instances of how Modi "betrayed" Maharashtra, Jairam Ramesh took to micro-blogging site "X" to recall how then Prime Minister Dr Manmohan Singh of the Congress in 2006 tried to set up the International Financial Services Center (IFSC) in Mumbai, but the current Prime Minister moved the project to his home state of Gujarat.

"The IFSC has now been set up only in GIFT City, Gujarat. In 2006 Dr. Manmohan Singh had tried to set it up in Mumbai and reserved space for the IFSC in the Bandra Kurla Complex. But those efforts were thwarted and a potential 2 lakh jobs in Mumbai were lost," Congress' Rajya Sabha member said.

"Mumbai and Surat have worked together to develop India's diamond industry for decades, with Surat handling cutting and polishing, and Mumbai handling trading and export. However, a new Bharat Diamond Bourse was built in Surat. It is another matter that this move has failed entirely, with many diamond merchants moving their operations back to Mumbai," Jairam Ramesh said.

"Apart from the Tata-Airbus manufacturing project, the (now failed) Vedanta-Foxconn chip project was also shifted from Maharashtra to Gujarat," he said.

"Mumbai Metropolitan Region (MMR) remains a major hub for textiles and the textile commissionerate office, which has been in Mumbai for 80 years and more, was suddenly shifted to Delhi last year for no apparent

Delhi court defers bail decision for MP Engineer Rashid

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi court has adjourned the bail order of jailed Baramulla MP Engineer Rashid, noting his case could go to a special court meant to try lawmakers now that he was an MP.

Additional Sessions Judge Chanderjit Singh, who had reserved the bail order in an alleged terror funding case, underscored he would first consider the issue of jurisdiction and whether or not to transfer the case to a special court meant to try lawmakers, considering Rashid was now an MP.

The judge would consider the issue of jurisdiction on November 13 while the order has been posted on November 19.

"Since we are considering the jurisdiction issue whether the matter will be heard by this court or the designated MP/MLA court of National Investigation Agency (NIA), keep it (bail order) post that," said the court.

Rashid, in the meantime, surrendered before Tihar jail authorities on Monday, after the completion of his interim bail period.

On September 10, the court had granted interim bail to Sheikh Abdul Rashid, alias Engineer Rashid, to enable him to campaign for the J&K assembly elections and deferred the order on his regular bail plea.

Rashid's interim bail was previously extended till October 28 on the ground of his father's poor health and after the National Investigation Agency (NIA) didn't oppose the plea after verifying documents.

The newly-elected MP has been lodged in Tihar jail since 2019 after the NIA arrested him under the provisions of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act in the 2017 terror funding case.

Elections to the 90-member J&K Assembly were held in three phases between September 18 and October 1. The National Conference-Congress alliance were declared winners with 48 seats on the day of results on October 8.

Congress seeks clarity on caste enumeration and state representation in next census

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Congress on Monday sought an all-party meeting to get clarity on whether the next census would include a detailed enumeration of all castes and whether the census will be used for determining the strength of each state in the Lok Sabha.

Congress chief spokesman Jairam Ramesh said the extension of the tenure of the Registrar General and Census Commissioner has been notified and it means that the long-delayed Census that was due in 2021 will finally be conducted soon.

"But there is still absolutely no clarity on two crucial issues. Will this new Census include a detailed enumeration of ALL castes in the country, in addition to that of scheduled castes and scheduled tribes that has been done in every Census since 1951?

According to the Constitution of India, such a Caste Census is the sole responsibility of the Union Government," Ramesh said in a statement.

"Will this Census be used for determining the strength of each state in the Lok Sabha as provided for in Article 82 of the Constitution of India (which says that the first Census taken after the year 2026 and the publication of its results will be the basis of any such reconstitution)? Will this work to the disadvantage of states that have been pioneers in family planning?" the Congress leader said.

It would be most appropriate if an all-party meeting is held soon to get clarity on these two vital issues, Ramesh asserted.

The central deputation of Mritunjay Kumar Narayan, currently serving as Registrar General and Census Commissioner of India, has been extended till August 2026, paving the way for him to lead the team to carry out the much-delayed decadal census of India.

"The President is pleased to extend the central deputation tenure of Shri Mritunjay Kumar Narayan, IAS (UP:1995), Registrar General and Census Commissioner of India, Ministry of Home Affairs beyond 06.12.2024 for a period up to 04.08.2026 or until further orders whichever is earlier.

The Headquarters of Mritunjay Kumar Narayan, IAS (UP:1995) will be New Delhi," according to an official notification.

Narayan is a 1995 batch IAS officer of the Uttar Pradesh cadre and is holding the key post under the Ministry of Home Affairs since 2020.

The house listing phase of the census and the exercise to update the National Population Register (NPR) were scheduled to be carried out across the country from April 1 to September 30, 2020 but were postponed due to the COVID-19 outbreak.

The census operation continues to be on hold and the government has not yet announced the new schedule. The government is expected to announce the schedule for the much-delayed exercise soon.

Indian mountaineers create history

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ DEHRADUN

A team of 20 mountaineers led by Colonel Anshuman Bhaduria has created history, scaling 11 previously unscathed and unnamed peaks in the border region of Mana in eight days.

Colonel Bhaduria is the principal of Uttarkashi-based Nehru Institute of Mountaineering. The team planned its ascent overcoming harsh weather, high winds, snow and fluctuating temperatures, NIM Registrar Praveen Kumar said.

The team climbed five 6,000-metre high mountains in just eight hours and reached the summits of all 11 peaks in eight days creating two new records in the history of mountaineering, he said.

"This accomplishment not only highlights the technical prowess and physical fitness of the team members but also their remarkable teamwork and determination," Kumar said.

Located close to the India-China border in Chamoli district, Mana is known as the gateway to the Himalayas and has long attracted adventurers. The peaks remained unscathed because of the rugged and untamed nature of the area, the university official said.

"This expedition is significant for several reasons. It showcases the unexplored beauty of the Mana region, serves as an inspiration to aspiring mountaineers and adds a proud chapter to India's mountaineering legacy," he said.

The expedition began on July 1 and concluded on August 7.

RaGa escalates attack on Government, alleging cronyism and wealth concentration

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Stepping up his attack over conflicts of interest allegations against SEBI chief Madhabi Buch, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Monday said the current regime is no longer merely encouraging monopolies but actively concentrating the nation's wealth in the hands of a few.

The Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha, made the remarks in his post along with a video featuring him and Congress' media and publicity department head Pawan Khera in which they talk about the alleged conflicts of interest of SEBI chief Buch.

"Institutional collapse has now given way to a more dangerous form of cronyism -- Adani Bachao. The current regime is no longer merely encouraging monopolies, it's actively concentrating the nation's wealth in the hands of a few," Gandhi said.

The Madhabi Buch scandal goes deeper than initially imagined, he said, adding that it may be that Buch, entrusted with safeguarding retail investors, has been manipulating the system to protect Adani's interests and his inflated valuations.

Those entrusted with protecting common Indians and their investments have abrogated their responsibilities and are indulging in wide scale corruption and malpractice, he alleged.

The Congress has consistently raised these issues, is investigating these scams, and exposing the truth to the public, Gandhi said.

In the video, Khera is seen explaining to Gandhi the various conflicts of interest allegations against Buch and how there were powers behind her that were at work, an apparent reference to the Adani Group.

Sharing the video, the party said the role of SEBI chairperson is to maintain the security of the stock market and ensure investments of common Indians are not at risk.

However, when the chairperson is involved in manipulating the market to benefit a single player - like the Adani Group - then everyone's money is at risk, it said.

"That is what is happening with the Madhabi Buch Scandal. She has been placed in this position by PM Modi and HM Amit Shah to give Adani a clean chit in allegations of stock manipulation," it said.

SC extends interim bail to ex-Chhattisgarh CM's deputy secretary

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court has extended the interim bail granted to former Chhattisgarh chief minister Bhupesh Baghel's deputy secretary, Saumya Chaurasia, who is an accused in a case linked to the alleged coal-levy scam.

A bench of Justices Surya Kant and Ujjal Bhuyan posted the hearing on November 27.

"Interim order to continue meanwhile," the bench said in its October 25 order.

The top court had on September 25 granted interim bail to Chaurasia while noting she had been in custody for over a year and nine months, and charges hadn't been framed against her before the trial could begin.

While directing the Chhattisgarh government not to reinstate Chaurasia in collected sufficient evidence to conclude Chaurasia was actively involved in the offence of money laundering defined in Section 3 of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act.

The federal probe agency had, in 2022, alleged a "grand conspiracy" in the natural resources-rich state to perpetrate a "coal-levy scam", which saw an "extortion" of about Rs 540 crore over the previous two years.

The money-laundering case stems from a complaint lodged by the income-tax department.

The ED investigation relates to "a massive scam in which illegal levy of Rs 25 was being extorted for every tonne of coal transported in Chhattisgarh by a cartel involving senior bureaucrats, businessmen, politicians and middlemen", alleged the ED.

Sangh parivar rallies behind BJP for victory in UP By-elections

BISWAJEET BANERJEE ■ LUCKNOW

As the crucial by-elections for nine assembly seats in Uttar Pradesh approach, the Sangh Parivar has mobilised its cadre to ensure a decisive victory for the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP). Booth-wise teams of RSS workers have been activated in the respective constituencies, working discreetly yet determinedly to lay the groundwork for BJP's success. These teams, while keeping a distance from BJP's official events, are reaching out to various communities to propagate the message of national interest and communal unity, guided by the mantra of Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath: "Katoge to batoge".

The renewed involvement of the Sangh Parivar follows a period of strained relations between the BJP and its ideological mentor, the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS). The tension had escalated earlier this year when BJP President JP Nadda remarked that the party had grown strong enough to operate independently, without the need for RSS support. This statement led to a lull in the Sangh's activities, resulting in a perceived weakening of the Hindutva agenda and a fragmentation of Hindu communities. The BJP felt the repercussions of this during subsequent electoral setbacks. However, the recent decline in the unity of Hindu voters has prompted the Sangh to reassess its strategy. According to insiders, both the RSS and BJP have realized the importance of mending their alliance to ensure a favorable outcome in the upcoming by-elections, as well as in the assembly elections in Maharashtra and Jharkhand. The BJP has since sought the support of the Sangh to reinforce its grassroots campaign in Uttar Pradesh.

Now, with a renewed sense of purpose, the RSS has re-engaged its network to prepare the electoral field for the BJP. Ground-level contact programs have been initiated to build public support. The campaign hinges on CM Yogi Adityanath's slogan, "Katoge to batoge", emphasizing the need for unity among Hindus in the face of caste divides. The Sangh's workers are focusing on small gatherings, meeting with groups of 5-10 people, where discussions revolve around national interest, Hindutva, governance, development, and local issues. Although the Sangh's teams refrain from overtly endorsing the BJP in these meetings, the subtle shaping of public opinion aligns closely with the BJP's electoral goals. The Sangh Parivar's renewed efforts are not limited to Uttar Pradesh. Meetings held in Lucknow, as well as in other states where elections are imminent, have laid out a comprehensive strategy to replicate this approach in other regions. The blueprint reflects the success achieved in the Haryana assembly elections earlier this year, where the RSS teams conducted nearly 1.25 lakh small meetings across the state. These gatherings, aimed at countering the then Congress government's Jat-centric policies and addressing local concerns like the Agneepath recruitment scheme, played a crucial role in turning public sentiment in favor of the BJP. In Uttar Pradesh, the RSS has prepared similar teams for the 10 assembly seats that are part of the upcoming electoral contest, even though voting will occur on nine seats. The grassroots approach is designed to bolster BJP's standing among all sections of society, aiming to bridge divides and consolidate votes under a broader narrative of Hindutva and national unity. As the by-elections loom, the Sangh Parivar's behind-the-scenes efforts are expected to play a pivotal role in determining the outcome. The by-elections are widely seen as a test of the BJP's organizational strength and the resonance of its campaign themes, as well as the effectiveness of its alliance with the RSS. A victory in these by-elections would not only boost the BJP's momentum in Uttar Pradesh but could also set the tone for the party's performance in the upcoming assembly elections in other states.

UP CM meets custody death victim's family

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ LUCKNOW

Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Monday met the family members of trader Mohit Pandey, who died in police custody due to alleged assault, and announced a compensation of Rs 10 lakh for them, officials said. The government will also take care of the education expenses of the children of the deceased, they said. Pandey (30) died on Saturday after being allegedly beaten by police personnel following his arrest in connection with a case, according to his family. Following an uproar, the authorities on Sunday ordered an FIR against the police station's personnel on charges of murder and criminal conspiracy. The in-charge of the police station, among those booked, has been suspended. According to a statement, the chief minister offered his condolences to the bereaved family members and instructed officials to provide them with an ex gratia of Rs 10 lakh, housing, free education for the children and access to various government schemes. He also assured the family that those responsible for Pandey's death would face strict consequences and promised that the culprits would not be spared. The opposition has been attacking the BJP government in Uttar Pradesh over the recent incidents of custodial death. On Monday, Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav fired a fresh salvo. "I wish those who take life could give life in compensation. Those who have extinguished the light of someone's house on Diwali, it is hoped that they will not light the lamps of lies, they will not try to remove the deep darkness of their rule with false light. The public is asking, will a bulldozer be used on the person who died in custody? Condemnable! Yadav posted on X in Hindi. Pandey's mother Tapeshwari Devi along with his wife and children visited the chief minister's official residence on Monday morning. After the meeting, the family expressed a sense of relief. "We are satisfied after meeting the chief minister. He assured us that he was fully aware of the case and that there would be no leniency. Once the investigation is complete, strict action will be taken against those found guilty," said Tapeshwari. Bakshi Ka Talab MLA Yogesh Kumar Shukla and councillor Shailendra Verma were also present during the meeting. Pandey, a resident of Jainabad in the Chinhat area, died at a hospital in police custody. His family members have claimed that police brutality was the cause of his death. The incident has triggered a major political furor, with the Samajwadi Party, the Congress and the Bahujan Samaj Party slamming the BJP government. Earlier Sunday, Akhilesh Yadav had said the term "police custody" should be changed to "torture house", while Congress leader Priyanka Gandhi Vadra alleged the BJP has "established such a jungle raj in the state where police have become synonymous with brutality". BSP chief Mayawati termed the incident "highly condemnable" and said the government must take effective steps to provide justice to the victim's family. According to the police, Pandey was rushed to a community health centre after he became unwell at the police station. From there he was referred to a bigger facility where he died, they said. However, Shobharam, the victim's brother who claimed that he was also briefly held in custody, alleged that the police thrashed Pandey "mercilessly" in front of him and sent him to the hospital only after he died. A CCTV clip surfaced on the Internet on Sunday, purportedly showing Pandey lying inside the lockup. The family members of the deceased accused the police of deliberately leaking only a small portion of the footage to save their back, claiming that Pandey was beaten to death.

Bihar Lok Sabha MP Rajesh Rananjan alias Pappu Yadav has written to Home Minister Amit Shah, seeking enhanced security in view of a "threatening call from the Lawrence Bishnoi gang". The Patna MP shared with the media his two-page letter to Shah, copies of which have been marked to the chief minister of Bihar and other top officials in the state. The letter, dated October 21, was made public on Monday when a section of the media also played an audio clip of the call from a purported aide of Bishnoi "made from a Dubai number". Besides seeking upgradation of his "Y" security cover to "Z", Yadav also demanded "police escort" at all functions he attends across Bihar, warning "if I get murdered, the blame shall fall upon the Centre as well as the state government". Dhananjay Munde faces Maratha challenge in Parli elections

PTI ■ CHHATRAPATI SAMBAHAJINAGAR

Maharashtra agriculture minister Dhananjay Munde will have to effectively counter the Maratha vote consolidation in Parli assembly segment, the hometown of late Gopinath Munde which interestingly won't have a BJP nominee in the fray after decades. Elections to Maharashtra assembly will be held on November 20 and votes will be counted three days later. Just four months ago, the Maratha factor contributed to the narrow defeat of BJP candidate Pankaja Munde, cousin of Dhananjay, from the Beed Lok Sabha constituency which includes the Parli constituency. The Maratha quota sentiment remains a strong factor to reckon with in Parli, a rural constituency dominated by issues like MSP for soybean crops and unemployment. Political observers feel Dhananjay will have to ensure the support of the OBC community to blunt the resentment in Marathas against the BJP-led government. In a strategic move, Sharad Pawar has fielded Rajeshaheb Deshmukh as NCP (SP) nominee against Dhananjay Munde, an Ajit Pawar loyalist and NCP candidate. Parli is the hometown of the late Gopinath Munde, credited for expanding BJP's footprint in the Marathwada region. With BJP nominating Pankaja as an MLC and Dhananjay already a member of the NCP camp, the Parli constituency won't have a BJP representative this time. Pankaja Munde had scored two victories in Parli in 2009 and 2014 polls. She missed a hat-trick in 2019 when Dhananjay Munde defeated her by 30,701 votes. The brother and sister duo have buried their differences over the last five years. NCP (SP) nominee Deshmukh claimed Dhananjay had failed to resolve farmers' issues in Parli. He alleged local people are living in an atmosphere of fear and insecurity. Dhananjay, however, feels that the intensity of the Maratha factor has reduced over the months. Speaking to PTI, he said the caste politics witnessed in the Lok Sabha elections was an aberration, highlighting the victory of candidates of various castes from the Beed parliamentary constituency in the past. He acknowledged that Beed is not unaffected by Maratha quota agitation, without mentioning reservation leader Manoj Jarange. "My fight for Maratha reservation was not considered during Lok Sabha polls. Reservation was not the only issue. There are other factors including a limited discontent among farmers," Dhananjay said analysing the Lok Sabha poll outcome. "The intensity of the quota agitation that existed in general elections has decreased," he claimed. Queried on whether Beed district witnessed maximum suicides by farmers, the minister listed various initiatives undertaken by the agriculture ministry headed by him. "The government has paid the insurance premium for farmers. I have also demanded that the import duty on soybean oil be raised. The government has also started centres for purchasing soybeans from farmers," he added. Sharad Pawar-led NCP (SP) is confident to maintain the momentum it got in the recent general elections. NCP (SP) candidate Bajrang Sonawane had defeated Pankaja from Beed by a thin margin of around 6,000 votes. The consolidation of Maratha votes in favour of Sonawane is evident as the BJP and the NCP (SP) each had secured the lead from three out of six assembly segments under the Beed parliamentary seat. Deshmukh said he would establish the rule of law if elected from Parli. He alleged local businessmen are relocating as fake offences are being registered. When asked about Pankaja securing a lead in votes from the Parli assembly constituency, Deshmukh said Lok Sabha and assembly elections are distinct. "Factors like Pankaja Munde's work and sympathy for being Gopinath Munde's daughter benefited her. On the contrary, Dhananjay Munde had betrayed Gopinath Munde. Dhananjay has done no work. Farmers are awaiting payment of crop insurance for years," he claimed. Parli resident Chetan Saundale feels the Maratha quota issue won't affect the electoral outcome.

Nitish Kumar hosts NDA meeting ahead of Bihar elections

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ PATNA

Aiming for a fifth consecutive term in office, Bihar's longest-serving Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Monday hosted a meeting of the ruling NDA to ensure "better coordination" in the run-up to state assembly polls due next year. Leaders of all five NDA partners in the state, BJP, Lok Janshakti Party (Ram Vilas), Hindustani Awam Morcha and Rashtriya Lok Morcha, besides the JD(U) that Kumar heads, turned up at 1, Anne Marg, the Chief Minister's official residence, on the occasion. Emerging from the meeting that lasted for over an hour, leaders told journalists that Kumar urged the attendees to ensure that similar interactions be henceforth held regularly in all districts and assembly constituencies. "The chief minister has vowed to lead the NDA towards another victory in 2025. He has also called for exposing the opposition Mahagathbandhan", stating that he felt cheated by that coalition," State BJP president and minister Dilip Jaiswal said. Notably, Kumar had walked over to the Mahagathbandhan in August 2022, alleging that the BJP had tried to weaken his party with the help of the then LJP chief Chirag Paswan, now a Union minister who had staged a revolt during the assembly polls of 2020, causing the JD(U)'s tally to crash. Kumar also played a pivotal role in bringing together, from across the country, parties opposed to the BJP, which led to the formation of the INDIA bloc but grew disillusioned and returned to the NDA in January this year. His key aide and JD(U) working president Sanjay Kumar Jha said, "The chief minister has thanked the Narendra Modi government at the Centre for its generous assistance to the state. He has urged all leaders present at the meeting to apprise the people, especially youngsters who may not be aware of the state's dismal past, of the great leap the state has taken ever since the NDA came to power." The JD(U)-BJP combine had first achieved power in Bihar in 2005 when it had ended the decade-and-a-half rule of Lalu Prasad's RJD. NDA leaders emerging after the meeting shared the enthusiasm of the chief minister, now 73 years of age, who called upon the coalition to aim for a tally of "200 plus" in the 243-strong assembly. Those who attended the meeting included Rashtriya Lok Morcha president Upendra Kushwaha, a Rajya Sabha MP who quit the JD(U) last year alleging that Kumar had capitulated before the RJD, his then ally, by virtually declaring the then

Deputy CM Tejashwi Yadav as his successor. Another ally who turned up at the meeting was Union minister and Hindustani Awam Morcha founder Jitan Ram Manjhi, who had quit NDA two years ago expressing solidarity with Kumar but returned last year alleging that the JD(U) supremo was putting pressure for a merger of the party, a move which helped his son Santosh Suman getting re-inducted into the state cabinet in January this year. NDA leaders remained tight-lipped over the absence, at the meeting, of former Union minister Pashupati Kumar Paras, who heads Rashtriya Lok Janshakti Party and has been sidelined since the Lok Sabha polls which saw weightage being given to Chirag Paswan, his nephew with whom he has a running feud. However, Raju Tiwari, who is the state president of Chirag Paswan's Lok Janshakti Party (Ram Vilas), assured journalists that the young leader's brinkmanship was a thing of the past and lauded Kumar for giving a clear signal to cadres of all parties, well in advance of the assembly polls". Other prominent leaders who attended the meeting were Union ministers Rajiv Ranjan Singh "Lalan" (JDU) and Giriraj Singh (BJP), Deputy Chief Ministers Samrat Choudhary and Vijay Kumar Sinha (both BJP).

Muslim poets recite urdu Ramayana in Bikaner

PTI ■ JAIPUR

In a unique event leading up to Diwali that has been fostering goodwill for over a decade, Muslim poets in Bikaner recite an Urdu version of the Hindu epic Ramayana that was composed 89 years ago. Dr Ziya Ul Hasan Quadri, an Urdu teacher and poet, who along with two other Muslim poets recited the Urdu Ramayana at a function on Sunday said that the objective of the event is to give a positive message of harmony and brotherhood. "Paryatan Lekhak Sangh" and

"Mehfil-e-Adab" jointly organise the event 'Urdu Ramayan Vaachan' every year in Bikaner since 2012. Quadri said that the couplets vividly describe scenes from Ramayana like Lord Ram's exile, victory against Ravan and his return to Ayodhya, capturing the emotions depicted in the epic which is greatly appreciated by audiences in the city. Maulvi Badshah Hussain Rana Lakhnavi of Bikaner composed the poetic version of Ramayana in Urdu language in 1935 for a competition organised by the Banaras Hindu University (BHU) on the birth anniversary of Tulsidas. It won the gold medal following which the erstwhile ruler of Bikaner, Maharaja Ganga Singh, organised a ceremony to listen to Rana Lakhnavi's version.

Tej Bahadur Sapru presented the gold medal to Rana Lakhnavi on behalf of the BHU in this programme. The poets, who take part in the recitation in Rajasthan's Bikaner before Diwali, now want to take the practice at the national level and plan to organise the recitation programme in the national capital next year. "Things have drastically changed from the time when it was composed. Today, communal harmony is under threat. Lord Rama is revered by all and belongs to all, but today he has been limited which is disappointing," Quadri said.

He said that Muslim poets recite the Urdu Ramayana and the audience comprises of both Hindus and Muslims. Quadri said that initially, the event used to be organised in the open but later the venue changed and now it is held in a hotel so that things are well arranged. He said that Maulvi Badshah Hussain Rana Lakhnavi worked for Maharaja Ganga Singh from 1913 to 1919, during which he translated orders issued by the Mughal rulers from Persian to Urdu. In 1920, he was appointed as the teacher at Dungar College by Ganga Singh.

Scammed!

An increasing number of people are falling victim to online scammers who exploit fear to extort money

Digital scams are evolving into a growing menace, targeting people across India and robbing them of their hard-earned money. As more people rely on online platforms for communication and transactions, fraudsters are exploiting the digital landscape to orchestrate sophisticated schemes. A recent warning from Prime Minister Narendra Modi has highlighted the alarming rise of a new scam known as the 'digital arrest.'

This scam involves tricking victims into believing they are under legal scrutiny for their misdeeds and asking them to remain isolated. The victims are placed under a 'digital arrest,' by the fraudster posing as a police officer. To get out of this they must cough up the money to drop the fabricated charges. The 'digital arrest' scam preys on fear and confusion. The term 'digital arrest,' sounds like a legitimate legal procedure. Recognising the severity of the issue, Prime Minister Modi issued a national warning to educate citizens about this fraudulent scheme. He clarified that the concept of a 'digital arrest' does not exist under Indian law, and no government agency would ever request personal details via phone or video call.

PM Modi also provided a three-step action plan for anyone targeted by digital scammers: Victims should not panic but try to record the interaction if possible, which could help authorities trace the criminals later. No official agency will threaten or make demands online. Any such approach should be treated with suspicion. And lastly, Citizens should immediately report the incident to the national cyber helpline and local police. Several cases of 'digital arrests' have emerged across the country, underlining the scam's rapid spread. Recently, Malayalam film actor Maala Parvathi fell victim to the scheme when fraudsters, posing as Mumbai police officers, accused her of smuggling drugs to Taiwan. Fortunately, she recognised the ruse before any money was exchanged.

The cases of digital arrest scams are just tip of the iceberg. Everyday millions of people are getting calls from scamsters and losing their money. Digital scams like the 'digital arrest' are effective because they exploit common fears about the legal system. The scammers often impersonate authoritative figures such as police officers, Central Bureau of Investigation officials, or representatives from the central bank, making their threats seem credible. The use of deepfake technology, fake ID cards, and well-crafted backdrops adds to the authenticity of their claims, convincing many to comply out of fear. PM Modi's alert is timely, however the efforts must be made by the enforcement agencies to ramp up cyber security and nab these fraudsters. Cyber security must be given top priority at the highest level as it also concerns national security as well. The Government and law enforcement agencies must put their act together to combat the surge in digital scams. Awareness campaigns, cybercrime helplines, and increased collaboration with technology companies must be employed to take on these scamsters.

Chasing votes at the cost of social harmony

J S RAJPUT

In a nation as diverse as India, the relentless pursuit of electoral gains has overshadowed efforts to foster genuine unity and social cohesion

It is indeed disconcerting that every aspect of life in India is impacted by the process of garnering votes in the next election, and the unscrupulous politician never hesitates to use it to create a wedge between people of varied religious pursuits. I say this as I reflect upon the Bahraich clashes, these were indeed communal whether we like to use that term or not! And these are a continuation. Reports of stone pelting on religious processions are now considered routine, except by the real victims, no one cares much about what media reports with adequate caution. It is indeed disappointing to recall that the culture of wasting time and human resources that could better be utilised for deliberations on national concerns and issues is deliberately wasted, for presumed petty political gains.

When parliament is disrupted, when the Supreme Court finds time to listen to frivolous repeated petitions from politicians who fight cases on public funds, the national interest ipso facto gets relegated to the background. One could go on citing instances of the decline in the conduct of leaders - exceptions apart - who enter politics just to look after themselves, their family and their clan! They hardly care for the loss of public credibility of the elected representatives amongst people and the public! Not many would even be aware of the resignations of KD Malaviya, TT Krishnamachari and Lal Bahadur Shastri? Over the last seventy-five years people have learnt to comprehend the real intentions of the politicians of different hues, their proclamations notwithstanding, they know who is communal and who is not! This incisive analytical skill emerges from the realisation that India abounds in the presence of diversity, be it of races, climate, language, cultures, flora and fauna, and most prominently and importantly, of religions and faiths. The beauty lies in the presence of harmony, bonhomie and lasting unity that makes this nation unique in multiple ways. It is a robust democracy that was ushered in after independence and has survived a couple of upheavals, uncertainties and even the dreaded Emergency of 1975-

77. What makes India click? It is the eternal strength of the ancient culture that guides the organisation of the personal and social lives of individuals, families and communities through high moral, ethical and philosophical inputs that possess the strength to accept the universal unity of humankind. It prepares people to value caring for others including nature, the learned of the past and present, and remain ever grateful to the family, parents, community and the nation. The culture so strengthened exhorts the individual to remain ever prepared to sacrifice personal good for the community good. The Indic religions accepted, and propagated the philosophy of the 'Search for Truth' - the ultimate human pursuit of the ultimate perfect - by each religion being one of the many available paths to reach the same goal! If one accepts this premise, then there is no scope for any bitterness or any of the induced, lured or enforced religious conversions! Every Indian, irrespective of his religious persuasion, needs to realize that conversions were not part of ancient Indian philosophy and thought, as acceptance of diversity based on equality makes it irrelevant and irrational. Organised efforts to convert people to one's religion were non-existent before the arrival of the Abrahamic religions. The tragedy of the current-day political discourse in India is its total concentration on irrelevant negativity and its total targeted focus on votes in elections. Gandhi ji had mentioned in 1922 that 'defects of elections' would weigh heavily on our people once the British left India! The citizens realise it, but politicians do not! Why not focus on the essentials of democracy, positive and forward-looking aspects of the national policies that would better the lives of the last man in the line who was the focus of Gandhi? The right path to be followed is known to all those in power, and also those eagerly awaiting people's mandate to grab the power again! Thus, the fact remains that apart from the memories of invasions communal hatred persistently ignited by the British, India could maintain social cohesion and religious amity. It is also a fact that to disrupt it, sustained attempts by the inept religious leaders to widen the wedge persist. They exploit the chilling scars of partition to augment the perceptions of 'being different' between the two communities. There are external agencies that openly interfere in disrupting the religious fabric of India. India opted for a secular state while Pakistan, created on communal lines, opted to become a theocratic state, mischievously pretending to give equal rights to the followers of other religions. The partition of Pakistan created the possibility of minorities being treated better in Bangladesh. It has proved a myth after the recent change of government here. Hindus are being subjected to targeted killing and violence. Overall, it seems to be an irretrievable, human ingenuity could always find a way out, and it must do so. I interact with intellectuals who practice Islam and know its basic philosophy. They are convinced that Islam is being wrongly understood not only by persons of other faiths but unfortunately by numerous practitioners of Islam, including the devout religious persons! This they tell me unhesitatingly, is because of the firm foothold of the clergy unwilling to accept that times are changing fast, and dynamism is a compulsory component of human civilisation. May be, universal spread of modern education could help. Educated young persons shall have to shoulder a big responsibility. It is the initial home and family education that sows the seeds of acceptance of diversity in the child's psyche, and that determines his future approach and attitude towards other religions. It is well known that Pakistan is seriously deficient on this count. India too has worked to do on this front. (The writer works in education, social cohesion and religious amity. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DHARMA NEEDS REFORM

Madam — The Vice President of India has said that inequities have no place in a society ruled by Dharma (October 27). This statement requires a wider range of discussions and even debates. If his statement holds good, then the scene prevailing in the country disproves his statement. As per Puranas, the society in the country since ancient times has been under Sanatana Dharma. Social and economic inequalities were there, perhaps in their worst forms, that the persons from certain castes were not entitled to even enter the areas where the people of upper castes were living. The majority of the people were living under poverty, and dharma recommends providing alms as an integral part of life. The ruling dispensation of this day firmly believes in Sanatana Dharma. But inequities are abnormally present on the social as well as economic front. This negates the statement that links Dharma and inequities. This also means propagating Dharma is just an academic course and has nothing to do with ruling or shaping society. In most of the countries, religious scriptures are quoted but not adhered to. Such discourses seem to be to numb the victims and keep them under fear of being punished for raising voices of dissent. Therefore, if the society has to remain in peace, the social inequalities should be removed without any of their traces left unattended and the policy of the rulers should be shaped to ensure equal distribution of national wealth, unlike the present scene marked by producing one billionaire every five days and leaving 81 crore poor to continue to live in poverty with just 5 kg of free rice a month. Religion is an innate affair, but ruling is a public affair. Let us not confuse ourselves.

Threats disrupt flights

Since October 14, airlines have been receiving threats through social media and other platforms. IndiGo, Air India, Akasa, and Vistara Airlines are still receiving these threats, causing confusion at airports and delayed flights. Due to these rumours, a total of 255 flights have been affected, leading to an estimated loss of 600 crore rupees in the aviation sector. This seems to be the first time such frequent threats have been heard. As a result, the number of air marshals at airports has increased. The rise in social media usage has also led to an increase in "social issues" or problems, as those issuing threats are utilising these platforms. The Ministry of Civil Aviation is considering adding individuals identified for issuing bomb threats to a "no-fly" list. But what about the 600 crore loss? There should be a mechanism to recover damages by seizing the assets of those individuals or organisations responsible for such threats. Stringent action is expected against those who deliberately disrupt national transportation. Additionally, platforms like X and Meta play a role in spreading such rumours, so it's time for us to decide how much we should trust social media.

CONGRESS ACCOMMODATES SP

Madam — Having lost the Haryana polls to the BJP in the recently held Assembly elections, Congress has announced giving up claims for its share of seats in favour of SP, the lead partner in the INDI alliance in the state. The withdrawal can be termed a tactical move from the alliance point of view, as the Congress hardly has any presence in the state, holding just two seats out of 403 seats in the UP Assembly. The reason advanced for the move that it wants to defeat the BJP to save the constitution and reservation does not hold any water as they have not followed the same strategy in Kerala in choosing to contest against CPI (M), their alliance partner in INDI alliance where as the alliance winning Lok Sabha seat is more important for their declared objective of 'saving the constitution and saving the reservation'. Congress's priority seems to be projecting Priyanka Vadra to the limelight.

Why small steps matter in the battle against plastic

Many of us struggle to take even the simplest steps—like avoiding single-use plastic or segregating waste — essential for sustaining our planet

The natural resources of the planet are a treasure directly impacting our environment and climate. We need to withdraw judiciously and invest wisely for sustained growth. We can incorporate daily practices to grow this wealth. We live in a high-rise condominium complex. There was an animated discussion on the community WhatsApp group about a few residents feeding cows immediately outside the main exit. This causes the cattle to assemble when officegoers are in a hurry to exit. It is a potential traffic hazard. One gentleman rightly pointed out that the food dumped in plastic bags was also a health hazard. A few vehement voices of protest were raised. For them, feeding the bovine was an age-old tradition. We need to think differently to address issues of concern. A national campaign for a complete ban on single-use plastic was launched a few years back. Many of our smaller states have been conscious of the need for a long time. I travelled to Sikkim a few years back. The shopkeeper rummaged through his shelves. He could barely manage a few old newspapers to wrap my provisions. Plastic bags have been banned in the state since 1998. We were also advised to bring empty bottles since packaged mineral water bottles were banned in north Sikkim. Individually we fail to be responsive to the urgent needs. Many residents in our complex still demand plastic bags from the fruit and vegetable vendors and the grocery stores. Despite repeated instructions, many stores refuse to do away with single-use plastic. My wife has been carrying cloth bags for the last 15 years whenever she steps out to buy groceries or vegetables, and even to the malls. Municipal authorities in several cities have successfully implemented the management of segregated waste at the household level. I stayed in Indore for a couple of days a few years back. I was intrigued by a song following me when I stepped out for the morning walk. I noticed people coming out of homes with garbage bags in their hands. It was the garbage collection vehicle playing the melodious song. The song exhorted residents to segregate waste. The song was also a knock on the door about the van's arrival. I had heard so much about the unique model of Indore towards a cleaner and environment-friendly city. This was the living proof. I was surprised to notice construction and demolition debris stacked in front of the houses under construction or renovation. I was told that the municipal department collected waste from the doorstep and disposed of the same at designated sites. All of this has not happened overnight. Someone took the first step. Others joined, to make it a mass movement. We have been struggling to implement waste segregation within our society for the past 8 years. The rules mandate it. We still manage to find reasons to justify inaction. Even the neighbours are not doing it, segregation is cumbersome, the timing for waste collection does not fit into the routine, and an individual cannot make a difference, are only a few of the excuses for not doing it. The first step is the most difficult to take. We spent a couple of days recently in Alibaug. My wife is passionate about the cause and does not get disheartened easily. I was surprised when she remarked, "It seems that we might not see a cleaner country in our lifetime!" I would remind her and others about Barack Obama's words, "We are the first generation to feel the impact of climate change and the last generation that can do something about it." WORKPLACE BULLYING:

THE SILENT EPIDEMIC

It often leads to a toxic work culture that diminishes productivity and erodes employee morale

SAKSHI SETHI

Various studies have quite often revealed that around 30 per cent of employees experience bullying at every step they take at their workplace, while a significant portion of the workforce witnesses it without intervening. Unlike harassment, which is more likely to be reported due to the legal and policy frameworks that exist around it, bullying often lacks formal channels for redress. Workplace bullying is a serious and pervasive issue that affects individuals and organisations across various industries. It has become a silent epidemic where the victim's personal life as well as professional performance are often declined regarding mental health resulting in loss of self-esteem. Not only does the employee suffer but for the organisation too the consequences are equally severe. The stress of enduring repeated harassment results in physical health issues such as headaches, insomnia and a weakened immune system leading to decreased employee engagement and productivity. Now, workplace bullying manifests in numerous ways, from overt actions like public humiliation to covert tactics such as excluding someone from important meetings or withholding critical information. It may also involve power dynamics, where a manager targets a subordinate or senior staff and manipulates their junior colleagues. Unlike occasional conflicts or disagreements, this type of bullying is systematic and persistent, leading to a toxic environment for the targeted individuals. However, the psychological impact of bullying can be profound. Victims often experience stress, anxiety, and depression because of the ongoing harassment. This stress further manifests in physical symptoms that include headaches, fatigue and even cardiovascular issues, as the body's stress response becomes consistently triggered. In extreme cases, the trauma can even lead to severe mental health conditions, affecting victims' self-esteem and overall sense of well-being. Over time, employees or the victim may develop symptoms of post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) if the harassment is severe or prolonged. The victim may start avoiding their workplace altogether, resulting in absenteeism and some cases, may even resign to escape the toxic atmosphere.

This stigma, combined with the fear of being perceived as weak or incapable, can even prevent them from reaching out for help. The resulting isolation allows bullying to continue unchecked and causes the victims to suffer without the support they need. This isolation further perpetuates the silence surrounding workplace bullying, thereby turning it into a pervasive yet hidden problem. This reduction in productivity doesn't only affect the targeted individual but can also disrupt team cohesion, workflow, and project timelines. This culture of fear can sooner or later result in a breakdown of trust and respect among team members, reducing collaboration and open communication. As more employees become disengaged or demoralised, the organisation's overall culture will suffer, leading to lower employee satisfaction and retention rates. It can't be ignored that workplace bullying is a pervasive issue with wide-reaching effects on individuals, team dynamics and organisational success. Clear anti-bullying policies, coupled with effective reporting mechanisms, can empower employees to come forward without fear of retaliation. Organisations should also invest in regular training to help employees recognise and address bullying behaviours in themselves and others, fostering a workplace culture that discourages mistreatment. Only when an organisation emphasises respect, accountability, and open communication, can the incidence of bullying be reduced thereby leading to a more positive, productive and healthy work environment. Preventing workplace bullying will benefit not only the victims but the organisation too, reinforcing a work culture that values employee well-being and mutual respect.

India-China border pact:
A cautious step forward

PARUL CHANDRA

India's path to restoring normalcy with China is fraught with challenges, including a significant trust deficit and complex border disputes

Now that India and China have reached an agreement on disengagement and patrolling in Depsang and Demchok in a step towards resolving the over four-year-long military confrontation in eastern Ladakh, can New Delhi sit back with a quiet sense of achievement? More importantly, can China be trusted to do what it has promised during bilateral meetings, including the recent one between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and President Xi Jinping on the margins of the recent BRICS summit? The answer is a firm 'No'. For, even though the two Asian giants have seemingly buried the hatchet for now with the new pact being endorsed by their top leaders at Kazan in Russia on October 22, the yawning trust deficit that now marks bilateral ties is unlikely to be bridged any time soon. To be sure, there is not going to be a repeat of the bonhomie witnessed during the Modi-Xi informal summit meetings in Wuhan and Mamallapuram in 2018 and 2019, respectively. When the two leaders met in Kazan, there was expectedly none of the warmth seen during the informal summits. The thaw may have happened, but a long road lies ahead for bilateral ties to warm up. Instead, what Beijing has to deal with now is a hard-nosed New Delhi that's wised up to China's perfidious territorial aggression. India has done well in standing up to Chinese belligerence in eastern Ladakh and in conveying to Beijing that it cannot be business as usual in the face of its brazen flouting of all bilateral border accords. The ongoing eastern Ladakh military confrontation, part of the larger boundary dispute along the 3,488 km long Line of Actual Control (LAC), is nowhere near de-escalation to the pre-April 2020 situation. While the phased disengagement at

WHAT HAS BEEN EQUALLY WORRYING FOR NEW DELHI IS CHINA'S TERRITORIAL AGGRESSION WITH NEIGHBOURING BHUTAN TOO. IT HAS SOUGHT TO BULLY THE TINY HIMALAYAN KINGDOMS AND APPROPRIATE ITS TERRITORY

Depsang and Demchok is a welcome development, New Delhi should not let its guard down. It can do so only at its peril, given Chinese machinations along the LAC and its "salami-slicing" tactics to grab disputed territories. In any case, disengagement is just the first step with de-escalation and finally de-induction of troops being part of India's roadmap for the restoration of status quo ante. It's also laid out the red line for Beijing - the need for "peace and tranquility on the border". What has been equally worrying for New Delhi is China's territorial aggression with neighbouring Bhutan too. It has sought to bully the tiny Himalayan kingdoms and appropriate its territory. With such moves posing a strategic threat to India, the Indian Army stepped in to block Chinese troops from building a road in the Doklam plateau area near the Sikkim-Bhutan-Tibet trijunction in 2017. The rival troops had disengaged after a 73-day face-off, but China has permanently deployed troops in north Doklam since then. What the Chinese PLA sought to do in eastern Ladakh with multiple incursions in the summer of 2020 too was part of its salami-slicing tactics. Bilateral ties went into a deep freeze soon after the bloody clashes in Galwan on June 15, 2020, which left 20 Indian soldiers and an unspecified number of Chinese personnel dead. With the slight easing of tensions now, India will need to tread cautiously. Normalcy in ties seems a long way off but even some measure of stability in the relationship between the two Asian rivals will be a positive development.

For India, this is especially important as it also has a nuclear-armed hostile neighbour in Pakistan on its western borders. A two-front military challenge can bog India down in the region, hobbling its aspiration to be a global powerhouse. The China-Pakistan collusive axis queers the pitch for India. With frosty ties with Pakistan, New Delhi must begin mending ties with Beijing. Towards this end, Modi and Xi have agreed to resume the meetings of the Special Representatives (SRs) of the two countries "to oversee the management of peace and tranquility in border areas and to explore a fair, reasonable and mutually acceptable solution to the boundary question". The SRs mechanism was set up in 2003, with 22 rounds of talks being held till now. It has not been met since 2019. However, given the complexity of the boundary question and Beijing's own feet dragging on a resolution, the SR mechanism at best serves as a means for the two sides to remain in dialogue. As New Delhi and Beijing work to bring down tensions, the boundary question will continue to bedevil ties. India's level of mistrust of China will remain high given that it has failed to adhere to previous agreements to maintain peace and tranquility on the border. Beijing, on its part, will remain watchful and wary of India's deepening ties with the US as well as other Quad members. Its active role in the Indo-Pacific construct and Quad - both seen as a counter to China's growing hegemony - has Beijing worried. That said, India knows it has no option but to deal with China, owing to its geographical proximity as well as Beijing's economic-industrial clout. The bilateral economic and trade relations are heavily tilted in China's favour. India imported $101.7 billion worth of goods from China in 2023-24, way more than from any other country. On the other hand, India's exports to China were worth only $16.7 billion, a mammoth trade deficit for New Delhi. India depends heavily on imports from China in many sectors, like industrial machinery, telecom, electronics, electrical equipment, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, iron, steel and the like. In certain sectors, like pharmaceuticals, Indian manufacturers will find it difficult to operate without imports from China. Despite many steps and policy decisions taken by the Indian government to move towards greater balance in trade, more so after the current border problem erupted, the imbalance has only further accentuated. In this, economics is trumping politics or national sentiment. On the military front, India should not slacken in dealing with China with a firm hand, as it has done since the Galwan clashes. It should also redouble efforts to push for a resolution of the different issues, including the border question. With the festering territorial dispute having long-term strategic implications for India, it needs to strike the right balance between rebuilding trust and proceeding with caution.

Embracing Ayurveda: Bridging tradition with modernity on Ayurveda Day

Rooted in the principles of balance and harmony, Ayurveda guides individuals to achieve holistic wellness

World Ayurveda Day, celebrated each year on the auspicious occasion of Bhagwan Dhanvantari Jayanti, offers a profound opportunity to honour Bharat's rich heritage of health and well-being. This year, on October 29, 2024, we come together to recognise Ayurveda—not just as an ancient healing practice but as a living tradition that continues to inspire and transform lives worldwide. Rooted in the principles of balance and harmony, Ayurveda guides individuals to achieve holistic wellness by understanding their unique mind-body constitution and aligning with nature's rhythms. Its timeless knowledge promotes preventive care, natural treatments, and a lifestyle that supports physical, mental, and spiritual health. Ayurveda's reach has grown from ancient India to touch people across the globe, embodying Bharat's gift of wellness to the world. As we celebrate Ayurveda Day, let us commit to embracing and preserving this invaluable heritage. Ayurveda, the revered "science of life," represents one of the oldest and most comprehensive systems of holistic medicine. Originating in ancient India, Ayurveda focuses on achieving balance within the body, mind, and spirit. In recent years, Ayurveda has gained remarkable global recognition, a testament to PM Modi's visionary approach to integrating AYUSH practices, including Ayurveda, with modern healthcare. His leadership, underscored by the establishment of the Ministry of AYUSH as an independent entity in 2014, set the stage for Ayurveda's transformation into a mainstream, globally respected healthcare approach. The government has since pioneered several initiatives to promote and expand Ayurveda's reach. Through partnerships with research institutions, academic centres, and healthcare organisations worldwide, India has emphasised evidence-based studies, technological advancements, and policy support to bring Ayurveda to a broader audience. Moreover, the government's efforts to encourage innovative collaborations and cross-cultural exchanges have fostered an international appreciation of Ayurveda's preventive and holistic benefits. As we witness Ayurveda's evolution on a global scale, its emphasis on wellness, natural healing, and preventive care resonates more than ever, addressing modern health challenges and reasserting Bharat's invaluable contribution to the world of medicine and wellness. Ayurveda, often regarded as the "science of life," is deeply rooted in ancient Indian philosophy, drawing from the foundational ideas of Sanatan philosophical schools around the 2nd century BCE. Its development was heavily influenced by the Vaisheshika school, known for its focus on natural principles and the categorisation of elements, and the Nyaya school, which emphasised logic, reasoning, and structured analysis. These schools laid a framework that allowed Ayurveda to develop a systematic approach to health, emphasising diagnosis, observation, and inference based on natural laws. Furthermore, Ayurveda's conceptual foundation aligns with Samkhya philosophy, a school that delves into the nature of existence, consciousness, and the duality of mind and matter. Samkhya's insights into the interaction between Purusha (consciousness) and Prakriti (matter) provided Ayurveda with a comprehensive understanding of the body-mind connection, integral to its approach to health and wellness. Together, these philosophical influences cultivated Ayurveda's holistic view of human life, wherein health is perceived as an intricate balance between mind, body, and environment.

This synthesis not only strengthened Ayurveda's theories of doshas (biological energies) but also fostered an awareness of how lifestyle, diet, and mental states directly impact physical well-being. Thus, Ayurveda emerged as an interdisciplinary science, rooted in empirical observation yet deeply philosophical, ultimately offering a framework of healing that remains both relevant and insightful in understanding modern health. Prime Minister Narendra Modi has been a pivotal force in promoting the integration of Ayurveda with contemporary health sciences, fostering a healthcare model that values both preventive and holistic approaches. His vision underscores a sustainable healthcare framework where traditional systems of medicine, such as Ayurveda, play an essential role in enhancing the quality of life. This approach aligns with his broader agenda of sustainable health solutions for all, recognising Ayurveda's unique preventive and curative strengths rooted in millennia-old wisdom. Central to this vision are initiatives like the National AYUSH Mission and the establishment of Ayush Health and Wellness Centres (AHWCs), now known as Ayush Arogya Mandirs. These initiatives aim to reshape India's healthcare landscape, making AYUSH a socially viable, affordable, and complementary alternative to allopathic medicine.

Israel says it detained 100 suspected militants in raid on Gaza hospital

AP ■ JERUSALEM

Israel's military said it detained 100 suspected Hamas militants in a raid on a hospital in northern Gaza over the weekend. Israeli forces raided Kamal Adwan Hospital in Beit Lahiya on Friday, detaining 44 male staff, according to the World Health Organisation. Palestinian medical officials said the hospital, which was treating some 200 patients, was heavily damaged in the raid. Israel has raided several hospitals in Gaza over the course of the yearlong war, saying Hamas and other militants use them for military purposes. Palestinian medical officials deny those allegations and accuse the military of recklessly endangering civilians. The Israeli military has called on Palestinians to evacuate northern Gaza, where it has been waging a large offensive for more than three weeks. The UN said earlier this month at least 400,000 people are still in northern Gaza

X suspends new account of Iran's supreme leader

AP ■ JERUSALEM

The social platform X has suspended a new account on behalf of Iran's Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei that posted messages in Hebrew. The account was suspended early Monday with a brief note appended to it saying: "X suspends accounts which violate the X Rules". It wasn't immediately clear what the violation was. The Elon Musk-owned social media company did not respond to a request for comment from The Associated Press. The move came after Israel openly attacked Iran for the first time this weekend. Khamenei said in a speech on Sunday that Israel's strikes — in response to Iran's ballistic missile attack this month — "should not be exaggerated nor downplayed", while stopping short of calling for retaliation. The X account opened Sunday with a message in Hebrew reading: "In the name of God, the most merciful," a standard Islamic greeting. Khamenei's office has maintained multiple accounts for the 85-year-old supreme leader on X for years and has sent messages in a variety of languages in the past. A second message corresponded to a speech Khamenei gave on Sunday and was sent on his English account as: "Zionists are making a miscalculation with respect to Iran. They don't know Iran. They still haven't been able to correctly understand the power, initiative, and determination of the Iranian people." The message referred to Israel's attack Saturday on Iran. This isn't the first time Khamenei has seen a suspension or removal from social media. In February, Meta removed Facebook and Instagram accounts for the supreme leader over his support of the militant group Hamas after its October 7, 2023, attack on Israel. Social media platforms like X and Facebook have been blocked in Iran for years, requiring Iranians to use virtual private networks to access them.

Macron visits Morocco after change in his Western Sahara plan

AP ■ RABAT (MOROCCO)

French President Emmanuel Macron arrived Monday in Morocco, where he is expected to meet with the North African kingdom's leaders and discuss partnerships regarding trade, climate change and immigration. During the president's three-day visit to Rabat, he is scheduled to meet with King Mohammed VI and Prime Minister Aziz Akhannouch and address Morocco's Parliament. It comes months after Macron changed France's long-standing public position and backed Morocco's autonomy plan for the disputed Western Sahara. The move endeared the country to Morocco and alienated it from Algeria, which hosts refugee camps governed by the pro-independence Polisario Front and has long pushed for a UN-organised referendum to solve the conflict. In the days leading up to the visit, Moroccan publications lauded the "warm reunion" and a "new honeymoon" between the two countries while French flags were hung throughout Rabat. France and Morocco have historically partnered on issues ranging from counterterrorism to Western Sahara. Morocco is the top destination for French investment in Africa and France is Morocco's top trade partner. Morocco imports French cereals, renewable energy infrastructure like turbines and weapons. Morocco exports goods to France including tomatoes, cars and airplane parts. Moroccans are among the largest foreign-born communities in France, where North African immigrants are a key political constituency and a focal point of debates about the roles of Islam and immigration in French society. In recent months, France's new Interior Minister Bruno Retailleau has pushed for the country to take a hard-line approach toward immigration and seek deals with countries like Morocco to better prevent would-be migrants from crossing into Europe. On Macron's last visit to Morocco, he and King Mohammed VI inaugurated Al Boraq, Africa's first high-speed rail line, made possible by French financing and trains manufactured by the French firm Alstom. Despite close ties, relations have at times been fragile between France and Morocco, which was a French protectorate from 1912 to 1956. In 2021, Morocco suspended consular relations France momentarily reduced the number of visas offered to Moroccans in protest of its refusal to provide documents needed to deport people who migrated to France without authorisation. Relations between the two countries soured further that year when a 2021 report revealed Morocco's security services had used Israeli spyware to infiltrate the devices of activists and politicians, including Macron. Morocco denied and sued over the allegations.

Security Council schedules emergency meeting

AP ■ UNITED NATIONS

The UN Security Council scheduled an emergency meeting Monday afternoon at Iran's request on Israel's air strikes against the country. Switzerland, which holds the council's rotating presidency, announced the meeting on Sunday and said the Iranian request was supported by Russia, China and Algeria, the Arab representative on the council. Meanwhile, in Dubai, head of Iran's paramilitary Revolutionary Guard made his first public comments Monday after Israel's weekend attack on the country. Gen. Hossein Salami, in a condolence message to Iran's regular military, called Israel's strike "illegitimate and illegal." Four soldiers in Iran's air defense network were killed in the attack on Saturday, as was one civilian, Iranian state media say. The attack was "a sign of miscalculation and the inability" of Israel on the battlefield with Iranian-backed militants "particularly in Gaza and Lebanon." The "bitter consequences will be beyond the imagination of the occupiers," Salami added, referring to Israel. Iranian president vowed to respond appropriately to Israeli strikes: Iran's President Masoud Pezeshkian says his country will respond to Israel "appropriately," after Israel openly attacked Iranian military sites for the first time this weekend. "We are not seeking war, but we will defend the rights of our nation and country and will respond appropriately to the Zionist regime's aggression," Pezeshkian was quoted by state TV on Sunday as saying. Pezeshkian also said the US had promised Iran to stop the war in Gaza and Lebanon if Iran restrained. "They had promised to end the war in response to our restraint, but they did not keep their word," he said. The Iranian president also warned tensions will escalate if Israel's aggression continues, adding, "We know that the United States is encouraging Israel to commit these atrocities." Meanwhile, Iran announced on Sunday that a civilian had been killed in Israel's attack on the country, without offering any details on the circumstances of his death. The state-run IRNA news agency identified the dead man as Allahverdi Rahimpour and said he lived in a suburban area of southwestern Tehran. While offering no details on what he was doing or where he was killed, IRNA made a point to say he was not a member of Iran's armed forces. Iran has offered few details on the attack and the damage caused by them so far. Iraq submits protest to UN saying Israel violated its airspace in Iran attack: Iraq has submitted a memorandum of protest to the Secretary-General of the United Nations and the UN Security Council saying Israel violated its airspace in carrying out its attack on Iran over the weekend, the Iraqi prime minister's office said in a statement. Georgia's oppn to protest against poll outcome

AP ■ TBILISI (GEORGIA)

Opposition supporters in Georgia planned to hold a protest in the country's capital on Monday against the official results of a weekend parliamentary election in which the governing party was declared victorious amid voting irregularities and allegations of Russian meddling. Georgian President Salome Zourabichvili said Sunday she did not recognise the official results and that the country had fallen victim to a "Russian special operation" aimed at pulling it back into Moscow's orbit and derailing its plan to join the European Union. Zourabichvili, a fierce critic of the governing party, urged Georgians to rally on the main street of the capital, Tbilisi, on Monday night to protest what she called a "total falsification, a total stealing of your votes", raising the prospect of more political turmoil in the South Caucasus nation. US Secretary of State Antony Blinken said on the social media platform X that "the Georgian people embraced democracy yesterday" and urged Georgia's political leaders to "respect the rule of law, repeal legislation that undermines fundamental freedoms, address deficiencies in the electoral process, and move Georgia toward its Euro-Atlantic future." The Central Election Commission said Sunday that the governing Georgian Dream party received 54.8 per cent of Saturday's votes with almost all ballots counted. The party — established by Bidzina Ivanishvili, a shadowy billionaire who made his fortune in Russia — has become increasingly authoritarian over the past year, adopting laws similar to those used by the Kremlin to crack down on freedom of speech. The EU suspended Georgia's membership application process indefinitely because of a Russian-style "foreign influence law" passed in June. Many Georgians viewed Saturday's vote as a pivotal referendum on the opportunity to join the EU. The election campaign in the nation of 3.7 million people, which borders Russia, was marked by a bitter fight for votes and allegations of a smear campaign. European electoral observers said the election took place in a "divisive" environment marked by intimidation and instances of vote buying, double voting and physical violence. During the campaign, Georgian Dream used "anti-Western and hostile rhetoric... promoted Russian misinformation, manipulations, and conspiracy theories," said Antonio López-Istúriz White, the head of the European Parliament monitoring delegation. The election observers said instances of intimidation and electoral violations were particularly noticeable in rural areas.

Seven killed in Nigerian building collapse

AP ■ ABUJA

At least seven people died when a building collapsed in a suburban area of Nigeria's capital over the weekend, a local official said Monday. "We have called off search and rescue because we excavated and there was nobody left in the rubble," said Nkechi Isa, a spokesperson for the Abuja city emergency department. Building collapses are becoming increasingly common in Nigeria, with more than a dozen such incidents recorded in the last two years. Authorities often blame such disasters on failures to enforce building safety regulations and on poor maintenance. The building that collapsed Saturday, located in the Sabon-Lugbe area, had already been partly demolished and its structure was further compromised by scavengers looking for scrap metal.

UK to support India hub for female-led businesses as part of C'wealth drive

PTI ■ LONDON

The UK has unveiled a package of measures designed to boost intra-Commonwealth trade and investment, including a Commonwealth Investment Network and a hub in India to support female-led businesses. At the conclusion of the Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting (CHOGM) in Samoa last week, the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office (FCDO) in a statement on Sunday set out Britain's vision to increase "shared prosperity" for the 56-member organisation made up of some of the world's fastest-growing economies. Prime Minister Keir Starmer and Foreign Secretary David Lammy attended the summit which concluded on Friday. "UK announcements included funding for a Commonwealth Investment Network to encourage greater investment within small and climate-vulnerable Commonwealth countries, and support to establish hubs in India and Sri Lanka to support female-led businesses," the FCDO said. The UK has also indicated plans to increase its military and economic presence in the Indo-Pacific to support regional stability, including proposals for increased navy patrols to boost maritime security, combat illegal fishing and respond to natural disasters in the region. "My visit to the Pacific this week has only reinforced how important this part of the world is to the United Kingdom's prosperity and security, and I know across business, trade and defence we play a vital role in supporting the region too," Starmer said in a statement. "As responsible international players, we cannot turn a blind eye to the challenges faced by our friends and partners on the other side of the world, so my message today is clear: this is just the beginning of our commitment to the Indo-Pacific," he said. With a focus on empowering young people with access to education and skills, supporting democratic governance, human rights and the rule of law and helping protect vulnerable countries from the impacts of climate change, the UK's package of measures also includes additional funding for technical support from trade advisers to help small and vulnerable Commonwealth member states negotiate within the World Trade Organisation (WTO). A new scheme to train tax advisors to help developing Commonwealth economies boost their domestic tax revenue, support for Powering Renewable Energy Opportunities in six Pacific Island Countries, testing the application of clean energy technologies, and a new commitment to promote food security, climate resilience and economic growth in the Caribbean through the Inter-American Development Bank's new One Caribbean fund are among some of the other measures. Funding for a Commonwealth programme supporting countries to ratify the United Nations Agreement on the conservation and sustainable use of marine biological diversity in areas beyond national jurisdiction (BBNJ) and increased UK support for the Commonwealth's work to support democratic governance and the rule of law, which includes the deployment of election monitoring missions in Commonwealth countries, have also been finalised. Meanwhile, in a joint communique issued by Commonwealth leaders at the end of the summit, it was agreed that the "time has come" for a conversation about reparations for the slave trade and holding "inclusive conversations" to address the wrongs of the past.

NATO confirms N Korea sent troops to join Russia's war

AP ■ BRUSSELS

NATO on Monday confirmed that North Korean troops have been sent to Russia to aid in its almost three-year war against Ukraine and that some have already been deployed in Russia's Kursk border region, where Russia has been struggling to push back a Ukrainian incursion. "Today, I can confirm that North Korean troops have been sent to Russia, and that North Korean military units have been deployed to the Kursk region," NATO Secretary-General Mark Rutte told reporters. Rutte said the move represents "a significant escalation" in North Korea's involvement in the conflict and marks "a dangerous expansion of Russia's war. His remarks came after a high-level South Korean delegation including top intelligence and military officials as well as senior diplomats briefed the alliance's 32 national ambassadors at NATO headquarters in Brussels. Rutte said NATO is "actively consulting within the alliance, with Ukraine, and with our Indo-Pacific partners," on developments and that he is due to talk soon with South Korea's president and Ukraine's defence minister. "We continue to monitor the situation closely," he said. Adding thousands of North Korean soldiers to Europe's biggest conflict since World War II will pile more pressure on Ukraine's weary and overstretched army, as well as stoking geopolitical tensions in the Korean Peninsula and the wider Indo-Pacific region, including Japan and Australia, Western officials say. Russian President Vladimir Putin is keen to reshape global power dynamics. He sought to build a counterbalance to Western influence with a summit of BRICS countries, including the leaders of China and India, in Russia last week. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy, citing intelligence reports, claimed last Friday that North Korean troops would be on the battlefield within days. He previously said his government has information that some 10,000 troops from North Korea were being readied to join Russian forces fighting against his country. Days before Zelenskyy spoke, American and South Korean officials said there was evidence North Korea had dispatched troops to Russia. The US said around 3,000 North Korean troops had been deployed to Russia for training.

Trajectory of Ukraine war hangs on outcome of US election

AP ■ KYIV

After a whirlwind Western tour, Kyiv's leaders have tried to promote their version of what President Volodymyr Zelenskyy calls his "victory plan." They hope key decisions will be made — including Ukraine's bid for NATO membership — by the new administration. For now, they have no choice but to wait. "We believe that regardless of the last name of the future president of the US, the country of the United States will not give up global dominance, global leadership as such. And this is possible only through the support of Ukraine and through the defeat of the Russian Federation," said Mykhailo Podolyak, an adviser to Zelenskyy. Harris would likely continue Biden's policies: Harris, who has decried President Vladimir Putin's "brutality," would likely carry on President Joe Biden's policy of support, albeit within the strict limits on Ukraine's ability to strike deep inside

Russian territory that have frustrated Kyiv's leaders. "President Biden has made it clear from the beginning of this conflict that his top priority has been to avoid an all-out war with Russia. I think that remains the top American priority," said Malcom Chalmers, deputy director general at the Royal United Services Institute in London. The US has provided Ukraine more than USD 59.5 billion in military weapons and assistance since Russia invaded in February 2022. But throughout, Kyiv has been captive to fraught American politics that often undermined its battlefield potential. Ukraine lost territory and manpower as weapons stocks dwindled during the six months it took the US Congress to pass an aid package. Even promised military assistance has failed to arrive on time or in sufficient quantities. Ukraine is still hoping for Western approval of strikes inside Russian territory with longer-range weapons supplied by its allies. It also holds hundreds of square kilometres in Russia's Kursk region after an incursion in August. Still, Biden's commitment to support Ukraine has never wavered. Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin announced a USD 400 million package during his recent visit. Zelenskyy said he expects another worth USD 800 million, the first tranche for Ukraine's production of long-range capabilities. Still another USD 8 billion is expected by the end of the year. Trump's vague vows and praise for Putin: Trump has repeatedly taken issue with US aid to Ukraine, made vague vows to end the war and has praised Putin. He also is considered highly unpredictable. Some Ukrainian officials even privately welcome this quality, saying it could bring about results quicker. But so much is unknown about what decisions Trump would make.

"He has emphasised that he has a very different approach to Ukraine than Kamala Harris. And if what he's saying now is translated into action, then it's going to be a very rocky period for Ukraine," Chalmers said. "Donald Trump is raising the very distinct probability that the United States will cut off most if not all military aid to Ukraine, which given that the situation on the ground, although deadlocked, is one which Russia currently has the advantage, could tip the balance in Russia's favour," he added. Podolyak said Trump "understands the logic" of Zelenskyy's plans after meeting with him. "Mr. Trump realised that there is no way to agree on something in this war, because it is necessary to ensure Russia's compulsion to understand what a war is, what consequences Russia will have in this war. That is, Russia can be forced to do something, but not asked."

US voters concerned about post-election violence, efforts to overturn results: AP-NORC poll

At least 40 soldiers are killed in attack on military base, Chad's president says

AP DAKAR (SENEGAL)

Chad's presidency said at least 40 soldiers were killed by unidentified assailants during a Sunday night attack on a military base in the country's west.

Nigeria. In June nine people were killed and more than 40 injured when a fire set off explosions at a military ammunition depot in the capital, N'Djamena. In March, an attack the government blamed on Boko Haram killed seven soldiers, reviving fears of violence in the Lake Chad area after a period of peace following a successful operation launched in 2020 by the Chadian army to destroy the extremist group's bases there. Schools, mosques and churches reopened and humanitarian organizations returned. Boko Haram, which launched an insurgency more than a decade ago against Western education, seeks to establish Islamic law in Nigeria's north-east. The insurgency has spread to West African neighbors including Cameroon, Niger and Chad.

Prominent HR lawyer, husband held in Pak

PTI ISLAMABAD

Pakistan's prominent human rights lawyer Imaan Zainab Mazari-Hazir and her husband Hadi Ali were arrested on Monday for allegedly creating a security situation by interfering in the official work. Imaan and Ali were arrested after they tried to remove barriers installed by the police on the occasion of a recently concluded test match between England and Pakistan. "Taking legal action, Islamabad police have arrested Imaan Mazari and Hadi Ali as per the law and regulations for creating a security risk by interfering in state duties during an international cricket team's visit," the police said in a post on X. A case has been registered against them, and Imaan was transferred to the women's police station, police said. Imaan's mother, former human rights minister Shireen Mazari, said that her daughter was arrested in the morning. "Imaan Mazari has been arrested this morning. State fascism in full swing," she said in a post on X. She claimed that the Islamabad police on Friday had "swung a steel barrier deliberately into her, assaulting her," referring to a purported video being shared on X. She also alleged that the police action had "injured" her daughter. It is not the first time that Imaan has been arrested. In August last year, Imaan was arrested by the Islamabad police along with former lawmaker Ali Wazir in a seditious case over a rally made at a speech.

India and Saudi to discuss ways to boost cooperation

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The global economic and industry Minister Piyush Goyal will discuss ways to increase cooperation with Saudi Arabia in areas like renewable energy, digital infrastructure, and manufacturing during his two-day visit, an official statement said on Monday. The visit to Riyadh will begin on Tuesday. The commerce and industry ministry said Goyal will participate in the Future Investment Initiative (FII) in Riyadh, a crucial platform that brings together global leaders, investors, and innovators. His participation will highlight India's rapid economic growth, its focus on sustainable development, AI, and the immense opportunities in sectors like renewable energy, digital infrastructure, and advanced manufacturing, it said. On the sidelines of the FII, the minister will engage with prominent global investors. "These interactions aim to strengthen investor confidence, facilitate investment flows, and promote India as a preferred global investment destination," it said. He will also hold bilateral meetings with key Saudi ministers, including the Minister of Commerce, Minister of Industry and Mineral Resources, Minister of Investment, and Minister of Energy, to discuss collaborative efforts in energy transition, digital transformation, and trade facilitation. Further, he will co-chair the second ministerial meeting of the Economy and Investment Committee under the India-

Saudi Strategic Partnership Council, focusing on sectors like agriculture, food security, energy, technology, and infrastructure. India is the second largest trade partner for Saudi Arabia whereas Saudi Arabia is India's fourth largest trading partner. The bilateral trade between the two countries stood at USD 43 billion in 2023-24 as against USD 53 billion in 2022-23. Over 2,700 Indian companies are registered as joint ventures/100 percent owned entities, with investments worth about USD 2 billion in the Kingdom. Major Indian companies and corporate groups such as L&T, TATA, Wipro, TCS, TCI, Shapoorji & Pallonji have established a strong presence in Saudi Arabia. Saudi direct investments in India amounted to USD 3.22 billion during April 2000 and June 2024. Major Saudi investment groups include ARAMCO, SABIC, ZAMIL, E-holidays, and Al Batterjee Group. The strengthening of India's financial sector. The soundness of our banking system marked by low levels of NPAs (nonperforming assets) and enhanced provisioning for bad loans reflects the reforms we have undertaken to improve asset quality," she said. She added that by 2047, as India celebrates 100 years of independence, "we will have a chance to define a new era of prosperity, not just for our own citizens, but for the global community as well. India's role in the world is expanding, and we stand ready to engage constructively with the international community, sharing our innovations and contributing to global peace and prosperity," she said, as she cited the example of the COVID-19 pandemic during which India supplied vaccines developed and manufactured by it to nations across the world. "The coming decades will be defined by how effectively India manages its demographic dividend, strengthens its global partnerships, and navigates the complexity of a rapidly changing world," she said.

Transformer steel shortage could impact India's energy ambitions: GTRI

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Shortage of Cold-Rolled Grain-Oriented (CRGO) steel used for making transformers and electric motors could impact India's ambitious power sector expansion plans, think tank GTRI said on Monday. The Global Trade Research Initiative (GTRI) said that India's power sector is facing a 30 per cent shortage of CRGO steel, essential for electric motors and transformers. With domestic production meeting only about 10-12 per cent of demand, India relies heavily on imports, it added. It said the immediate cause of the CRGO steel shortage is import uncertainty caused by the delayed license renewals by the Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) for many foreign suppliers from Japan, South Korea and China. Many of the licenses are set to expire soon, causing shortages and uncertainty in the power sector, it said, adding that foreign suppliers require BIS certification under a Quality Control Order, which ensures quality but restricts options to a few approved grades and vendors. The entire BIS process needs an urgent review by independent auditors, the think tank said. "In the long term, India must prioritise local production, as CRGO is now considered a strategic material, and supply may remain limited. Without action, this shortage could jeopardise India's ambitious energy goals," GTRI Founder Ajay Srivastava said. CRGO's grain orientation reduces energy loss, making it essential for transformer cores, which are central to India's power distribution network. In FY 2024, India, one of the largest consumers of CRGO steel, required 400,000 tonnes. With only 50,000 tonnes produced domestically, it had to import 239.2 thousand tonnes from countries like China, Japan, Russia and South Korea. After exporting 11.4 thousand tonnes, only 277.8 thousand tonnes were available for local use, leaving a shortfall of 122.2 thousand tonnes, or 30.6 per cent of total demand, it said.

It added that India's CRGO demand is expected to grow by 10-12 per cent annually, driven by the expanding power sector and the goal to integrate 500 GW of renewable energy into the grid by 2030. Srivastava said that the demand will also grow as the Bureau of Energy Efficiency has mandated a star-label upgrade for distribution transformers starting January 1, 2025, pushing the industry to seek higher-grade CRGO steel. "This CRGO shortage could impact energy and manufacturing targets. This shortage also limits India's transformer and motor exports. Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs), who need small amounts of this steel, are hit hardest, as prices have soared due to uncertain supplies," he added. To address the CRGO steel shortage, immediate and long-term measures are essential, he said, adding that the BIS should expedite its approval process for CRGO imports to prevent license expirations and ensure a steady supply. Additionally, BIS should expand the list of approved CRGO grades and suppliers to support smaller manufacturers and MSMEs, who are the most vulnerable to these shortages, he added. "At the government level, support for domestic production is crucial, and allowing zero-duty imports of raw materials for CRGO production, as seen in countries like China, the US and Germany, could boost local output," it said. Building a CRGO plant would require significant investment of around USD 400-USD 600 million for a facility with an annual capacity of 100,000-150,000 tonnes and could take 3-5 years to complete, with potential government incentives supporting this development, it said. The Quality Control Order (QCO) for CRGO steel, implemented by the Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) in 2020, mandates that all CRGO steel imported for use in India must meet specific performance standards under BIS certification, it added.

Consumers exploring both luxury, sustainable mobility alternatives: Survey

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Consumers are exploring both luxury and sustainable alternatives, setting the stage for a new era in the Indian automotive sector, according to a survey by Grant Thornton Bharat. As per the survey -- "Shifting Gears: Understanding Passenger Vehicle Market Trends", 85 per cent of the respondents were considering premium models and there is an increasing preference for hybrid vehicles over electric vehicles (EVs). The survey gathered insights from over 3,500 respondents across the country. According to the survey, 40 per cent of respondents now prefer hybrid vehicles, compared to only 17 per cent favouring EVs. In contrast, 34 per cent still lean toward petrol vehicles, reflecting the transitional nature of the market, it said. This growing alignment with hybrids suggests that consumers are exploring sustainable options, while waiting for more robust EV infrastructure and incentives, the survey found. Therefore, with hybrid vehicles gaining traction, they are expected to act as a bridge, building consumer familiarity with alternative technologies and ultimately accelerating future EV adoption, it opined. This trend underscores the need for automakers to focus on both hybrid and electric solutions to meet evolving consumer expectations and prepare for a sustainable automotive future, as per the survey findings. "As market dynamics evolve, automakers must adapt to shifting consumer preferences," Grant Thornton Bharat Partner and Auto & EV Industry Leader Saket Mehra said. Elaborating on further findings, he noted that the festive season, which typically accounts for 30-40 per cent of annual sales, is critical for the Indian automotive industry. However, high inventory levels, weather disruptions, and regional elections have tempered growth this year, he added. The utility vehicle (UV) and sports utility vehicle (SUV) segments have continued to drive the market, witnessing 13 per cent year-on-year growth and now making up 65 per cent of passenger vehicle (PV) sales, he said. Despite a muted first half of FY25, with overall domestic sales rising by just 0.5 per cent, the sustained demand for SUVs and UVs reflects the growing consumer preference for versatile vehicles, Mehra said. However, inventory levels remain a challenge, with 7.9 lakh units worth Rs 79,000 crore stockpiled as of September 2024, he added. Automakers have an opportunity to meet rising consumer demand through substantial festive discounts, with nearly 90 per cent of respondents expecting such offers, Mehra said. The survey also found that subscription models launched by companies are also gaining traction. Besides, there is an increased demand for safety features in the car models. Growing consumer awareness has shifted the focus to vehicle safety, with advanced safety features becoming a top priority for buyers, overtaking traditional factors like design or performance, it said.

Air India gets DGCA nod to carry out in-house modifications of aircraft interiors

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) approved a proposal from Air India to carry out modifications in aircraft interiors in-house as the Tata Group-owned airline works on revamping its fleet and expanding operations. The full-service carrier has a collaboration with Tata Technologies to enhance aircraft interiors in its fleet. In a release on Monday, Air India said the Design Organisation Approval (DOA) from the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) will enable the airline to independently make design changes in-house and implement modifications to its aircraft interiors more efficiently. "DOA is a transformative step towards enhancing Air India's in-house capabilities, which has been bolstered by decisions to set up its own engineering, maintenance and training facilities. This will enhance operational efficiency and make the airline more self-reliant," it added. An official said the approval will also allow Air India to offer the services to other Indian airlines in the future. Air India is the first Indian airline to attain this level of authorisation, accelerating its ability to execute restoration tasks for continuous improvement of its fleet, the release said. Air India Chief Executive Officer and Managing Director Campbell Wilson said the approval reaffirms its capabilities to maintain the fleet and commitment to enhancing the customer experience of its aircraft interiors. "By leveraging our global aerospace expertise, we are committed to delivering next-generation aircraft interiors that not only meet the highest standards of functionality and safety but also enhance customer satisfaction," Tata Technologies Chief Executive Officer and Managing Director Warren Harris said. The approval also comes at a time when Air India is retrofitting its legacy planes and has also placed significant orders for new aircraft. According to the release on Monday, the partnership with Tata Technologies will help Air India streamline its operations by integrating innovative digital thread solutions and smart maintenance, repair, and overhaul (MRO) services. "This will improve operational efficiency, reduce downtime, and ensure that Air India's fleet remains fit to fly, further enhancing passenger safety, comfort and operational reliability," the release said. Tata Air India Group has three airlines -- Air India, Air India Express and Vistara, which is a joint venture between Tatas and Singapore Airlines. Air India and Air India Express together have more than 230 planes. Vistara, which has a fleet of 70 planes, is set to be merged with Air India on November 11.

India remains highly dependent on imports of critical minerals: Report

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

India remains highly dependent on imports for minerals critical to accelerating its energy transition, with a full reliance on shipping in lithium, cobalt and nickel, according to a report released Monday. The report, published by the Institute for Energy Economics and Financial Analysis (IEEFA), said that India's demand for critical minerals is expected to more than double by 2030, while domestic mining operations may take over a decade to start producing. It stresses that India needs a carefully crafted import strategy to mitigate potential trade risks while balancing international relationships to secure these essential minerals. IEEFA's report examines five critical minerals (and their compounds) - cobalt, copper, graphite, lithium and nickel - from the perspectives of import dependency, trade dynamics, domestic availability, and global price fluctuations. The findings show that India remains largely import-dependent for these minerals and their compounds, with 100 per cent import reliance for minerals like lithium, cobalt, and nickel. "India should strive to de-risk its critical minerals sourcing by identifying new international resources and expediting domestic production. A concerted effort to partner with and foster bilateral relations with mineral-rich nations should be a priority for India," said the report's co-author Charith Konda, Energy Specialist, IEEFA. "The country can also explore investment opportunities in resource-rich, friendly nations, such as Australia and Chile, as well as African countries like Ghana and South Africa," he added. The report said India depends heavily on China for synthetic graphite and natural graphite and it should explore cooperation initiatives with countries like Mozambique, Madagascar, Brazil and Tanzania which are some of the highest graphite producing countries. "As part of the Global South cooperation initiatives, these countries could be favourable partners for India for graphite trading," said the report's co-author Kaira Rakheja, Energy Analyst, IEEFA. India is also highly import-dependent for copper cathodes and nickel sulphates from just two countries - Japan and Belgium. The report suggests India could look at the US, the fifth largest producer of copper in the world, to diversify its suppliers and enhance supply security. For minerals like lithium oxide and nickel oxide, the dependency is low on one country, but overall imports largely come from Russia and China, both countries with potential trade risks. "Developing domestic lithium refining capacity will help India integrate with the global lithium supply chain," said Rakheja. The report also notes the significant efforts that the Indian government is making to improve domestic production of critical minerals with the auctions by the Ministry of Mines and the planned Critical Minerals Mission. "The critical minerals mining block auctions can serve as an opportunity for India to focus on building refining and processing capabilities to emerge as a global value-adding hub," said Rakheja. "Government support in the form of viability gap funding and technology development will help promote such auctions and ultimately the domestic production of critical minerals. A stable supply of critical minerals is imperative for India to achieve its renewable energy goals," Konda said. India has committed to achieving 500 gigawatts (GW) of non-fossil fuel-based electricity installed capacity by 2030. Currently, the country's renewable energy installed capacity stands at 211 GW, with solar energy accounting for 91 GW.

CHIRAG CHIKKARA CLINCHES GOLD AS INDIA SHINES WITH NINE MEDALS

PTI ■ TIRANA (ALBANIA)
Chirag Chikkara became only the third Indian to become Under-23 world champion as India capped a rich haul of nine medals, including a gold and silver each, at the age group tournament here. Chikkara, competing in the men's freestyle 57kg category, eked out a narrow 4-3 in the closing seconds of the final win over Abdymalik Karachov of Kyrgyzstan. He becomes the second Indian man, after Paris Olympics bronze medalist Aman Sehrawat, to win the gold at the U23 Championships. Sehrawat had achieved the feat in the same category in the 2022 edition of the meet while Reetika Hooda had become the first Indian woman to bag a gold at the tournament when she won in the 76kg category last year. Ravi Kumar Dahiya had also won a silver in the U23 World Championships in 2018. Chikkara reached the final after a series of dominant performances, defeating Gaokoto Ozawa 6-1 in the pre-quarterfinals, Lunus Iavbatirov 12-2 in the last eight stage and Allan Oralbek 8-0 in the semifinals. India's medal haul in the men's freestyle category also included two bronze medals, placing the nation fourth in the team standings with 82 points, trailing Iran (158), Japan (102), and Azerbaijan (100). India also won two more bronze in men's freestyle taking the country's medal count in the category to four that secured the nation a fourth place in the team rankings. Iran topped the team rankings with 158 points followed by Japan (102), Azerbaijan (100) and INida (82). Vicky defeated former U20 World Championships silver medalist and European junior champion Ivan Prymachenko of Ukraine with a convincing 7-2 margin to win bronze in the men's 97kg freestyle event. It is the highest weight category at which India have medalled at this tournament. Vicky had defeated Merab Suleimanishvili of Georgia via fall in round of 16, Radu Lefter of Moldova 5-0 in quarterfinal before losing to Mahdi Hajiloueiyan Morafah of Iran in semifinals. Having narrowly missed a final berth the other day, Sajeet Kalkal bounced back from being 0-4 down to beat Mustafu Akhmedov of Tajikistan 13-4 and win bronze in men's 70kg freestyle. Sajeet had beaten Georgi Antoanov Zhizgov 10-0 in round of 32, Tugsjargal Erdenebat 7-4 in pre-quarters, Narek Pohosian 6-1 before losing to eventual gold medalist Magomed Basir Khaniev 4-8 in the final seconds of the semifinal. Abhishek Dhaka had earlier won a bronze as India finished with four medals (one gold and three bronze), bettering their previous year's performance where they had bagged two bronze in the freestyle category. The Indian women's wrestling team also excelled earlier, bringing home one silver and three bronze medals: Anjali claimed silver in the 59kg category, while Neha Sharma (57kg), Shiksha (65kg), and Monika (68kg) each secured bronze. Additionally, Vishvajit More earned a bronze in the men's 55kg Greco-Roman category, rounding off India's impressive tally at the championships.

Perez job in jeopardy as Red Bull boss refuses to confirm Mexican driver will finish F1 season

AP ■ MEXICO CITY
Sergio Perez climbed into his car for the Mexico City Grand Prix as nearly 155,000 fans at his home race shouted "Checo! Checo! Checo!" in adoration of the wildly popular Formula 1 driver. It was a critical race for the slumping Perez - he said repeatedly all weekend it is his favorite event of the year - and he knows his job is in danger because of his lack of performance.

Alas, Perez could not deliver for his hopeful fans or for Red Bull Racing. After a 17th-place finish Sunday, team principal Christian Horner would not guarantee Perez will finish the season. Horner had been emphatic two days earlier that the contract extension Perez signed earlier this year was valid for 2025. But he has performance clauses in his existing contract, and when The Associated Press asked Horner directly if Perez would finish this season, Horner refused to endorse the driver for the final four races. "There comes a point in time that difficult decisions have to be made," Horner said. "We're now third in the constructors championship." Horner did say Perez would be in the car next weekend in Brazil.

Horner admitted the Mexican "had a horrible weekend" that started when he was eliminated in the first round of Saturday qualifying, relegating him to an 18th-place starting position. Perez was then outside his box at the start and received a five-second penalty. He later got into a wheel-to-wheel battle with Liam Lawson of Red Bull sister team RB, and the contact caused damage that made Perez's car uncompetitive. A win by Carlos Sainz moved Ferrari ahead of Red Bull for second in the lucrative constructor standings and the two-time reigning champions of the prize that pays an estimated $150 million is now a longshot to win it for the third consecutive year. Red Bull's slip in that category is largely because of Perez's failures. He's eighth in the standings, winless on the year, and crashed out of three races. "He knows Formula 1 is a results-based business, and you know, inevitably, when you're not delivering, then the spotlight is firmly on," Horner said. "When anyone is underperforming, there is always going to be scrutiny on that. You know, as a team, we need to have both (drivers) scoring points."

Harry Kane scores his 15th goal of the season as Bayern Munich cruises to 5-0 win at Bochum

AP ■ MUNICH
Harry Kane scored his 15th goal of the season as Bayern Munich eased to a 5-0 win over Bochum in the Bundesliga to lift some of the gloom from its heavy midweek loss at Barcelona. Jamal Musiala scored a header and set up Kane's goal in Musiala's first start since Oct. 2 following a hip injury in a win that looked like a return to business as usual for Bayern following one win from its previous five games in all competitions. "We just want to take a step forward in every game and we enjoy scoring goals," Musiala told broadcaster DAZN. Of the 4-1 loss to Barcelona on Wednesday, he added: "It was really bitter and it hurt us, but we're looking ahead." Michael Olise got Bayern started when he lofted a free kick over the wall and into the net in the 16th minute, before Musiala headed in for 2-0 soon after. Musiala dribbled past a defender and passed for Kane to score in the 57th. The England captain has nine Bundesliga goals this season, making him the league's joint-top scorer with Eintracht Frankfurt's Omar Marmoush. Leroy Sané, who's struggled for fitness in recent months, came off the bench to score his first Bundesliga goal in nearly a year in style with a drive into the top-left corner. Kingsley Coman made it five with a shot that bounced in off the crossbar. Bayern reclaimed top spot on goal difference ahead of Leipzig, which had moved up to first Saturday with a 3-1 win over Freiburg. A 3-2 loss at Bochum last season helped lose Bayern Munich the title, and the home team nearly took a shock lead early in Sunday's game. Moritz Broschinski beat Kim Min-Jae to a long pass and shot past goalkeeper Manuel Neuer, but his effort was so lacking in power that Kim was able to chase it down and clear it before it crossed the line. In the end, it was more misery for a team which is last in the Bundesliga and on Sunday marked exactly five months since its last win in a competitive game. Bochum fired coach Peter Zeidler last week after eight games and no wins in all competitions, and has named coaches Markus Feldhoff and Murat Ural in joint charge "until further notice."
