Team India lifts the World Cup Time for Mahisasura Mardini

RISHAB MALIK ■ NEW DELHI

The air crackled with anticipation of India and Pakistan cricket match. Once again in the ICC tournament India beat Pakistan in Women's T20 World Cup group stage match by 6 wickets. India chased down the target of 105 in 18.5 overs, after losing the toss. Indian bowlers gave a much needed start by taking the wicket of Gul Feroza in the first over of the match. India's bowling outclassed the batting line-up of the opposition in this crucial match after they got beaten in the heavy match against New Zealand in the first game by 58 runs on the slow track. Indian star bowler Shreyanka Patil ended her spell with 2 wickets in the bank with one maiden over and Anuradhi Reddy put the Pakistan innings on hold with 3 wickets and an economical spell in the match. For Pakistan, Nida Dar was the highest run scorer of the team who managed to lead the team total across the mark of 100, she came in the middle order to anchor the innings after the failure of top order in high voltage game. Chasing the target, India came hard on Pakistan. Opening duo Shafali Verma and Smriti Mandhana start their partnership where Shafali's attacking innings of 32 was the highest individual score for the team after she losing her partner Mandhana early in the innings. Shafali Verma couldn't lead the team for long in the run chase. Middle order batter Jemimah Rodrigues and Captain Harmanpreet Kaur's steady partnership gave the team solidity in successfully chasing the target. Pakistan is still in the league with upcoming match against defending champions Australia on Friday. India managed to win this match keeping 6 wickets after a slow start in power play without hitting a boundary. India made their mark with first win of the tournament and will go from here to face Sri Lanka on Wednesday and try to enter the semi final stage.

Parties seek recognition in Jammu and Kashmir

PIONEER NEWS SERC ■ JAMMU/ NEW DELHI/ CHANDIGARH

With Haryana and Jammu and Kashmir polls becoming crucial and a matter of prestige for both the major political parties — BJP and Congress — the duo soon after the Exit Poll predictions huddled for the Government formation in both the places with 90 members of Assembly each. While Congress exuded confidence and rallied behind the exit polls saying they shall better the mark even more, BJP which is in power in Haryana for last 10 years rejected exit poll predictions. BJP, Congress, the INLD-BSP and the JJP-Azad Samaj Party alliances, and the Aam Aadmi Party are the key poll contestants. However, a direct fight between the ruling BJP and Congress was expected in most seats. Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini claimed his party BJP will form the Government in the state with full majority for a third time when the results are announced on October 8. Congress will blame the Electronic Voting Machines (EVMs) for their defeat, he said, attacking the opposition party, which is ahead in the race, according to most exit polls. Former Haryana Chief Minister Bhupinder Singh Hooda said he was expecting a comfortable majority for the Congress and cited the exit polls reports. Congress stalwarts Hooda, Kumari Selja and Randeep Singh Surjewala, who also exercised their right to vote, said their party would form the next Government. Post the exit poll results the political parties in Jammu and Kashmir were not enthused with the predictions and are now waiting for the 'janta ka report card' on October 8. Various exit polls have predicted a hung assembly in Jammu and Kashmir, with the National Conference-Congress alliance expected to come closer to the halfway mark in the 95-member house. The Independent candidates from both regions are expected to play the crucial role of 'Kingmakers'. BJP J and State Unit Chief Ravinder Raina, who has contested from the Nowshera Assembly segment, claimed the BJP will emerge as the single largest political party winning close to 35 seats. Raina also clarified the party will not join hands with the Sheikh Abdul Rashid-led Awami Ittehad Party (AIP) or Independent candidates supported by the banned Jamaat-e-Islami. Senior party leaders also took stock of the situation and briefed the central leadership. BJP National General Secretary Tarun Chugh on Sunday said that his party will form the Government in both Haryana and Jammu and Kashmir in the recently concluded Assembly elections, adding that BJP will get the blessings of the people. In Srinagar, former Chief Minister and Vice President of the Jammu and Kashmir National Conference Omar Abdullah reacted along the expected lines. He labelled the exit poll a 'time pass'. JKPC Chief Tariq Hamid Karra said, "We are eagerly waiting for the actual results on October 8. A PDP candidate from the Lal Chowk Assembly segment Zuhab Yusuf Mir hinted that they can join the National Conference-Congress alliance to keep the BJP out of power.

Artist collapses at Ram Leela performance

SAUMYA SHUKLA ■ NEW DELHI

In yet another alarming case of death due to sudden heart attack, a 56-year-old man died after he suffered a heart attack on stage while performing the role of Lord Rama at a Ramleela in Vishwakarma Nagar of Shahdara on Sunday. According to police, the deceased, identified as Sushil Kaushik, was a property dealer who became unconscious while performing in Ramleela. DCP Shahdara Surendra Chaudhary said that following the incident, he was shifted to Kailash Deepak Hospital in Anand Vihar. Reacting to the incident on social media, Delhi

Minister Saurabh Bharadwaj said the death could be linked with COVID vaccine. "It is a common discussion that after the COVID-19 vaccine, such cases are continuously appearing in India, where young people are dying of heart attacks while walking," he said on X. A video of the incident is being widely circulated on social media where Sushil can be seen performing the scene and then rushing backstage with visible discomfort. According to the family, Sushil, who is survived by his wife and two children, experienced the discomfort around 1 pm. Rahul Kaushik, a relative of the deceased, stated that Sushil was one of the founding members of the "Jai Shri Ramleela" committee. "Uncle had been performing the role of Raja Ram since 1987. He also used to sing," he said. His wife and son, present there, rushed him to a nearby hospital, where he was put on a ventilator and was declared dead after one hour. A person known to the deceased described him as a man who was healthy, happy and humorous and claimed that he had no prior health conditions that could explain the sudden cardiac pulmonary arrest.

Rape and murder find more voice in Bengal

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KULTALI/JOYNAGAR

Der lokkho taka nin aar kete poron (Have Rs 1.5 lakh and get lost). That is what the parents of a rape victim was told by the cops of Narendrapur Police Station in South 24 Parganas after the girl committed suicide failing to bear the ignominy and harassment of her parents who ran from pillar to post spending Rs 9 lakh for two years to get justice. All this while, the rapists who roamed freely — after obtaining bail — threatened the victim's family and even got her house robbed when they did not withdraw their complaints. The police simply looked the other way. The teenager was raped in 2020 and she ended her life in 2022 as her parents failed to get her justice. The incident — dating back two years — that was nearly dead and forgotten suddenly rematerialised on Saturday after an 11-year-old girl was raped and murdered at Mahishmari village in Joynagar sub-division once again in South 24 Parganas district. Not wholly out of coincidence perhaps, the Saturday's victim and the previous one who committed suicide happened to be first cousins. "We have no security ... is this the price of being born a girl in

Bengal ... you get out of your house to be seized, consumed and scythed by the wild beasts and you have nowhere to go ... because the police are all bought over ... I have been knocking every possible door but in vain ... I lost my daughter ... a hard-earned Rs 9 lakh and an additional punishment by way of my house getting robbed for not withdrawing the case," said Amrita (name changed) insisting "today no woman is safe. There tends to be one similarity between the rape that took place at Narendrapur and the one at RG Kar Medical College and Hospital where a lady doctor was raped and murdered on August 9. In both the cases the police offered money to hush up the case. While in the RG Kar case a senior IPS officer had offered a fat packet stuffed with notes to the father of the victim, in the Narendrapur incident the mother of the victim was offered Rs 1.5 lakhs. "As though everything can be sold ... even honour or life ... the police officers told me to get lost taking Rs 1.5 lakhs ... I know because we are poor we will not get justice ... and now brother's daughter is dead ... Why would not they take me ... I would have gone with them ... why would they tear my daughter off and eat her," she wailed at the heavens.

UN out of sync with reality: India

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Sunday described United Nations as an old company that does not entirely keep up with the market but occupies space. Citing many examples of inactions, he said that UN does not step up on key issues around the world. Jaishankar was speaking at the third Kautilya Economic Conclave, here. Jaishankar also drew symmetry between companies and countries, giving an example of the UN being an old company, not keeping up with the markets but occupying space for the same. "In a way, the UN is like an old company, not entirely keeping up with the market but occupying the space. When it's behind times, in this world to have start-ups, and innovations, different people start doing their own things," said Jaishankar in the conclave. The External Affairs Minister also highlighted the United Nations' global function, even though the organisation may function sub-optimally, "it is still the only multilateral game in town," he said. "So, what you have today, is yes there is an UN at the end of the day, however suboptimal it is in functioning, it is still the only multilateral game in town but when it does not step up on key issues, countries figure out their own ways of doing it," said Jaishankar. He also highlighted that when the United Nations is behind, it is time to have start-ups and innovations, the people start to do their own things. Jaishankar highlighted the UN's goal to mainstream principal players with the market trends, in the situation when they are not, he said that countries like companies start doing their own thing. "Now, they would like to mainstream that into the market and see that the principal players are in-tune with these trends, but when they are not, I think countries, as companies do, start doing their own things," said the External Affairs Minister. He also highlighted the organisation's lack of action during global events such as the COVID-19 pandemic. "Think about what the UN did on COVID. I think the answer is not very much," he said. The Minister said that countries had to come up with their own initiatives, like COVAX. "I think increasingly you find combinations of countries who come together and say, let's agree on this and let's go and do it...the UN will continue, but increasingly there's a non-UN space," said Jaishankar.

Not only administration, roads users too be blamed

Fear of traffic chaos spoils the festive season fun

BY KUSHAN MITRA

With the beginning of Navratra last week which also kick-starts the festive season that goes on for about two months leaving people in a joyous mood. However, that mood is tempered by the knowledge that across India, there will be traffic chaos on the streets, which now also affects the smaller cities as they are perhaps led by the 'example' set by major cities like Delhi, Mumbai, Bengaluru, Kolkatta, Ahmedabad, Hyderabad amongst others. Millions will have to spend hours in the traffic, stuck on the roads breathing noxious fumes that could otherwise have been spent with their families. Despite large investments in public transport across India, poor traffic management especially in commercial areas have made matters worse. And this is not just the fault of the traffic police, lack of proper zoning regulations and enforcement have led to commercial areas being built up in the middle of residential zones. And then there is also the lack of civic sense, as people will happily block traffic for their own convenience. In fact, it is the last factor that is completely in our own control and many of us blithely ignore it. However, as the Biblical saying goes, 'Let he who has not sinned, cast the first stone', and I will admit that I have also been guilty of infractions in the past, even if it was for a few minutes. While there are many factors that can be improved from the quality of city roads and the availability of parking areas, the first step can be made by ourselves by not only increasing usage of public transport but also being better citizens. The authorities will have to step up also, better planning for parking is a must. While some multi-storey parking lots have been established in Delhi and Mumbai, many more need to be built. The traffic police will need to manage traffic better and clamp down on illegal parking. And of course, municipalities and public works departments will need to fix the roads. We have to make the festive season an occasion to celebrate, not an occasion to be stuck in a car or motorcycle. Traffic, transport and road experts says that wrongful parking too creates a traffic menace and the problem augments during the festive season. Markets and the peripheral localities are choked due to the vehicle chaos. "We have been imposing heavy penalty on wrong parking on the roads still vehicle users need to understand first that they should be responsible. Chandni Chowk area used to be full of chaos. Now a systematic plan is in place for last couple of years as no vehicles are allowed in the main arterial roads," said a senior Delhi Traffic Police official.

The car involved in the accident was allegedly driven by a doctor from King George's Medical University (KGMU). According to reports, around 12:30 am on Sunday, Prem Nishad (22) and his friend Mrityunjay Shukla aka Parth Shukla (20), were on their way to Hanuman Setu to purchase garlands and other items needed for prasad. As they rode their motorcycle, a speeding car coming from the Hanuman Setu side collided with them in front of the Natbir Baba temple. The collision resulted in severe injuries to both youths, with Parth dying on the spot and Prem succumbing to injuries at KGMU Trauma Centre. Prem's Gauri Nishad from Old Hyderabad in Nishatganj filed a complaint at the Mahanagar police station. In her statement, she alleged that the car's driver had been speeding, driving carelessly, and possibly under the influence of alcohol when the accident occurred. Based on her complaint, a case was registered, and the driver, identified as Vaibhav Agarwal, was arrested. The vehicle was impounded, and necessary legal actions are underway. Reports suggest that Vaibhav Agarwal is a junior resident in KGMU's general surgery ward. Following the accident, he abandoned the car and went to a police outpost to report the incident. Police sources claimed that an empty liquor bottle was found inside the vehicle, although this has not been officially confirmed. Eyewitnesses also claimed that a girl was present in the car at the time of the accident. The families of the deceased alleged that both the driver and the girl appeared to be intoxicated and claimed that police allowed the girl to leave the scene to safeguard her future. They described the impact as so severe that Parth was thrown into the air, landing approximately 20 feet away from the scene, where he died instantly. Parth was the only son in his family; his father had passed away 12 years ago after drowning in the Gomti river. His mother and sister were devastated by the loss, as they had hoped he would help them overcome their financial struggles. Prem's mother runs a shop selling puja material and flowers during festivals. She had sent Prem to Hanuman Setu to collect items for a nearby jagran. Prem also worked as a diver and had previously saved many lives. His father is a painter by profession.

Retd army man assaulted by neighbour, accomplices

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

A retired army man and his wife were allegedly assaulted by their neighbour and his associates over a minor disagreement in the Ashiyana area. The incident, which occurred in the Devi Kheda Himalayan Colony, was reportedly captured on CCTV. The victims, NK Maurya, a retired soldier, and his wife Alpana Maurya, filed a complaint against their neighbour, Gaurav Pandey, and his accomplices. Based on the CCTV footage, police are working to identify the individuals involved, and a case has been registered on the couple's complaint. According to reports, the altercation began a few days earlier when Maurya objected to a group of young men gathering outside Pandey's house. Pandey, who lives directly across from Maurya, runs a business from his residence, and it is alleged that groups of youths regularly gather outside his house, causing disturbances. Around 2:30 pm on Saturday, tensions escalated when Maurya protested against the youths who were sitting near his door. Angered by the confrontation, Gaurav Pandey, along with half a dozen of his companions, allegedly stormed into Maurya's home and attacked him. When his wife Alpana intervened to protect him, she was also assaulted. "The attackers' actions were caught on CCTV cameras installed in the neighbourhood," Maurya stated.

SCOLDED BY PARENTS, GIRL ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Upset after being scolded by her parents over her studies, a minor girl allegedly attempted to end her life by jumping into the Gomti river. However, passersby noticed her approaching the edge of the river and alerted police. The incident took place in the Gautampalli police station area around 6:30 am on Sunday. According to reports, the girl was seen walking along the Gomti river bridge, visibly distressed and repeatedly looking down into the water. Witnesses observed her crying and attempting to scale the bridge's railing, prompting them to inform the local police. A police team quickly reached the scene and took the girl into custody. After questioning her at the police station, it was revealed that she had left home in anger after being scolded by her family. The police contacted her family, and her parents, along with her grandfather, reached the station to take her home. Inspector, Gautampalli, Ved Prakash Rai confirmed that the girl had been scolded for spending too much time on her mobile phone instead of focusing on her studies.

Vikasnagar Durga Puja gets 'Shonar Bangla' flavour

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Shashwat Club in Vikasnagar, in collaboration with Bal Shashwat Foundation, has announced that the theme for its 25th year of Durga Puja will be 'Shonar Bangla'. The festivities will take place from October 7 to 13. Secretary, Shashwat Club, Sumeet Bhowmik emphasised that this year's celebration aims to honour not only Bengal's rich cultural heritage but also the contributions of its reformers, including religious leaders, freedom fighters, writers, and artists. "Bengal has produced many luminaries who have significantly impacted society, and this celebration will honour their legacy," he stated. The pandal will feature a stunning white and gold colour scheme, highlighting handcrafted techniques in wood, clay, and jute. Attendees can look forward to breathtaking displays, including iconic landmarks like the Howrah Bridge and symbolic representations of Bengal's artistic heritage. The celebration will also include tributes to Tagore and Nazrul poetry, traditional hand-pulled rickshaws, Kolkata's yellow taxis, and the nostalgic charm of mud pot tea, along with a nod to the golden era of Bengali cinema. This year, the Durga idol will be adorned in gold, embellished with silver and artificial diamond jewellery, adding a touch of opulence. The idol is being crafted by sculptor Niloy Pal. Bhowmik explained that the club has adopted themed celebrations to address budget constraints faced since the pandemic. "Themes help us showcase our creativity despite financial limitations. Our foundations, which works with children skilled in crafts and arts, will contribute to the pandal's design. We aim to make the theme so attractive that devotees are drawn to the pandal," he said. Past themes have included the Mysore Palace, Wooden Palace, and dhol & dhak. Bhowmik noted that while there are around 500 Bengalis in the area, the core organising group comprises just 30 families, which limits fundraising efforts. He lamented the lack of sponsorship for this annual event in recent years. Many Bengali families from the older parts of the city and Ashiyana are expected to attend. On October 10 and 12, popular Bollywood dandiya performances will enrich the celebrations. The cultural team is preparing for a grand opening featuring 200 participants. All rituals on Saptami, Ashtami, and Navami will take place early in the morning. Bhowmik invited everyone to join the Durga Puja for a week filled with memories, cultural immersion, and the vibrant spirit of Bengal. "We encourage everyone to capture moments and delve into the beauty of Bengali culture," he added.

Staged in Parsi style, Chowk Ramlila celebrates 86th anniv

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

The general secretary of Sri Public Bal Ramlila Samiti in Chowk, Dr Raj Kumar Verma, emphasised the importance of preserving traditional Ramlila, noting that while innovation can enhance the performance, maintaining the original form of Ramlila remains a challenging yet essential task. "Our Ramlila showcases the Parsi style of theatre, which is integral to our tradition," he stated. Celebrating its 86th year, this Ramlila will commence on October 12 and conclude on October 24. "We start our Ramlila on Dussehra, an old custom led by local jewellers who participate after Navratri, allowing them to engage fully after their busy season. All our artistes are locals, often the children of traders," he explained. Verma expressed a strong commitment to preserving Ramlila as a cultural heritage for future generations. "In today's digital age, where social interactions are declining, Ramlila offers a platform for people to connect and engage," he noted. He described the Ramlila as male-dominated, with female characters portrayed by men, reflecting a traditional aspect of older performances. "This format has been a part of Ramlila's history," he added. The Ramlila is based on Ramcharitmanas, with dialogue delivery inspired by the Radhey Shyam Ramayana. "We present the Ramlila using Parsi style, one of the oldest forms of theatrical presentation. While adaptations have occurred over time, we remain true to the traditional style, which is unique in the city," he explained. A distinctive feature of the Parsi style is the use of curtains, as well as the absence of playback music; all songs are performed live by the characters, with musicians positioned in front of the stage. "This adds an authentic touch to the performance," Verma remarked. He highlighted a special stunt involving Lord Hanuman, who descends from over 70 feet on a rope after retrieving the 'Sanjivani booti'. Many performers have gained recognition in theatre and film, including Amit Dixit, who has played Ram and now tours extensively, and Govind Sharma, who has portrayed Ravana for nearly half a century. Verma, who holds a PhD, manages the Ramlila from backstage, assisted by his son, an MBA from IIM-Kozhikode.

Lone wolf killed by villagers in Bahraich

PNS ■ LUCKNOW A lone wolf that had been a cause of concern for the forest department in Bahraich has been found dead in Tamapur, Mahsi tehsil on Saturday night. The animal is believed to have been killed by irate villagers. District Forest Officer, Bahraich, Ajeet Singh said a probe would be conducted and an FIR lodged against unknown individuals. According to Singh, the department received information late Saturday night about an animal found dead alongside a goat in the village. "We discovered that the deceased animal was the lone wolf we had been searching for. It is likely that the wolf entered the village in the evening, attempting to take a goat when the villagers caught and killed it," he explained. Singh noted that villagers have remained tight-lipped about the circumstances surrounding the wolf's death. "We learned about the situation from a forest team patrolling the area," he added. When questioned about how the department identified the dead animal as the one they had been tracking, the DFO explained, "This wolf had a pattern of entering populated villages and preying on goats, indicating it was the same animal. Generally, wolves are shy and avoid human settlements, but this pack had developed a habit of venturing into populated areas." For the past two months, a pack of six wolves had created panic in Mehshi tehsil, reportedly killing ten children and injuring over 40 individuals.

Woman killed by husband suspecting her character

Lucknow (PNS): A man allegedly killed his wife and fled after leaving the body on their bed in their home in Madaion on Saturday. The deceased, identified as Poonam (32), was found strangled, with a scarf tied around her neck. Her father, Sukhai Lal, alleged that she was frequently beaten by her husband, Sarvesh, and that the murder was the fallout of the ongoing domestic abuse. According to reports, Sarvesh, a resident of Rahimnagar Dudouli in Madaion, had long harboured suspicions about Poonam's character, which led to frequent violent confrontations. Neighbours informed police, who reached the scene and sent the body for a postmortem examination. Poonam, originally from Barabanki, married Sarvesh in 2010. According to her father, their relationship had deteriorated due to Sarvesh's drug addiction. Sukhai Lal explained that Sarvesh's drug use exacerbated his paranoia, leading him to suspect Poonam of infidelity. To protect her 10-year-old son, Yash, from the toxic environment, Poonam had sent him to her parental home. On Friday, Sarvesh had allegedly assaulted Poonam. The following morning, Poonam's father received news of her death and he reached her home to find her lifeless body, her scarf still tied around her neck. A case of murder has been registered against Sarvesh. "Only after the arrest of the accused will the full extent of the dispute between the couple be known," ADCP, North, Jitendra Dubey said.

UPMRC begins prep work for East-West Corridor

PNS ■ LUCKNOW The Uttar Pradesh Metro Rail Corporation (UPMRC) has commenced preparatory work for the East-West Corridor of Lucknow Metro. A survey is currently underway to ensure that once approved by the Union Cabinet, tenders can be floated promptly. A senior UPMRC official explained that a preliminary survey was conducted prior to the Detailed Project Report (DPR), and the ongoing survey includes assessing potential station locations and investigating soil conditions for construction. "The planning phase has begun so that we can expedite the process once we receive approval from the Union Cabinet," he stated. A comprehensive survey will follow the project's approval. The official emphasised that the survey also addresses issues related to alignments, land acquisition, and groundwork challenges. "The DPR outlines the concept of the East-West Corridor, but on-ground detailing is necessary to identify potential construction challenges. We have adequate resources to gather the required information," he added. Concerning historic monuments in the city's older areas, the official assured that the planned route avoids restricted zones. "The route has been designed to minimise major challenges related to these monuments," he said. However, some challenges are anticipated, such as constructing underground stations in Aminabad, Charbagh, and Chowk, which may restrict work on-site, necessitate soil shifting, and impose traffic limitations. "We are strategising to minimise public inconvenience. This meticulous planning is essential for preparing tender documents. Additionally, discussions will be held on other systems to incorporate best practices from similar projects in India," he explained. UPMRC managing director Sushil Kumar highlighted that groundwork is underway to ensure readiness for immediate tendering upon receiving approvals. The DPR for the East-West Corridor, stretching from Charbagh to Vasankunj under Phase 1B, was approved by the Network Planning Group (NPG) in a meeting on July 9 last. Earlier, the state government had granted project clearance in March. The NPG meeting, chaired by the additional secretary of the department of Industrial Policy Promotion, was held at Vanija Bhawan in Delhi. The meeting addressed various utilities, including water pipelines, transmission lines, and archaeological sites, confirming that no obstacles exist for the East-West Corridor's construction. Utilising the PM Gati Shakti portal, detailed information about potential obstructions, such as railway lines and protected monuments, was obtained prior to on-site testing. The proposed corridor will span 11.165 kilometres, with 4.286 kilometres elevated and 6.879 kilometres underground. It will consist of 12 stations, including seven underground and five elevated stations, with an estimated completion time of five years and a projected cost of Rs 5,081 crore. The East-West Corridor will connect with the existing North-South corridor at Charbagh Metro Station, which will serve as an interchange hub.

Govt prioritises digital technology to realise 'Zero Poverty' vision

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, committed to making Uttar Pradesh the country's first 'Zero Poverty' state within the next year, has stressed the importance of leveraging digital technology to accelerate the entire process. Through the Zero Poverty portal and various mobile apps, the identification and on-site verification of the poorest families in rural areas will be swiftly completed. Additionally, government schemes from different departments will be rapidly delivered to these families. The entire process, from the district level to the state level, will also be easily monitored. To ensure the successful implementation of the Zero Poverty campaign, the government has issued guidelines focusing on the use of digital technology and the effective operation of portals and mobile apps. As part of the campaign, the website <http://zero-poverty.in> will serve as the central portal. For each department or autonomous unit, the portal will include the department's name as a prefix. For example, the Rural Development department's subdomain will be <http://rd.zero-poverty.in>, while the Basic Education department's subdomain will be <http://basic-education.zero-poverty.in>. A clear list of all department names will be displayed in the portal's menu, ensuring there is no confusion, or inconvenience, regarding the correct portal for each department. The mobile app is designed for users who do not have access to a computer-equipped workplace, or whose work primarily takes place in the field. The Mop-up mobile app will be used to identify the poorest families. Village-level employees, along with members and officials of the village-level committee, will use the app. The records of identified families will be displayed on the dashboards of a five-member village committee through their mobile devices. The committee will conduct on-site verification and submit their feedback directly through the app. Using this tool, village-level teams will be able to identify all (10-25) poorest families within their gram panchayat in just 30 days. The Rishtha mobile app, operated by the Livelihood Mission under the Rural Development department, provides a platform to monitor all processes and progress related to BC Sakhi, along with detailed reports of banking transactions. The app will also display information on the poorest families identified by the mission's digital platform, as well as DBT payments and related banking services. BC Sakhi will have real-time access to DBT payment details and beneficiary reach for all departments through the Rishtha app's portal console, providing instant updates to the mission, the Rural Development department, and the government. The village-level committee members will view the details of the poorest families entered by the village-level employees on their mobile dashboards and conduct separate on-site verifications. They will then submit their assessment of the family's poverty status directly through the mobile app. After a computer-based rating of the verified families, detailed information will be displayed on the web console of the respective departments on the Zero Poverty Portal. This will ensure that government schemes aimed at these families are implemented swiftly. In addition to the potential poorest families, the portal will also host a database of all village-level employees and committee members. The CM Helpline will be able to make web-based calls to all registered users, as well as send alerts, notifications and updates through the Mop-up mobile app as needed. All notifications, alerts, or updates will be stored on the user's mobile in the Mop-up records for easy reference. The app will also include a voice messaging feature, enabling individuals from even the most remote areas of the state to share their feedback or concerns with the government.

Maya demands action against Narsinghanand

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

With people of Uttar Pradesh and Maharashtra already protesting against controversial statements of Yati Narsinghanand and demanding action against him, Bahujan Samaj Party chief Mayawati also targeted the government and demanded action in the matter. Regarding the objectionable remarks against Islam, BSP chief Mayawati said that one of Yati Narsinghanand's statements had spread unrest and tension. Former chief minister of Uttar Pradesh alleged that the police had taken action against those protesting against controversial statements of Yati Narsinghanand but not the mahant who made the statement. She demanded legal action in this matter. Earlier, Mayawati had criticised the Uttar Pradesh government for giving a clean chit to Surajpal, also known as Narayan Sakar Hari or Bhole Baba, in the Etah stampede case. The UP police investigating the matter have only charge-sheeted the organizers of the satsang while sparing Hari Baba. It may be mentioned that following the controversial statement of Mahant Yati Narsinghanand, people are protesting at various places in western Uttar Pradesh. The police have registered more than 200 FIRs against the protesters. According to information, several cases are registered against Narsinghanand. They include the case of giving an inflammatory speech at a conference in Haridwar in December 2021. He was currently out on bail. His close aide and general secretary of Yati Narsinghanand Saraswati Foundation, Udita Tyagi, claimed that the mahant was detained for making objectionable remarks during a programme organised at Hindi Bhavan in Ghaziabad on September 29, and it was not known where he was kept.

Cong steps up efforts to win over minority community

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Tension is mounting within the opposition INDIA bloc as the Congress has stepped up its efforts to win over the minority community in Uttar Pradesh, considered to be the core vote bank of the Samajwadi Party. Uttar Pradesh Congress president Ajay Rai, on October 2, visited the family of jailed Samajwadi Party MLA Zahid Beg, in Bhadohi, setting the alarm bell ringing. The visit by the Uttar Pradesh Congress president prompted the Samajwadi Party top leadership to consider sending a delegation of their own to the legislator's house. After visiting the family of the jailed MLA, Ajay Rai said "the Congress stands with Beg's family in this difficult time". Zahid Beg, the MLA from Bhadohi Sadar constituency, has been accused of abetting suicide and violating child labour laws. He surrendered in a local court on September 17. Sources in the Samajwadi Party say the issue has been discussed at the highest level in the party and the party will soon finalise its next move. Though the Samajwadi Party and the Congress are allies, the Samajwadi Party knows that the Congress is eyeing the Muslim vote bank in Uttar Pradesh, which is crucial for it as well. Much to the chagrin of the Samajwadi Party, the Congress on Sunday staked claim on the Milkpur UP assembly seat. Bypoll on this seat has been necessitated after the election of Samajwadi Party MLA Awadesh Prasad to Lok Sabha from Faizabad Lok Sabha constituency. Sources in the Congress say the party has staked its claim on Milkpur following the demand of the rank and file of the party in Milkpur. Congress is organising 'Samvidhan Bachao Sammelan' in Milkpur on October 16, and senior Congress leaders are expected to participate in it. The upcoming bypolls to 10 assembly seats in Uttar Pradesh are poised to be a critical litmus test for the INDIA bloc's unity. Following their impressive performance in the recent Lok Sabha elections — in which they secured 43 seats, significantly contributing to the Bharatiya Janata Party's failure to achieve a simple majority — the stakes are high for the coalition. Despite their shared objective of defeating the Bharatiya Janata Party, the two key allies within the INDIA bloc in Uttar Pradesh — the Samajwadi Party and Congress — are struggling to finalise a seat-sharing agreement for the assembly bypolls. The Congress has claimed the right to contest five of the ten available seats, a proposition that may not go well with the Samajwadi Party. Uttar Pradesh Congress chief Ajay Rai expressed optimism, stating, "The party is holding 'Samvidhan Bachao Sammelan' (Save Constitution conferences) in all 10 assembly seats that are going to bypolls. Two such conferences have already been held. We have appointed in-charges and observers on all the 10 seats, and groundwork is going on." The assembly seats where bypolls will be held include Katehari (Ambedkar Nagar), Karhal (Mainpuri), Milkpur (Ayodhya), Meerapur (Bijnor), Ghaziabad, Majhawan (Mirzapur), Sisamau (Kanpur Nagar), Khair (Aligarh), Phulpur (Prayagraj) and Kundarki (Moradabad) Nine of these seats fell vacant after their MLAs were elected to the Lok Sabha, while the Sisamau seat fell vacant due to the disqualification of Samajwadi Party MLA Irfan Solanki, who was convicted in a criminal case.

Cong, SP use Muslims for political benefits: Naqvi

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ VARANASI

Former Union Minister Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi said that 'allergy' to Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) becomes the energy of the opposition but Muslims do not get any benefit from it because Congress and Samajwadi Party (SP) consider Muslims only as vote bank and use them for their political benefits. While addressing the gathering at the BJP membership campaign conference-2024 organised by BJP Minority Morcha at Rudraksh Convention Centre in Sigra area here on Sunday, Naqvi said that today the whole world is trusting the efficient leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi but the opposition is instigating the Muslims of India against PM. He said the Modi government never discriminated against the Muslim community and the maximum benefits of all the schemes of the central and state governments were given to the Muslims. "Since the Muslim community is a large section, the SP and Congress work to provoke and mislead them whereas the truth is that

Ex-Union Minister MA Naqvi inaugurating BJP membership campaign of Minority Morcha in Varanasi on Sunday.

PM Modi is a leader who believes in constitutional values more than Pandit Nehru and Indira Gandhi and is a well-wisher of the minorities", he said, adding that PM Modi rose above the discrimination of religion, caste and sect and adopted the basic mantra of 'Sabka Saath Sabka Vikas' and promoted overall development. Former union minister said it is the biggest responsibility of all the Minority Morcha workers to go among the Muslims and remove the illusion spread by the opposition and work to connect as many Muslims as possible with BJP. "Today the opposition is inciting Muslims against BJP in the name of Waqf Board but the truth is that in 1890, the Privy Council, which was the highest court of that time, believed that Waqf is the most evil and harmful and the only purpose behind making it was to save the lands and properties of the then Nawabs and kings as well as their relatives", he said. Naqvi further said that the common Muslims are not getting even a little benefit from it but due to the collusion of Jinnah and the British, Waqf could not be abolished and the Waqf Act was made. "Today the Modi government is amending the rules of the Waqf Board. Due to this, there is no interference in the religious places, mosques, mazaars, imambaras and dar-gahs of the common Muslims but the opposition is spreading propaganda to incite Muslims" he said, adding that Congress and SP claim to be the biggest supporters of Muslims but they have never done anything for their uplift. "During the Congress rule, Muslims were getting only two per cent share in government jobs whereas today in the Modi government, it has been increased to more than four per cent", he said and added that the time has come for Muslims to end their distance from the BJP and Modi government. "Muslims should stop supporting liars and walk shoulder to shoulder with those who are actually developing them", Naqvi said.

Test run of metro train in underground section

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ KANPUR

The Kanpur Metro successfully conducted a test run of the metro train on the 'downline' of the Chunniganj-Nayaganj underground section of Corridor-1 (IIT-Naubasta). The test was overseen by Project Director Arvind Meena and other senior officials onboard. This follows the first-ever test run on the 'up-line' to Nayaganj station on July 12. With this successful run, both lines of the approximately 15 km metro route from IIT to Nayaganj are now fully prepared for metro operations.

Kanpur Metro officials after conducting test run on the 'downline' of Chunniganj-Nayaganj underground section of Corridor-1 (IIT-Naubasta).

It is important to note that after completing the installation of tracks, the third rail system, signals and other infrastructure in the 'downline' to Nayaganj underground station, the third rail running parallel to the metro track was charged for the first time. Now onward, the current supply in this system will be considered permanently active. Kanpur Metro trains operate on 750 Volt DC current, utilising a third rail instead of the conventional Overhead Equipment (OHE) system. The process of charging the third rail on the 'up-line' to Nayaganj station began on July 12. During the Kanpur Metro train test run, various interfaces, including signalling, track and power supply, were evaluated using Automatic Train

Protection (ATP) mode. In the map verification test related to signalling, the software-based locations of equipment installed along the track, such as TRA signals and axel counters, were compared with their actual placements. The software will be upgraded in the coming days based on the results of this verification process. Following this, both low-speed and high-speed tests of the train will be conducted at various speeds. Congratulating all employees and residents of Kanpur, UPMRC Managing Director Sushil Kumar stated, "Kanpur Metro has made remarkable progress by overcoming numerous challenges during its construction. During the test run, we evaluated various interfaces, including signalling, track, and power supply. The data gathered from this run will be analysed to enhance operational efficiency. Thanks to the coordination and cooperation among various departments, the installation of systems at Chunniganj-Nayaganj underground section has progressed significantly and the finishing touches on these stations will be completed soon." # Maldivian President visits India for bilateral talks amid strained ties

Maldivian President Mohamed Muizzu arrived here on Sunday for a four-day bilateral visit to India. The First Lady of the Maldives, Sajidha Mohamed, accompanied Muizzu. This is Muizzu's second state visit to India in four months and his first bilateral visit. During his visit to India, from October six to ten, Muizzu will meet President Droupadi Murmu and hold discussions with Prime Minister Narendra Modi on bilateral, regional, and international issues of mutual interest, according to the Ministry of External Affairs. The Maldivian President will also visit Mumbai and Bengaluru, where he will be attending business events, it said. "Maldives is India's key maritime neighbour in the Indian Ocean Region (IOR) and holds a special place in Prime Minister's vision of 'SAGAR' (Security and Growth for All in the Region) and India's 'Neighbourhood First Policy', the Ministry said in a statement. The Maldivian President visited New Delhi in June to attend Modi's swearing-in ceremony. The ties between India and the Maldives got strained after Muizzu became the President of the Maldives. Notably, Muizzu rose to power based on his 'India Out' where he demanded the withdrawal of Indian troops and support staff from the Maldives. The diplomatic row further intensified after some ministers in the Muizzu cabinet used derogatory language against Prime Minister Modi after he posted pictures of his trip to Lakshadweep. While the said ministers were removed from the cabinet, tourism in the Maldives took a hit as tourist footfall decreased from India. However, both sides tried to repair ties after the Maldives underlined India's pivotal role in its economic development, security and infrastructure projects.

SC: Removal of elected women representative can't be treated lightly

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Removal of an elected public representative should not be treated lightly, especially when it concerns women belonging to rural areas, the Supreme Court has said as it set aside an order for removal of a woman sarpanch in a Maharashtra village. A bench of Justices Surya Kant and Ujjal Bhuyan termed the matter as a classic case where the residents of the village could not reconcile with the fact that a woman was elected to the office of the sarpanch. The top court observed that it was a case where villagers were unable to come to terms with the reality that a female sarpanch would make decisions on their behalf and that they would have to abide by her directions. "This scenario gets further exacerbated when we as a country are attempting to realise the progressive goal of gender parity and women empowerment across all spheres, including public offices and most importantly adequate women representative in elected bodies, such instances at the grass-root level cast a heavy shadow on any headway that we may have achieved," the bench observed in its September 27 order. Underscoring that it must be acknowledged that these women, who succeed in occupying such public offices, do so only after significant struggle, the bench said, "All that we would like to reiterate is that the matter of removal of an elected public representative should not be treated so lightly, especially when it concerns women belonging to rural areas". The bench was dealing with a plea of Manish Ravindra Panpatil, an elected sarpanch of gram panchayat, Vichkheda situated in Jalgaon district of Maharashtra. She was ordered to be removed from her post after a complaint by fellow villagers that she was allegedly residing with her mother-in-law in a house constructed on government land. The allegation was denied by Panpatil, who claimed she does not reside in that particular dwelling, and that she lives separately with her husband and children in a rented accommodation. However, without appropriately verifying these facts and on the basis of "bald statements", the Collector concerned passed an order disqualifying her from continuing as sarpanch. "This order was thereafter confirmed by the divisional commissioner. Subsequently, the high court vide the impugned order, dismissed the appellant's writ petition against the commissioner's order on a technical ground, thus putting a seal of approval on her removal from office," the bench noted. The bench noted that the villagers grasped at straws in their bid to evict Panpatil from her position and their cause was perhaps aided by the mechanical and summary orders passed by government authorities at various levels. "These orders were passed in a lackadaisical manner, without making any effort towards conducting a fact-finding exercise, so as to confirm whether the allegations levied by the private respondents were sufficiently made out. There is nothing on record to suggest that any objection of the appellant's family having encroached upon government land was ever raised when she filed her nomination papers," the bench said. While noting that the vagaries of the present factual matrix is far from unique and is unfortunately somewhat of a norm, the bench said there is no doubt that the private respondents (villagers) may have operated in a discriminatory manner. It said what is more worrying is the casual approach adopted by government authorities in summarily removing an elected representative. "This is all the more concerning when the representative in question is a woman and elected in the reservation quota, thereby indicating a systemic pattern of prejudicial treatment, permeating through all levels of administrative functioning," it said. The top court said having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case at hand, it sees no credible and convincing material on record to substantiate the allegations of encroachment of government land by Panpatil before or post her election as sarpanch.

Three dark clouds still loom over the Indian economy: Jairam Ramesh

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Asserting that the last 10 years have seen "highly detrimental economic trends", the Congress on Sunday said the monsoon has receded but at least "three dark clouds" of languishing private sector investment, stagnating manufacturing and decline in real wages and productivity for labourers, still loom over the Indian economy. Congress general secretary in-charge communications Jairam Ramesh said bombastic claims on the economy are being made by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his drumbeaters but what these claims conceal are the choke points that will strangle growth in the years to come if not taken seriously now, in a spirit of humility. "The monsoon has receded. But new evidence has shown that at least three dark clouds still loom over the Indian economy," Ramesh said in a statement. "First, after a brief surge in private sector investment during 2022-23 on the back of the COVID-19 recovery, investment has returned to an unsteady path," he said. New project announcements by the private sector fell by 21 per cent between FY23 and FY24, he pointed out. "This reflects a lack of investor confidence in India's consumer markets, and the uncertain investment climate generated by the Government's inconsistent policy making and Raid Raj," he said. In this context, rather than grow their businesses, companies are using profits to reduce debt burdens, he claimed. "We are witnessing a growing financialisation of the Indian economy, with India Inc - perhaps taking its cue from the government - focusing on stock market valuations rather than top-line revenue growth," Ramesh said. This bodes poorly for the medium- and long-term future of the Indian economy, as the growth engine of the economy - private sector investment - continues to languish, he said. "Second, ten years after the Government's flagship Make in India scheme was launched, India's manufacturing is stagnating. As share of GDP, manufacturing is the same as it was ten years ago," the Congress leader said. Ramesh pointed out that as a share of total employment, manufacturing has marginally declined. India's share in global merchandise exports has also largely stagnated, and exports are falling as a share of India's GDP, he said. "In fact, growth in India's share of global exports grew much faster in the 2005-15 period, largely corresponding to Dr. Manmohan Singh's tenure as Prime Minister. In labour-intensive sectors like garments, exports have fallen from USD 15 billion in 2013-14 to USD 14.5 billion in 2023-24," he said. This shrinking of manufacturing is largely attributable to the PM's inexplicable trade policy - where it disincentivizes participation in global value chains (GVCs) through high tariffs while silently permitting Chinese dumping of mass imports, Ramesh alleged. "Third, the latest Annual Survey of Industries (ASI) for 2022-2023 has revealed a decline in real wages and productivity for India's labourers. The growth in GVA per worker (a measure of labour productivity) slowed from 6.6% in 2014-15 to 0.6% by 2018-19," he said.

After Covid era statistical irregularity, worker productivity contracted in FY23 again, Ramesh said, adding that this decrease in labour productivity has impacted real wage growth, especially amidst rising inflation. As real wages stagnate, consumption will remain weak - resulting in the low investment that has been a consistent restraint on India's growth, he said. "These are merely the issues that have surfaced in the past few weeks but the last ten years have seen other highly detrimental economic trends, including rising oligopolisation, mass unemployment, and high inflation," he said. "Bombastic claims on the economy are being made by the non-biological PM and his drumbeaters. But what these claims conceal are the choke points that will strangle growth in the years to come if not taken seriously now, in a spirit of humility," Ramesh said in his statement.

RaGa advocates for increased women's participation in politics

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Flagging inequality in leadership roles in Parliament and state assemblies, Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi on Sunday said for true equality, more and more women's participation is necessary in these institutions. The former Congress chief urged women to participate in his party's 'Shakti Abhiyan', which aims to create an equal space for 'women's interests' in politics. "Women have always been an important force in our society and politics, but still there is inequality in leadership roles in Parliament and assemblies," he said in a post in Hindi on Facebook.

"For true equality, more and more women's participation in these places is necessary," Rahul said. "With the thought of 'Aadhi Abadi, Poora Haq', we are dedicated to this goal.

If you too are ready to bring this change, then join 'Shakti Abhiyan', the Congress leader said. "Your participation is very important to bring real change by strengthening the organisation at the grassroots level," he said. "Let us become participants of this change, from the village to the nation," Gandhi said and shared a link to register for 'Shakti Abhiyan'. The Indian Youth Congress 'Shakti Abhiyan' initiative aims to create an equal space for 'women's interests' in politics and decision-making, driven by the representation 'of women by women' at all levels of governance - local bodies, legislative assemblies and Parliament. The Indira Fellowship is an initiative in honour of former prime minister Indira Gandhi to amplify the voices of women in the political arena and drive a much-needed transformation in our society.

Haryana CM confident of BJP majority despite exit polls

PTI ■ CHANDIGARH

Rejecting exit poll predictions, Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini on Sunday claimed his party BJP will form the government in the state with full majority for a third time when the results are announced on October 8. The Congress will blame the Electronic Voting Machines (EVMs) for their defeat, he said, attacking the opposition party, which is ahead in the race, according to most exit polls. Replying to a question about the exit polls predicting a Congress win, Saini said, "On October 8, we are going to form the government." He said, "8 tareekh ko janata degi jawab, aur yeh (Congress) kahenge EVM hai kharab (People will have their say on October 8, and they Congress will blame the EVMs). Asked how many seats the BJP will win in the 90-strong assembly, Saini said, "I have said we will form the government with full majority." The BJP will form the government on the basis of works done in the state, he added. The BJP worked for every section without any discrimination and on the basis of this work, the party will form the government with full majority, he further said. Commenting further on the exit poll predictions for Haryana, he said they forecast a Congress victory in Chhattisgarh and showed the party ahead in Uttarakhand as well. "The exit polls have their own theory and they have their own system, but we work on ground. Our leaders are directly connected with people. The people of Haryana want the BJP to come to power for a third time. We are forming the government for a third time," he said. The Haryana assembly elections on Saturday saw a turnout of nearly 67 per cent, with several exit polls predicting a clear majority for the Congress, which is eyeing a comeback after a decade.

PAPER WITH PASSION

Change on the cards

Exit polls predict change in Haryana and a hung assembly in J and K; if true, would indicate Indian politics is in transition

Exit polls from the state elections in Haryana and Jammu and Kashmir are indicating a decisive win for the Congress in Haryana and a hung assembly in Jammu and Kashmir. As these predictions dominate political discourse, they offer a glimpse into possible power shifts in these two critical regions. In Haryana, the exit polls suggest that the Congress is set to reclaim power, ousting the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP)-led government, which has been in office since 2014. If these predictions hold true, it would also underscore the growing discontent among Haryana's electorate, particularly farmers and rural voters, who have been dissatisfied with the BJP's handling of agricultural reforms and the aftermath of the 2020 farmers' protests. The Congress, capitalising on this unrest, appears to have successfully mobilised voters, especially in the rural areas and among the Jat community. Meanwhile, in Jammu and Kashmir, exit polls point towards a hung assembly, signalling the challenges of forming a stable government in the Union Territory. With no single party projected to secure a majority, political maneuvering and coalition-building will become crucial in the coming weeks. The fractured verdict reflects the complexity of the region's political landscape post the revocation of Article 370 in 2019. The People's Alliance for Gupkar Declaration (PAGD) is expected to emerge as a significant player, but the BJP has also made inroads, particularly in the Jammu region. So not only numbers but post-result alliances would decide the formation of the government. Indeed, a hung assembly could lead to prolonged negotiations and possibly a fragile coalition, underscoring the political uncertainty that has plagued the region in recent years.

A Congress victory in Haryana could be a defining moment in national politics. It would signal that the BJP's stronghold in the Hindi heartland is weakening and Jats (who have significant presence in western UP) are returning to Congress fold and non-Jats — upper castes — the traditional BJP voters are also have also splitted. Congress couldn't be happier as it could also galvanise Congress supporters across other northern states, particularly Rajasthan and Punjab, where state elections are due soon. But it would have a daunting task of keeping the rebels happy as they could turn the tables. In contrast, the outcome in Jammu and Kashmir—if a hung assembly materializes—could deepen political instability in the Union Territory. A coalition government would have to balance the diverse and often conflicting interests of Jammu, Kashmir and Ladakh, complicating governance. Moreover, this result could prompt national parties, particularly the BJP, to reassess their strategies in sensitive regions like Jammu and Kashmir, where identity politics and security concerns dominate. However, as with all exit polls, it's important to approach these predictions with skepticism, given how they have been inaccurate in past elections.

Why 'Make in India' can be a game changer

ANURAG SAXENA

By fostering indigenous innovation and cutting-edge technology, India is challenging long-held economic paradigms and rewriting its own narrative on the world stage

For centuries, Western nations have reaped the rewards of their focus on innovation, intellectual property (IP), and the relentless pursuit of technological advancement. By glorifying creation, often over manufacturing and service, these nations have not only monetised their inventions but also exported their ideas globally, establishing themselves as economic powerhouses.

The United States, for instance, transformed industries through disruptive technologies like the internet, pharmaceuticals, and aerospace, creating global demand for their products and services. Similarly, European nations have led in sectors like infrastructure (think about the economic advantage of railroads), automotive engineering and luxury goods, where innovation and IP are at the core of their global dominance. In contrast, economies like India and China historically anchored their growth on manufacturing and services—both positioned lower on the value-addition spectrum.

This approach, while effective for driving industrialisation and job creation, did not prioritise innovation or IP creation, the intellectual asset that is monetizable, leaving these nations as consumers rather than creators of advanced technologies. China, however, has broken away from this model in recent years, making massive investments in innovation, intellectual property, and tech platforms. The country has developed cutting-edge technologies in fields like telecommunications, social media, and gaming, exemplified by global giants such as Huawei, TikTok, and Tencent. These efforts have not only strengthened China's domestic economy, positioned it as a formidable global exporter, and given it access to priceless data from across the world. India, on the other hand, followed a different trajectory. Instead of focusing on production and technology creation, India became synonymous with contact centres, Global Capability Centers (GCCs), and IT services. This positioning earned India the moniker of the "backroom of the world," a role that, while economically beneficial, left the nation lagging in terms of innovation and high-value technology creation. While India excelled in providing services, it often supported the innovation and product development efforts of other nations rather than leading them. However, the past decade has witnessed a significant shift in India's global stance.

India has emerged as a geopolitical force, flexing its muscles in various domains. Diplomatically, India has taken a more assertive position on the global stage, engaging in strategic partnerships with major powers while maintaining its autonomy in international affairs. In the geopolitical arena, India has strengthened its defence capabilities and has been pivotal in initiatives like the Quad, countering China's influence in the Indo-Pacific region. On the trade front, India has renegotiated trade deals and is increasingly seen as a critical player in global supply chains, particularly in the wake of global disruptions caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. This newfound assertiveness underscores why India's current focus on "Create in India" is both timely and strategically crucial. By fostering a culture of innovation and supporting the development of indigenous technologies, India is positioning itself to dominate the next century, both economically and in terms of soft power. Economically, a focus on creation will enable India to move up the value chain, generating higher returns on its intellectual assets and reducing its dependency on foreign technologies. In terms of soft power, leading in fields such as media and entertainment will allow India to shape its narrative, instead of continually reacting to distorted Western narratives.

When PM Narendra Modi made the call, "Let us together start a 'Create in India' movement," not everyone understood its second and third-order effects, especially the ramifications on narrative-correction, and exporting our civilizational ideas globally. The "technologies" of Eastman colour and vinyl records helped America prop its heroes and rockstars. The era of XR and gaming will help India prop ours. The Ministry of Information and Broadcasting recently announced the 'Create in India Challenge' under the aegis of World Audio Visual & Entertainment Summit (WAVES) 2025; a first-of-its-kind event showcasing the future of our AVGC sector to the world. This broad-spectrum challenge showcases the best of our talent across 25 types of content and games.

India needs more of these visible celebrations. It's time the world saw our creativity and our ambition. However, to fully unlock this potential, India must also invest heavily. The AVGC sector represents the future of digital interaction and entertainment. Unlocking this future needs skill development, investment pipelines, platforms that scale, a progressive regulatory regime, and much more. It is indeed a tall order, but by establishing the Gangotri here, India can ensure its leadership in the global economy and narrative for years to come.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SECULAR CREDENTIALS INTACT

Madam — Apropos of the editorial 'How secular in India' (October 5) based on the report of the US Commission on International Religious Freedom, certain ground realities of the present circumstances emanating from Israel-Hamas war wrapping Lebanon, Iran and Syria, extremist groups of Pakistan operating in India, terrorist attacks from across the border and coup in Bangladesh, which are directly boiling the Indian Muslims against Israel, US etc, can't be factored for any judgment by a US group.

It is true that there are serious violations of human rights and religious freedom in the US. India has very peculiar problems relating to religious issues. The Waqf Act has embroiled the sentiments on possession of their lands and temples, the insurgency from Bangladesh and Myanmar have changed the demography of the North East, Bengal and other bordering states. Our neighbourhood has been troubled with army coups, dictatorships, religious violence against Hindus and anti-India governments. Pakistan, Bangladesh, and Myanmar are failing in economies with unstable governments. Hindus are restive not against Muslims and minorities but against indiscriminate appeasement politics.

These aspects have not been factored in the report of USCIRF. It is surprising & unfortunate, highly biased and discriminatory that such organisations don't carry out similar investigations and publish reports on Pakistan, Bangladesh, Myanmar, Maldives, Afghanistan, Iran, Syria and China. However, such extraneous reports are mostly inconsequential in Indian politics. Such reports don't help Muslims too. US should also denounce and discredit such organisations and their reports. Such reports vitiolate diplomatic relations and mutual cooperation.

Address the demands of Ladakh

The people of Ladakh are deeply concerned about pressing environmental issues, regional affairs, and the lack of essential services, all of which continue to plague the region. The key issues they are raising include the demand for tribal status under the Sixth Schedule of the Indian Constitution, full-fledged statehood, separate parliamentary constituencies for Leh and Kargil, and the establishment of a Public Service Commission. Sadly, even as they did 21 days fasting protest, getting no results they began another Delhi Chalo Padyatra for their rightful claims, despite being totally peaceful protest, were detained by the Delhi police, sparking outrage across the country.

It is alarming to see the government's apathy and the Indian media's strange silence on such critical matters. Ladakh is an integral part of India, and its people deserve to be treated with the same respect and consideration as any other citizens. Their development is India's development, and their issues must be addressed without further delay. I urge the government to fulfill the demands of the people of Ladakh promptly and work towards ensuring their welfare and dignity. Jakir Hussain | Kanpur

JUSTICE RESTORED

Madam— The recent Supreme Court decision against prejudice based on caste in jails is a major step towards ensuring that everyone is treated with dignity and equality. But how can we make sure that every state implements these changes in an effective way? Concerns regarding the extent of social injustice are raised by the practices from the colonial past that remain present in jail manuals. What steps will be implemented to monitor compliance and permanently end this prejudiced conduct as we work towards a more equal system? The Court's order is an important first step, but more work needs to be done.

A BETRAYAL OF TRUST

Madam — I am writing to express my deep concern regarding the adulteration of Tirupati laddus. The Supreme Court's decision to form a five-member independent SIT is a commendable step. Any allegations of adulteration or misusing of any ingredients in the Tirumala Tirupati laddus are disrespectful to the sentiments of crores of devotees. It also questions about the quality control and the safety standard that is being maintained by the Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD). I urge the SIT to conduct an impartial investigation turning no stone unturned. The findings of the investigation should be made public which would restore the faith of devotees in the TTD and also prevent such incidents from happening in future. The investigation must be done in such a manner that it does not become a political issue as Tirupati laddus is connected to crores of people and their beliefs, it deals with the sentiments of devotees. I urge the SIT to conduct an impartial investigation which would not just resolve this issue but also ensure that next time such thing doesn't happen by ensuring regular maintenance and laboratory tests are done.

Overcoming Phobia: A Journey of inner strength and inspiration

Resilience and determination can help us overcome even the toughest challenges. All you need is a spark to ignite your spirit

I had a phobia of speaking in public. It is quite surprising given that I was good at debates during school and college. I was also a successful manager as I traversed my professional journey. I dealt with hundreds of staff since I joined the railways as a young officer.

I also interacted confidently with my peers and the seniors. However, I would break out in a sweat and lose my sleep each time I had to be on stage. I was envious of those who could spontaneously break into a joke or recite a poem. I decided to do something about it. I started preparing notes days in advance. I would keep memorising the lines by rote till they were branded in my memory. I would even repeat them standing in front of the mirror watching intently my facial expressions. This was the best that I could do. I realised in later years that my handicap was nothing when compared to the challenges faced by many. Recently, I watched The King's Speech, a movie on the life of King George

VI, who found himself on the throne after his older brother, King Edward VIII abdicated. The film largely dealt with King George's determination to overcome his stutter with the help of a speech therapist. I understood that the will to beat the odds comes from within. No therapy can help an unwilling person. There are many instances of people overcoming their handicaps to pursue their dreams. We have all heard of Stephen Hawking. He was diagnosed with motor neuron disease at age 21 and was not expected to live more than a couple of years. He survived the odds but the disease paralysed him over decades. After he lost his speech, he communicated through a hand-held speech-generating device, and then through a cheek muscle. Helen Keller was an American author. Medical science was much less advanced than what we know today. An unknown illness, when she was only 19 months old, left her permanently blind and deaf. She painstakingly learned to recognise words through hand movements. We, who are blessed, cannot even fathom the hard work that would have gone into her transformation to be the voice that she became. The famous Bharatnatyam danseuse Sudha Chandran underwent amputation of her right leg at the age of 18 due to a road accident. Many would have lost hope and might have ended up wallowing in self-pity. The lady regained her mobility with the help of a prosthetic. She also pushed herself to accomplish the unthinkable. One need not look up to only the famous to witness these stories of human courage and conviction. My maternal grandfather was comatose for a few months after a botched-up surgery. The doctors were not even certain about his coming out of the coma. He was paralyzed on his right side. He worked painstakingly to lead as normal a life as he could, he even developed writing skills with his left hand. Many in our country are differently abled but do not have the means to pursue their dreams.

On the other hand, we have big business houses that do not even bat an eyelid before spending more than the GDP of a small country on lavish events. We, many other individuals, and the business houses have the means to make a difference in the lives of others. Stephen Hawking said, "Concentrate on the abilities your disability doesn't hinder and don't dwell on the things it interferes with. Be disabled physically, not in spirit." We need to be the spark that ignites the spirit. (The author is an electrical engineer with the Indian Railways and conducts classes in creative writing; views are personal)

LEADERSHIP AND MENTAL HEALTH OF EMPLOYEES

Supportive leadership can reduce stress and enhance job satisfaction

SAKSHI SETHI

In today's dynamic workplace, the mental health of employees has become a focal point for organisations aiming to foster a productive and harmonious environment. One of the most significant factors influencing employee's mental health is the role of leadership. Bosses and managers possess the power to shape workplace culture, influence employee satisfaction and directly impact mental well-being. Leaders hold a unique position of authority that can significantly affect an employee's perception of their work environment. The tone set by leaders creates the foundational culture of an organisation. It is undeniable to say that a positive, encouraging atmosphere promotes employee engagement and satisfaction, whereas a toxic environment leads to stress and anxiety. Several research indicates that employees who feel supported by their leaders are more likely to experience lower levels of stress and higher levels of job satisfaction. Studies also indicate that transformational and supportive leadership styles co-relate with better employee mental health outcomes.

Leaders who provide emotional support and recognition can significantly reduce stress levels among employees. Conversely, authoritarian leadership styles often result in increased employee anxiety and decreased morale. Flexible work arrangements such as remote work, and flexible hours positively impact mental health by allowing employees to manage personal responsibilities alongside work demands. One of the most crucial aspects of effective leadership is the ability to provide support and recognition.

There is no denying the fact that employees thrive when their contributions are acknowledged and valued. A boss who regularly provides constructive feedback and celebrates achievements fosters a sense of belonging and motivation. This recognition can enhance employees' self-esteem and reinforce their commitment to the organisation. On the other hand, a lack of recognition can lead to feelings of inadequacy and disillusionment, ultimately affecting mental health negatively.

The interplay between workplace factors and employee mental health is complex but increasingly recognised as critical to organisational success. By fostering supportive leadership, promoting a positive work culture and prioritising employee well-being, organisations can enhance mental health outcomes and overall productivity. Continued research in this area is essential for developing effective strategies to support mental health in the workplace. The impact of leadership on employee mental health is profound and multifaceted. Bosses have the authority to shape the workplace culture, provide support and recognition, communicate effectively, manage workloads, resolve conflicts and model healthy behaviours. Understanding the importance of these factors can help organisations create healthier work environments where employees feel valued and supported.

As businesses continue to navigate the complexities of the modern workplace, prioritising mental health through effective leadership is not just beneficial for employees but is also essential for fostering a productive and engaged workforce. The interplay between workplace factors and employee mental health is not only complex but also increasingly recognised as critical to organisational success. By fostering supportive leadership, promoting a positive work culture and prioritising employee well-being, organisations can enhance mental health outcomes and overall productivity. ## Elevate wellness experts as industry leaders

DINESH SOOD

Backed by government initiatives and vocational training programmes, this sector offers global placements, entrepreneurial opportunities and job openings in small towns

Beauty, wellness and grooming are indispensable aspects of life, particularly for young professionals striving for financial success and a luxurious lifestyle. It's crucial to recognise that a professionally trained hairdresser can earn more than an engineer or a doctor, dispelling the outdated notion that community-based hairdressers only fulfil basic needs. Their workplaces also serve as vibrant community centres where people gather, exchange ideas and foster belonging and bonding while waiting for a haircut. Therefore, it's imperative to rebrand the skills and professionals in the beauty and wellness sector as 'Beauty Architects' or 'Glam Gurus', elevating their profession's status and attracting more talent to this lucrative industry.

Our country's beauty and wellness industry presents unparalleled employment opportunities and global placements. Recognising this, the government has initiated various measures to create pertinent content, curricula, information databases, and delivery systems, standardise accreditation and certification processes, and establish industry-aligned infrastructure. These efforts aim to equip young individuals to perceive beauty and wellness as a promising profession. The beauty and wellness sector should streamline its curricula to emphasise industry exposure.

As the industry transitions towards more excellent organisations, professionals must be educated on adhering to professional service standards, obtaining industry-specific qualifications and certifications from reputable organisations, and enhancing their existing qualifications through access to higher education and research.

Integrating extensive internship, apprenticeship, and on-the-job training opportunities will provide candidates with practical work experience and a comprehensive understanding of the industry. The absence of employer-led apprenticeship standards and career pathways leads to limited internship opportunities, depriving numerous students of valuable learning experiences. Early introduction of beauty and wellness courses in schools is essential. Our current education systems prioritise knowledge-oriented training through rote learning, neglecting practical, experiential learning crucial for real-world application. Therefore, orienting students towards vocational education as an alternative career choice is imperative.

The absence of practical and experiential learning impedes innovation, creativity, and imagination among learners, leaving them ill-prepared for the evolving world of work. The National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 advocates integrating vocational education with mainstream education to expose 50 per cent of K12 and PG learners to vocational skills by 2025 and 100 per cent by 2030. Schools play a crucial role in raising awareness about vocational career paths.

Notably, beauty and wellness skill courses have been part of the curriculum in Delhi Government schools for over a decade. Early exposure to such vocational education can aid students, parents, and guardians in considering alternative career paths and foster a positive outlook on the workforce's dignity in the beauty and wellness industry. The vocational education sector has tried mainstream vocational courses such as BVoc, MVoc, BSc, and MSc in Beauty and Wellness. However, these programs have seen low enrollment due to a need for more awareness about career opportunities and limited seats.

There is a need to design more BVoc and MVoc courses with multiple entry and exit points, focusing on practical application in areas such as Beauty Culture, Cosmetology, Yoga, Ayurveda Dietetics, Sports Nutrition, Physiotherapy, Salon Management, Beauty Therapy, Aesthetics, Aesthetic Dermatology, Hair Dressing, Makeup, and Spa Therapy, rather than just theoretical knowledge.

Additional focus is also required in the areas of human psychology, stress management, mental well-being, nutrition and diet, reflexology, alternate therapies etc. An alternative pathway to a bachelor's degree is completing a one-year ITI program and gaining a year of industry experience. Expanding training capacities in the Beauty and Wellness sector within ITIs is crucial, as the current short-term training programs are insufficient to meet industry standards and demand.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) is essential for informal workers with significant industry experience. Despite possessing valuable skills, many informal workers in the Beauty and Wellness industry need more formal education and training.

RPL can help them gain formal certification based on their industry experience. Additionally, there is a need to support entrepreneurship in the Beauty and Wellness sector. More than 50 per cent of vocational graduates in this sector opt for self-employment, and there is a growing trend of industry workers starting their enterprises.

A robust support system is required to support these entrepreneurs and foster innovation and employment. The Indian beauty and personal care market is experiencing rapid growth in tier-II and tier-III towns, with a substantial value of $22 billion and projected to expand at a rate of 10-12 per cent to reach $34 billion by 2028, as per the Nykaa Beauty Trends Report. This surge in tier-II and tier-III cities is not surprising, given the global trend. In India, approximately 38 per cent of the demand for beauty and wellness products and services, particularly direct-to-customer (D2C) offerings, originates from these cities, making them highly lucrative markets.

Despite being underdeveloped, tier-II and tier-III cities hold significant potential in the beauty and wellness sector. Research indicates that professionals in these cities are well-versed in domestic and international trends, products, and hair services. Social media's influence has been pivotal in driving lifestyle changes, especially among the younger population. Young customers and professionals in tier-II and tier-III towns are eager to explore new trends and various beauty and wellness services.

In contrast to metropolitan cities, recruiting a skilled workforce in these smaller cities is more accessible, as a motivated and trainable young workforce is readily available. Beauty, wellness, and grooming have become integral to everyone's lifestyle, regardless of whether they reside in metropolitan cities or smaller towns across India.

People increasingly seek professionals to help them achieve their desired makeovers, so it's time to adopt an inclusive approach to rebrand the traditional workforce as professionals in the beauty and wellness sector.

Mobilising climate finance in India: Uncovering alternative routes

Blended finance models, carbon pricing and strategically aligned CSR funds could be the key to unlocking the private sector's investment potential

India's changing dynamics with the geopolitical powers of the world coupled with its accelerating economy have put us in a unique spot—one that allows it to be the voice of the Global South. India's position on climate change commitments attracted global attention during the 26th Conference of Parties (COP26) in Glasgow, during which Prime Minister Modi committed to India achieving net-zero emissions by 2070. This ambitious pledge, unprecedented for a developing nation, was a point that speaks of a profound shift in India's climate policy. The country's newfound authority after last year's G20 Presidency.

KAVIN KUMAR KANDASAMY

Among the many deliberations that India helmed with the other delegations, there was also a renewed global focus on the urgency of climate action. The Urgency of Mobilising Capital in the Global South, while the impacts of climate change are global and far-reaching, the impacts of this Research shows that 55 vulnerable countries have suffered $525 billion combined climate crisis-fueled losses in the last 20 years. The number is estimated to reach $580 billion per year by 2030. This is because large-scale investments are required for mitigation or adapting to the consequences. The Loss & Damage Fund, proposed at COP27 and operationalised at COP28, was a move India with the rest of Global South welcomed.

Though it is receiving initial contributions from developed nations, these fall short of what many developing countries deem necessary. Further, a recent study by CEEW found that the developed world, which is responsible for three-fourths of existing carbon emissions in the world—will end up emitting 38 per cent more carbon in 2030 than they have committed, if one were to look at the current trajectories. 83 per cent of this overshoot will be caused by the European Union, Russia and the United States. It is critical to ensure the rescue and rehabilitation of countries facing the cascading effects of this global issue disproportionately. India has held the Global North accountable—not just as the voice of the Global South but owing to its vulnerability. Understanding India's Stance around 619 million persons in India bore the brunt of climate change-induced extreme heat between June 16 and June 24. This is more than any other country in the world. These incidents are not just environmental, but also economic and health-related. Cities grind to a halt under the force of extreme weather, leaving economic scars and jeopardising the marginalised.

Creating a resilient and sustainable future for India necessitates a just transition, which in turn requires significant financial investment. India faces a substantial climate financing shortfall of USD 3.5 trillion. To address this, we need investment support amounting to USD 1.4 trillion by 2070, translating to an average annual requirement of USD 28 billion over the next five decades. While international support is undoubtedly crucial, harnessing the potential of domestic mechanisms like carbon pricing and blended finance models is crucial for long-term sustainability.

Novel mechanisms of blended finance can not only help bridge the financing gap to fulfil India's needs but can also unlock significantly higher investment from the private sector. This will also help in reducing overdependence on external climate capital as the primary instrument for climate capital. Strategic Alignment of CSR Funds Corporate India makes substantial expenditures as part of their Corporate

Social Responsibility. We have an opportunity here to strategically align these CSR funds in a manner that accelerates our efforts of achieving SDGs. According to provisional data from the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA), spending on health reached Rs 9,987 crore in FY22, compared to Rs 8,382 crore on education. In contrast, spending on the environment was Rs 2,837 crore in FY22, which is double the Rs 1,337 crore spent in FY21. There is a major scope for increasing the quantum of CSR funds being streamlined towards carbon projects. This notion reverberates further in the Reserve Bank of India's report on currency and finance, wherein equitable CSR funding is listed as the crucial policy alternative to mitigate climate risk. While energy and mitigation have received the most amount of climate financing for India, more investments should be directed towards nature-based solutions and environment ecosystems that crosscut both mitigation and adaptation in India. This will help create permanence in carbon removals that will help mitigate the effects of climate change. The flexible nature of CSR provides businesses in the country a significant chance to foster positive transformation and marry socio-economic advancement by finding environmental solutions. Yet, these dual benefits are attainable only with a committed long-term vision and detailed planning.

India is essentially a Hindu nation: RSS chief

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ KOTA (RAJASTHAN)

Asserting that India is essentially a Hindu nation, RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat has said the Hindu society must unite for its security by eliminating differences in language, caste and regional disputes. He also underlined that the functioning of the RSS is not mechanical but idea-based. Addressing a 'Swayamsevak Ekatrikaran' event in Rajasthan's Baran on Saturday evening, Bhagwat said the Hindus consider everyone as their own and embrace everyone. "We have lived here since ancient times even though the term Hindu came later. Hindus embrace everyone. They live in harmony through continuous dialogue," he said. The Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) chief stressed the "Hindu society must unite for its security by eliminating language, caste, and regional differences and disputes". ## Petition filed in SC for Gyanvapi cases to be heard by Allahabad HC's three-judge bench

BISWAJEET BANERJEE ■ LUCKNOW

In a development mirroring the Ram Mandir case, a petition has been filed in the Supreme Court requesting that all cases related to the Gyanvapi issue be heard by a three-judge bench of the Allahabad High Court. The Supreme Court is expected to hear the petition soon, according to Advocate Vishnu Shankar Jain, who disclosed the information at the Civil Court complex in Varanasi. Advocate Jain explained that the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) had submitted its survey report to the court on December 25, 2023. However, despite more than nine months passing, no objections have been sought from the Anjuman Intezamia Masjid Committee regarding the report.

Jain emphasized that repeated requests have been made from their side, urging the court to seek objections from the Masjid Committee on the ASI report. He added that this is crucial for moving the case forward, as it would determine whether the ASI's report becomes part of the court's records. Additionally, the key issues of the case would be framed accordingly. The advocate further mentioned that the actual trial concerning the Shri Krishna Janmabhoomi case in Mathura is also being conducted at the Allahabad High Court. Therefore, a similar petition has been filed in the Supreme Court, requesting that Gyanvapi-related cases also be heard by a three-judge bench of the Allahabad High Court, he said.

RG Kar case: Junior doctors begin indefinite fast

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

The agitating junior doctors withdrew their second round of cease work and began an indefinite fast instead demanding justice for their woman colleague who was on August 9 raped and murdered inside the RG Kar Medical College and Hospital. The doctors who started their fast from 9 pm on Saturday said that "initially six of us will be sitting on a fast." The second phase of the doctors' movement started following frequent attacks on doctors at Sagore Dutta Medical College, Ramurhat Medical College, CNM Medical College in the past couple of weeks. Debashis Haldar one of their leaders said that "besides asking for speedy disposal of justice of Abhaya our colleague who was so brutally raped and murdered ... we had also demanded removal of the Principal Health Secretary NS Nigam which the Government would not do ... we had also demanded adequate security personnel ... installation of CCTV camera and of course timely general body elections to students' unions so that the ongoing threat culture and sexual exploitations perpetrated by the student leaders of the ruling party can be stopped ... the Government can easily take these small measures but they would not do that as this will hurt their ego." The doctors also said that a team representing them would soon visit the Kultali village where the brutal rape and murder of a minor girl had taken place on Saturday. "We are considering a visit to Kultali ... soon we will visit that village and interact with the villagers so that their movement too gets stronger," one of the doctors said. Meanwhile, to make the matter more embarrassing for the Government the senior doctors too offered to join the fasting protest. "We will also join them in a relay fasting," said Dr Subarna Goswami a senior doctor.

Look like 25: Kanpur couple defrauds over ₹35 crores with false 'age-reversing' therapy claim

BISWAJEET BANERJEE ■ LUCKNOW

A shocking case of fraud has come to light in Kanpur, where a couple from Swaroop Nagar allegedly duped people of nearly ₹35 crore by promising to make 65-year-olds look 25 again using an Israel-made machine. The accused, Rajiv Kumar and his wife Rashmi Dubey, launched an organization called "Revival Word" in Saket Nagar to carry out the scam. According to the victim, Renu Singh Chandel, the couple convinced people that Israeli scientists had successfully rejuvenated 35 elderly individuals—aged 64 and above—by giving them pure oxygen in a pressurized chamber for five days. They claimed that the process made them appear 25 years old within three months. For more than a year, the couple lured hundreds of people into their scam, even invoking the name of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to make their claims more convincing. The fraudsters, operating out of an "Any Time Gym" franchise in Swaroop Nagar, Kanpur, would tell their clients that Prime Minister Modi's energy and ability to work long hours were due to a secret age-reversing technology from Israel.

"How does Modi remain so energetic, working 20 hours a day and always glowing?" they would ask. They claimed that Modi had used oxygen therapy to reverse his aging process, leading many to believe in the effectiveness of their so-called therapy. The couple charged unsuspecting victims between ₹50,000 and ₹2 lakh, promising miraculous results through what they described as cutting-edge Israeli technology. Using network marketing tactics, they added more than 500 people to their fraudulent scheme. Victims were told that they would receive treatment with an Israeli time machine, supposedly valued at ₹25 crores, which would make them young again. However, it was later revealed that the so-called time machine was nothing more than a crude apparatus built from junk materials worth just ₹2.5 lakh. The scam caused significant harm to many of the victims. Some reported severe side effects, including facial burns and the appearance of white marks on their skin. How the Scam Unfolded According to Renu Singh Chandel, a whistleblower in the case, the couple operated out of Flat No. 10 of Prabhu Mahila Apartment, where they ran the gym franchise. The couple showed photos and videos claiming that Israeli scientists had conducted successful research in which 35 elderly individuals were treated with pure oxygen in a pressurized chamber for five days a week. After three months, they said, these individuals' organs and skin had transformed to resemble those of people in their mid-20s. By showing these fake visuals, the couple managed to gain the trust of their clients. The couple reportedly introduced two investment schemes, one costing ₹6,000 and another ₹90,000, under the pretext that the funds would be used to purchase the rejuvenation machine from Israel for ₹25 crore. Additionally, they promised lucrative rewards for those who recruited others into the scheme, with gift hampers for anyone who provided 50 new IDs. Renu Singh said she invested ₹9 lakh for 150 IDs and another ₹3.5 lakh to expand the business. The couple initially promised her a return of ₹3.5 lakh and ₹2.1 lakh within a year, but after a year, they only returned ₹1.75 lakh. When asked about the remaining amount, the couple assured her that the plant would soon start operating. Over time, it became clear that the couple had taken nearly ₹35 crore from various individuals under false pretext. After realizing the scale of the scam, Renu lodged a complaint with Police Commissioner Akhil Kumar. The Kidwai Nagar Police have now registered a report on the Police Commissioner's orders, with investigations underway.

Authorities seize mephedrone drug worth ₹1,814 crore, raw materials from factory in Bhopal

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ AHMEDABAD

Authorities have seized mephedrone (MD) drug valued at Rs 1,814 crore and its raw materials from a factory on the outskirts of Madhya Pradesh capital Bhopal and arrested two persons in this connection, officials said on Sunday. Total 907.09 kg of mephedrone, both in solid and liquid forms, was seized in the raid and search operation carried out jointly by the Gujarat Anti-Terrorist Squad (ATS) and the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB), Delhi, at the factory located in Bagroda industrial estate near Bhopal on Saturday, they said. This is the largest illegal factory ever busted by the Gujarat ATS. The unit had the capacity to manufacture 25 kg of MD drug per day, the ATS said in a statement. A process was underway to manufacture a large amount of the contraband when the raid was carried out, it said. During the operation, authorities seized 907.09 kg of mephedrone, both in solid and liquid forms, with an estimated value of Rs 1,814.18 crore in the international market, the ATS said. Two persons, identified as Amit Chaturvedi (57) and Sanyal Prakash Bane (40), were arrested during the raid, it said. During their preliminary interrogation, it came to light that Bane was earlier arrested in 2017 in a MD drug seizure case at Amboli in Maharashtra and served five years in jail. "After his release, he conspired with co-accused Chaturvedi to illegally manufacture and sell MD to earn substantial financial profits. And decided to rent a factory on the outskirts of Bhopal," the ATS said. They took the factory on rent six-seven months ago, it said. Three-four months back, they collected the raw material and equipment and started manufacturing MD and selling it, the ATS said. In addition to the contraband, around 5,000 kg of raw materials, comprising chemicals and equipment, used for the production of MD, including grinders, motors, glass flasks, heaters and other apparatus, were also found during the raid, it said. Minister of State for Home Harsh Sanghavi lauded efforts of the law enforcement agencies in combating drug-trafficking. "Kudos to Gujarat ATS and NCB (Ops), Delhi, for a massive win in the fight against drugs! Recently, they raided a factory in Bhopal and seized MD and materials used to manufacture MD, with a staggering total value of Rs 1814 crores!", Sanghavi said in a post on X. "This achievement showcases the tireless efforts of our law enforcement agencies in combating drug trafficking and abuse. Their collaborative efforts are crucial in safeguarding the health and security of our society," he said.

TN Governor blames police for failure on tackling synthetic drugs

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ CHENNAI

Expressing concern over the drug menace, Governor R N Ravi on Sunday flayed the Tamil Nadu Police, alleging that the state sleuths were unable to seize even one gram of synthetic drug, whereas their counterparts in Central agencies were recovering hundreds of kilograms in the state. Terming the prevalence of drugs among youngsters as a "serious problem", Ravi said the Government alone cannot eradicate it, but only through a mass movement it can be done. "Our country is celebrating the festival of Navratri, and normally I do not move out of Chennai during these nine days to ensure that I attend the pooja in the evening at Raj Bhavan. However, when I was invited to this event, I decided I must not miss it. The issue of drugs is close to my heart. Because I have seen prosperous and happy families getting destroyed, society getting destroyed because of this drug," he said at an event in Tenkasi, 650 kms south of Chennai. Citing some examples of the use of drugs, he said there are some states in the North East which suffer enormously because of it. "Even, we have a case in Punjab. Remember, till about 40 years back, it was the most advanced and front-ranking state in the country. Within three decades, drugs destroyed it and today it (Punjab) is struggling to come out of it (drug culture). There are many areas in our country which are affected by drugs. We must fight to finish it," he said, after inaugurating the 'Rally for a Drug-Free Tenkasi', organised by the Voice of Tenkasi Foundation. The use of drugs in Tamil Nadu is also "very serious" and the synthetic drug is referred to as ganja here, but in Kerala or Karnataka it is called heroin, hashish or meth crystals, he said. Describing synthetic drugs as a "bigger threat", the Governor said opium, heroin, hashish and various kinds of synthetic drugs are highly addictive, and the victims are mostly young people, school and college students. "What I am worried about our State is Central agencies have seized hundreds and hundreds of kilograms of synthetic and chemical drugs from different parts of our state. From the land, from the sea, from the airport, large amount of drugs, chemical and synthetic drugs are seized. "Three years down the line, I have come across seizures of ganja, tons and tons of ganja seized but no synthetic nor chemical drug. How come Central agencies are able to seize hundreds of kilograms of these synthetic and chemical drugs, whereas our state enforcement agencies are not able to seize even one gram," he asked. Soon after he assumed office in Tamil Nadu, the Governor said he invited the then Police chief and requested him to pay attention to the prevalence of drugs in the state. "This is a serious problem, because I have seen it with my own eyes. How a prosperous family, prosperous society completely gets destroyed. We must act tough," he said. Observing that the drugs comprise two aspects -- demand and supply -- he said that there are some countries which sustain themselves on money by supplying the drugs. "We have the case of Afghanistan. They grow heroin, they grow opium and make heroin and other variants of it and push it in the international market. We know our western neighbours and their forces have been supplying drugs and getting money to run terrorism, which is called 'narco terrorism' involving billions and billions of dollars," he said. With supply side pressure from the international market, the drugs are getting pushed into India as a transit route by the drug cartels, he said. "Initially they (drug cartels) said that India is only a transit route because it goes to Sri Lanka and other international countries. But, I think they have fooled us for long. While transiting into India, I think the whole amount of drugs does not get moved as we are becoming a drug consuming society," he claimed.

Sunil was performing Sita's 'swayamvar' scene which required him to break the bow, however, while singing a song, he felt a sudden chest pain and went backstage, where he collapsed. Such cases of sudden heart attack are not new with many such cases reported in the past. In January, a 62-year-old man playing Lord Hanuman suffered a similar fate during a Rameleela event in Haryana's Bhiwani. Many on social media expressed grief over the incident while some blamed the Covid vaccines for upsurge in such cases. "Another heart attack, another death. Such

RAPE AND MURDER ...

While the officers of Narendrapur Police Station would not respond to the queries, Baruiapur Superintendent of Police P Dhali said referring to the Saturday's rape and murder, "we have acted swiftly and arrested one person called Mustakim in a matter of a few hours for committing the murder and will see to it that he gets the highest punishment." When asked as to the two cousin sisters getting raped could be mere coincidence or could there be a deep-rooted planning, another senior police officer said: "investigations are not based on conjectures ... we will have to find it out." Saturday witnessed a massive public upheaval in and around Joynagar block with hundreds of angry villagers attacking the Kripakhali police outpost and setting it afire as reports spread that the dead girl had multiple wounds on her person and her limbs were broken. Her body was recovered by the Hooghly River. protesting the rape and murder of an 11-year-old girl whose body was found in the wee hours of Saturday by the canal connecting the Hooghly River. Hundreds of villagers carrying sticks and brooms gheraoed the Kultali police station shouting "we want justice" a la the agitating junior doctors of RG Kar Medical College and Hospital where an on-duty lady doctor was raped and murdered on August 9. The police had arrested one Mustakim for perpetrating the brutalities on the minor girl. The court on Sunday remanded the accused to seven-day police custody. Besides, the Calcutta High Court which was hearing a parallel plea for getting the postmortem of the victim conducted at a central Government facility directed forensic experts of Kalyani AIIMS to conduct the autopsy at the state-run JNM Hospital. The court also directed the police to register case under

The Court also directed the autopsy to be conducted in presence of the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate of Baruiapur. Incidentally the Kolkata Police had received severe criticism from all quarters for conducting the postmortem of the RGKMC victim in a hurried manner. Cut to Kultali. Senior saffron leaders like Union Minister and Bengal BJP president Sukanta Majumdar attacked the state administration for having failed to protect the women of the state. "The Saturday's incident has once again proved that there is no law and order in Bengal ... the total system has collapsed ... that the women are not safe in this state was once again proved by the murder of the minor girl whose only fault was that she was returning from her tuition alone." The villagers who took out long processions and blocked roads with wooden logs demanding justice for the victim to complain of police inaction. We not only want the maximum punishment for the accused but also demand action against the police officers who were lax in discharging their duty," the women shouted. CPI(M) leaders Meenakshi Mukherjee too led processions in the area.

Strike on mosque kills 19 as Israel bombards Gaza, Beirut

AP ■ DEIR-AL-BALAH

An Israeli strike on a mosque in the Gaza Strip early Sunday killed at least 19 people, Palestinian officials said, as Israel intensified its bombardment of northern Gaza and southern Beirut in a widening war with Iran-allied militant groups across the region. Displaced people were sheltering at the mosque that was struck near the main hospital in the central town of Deir al-Balah. A further four people were killed in a strike on a school sheltering displaced people near the town. The Israeli military said both strikes targeted militants, without providing evidence. An Associated Press journalist counted the bodies at the Al-Aqsa Martyrs Hospital morgue. Hospital records showed that the dead from the strike on the mosque were all men.

Israel is still battling Hamas in Gaza a year after the group's attack on Israel, and has opened a new front in Lebanon against Hezbollah, which has been trading fire with Israel along the border since the war in Gaza began. Israel has also vowed to strike Iran itself after Tehran launched a ballistic missile attack on Israel last week.

The widening conflict risks drawing in the United States, which has provided crucial military and diplomatic support to Israel, as well as US-allied Arab countries that host American forces. Iran-allied militant groups in Syria, Iraq and Yemen have already joined in with long-distance strikes on Israel.

The Israeli military, meanwhile, announced a new air and ground offensive in Jabaliya, in northern Gaza, home to a densely populated refugee camp dating back to the 1948 war surrounding Israel's creation. It circulated photos and video footage showing a column of tanks heading toward the area.

Israeli forces encircled Jabaliya as warplanes struck militant sites inside, the military said. Over the course of the war, Israel has carried out several large operations there, only to see militants regroup. Israel reiterated its call, from the opening weeks of the war, for the complete evacuation of northern Gaza. Up to 300,000 people are estimated to have remained in the heavily destroyed north after earlier Israeli warnings that sent around a million fleeing to the south. "We are in a new phase of the war," the military said in leaflets dropped over the area. "These areas are considered dangerous combat zones." Palestinian residents reported heavy Israeli strikes across northern Gaza. The Civil Defence — first responders who operate under the Hamas-run government — said several homes and buildings had been hit and they were not able to reach them because of the bombardment. Residents posted about the airstrikes and mourned their relatives on social media. Imad Alarabid said in a Facebook post that an airstrike on his home in Jabaliya killed a dozen family members, including his parents. Saeed Abu Elaish, a Health Ministry medic, said he was wounded and bleeding. "Pray for us," he wrote on Facebook. Hassan Hamd, a freelance TV journalist whose footage had aired on Al Jazeera and other networks, was killed in artillery shelling on his home in Jabaliya. Anas al-Sharif, an Al Jazeera reporter in northern Gaza, confirmed his death. The military says it has expanded the so-called humanitarian zone in southern Gaza, urging people to head there. Hundreds of thousands of people have already sought refuge in sprawling tent camps there with little in the way of food, water or toilets. Israel has carried out strikes in the humanitarian zone against what it says are militants hiding among civilians. Nearly 42,000 Palestinians have been killed in Gaza since the start of the war, according to the Gaza Health Ministry. It does not say how many were fighters, but says a little more than half were women and children. Hamas-led militants killed some 1,200 people in the October 7 attack and took another 250 hostage. They are still holding around 100 captives, a third of whom are believed to be dead. In Beirut, airstrikes lit up the skyline and loud explosions echoed across the southern suburbs, known as the Dahiyeh, throughout the night, as Israel struck what it said were Hezbollah militant sites. Lebanon's state-run National News Agency said the area was hit by more than 30 strikes overnight, the heaviest bombardment since September 23 when Israel escalated its air campaign.

Health workers in Lebanon describe deadly attacks on colleagues and fear more

Beirut (AP): Israel's military struck outside the gates of a hospital in southern Lebanon without warning on Friday, killing seven paramedics and forcing the facility to close, the hospital director told The Associated Press a day after one of the most deadly attacks on health workers in the weeks since fighting escalated between Israel and Hezbollah. The account of the Friday airstrikes that flung hospital doors off their hinges and shattered glass was the latest to detail attacks that Lebanon's health ministry says have killed dozens of health workers. Marjayoun hospital director Mounes Kalakesh said that even before Friday's attack, ambulance crews in the area were so reluctant to operate that the facility had not received anyone wounded for days. "We have not been able to work. There was fear and panic among the staff," he said. Kalakesh said the government hospital did not receive any warning from Israeli forces before the attack, even though nearby villages have received such warnings to evacuate. Israel has not commented specifically on the incident. Friday's attack came hours before Israel's Arabic-language military spokesman accused the Hezbollah militant group, based in southern Lebanon, of using ambulances to transport weapons and fighters, and warned medical teams to stay clear of the group. The spokesman provided no evidence. It is a charge that Lebanese officials and hospital directors, including Kalakesh, deny. Lebanon's health minister has accused Israel of committing "a war crime" by targeting medical teams and paramedics. The health ministry on Thursday said 40 paramedics, firefighters and health care workers had been killed in Israeli attacks over three days, making it even more challenging to care for people wounded in the intense fighting.

Thousands join pro-Palestinian rallies

AP ■ ROME

Police used tear gas and water cannons to disperse violent demonstrators in Rome as tens of thousands of pro-Palestinian protesters took to the streets in major European cities and around the globe Saturday to call for a cease-fire as the first anniversary of the Hamas attacks on Israel approached. Huge rallies were held in several European cities, with gatherings expected to continue over the weekend and peak on Monday, the date of the anniversary. In Rome, several thousands demonstrated peacefully Saturday afternoon until a smaller group tried to push the rally toward the center of the city, in spite of a ban by local authorities who refused to authorize protests, citing security concerns. Some protesters, dressed in black and with their faces covered threw stones, bottles and paper bombs at the police, who responded with tear gas and water cannons, eventually dispersing the crowd. At least 30 law enforcement officers and three demonstrators were injured in the clashes, local media reported. The rally in Rome had been calm earlier, with people chanting "Free Palestine, Free Lebanon," waving Palestinian flags and holding banners calling for an immediate stop to the conflict. In London, thousands marched through the capital to Downing Street amid a heavy police presence. The atmosphere was tense as pro-Palestinian protesters and counterdemonstrators, some holding Israeli flags, passed one another. Scuffles broke out as police officers pushed back activists trying to get past a cordon. At least 17 people were arrested on suspicion of public order offenses, supporting a proscribed organization and assault, London's Metropolitan Police said. In the northern German city of Hamburg, about 950 people staged a peaceful demonstration with many waving Palestinian and Lebanese flags or chanting "Stop the Genocide," the DPA news agency reported, citing a count by police. Two smaller pro-Israeli counterdemonstrations took place without incident, it said. Several thousands of protesters gathered peacefully at Paris' Republique Plaza in a show of solidarity with the Palestinian and Lebanese people. Many were waving Palestinian flags while holding posters reading "stop the genocide," "free Palestine," and "hands off Lebanon." Pro-Palestinian demonstrators also gathered at New York's Times Square to call for a cease-fire, chanting "Gaza!" to a drumbeat. Some wore keffiyeh scarves, waved Palestinian and Lebanese flags and held a large cardboard image of Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu with red paint symbolizing blood across his face. Rallies were also planned in several other cities in the United States as well as in other parts of the world, including Denmark, Switzerland, South Africa and India. In the Philippines, dozens of left-wing activists protested near the U.S. Embassy in Manila, where police prevented them from getting closer to the seaside compound. Pro-Israeli demonstrations are expected to be held Sunday because Jews across the world are still observing Rosh Hashana, or the Jewish new year. This year, emotions will be high for many given that the midpoint of the 10 days spanning Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur is Oct. 7 — the one-year anniversary of the Hamas attack that killed 1,200 Israelis and triggered the ongoing war in Gaza. Security forces in several countries warned of heightened levels of alert in major cities, amid concerns that the escalating conflict in the Middle East could inspire new terror attacks in Europe or that the protests could turn violent.

International rescue teams reach Bosnia after floods

Sarajevo (AP): Rescue teams from Bosnia's neighbours and European Union countries on Sunday were joining efforts to clear the rubble and find people still missing from floods and landslides that devastated parts of the Balkan country. Bosnia sought EU help after a heavy rainstorm overnight on Friday left entire areas under water and debris destroyed roads and bridges, killing at least 18 people and wounding dozens. Officials said that at least 10 people are still unaccounted for, many of them in the village of Donja Jablanica, in southern Bosnia, which was almost completely buried in rocks and rubble from a quarry on a hill above. Residents there have said they heard a thundering rumble and saw houses disappear before their eyes. Luigi Soreca, who heads the EU mission in Bosnia, said on X that the EU stands with Bosnia and that teams are arriving to help. Bosnia is a candidate country for membership in the 27-nation bloc. Authorities said Croatian rescuers have already arrived while a team from Serbia is expected to be deployed in the afternoon, followed by a Slovenian team with dogs. Montenegro, North Macedonia, Poland, Czechia and Turkiye have also offered help, a government statement said. Sunday is the date of a local election in Bosnia. Election authorities have postponed voting in the flood-hit regions, but the flooding has overshadowed the vote across the country. Ismeta Bucalovic, a resident of Sarajevo, Bosnia's capital, said "we are all overwhelmed by these flooding events." Impoverished and ethnically divided, Bosnia has struggled to recover after the brutal war in 1992-95. The country is plagued by political bickering and corruption, stalling its EU bid.

Nurse, his dog die trying to save man from floods

Washington (AP): As the Hurricane Helene-driven waters rose around the Nolichucky River in Tennessee, Boone McCrary, his girlfriend and his chocolate lab headed out on his fishing boat to search for a man who was stranded by floodwaters that had levelled his home. But the thick debris in the water jammed the boat's motor, and without power, it slammed into a bridge support and capsized. McCrary and his dog Moss never made it out of the water alive. Search teams found McCrary's boat and his dog's body two days later, but it took four days to find McCrary, an emergency room nurse whose passion was being on his boat in that river. His girlfriend, Santana Ray, held onto a branch for hours before rescuers reached her. David Boutin, the man McCrary had set out to rescue, was distraught when he later learned McCrary had died trying to save him. "I've never had anyone risk their life for me," Boutin told The Associated Press. "From what I hear that was the way he always been. He's my guardian angel, that's for sure." The 46-year-old recalled how the force of the water swept him out his front door and ripped his dog Buddy — "My best friend, all I have" — from his arms. Boutin was rescued by another team after clinging to tree branches in the raging river for six hours. Buddy is still missing, and Boutin knows he couldn't have survived. McCrary was one of 215 people killed by Hurricane Helene's raging waters and falling trees across six states — Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia — and was among a group of first responders who perished while trying to save others.

Trump, Musk address thousands

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

Former US president Donald Trump on Saturday returned to Butler, a city in Pennsylvania where he narrowly escaped an assassination bid 12 weeks ago, and addressed thousands of his supporters in this key battleground state, urging them to elect him as the next president of the United States. Joined by high-profile figures like Tesla owner Elon Musk and his running mate, Senator J.D. Vance, Trump (78) made a passionate plea to "defeat" Vice President Kamala Harris, the Democratic candidate in the November 5 presidential poll. "We must stop her country-destroying regime, radical-left agenda once and for all. We cannot have it happen. So you must get out and you must vote," Trump said in Pennsylvania, which in this election cycle has emerged as a must-win situation for both candidates. Trump launched a scathing attack on Harris and accused her of being a failure on multiple fronts, including border security and economy. "She imposed a natural gas export ban on Pennsylvania, which is killing your energy workers and your pricing," he said. "Kamala Harris is a radical-left Marxist. She is a woman that is not respected in Congress. She was laughed at Congress. Nobody thought she could win. They did a coup of Biden. Whether you like him or not, I am not a particularly big fan. We had a debate, and the debate ended. And all of a sudden, they come to him, and they say, we want you out. You are not going to win the election. And he said, 'I do not want to get out,'" Trump said. "He (Biden) got 14 million (1.4 crore) votes. If you believe in democracy or a system, he got 14 million votes. And she (Harris) got none. She was the first one out, 22 candidates, and she never made it to Iowa. She quit before Iowa, and now she is running. And that is okay. But, you know, we spent USD 150 million beating Biden, and as soon as he was down and out for the count, they said, let us take him out. We will give somebody else to run. Never happened before," he said. "She is a person that rated even worse in every statistic than any other senator. She was rated at the bottom of the US Senate. She has destroyed everything she touched," Trump said. The former president said if elected, on the first day of his presidency, he would seal the border and stop the migrant invasion into the country. "We will begin the largest deportation operation in the history of the United States," he said, adding that 2024 is the most important election in the history of the country. "Here are the facts. My opponent, Kamala Harris, is the most incompetent and far-left nominee ever to run for president. She is much further left than crazy Bernie Sanders. She wants to open the borders. She took the most secure border in US history and turned it into the worst border in the history of the world.... She let in 21 million (2.1 crore) illegal aliens from all over the world, from prisons and jails and mental institutions and insane asylums. And they are terrorists at record levels, at levels we have never seen before," he alleged. In his brief speech, Musk said this is a must-win situation for the country. "President Trump must win to preserve the Constitution. He must win to preserve democracy in America. This is a must-win situation. So I have one ask for everyone in the audience, everyone who watches this video, everyone in the livestream. This one request is very important. Register to vote. And get everyone you know and everyone you do not know, drag them to register to vote.... Then make sure they actually do vote. If they do not, this will be the last election. That is my prediction," he said. Musk said the true test of someone's character is how they behave under fire. "We had one president who could not climb a flight of stairs. Another who was fist pumping after getting shot. Fight, fight, fight. Blood coming down the face. America is the home of the brave. There is no truer test than courage under fire. So who do you want representing America?" he asked the audience. "This election, I think it is the most important election of our lifetime. This is no ordinary election. The other side wants to take away your freedom of speech. They want to take away your right to bear arms. They want to take away your right to vote effectively. You have got 14 states now that do not require voter ID. California, where I used to live, just passed a law banning voter ID for voting. I still cannot believe that is real. How are you supposed to have a proper election if there is no ID?" he asked.

Tunisians vote in election with one of Prez Saied's challengers in prison

Tunis (AP): Tunisians cast ballots Sunday in the country's third presidential election since the pro-democracy revolt known as the Arab Spring, while one of the candidates remains in prison. Voters are deciding who among three candidates will lead the North African nation for the next five years — President Kais Saied, imprisoned businessman Ayachi Zammel or Zouhair Maghzaoui, a leftist who supported Saied before choosing to run against him. Saied, the 66-year-old first-term president, is largely the heavy favourite largely because of a crackdown on his opponents and the moves to remove checks and balances on his executive power. The majority of the opposition is boycotting the contest in protest of what they call an absence of democratic conditions for free and fair elections. Dozens of candidates had expressed interest to challenge Saied and 17 submitted preliminary paperwork to run in Sunday's race. However, members of the election commission, all of whom are appointed by the president, approved only three. They ignored a court ruling ordering them to reinstate three other challengers. Zammel was later imprisoned and charged with forging voter signatures to qualify for the ballot, which his attorney denied. Tunisia's presidential election is its third since protests led to the 2011 ouster of President Zine El Abidine Ben Ali — the first autocrat toppled in the Arab Spring uprisings that also overthrew leaders in Egypt, Libya and Yemen.

Wounded Calif officer shoots man during 'unprovoked' knife attack

AP ■ SANTA MONICA

A California officer fatally shot a man who wounded him with a knife outside a city police headquarters in what authorities called an "unprovoked attack." A man in his 30s approached the male officer outside the front doors of the Santa Monica Police Department around 5.20 pm Saturday. The man was told he would need to wait while the officer finished speaking to a resident, the department said. "Without warning, the individual attacked the officer while pulling a knife from his clothing. The suspect slashed and stabbed the officer," the department said in a statement posted on social media. The officer armed himself and retreated around the corner of the building as the man continued the attack. The officer then shot the man, the department said. Police and the Santa Monica Fire Department provided emergency medical aid but the man was pronounced dead at the scene, the department said. The identity and medical condition of the police officer was not immediately available. KNBC-TV reported the officer was transported to a hospital with serious wounds but police said he was expected to survive. The Los Angeles County Coroner's Office was called to the scene. The Santa Monica Police Department and the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office will investigate, the department said.

Amul set to enter European market after US success

PTI ■ JAMSHEDPUR

Managing Director of AMUL and Gujarat Co-operative Milk Marketing Federation Ltd (GCMMF) Jayen Mehta said AMUL's recently launched milk in US has been "highly successful" and they are now ready to enter the European market, which would mark a historic moment for the brand. Delivering the 11th Dr Verghese Kurien Memorial Oration on "AMUL Model: Transforming Lives of Million" organised by a private business management institute here on Saturday, Mehta said "India is now the largest milk producer in the world and is set to produce one-third of the world's total milk in the coming years", XLRI in a statement said. "Dairy isn't just a business-it's a lifeline for rural India," he said. Talking about Amul's recent launch of milk in the US, Mehta said it has been "highly successful", and they are now ready to enter the European market for the first time.

To stay relevant, Amul focuses on offering protein-rich, organic, and chemical-free products that customers trust, while continuously expanding their capacity and infrastructure, he said while praising the ecosystem developed by Dr Kurien, founder of AMUL. Mehta said "If India could offer a gift to the world, it would be the cooperative working system-a gift Dr Kurien gave us. His belief in cooperation has sparked a new revolution in India." Amul collects over 310 lakh litres of milk daily, with 107 dairy plants across India and over 50 products, Mehta said, adding that 22 billion packs are sold annually. Amul has a turnover of Rs 80,000 crore and is now ranked as the strongest dairy and food brand globally, owned by 36 lakh farmers, he claimed. Addressing the gathering, Nirmala Kurien - daughter of Dr Verghese Kurien, said more than half a century ago her father dared to dream that a milk-deficient country could one day become self-sufficient. Today, India stands as the world's largest producer of milk, she added. Director of XLRI Jamshedpur Fr S George said Dr Verghese Kurien's life was characterized by a commitment to making a difference.

Himachal processes record 1,545 mt apple juice: Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu

PTI ■ JAMSHEDPUR

The Himachal Pradesh Horticultural Produce Marketing and Processing Corporation has processed a record 1,545 metric tonnes of apple juice concentrate across its three plants this year so far, Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu said on Sunday. "It includes 814 metric tonnes (MT) from the Parala plant in Shimla district, 653 MT from the Parwanoo plant in Solan district, and 78 MT from the Jarol plant in Mandi district," he added. He said the Himachal Pradesh Horticultural Produce Marketing and Processing Corporation (HPMC) is crushing nearly all apples procured, with minimal fruit being sold through auctions. "92 per cent of the apples procured this season are being processed, due to strict adherence to procurement standards," he noted. The chief minister said that under the MIS this year, a total of 29,200 MT of apples have been procured in the state. Of this, 19,437 MT were purchased through 206 procurement centres of HPMC, while 9,764 MT were procured through 109 centres of Himfed.

"The apple season in the state is ongoing, and procurement under the Market Intervention Scheme (MIS) continues, with processing expected to increase as procurement grows. In an effort to enhance the quality of apple procurement under the MIS, HPMC has piloted the purchase of 1,219 MT of apples from farmers using crates. For the first time, apple procurement has also begun in the remote area of Pangi in Chamba district," he said. HPMC has introduced an online portal to improve the MIS.

"Procurement is now managed through this online system, which provides real-time data on procurement, transportation, crushing at processing plants, auction of fruit, booking of CA stores and direct bank transfer linkage, which is ensuring transparency and efficiency in services provided to apple growers," the chief minister said. "HPMC has enhanced its processing capacity, with this year's crushing capacity increasing from 21,000 MT to 39,000 MT compared to the previous year. Additionally, the grading and packaging line capacity has been enhanced from 15,900 MT to 33,900 MT. The wine units at Parala and Jarol have a combined annual capacity of 1.50 lakh litres." A new vinegar unit at Parala has an annual capacity of 50,000 litres, while a new pectin unit at Parala can produce 1.2 metric tons per day, and the ready-to-serve juice unit now has a daily capacity of 20,000 litres, he noted. HPMC has also expanded its market presence by engaging pan-India distributors and opening new retail outlets at Delhi Metro stations and other prominent locations across the country.

High GST rates hinder growth of India's carbonated soft drinks market

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Carbonated soft drinks segment in India is unable to reach its potential in terms of scale expansion due to barriers such as high taxation under the GST regime despite government's initiatives like 'Make in India' and 'Aatmanirbhar Bharat', according to a report by economic think tank ICRIER. The cross-country comparative data on sugar-sweetened beverages (SSB) taxes collated by the World Bank shows that India has one of the highest tax rates for carbonated soft drinks (CSDs) at a total tax rate of 40 per cent as of 2023. Over 90 per cent of countries that tax SSBs have a lower tax rate than India, as per the report titled 'Carbonated Beverages Industry in India: Tax Policy to Promote Growth, Innovation and Investment'. Consumers, globally and in India, are shifting towards low-sugar and no-added sugar varieties of beverages amid heightened health awareness. "The CSD market is also changing from its traditional high-sugar carbonated beverages to low-sugar and fruit-based and/or flavoured carbonated drinks to zero-sugar aerated water, catering to changes in consumers' choice for healthier options and government policies like layered-sugar-based taxes," the report said. Producers, across the globe, are reformulating their products to meet consumer demand, and these are supported through government policies and both fiscal and non-fiscal incentives. In India too, producers are re-examining their product portfolios and coming up with products like zero-calorie, low/no sugar content. "However, despite government initiatives like 'Make in India' and 'Aatmanirbhar Bharat', the CSD segment is unable to reach its potential in terms of scale expansion due to barriers such as the high tax brackets and compensation cess under the GST regime, implemented since 2017," it said. Currently, carbonated or aerated beverages are placed in the highest GST slab of 28 per cent with a compensation cess of 12 per cent, irrespective of their sugar or fruit content. "The high tax of 40 per cent, irrespective of sugar content, is making it difficult for innovative firms to come up with low-sugar varieties and scale up and existing firms to invest in product reformulation," the ICRIER report said. Citing cross-country comparative data on SSB taxes collated by the World Bank, the report said India has one of the highest tax rates for CSDs at a total tax rate of 40 per cent as of 2023. Over 90 per cent of countries that tax SSBs have a lower tax rate than India. The Indian CSDs market is relatively small. It generated revenue worth USD 18.25 billion in 2022, and grew at a CAGR of 19.8 per cent between 2017 and 2022. Pointing out that India is one of the largest global producers of fruits such as mango, banana, guava, papaya, sapota, pomegranate, and lime, and sugar, which in some cases are used in the CSD category, the report said. "It has the potential to be used in greater capacity, if the right policies promote their uses in CSDs." "While the Indian consumer wants to experiment with different products such as low-sugar CSDs or fruit-based CSDs, and startups are trying to come up with new products, investment, product varieties and innovation is much lower in CSDs in India," it said. "This is primarily because of treatment of this sector as a high tax revenue earner previously by the states through their state excise and now by the Goods and Services Tax (GST) Council, which has recommended a high tax and cess on CSDs," the report said.

A ditya Birla Group firm Hindalco Industries and Sajjan Jindal-led JSW Steel are in the race for two copper mines in Jharkhand which will be put on sale this month, sources said. Both mines have a combined capacity of three million tonne per annum. Hindalco Industries and JSW Steel will be vying for state-owned Hindustan Copper Ltd's two copper mines in Jharkhand, sources said. The auction of both the mines is likely to take place in the month of October. While one of these blocks is virgin, the other one is closed for the past 20 years. Hindustan Copper had earlier invited applications for appointment of mine developer-cum-operator (MDO) for re-opening and expansion of Rakha Copper Mine and development and operations of underground

Mine at Chabri. Hindustan Copper had said in its recent report that Rakha Mining Lease expired in 2021 and extension of mining lease period is under progress with the Jharkhand government. Further, the application for grant of stage one forest clearance over remaining forest area within mining lease has been accepted by Project Screening Committee. The site inspection by various authorities of State Forest department has been completed. Hindustan Copper is implementing expansion projects to increase mine production capacity to 12.2 million tonne per annum, its CMD Ghanshyam Sharma had recently said. The move will boost domestic production of copper and reduce dependence on imports. The company achieved ore production of 3.78 million tonne in FY24 against 3.35 MT in FY23, registering a rise of 13 per cent. The ongoing capacity expansion project i.e. Development of underground mine below the existing open cast mine at Malanjkhand Copper Project (MCP) will augment the ore production capacity from 2.5 MTPA to 5 MTPA. The ore production from the open cast mine has now been exhausted and the underground mine is operating below the existing open cast mine leaving some barrier pillars.

Auto industry expects robust sale during festive season

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Auto industry players are eyeing robust performance in the ongoing festive period to lift overall consumer sentiment and set the tone for the rest of the year amid slowing demand. The festive season usually commences with Onam and ends with Diwali every year. Kia India National Head of Sales and Marketing Hardeep Singh Brar told PTI that the last 3-4 months were not good for the industry as sales declined compared to the same period last year. "With pent-up demand of the last few months there and government investment starting to flow in, we feel things should start improving from here onwards," he noted. Brar said the booking momentum in September was good, which is a strong indication for October. "And this time, all festivals are in October. We expect about 5-10 per cent sales growth during the period as compared to last year," he added. Brar said that in the January-April period, the passenger vehicle industry witnessed a growth of 7 per cent, but in May-September, there was a dip of about 2-3 per cent, leading to the buildup of inventory. Nissan Motor India Managing Director Saurabh Vatsa said the entire industry is looking at the festive season to bring some cheer after witnessing tough three months. "I think it has been a challenging period. The festive period will define the quarter, and the third quarter will define what happens in the remaining part of the year," he said. Everybody is looking forward to the festive seasons, especially from the industry, he added. Toyota Kirloskar Motor Vice President, Sales-Service-Used Car Business, Sabari Manohar said the company is witnessing enhanced footfalls and enquiries. "Key to meeting this rising demand has been our strategic operational improvements, such as the introduction of a third shift. This has significantly optimised our supply chain, particularly for high-demand models like the Urban Cruiser HyRyder, where waiting periods have been reduced," he said. Additionally, there is a clear shift in sentiment, with an increasing embrace of eco-friendly technologies, not only in urban areas but also in Tier II and Tier III markets, Manohar said. Maruti Suzuki India Senior Executive Officer (Marketing and Sales) Partho Banerjee said the company is trying to increase its sales by bringing in some limited edition models. He noted that during Ganesh Chaturthi and Janmashtami, the company witnessed good traction in sales and has been able to generate volumes as per the business requirements. Tata Motors Passenger Vehicles MD Shailesh Chandra said in its monthly sales statement that registrations have picked up pace towards the end of the month (September), which augurs well for the festive period ahead. "We remain focused on driving up consumer preference for our exciting range of vehicles while maintaining the health of our dealer network," he added.

CLIMATE CHANGE

A SILENT HEALTH CRISIS

Climate change highlights urgent need for action writes ABHI SINGHAL

When we talk about health and wellness of ones health, the obvious fact that is associated and should be adjoined with are the surroundings and the climate. The climate has been adversely been affected from the past many years, in turn affecting our health and increasing the threats. Climate needs to be addressed as a serious issue which needs to be looked into as soon as possible.

To address all these issues Partnership for Impact have launched Voices for Impact. Their agenda for the discussion was Addressing Climate Change as a Threat Multiplier. This issue what discussed and had a panel discussion with Ms. Vini Mahajan, Secretary, Department of Drinking Water and Sanitation, Government of India; Dr Aditya Bahadur, Director, Red Cross Red Crescent Climate Centre and Dr Shagun Sabarwal, Asian Regional Director, Co-Impact.

The panel discussion was not just about explaining climate change but also finding a solution to the problem, understand it better, and looking at a partnership which can really have a solid impact.

The discussion was more about the awareness that the climate change is a threat to health in ways people wouldn't know and it has a lot of barriers and layers which need to be solved for getting the solution to the same.

The discussion also got a moment on gender inequalities and came forward was the fact that women and children who have no role to play in the climate change policy are affected the most by it.

Natasha Godinho, Vice President of GHS, moderating the conversation said, "Climate change is not just a health crisis or water crisis or a whole food crisis, it's so much more, and women and children just happen to be the face of this crisis. Years of inequitable social structures and patriarchal systems have left women in a worse position than men, and the lack of access to financial resources, land ownership and property rights have meant that women are far older than men." The future of the country and if India is ready to embrace the change in climate Vini Mahajan said, "I think we will do it when it becomes a crisis. India is great at dealing with crisis."

It is important for everyone to have the knowledge of how the climate change each day with every passing heatwave, every passing disaster is affecting us and majorly our health and wellness.

The panel also had a serious exchange of words to into the issue of water, water sanitation and air pollution in Delhi (being a major affect to health).

Climate change was connected to many possible outcomes and solutions in the discussion. It meant that when it comes to climate, rather than thinking only about new things, we have to see that how can climate responses be integrated into current systems. So our social protection systems, are designed to target the most vulnerable. They have a huge reach in India. Can we start to integrate them is a question.

Dr Shagun Sabarwal took an emphasis on AI and the big learning models, and their usage of a lot of water to keep them cool, or even the minerals that are needed. She addressed this as one of the major concerns saying that, "So to me, it's like we solve one problem and then have another problem."

The significance of localisation was explained in the same regard which made the conversation even more insightful.

"I feel like India's Social Protection Program also demonstrates how you can localize effectively, where funds from MGNREGA (Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act) are effectively controlled by local institutions, and there are moves to integrate climate risk in MGNREGA, which I'm confident in the years to come will be delivered. So I would say localization is a very important solution" explained Dr Aditya Bahadur on talking about policies and their effectiveness in ways. The overall conversation gave a just about differently raised problems due to climate and the importance of speaking about the same publically to curate answers and implementing solutions.

The Perfect Health Partner in Daily Wellness

BY JYOTTI SINGH

In today's fast-paced world, finding balance between work, personal life, and self-care can be a daunting task. Yoga, an age-old discipline that brings harmony to the mind, body, and spirit, provides an effective way to find balance. But how do we incorporate this timeless discipline into our modern, busy lives? Here are some practical advice and guidance for integrating yoga into daily routines.

How accessible and transformative yoga can be for anyone, whether you're a seasoned practitioner or a curious beginner. Yoga can fit seamlessly into your day, helping you achieve not only physical wellness but also mental clarity and peace.

Yoga is not just a physical practice but a complete lifestyle. In today's world, where stress, anxiety, and physical discomfort from sedentary lifestyles are rampant, yoga offers a way to counteract these challenges. Yoga helps in developing mindfulness, building strength, and improving flexibility, but more importantly, it teaches us to breathe, be present, and balance our inner and outer worlds. Incorporating yoga into your daily life doesn't just keep you fit, it helps you handle daily stresses with more ease and grace.

It all begins with intention and small steps. Start by dedicating just 10-15 minutes of your day to yoga. Even a brief yoga session can yield significant results. You don't need to carve out a large block of time; yoga can fit into your morning before work, during lunch breaks, or even in the evening to wind down. I often advise people to start with simple breathing exercises, stretches, or Surya Namaskar (Sun Salutations), which engage the whole body.

If time is tight, I suggest breaking it into chunks. Morning could be for deep breathing and basic stretches, while the evening could focus on a few asanas (poses) to release tension. Gradually, you can expand the time and variety of your practice. For beginners, starting with simple, yet effective poses is a key. A few asanas that I recommend include:

■ Tadasana (Mountain Pose): A foundational standing pose that helps improve posture, balance, and concentration.

■ Bhujangasana (Cobra Pose): This pose strengthens the back and opens up the chest, which can relieve tension from long hours at a desk.

■ AdhoMukhaSvanasana (Downward-Facing Dog): A great full-body stretch that works on the hamstrings, shoulders, and back, and also calms the mind.

■ Balāsana (Child's Pose): A restorative pose that's excellent for relaxation and mindfulness.

■ Anulom Vilom (Alternate Nostril Breathing) is a breathing technique that soothes the mind and helps balance internal energy. What makes yoga so accessible is that it requires no fancy equipment. Just a mat and a small, quiet space at home is enough to get started.

Yoga is a holistic practice that impacts both the mind and body. Many people think of yoga only as a physical exercise, but its mental health benefits are equally, if not more, important. Regular practice of asanas combined with pranayama (breathing exercises) and meditation helps reduce stress, anxiety, and symptoms of depression.

Breathing exercises like Anulom Vilom and Bhramari Pranayama activate the parasympathetic nervous system, helping your body and mind relax. By focusing on breath and movement, yoga also fosters mindfulness, teaching us to stay present. This can prevent overthinking and help manage the pressures of daily life. Over time, yoga trains your mind to be more resilient and positive.

Consistency is a key in yoga, but it's not about perfection. Life can be unpredictable, and it's natural to miss a day or two. The key is to stay motivated and not lose heart. I always advise my students to set achievable goals. Even practicing for 10 minutes a day is better than an intense 1-hour session once a week. Make it part of your routine - like brushing your teeth - so it becomes a habit, not a task.

One tip that works for many people is to create a dedicated yoga space at home, however small. When you associate a certain area with yoga, it becomes easier to get into the mindset to practice. Also, try practicing at the same time every day, whether it's early morning or before bedtime.

I deeply believe that every person is unique, and their yoga journey should reflect that. I don't believe in a one-size-fits-all approach. Different people come with different physical challenges, like back pain or arthritis, while others might be looking to enhance their mental health or manage stress. It takes the time to understand their goals, limitations, and lifestyle before they can design a program.

For example, corporate professionals who sit at a desk all day need a practice that targets back and neck pain and helps them relax after a long day. On the other hand, an athlete might need a more rigorous, dynamic practice to build strength and flexibility. This customization ensures that yoga becomes an integral part of each individual's life, addressing their specific needs.

Incorporating yoga into your daily routine is simpler than it may seem, with benefits that reach far beyond just physical well-being.

By beginning with small steps, maintaining consistency, and embracing both the mental and physical advantages, you can seamlessly integrate yoga into your life and experience its transformative power. As I emphasize, "Yoga is a journey, not a destination. Begin where you are, and grow from there."

AYURVEDA

The Source of Holistic Wellness

BY SHAHNAZ HUSAIN

Achieving perfect health and skin cannot be done by quick fix solutions. I have observed that today's youth are obsessed with an easy to do skincare regime and quick resolution to their skin or hair related issues. However, often I like to emphasise on the importance of Ayurveda and its principles. For instance, when you have a skin concern, it is deep rooted in the imbalance and toxins within the body.

Over the time when someone keeps using chemical-based products, they are prone to accumulate toxins due to the presence of harmful chemicals in the products and makeup they use. I always advocate against the use of chemical products. Redirecting the scenario to the current situation where the majority of people are using chemical laden products, I always bring their notice to our natural products based on ancient principles of Ayurveda.

The nature or the internal-set up of an individual is all about the individual topology, it requires proper care. However, with prolonged use of chemical products, adverse effects are seen that damage hair and skin. It is all due to reaction to certain harmful substances.

For instance, I was approached by a client for skin concern where she suffered pigmentation, I could see that it is the effect of prolonged use of chemical cosmetics that caused her skin tone to become uneven. Providing the right solution based on care and cure just like Shahnaz Husain Group products, I suggested her to use our pigmentation gel and cream. Our products are purely based on ancient principles of Ayurveda and are infused with herbs, plant extracts, essential oils and Vitamins that ensure product efficacy and safe use for any age and both the genders.

FOR EVERY SKIN AND HAIR ISSUE, THERE IS A PERFECT SOLUTION IN NATURE, IT IS AYURVEDA.

AYURVEDA FOR CARE AND CURE

After watching firsthand experience of chemical-based products, I began looking for solutions, thus began my journey with Ayurveda skincare. The ancient Indian practice of this incredible wellness Ayurveda is something that I introduced to the world, being a pioneer in Ayurveda based skincare products, people began realising how miraculous it is. Another notable fact is that Ayurveda provides us with daily life care and cures that are relevant to all the individual's needs and their unique requirements as per their tendencies. Ayurveda can truly transform your life when you apply it.

AYURVEDA IS THE NATURAL SKINCARE

The ancient principles of Ayurveda believe that the bodily ailments are the result of accumulated toxins in our body that hinder the proper flow of Prana or the life source that is connected to our bodily movements. It highly impacts the individual on emotional, cellular, psychological and conscious levels.

AYURVEDA FOR HEALTHY SKIN

I am a firm preacher and believer that healthy skin is beautiful skin, having said that I would like to add that Ayurveda is always at the helm of providing unique solutions to all the skin related ailments.

The foundation of Shahnaz Husain Group is Ayurveda principles, the products that we formulate at our state-of-the-art R&D units. Our products are based on the ancient Ayurveda principles and formulations that increase the potency and efficacy of skin care products, providing care and cure. We optimise the formulations with plant extracts, exotic herbs, essential oils and Vitamin extracts that are sourced ethically in the purest form capturing the essence.

I like to mention that today when people are looking for quick invasive anti-ageing solutions, I have come up with a plant based natural anti-ageing solution, our entire range of Plant Stem Cell contains plant extracts, renewing the supportive tissues, restoring the youthful properties of the skin.

KEY BENEFITS OF USING AYURVEDA SKINCARE

- Ayurveda helps in eliminating accumulated toxins.
- Naturally restores the skin beauty and radiance.
- Addresses the root cause of any issue related to skin and body.
- Improves the skin quality and texture.
- Natural organic ingredients such as honey, aloe vera, and shea butter, etc. promote healthy skin and smooth texture.

In conclusion I would like to add that Ayurveda skincare and haircare products are more like treatment products, as the principle itself is all about curative and preventive measures of healing. Investing in natural skincare is essential for your overall wellness and is the best holistic way of living in harmony with the environment and yourself.

England aims to challenge struggling Pakistan in 1st test

AP ■ MULTAN

England is aiming to challenge struggling Pakistan with a new-look pace attack in the opening test of a three-match series, starting in the searing heat of Multan on Monday. Fast bowler Brydon Carse will make his test debut with Gus Atkinson set to play his first overseas test after his impressive home season against the West Indies and Sri Lanka. All-rounder Chris Woakes was penciled in to the starting XI after Ben Stokes was ruled out for the fourth successive test match due to ongoing rehabilitation on his injured hamstring. Woakes will be playing his first match in two-and-a-half years and it will be his first test in Asia since 2016. Carse's pace gave him the edge over Olly Stone and Matthew Potts for the tour of Pakistan and England hopes the Durham pace bowler will challenge the batters by regularly clocking over

90mph. England will be led by Ollie Pope, who guided the team to a 2-1 home series against Sri Lanka in the absence of the injured Stokes. The England captain sustained his hamstring injury during the Hundred and might return to lead the side in the second test, also in Multan. "I was kind of just learning on the job," Pope said. "Obviously my first time captain abroad. Ben's going to be around as well... so I can listen to the voices around me but still keep doing things in my way." England flattened Pakistan 3-0 through its high-risk, high-reward "Bazball" approach during the 2022 tour when it played at Multan, Karachi and Rawalpindi. They were scheduled to play at the same venues this time around, but renovation work at the National Bank Stadium in Karachi for next year's Champions Trophy forced the Pakistan Cricket Board to organize back-to-back tests at Multan with Rawalpindi set to host the third test from Oct. 24. England also named spinners Jack Leach and Shoaib Bashir in the playing XI in anticipation of the pitch flattening out in temperatures of 40 degrees Celsius that are expected over the next week in Multan. Leach was the second highest wicket-taker in the last series in Pakistan with 15 wickets. "Everyone's so happy to have Leach in and around the squad for this series," Pope said. "We obviously saw how well he bowled last time here on pitches that (are) always offering a great deal... And he's worked closely with Shoaib Bashir throughout his Somerset career and those guys go really well." Pakistan has strengthened its batting line-up by including all-rounder Aamer Jamal for the first test after being routed 2-0 by Bangladesh at home in the last series. Shan Masood has lost all five test matches since he was elevated to red-ball captain. Masood lost 3-0 to Australia in his debut series as test skipper when Jamal took 18 wickets and came in handy as a batter down the order. Jamal missed the series against Bangladesh because he was undergoing rehabilitation on a back injury. "We have got an edge with the return of Aamer Jamal," Masood said. "He also bats down the order and picked up 18 wickets. We have (leg-spinner) Salman to give us spin options." Pakistan has a woeful record in home test matches and hasn't won at home since beating South Africa 2-0 in early 2021, while losing to England, Australia and Bangladesh. New Zealand also came close, but Pakistan managed to draw the series 0-0. Pakistan had its moments to beat England when both teams last met at Multan two years ago. Leg-spinner Abrar Ahmed made an impressive debut by grabbing 11 wickets before Pakistan narrowly lost by 26 runs when Mark Wood, missing in this series due to injury, claimed the key wicket of Saud Shakeel. "It was my dream debut and last time we lost quite close," Abrar said on the eve of the first test. "I hope to give a match-winning performance this time around and bring some happy moments." Pakistan's top-order batters have long been struggling and premier batter Babar Azam hasn't scored a half-century in his last 16 test innings. Opener Abdullah Shafique also struggled against Bangladesh while Masood couldn't convert starts into big scores with only one half-century in four innings. But Masood insisted Pakistan needed to give its struggling batters a longer run as he searched to win key moments and find momentum in the series against aggressive England. "We came close to winning last time, but we let the matches slip away," Masood said. "We know how they play, but at the end of the day we have to see how to tackle it."

Gauff rallies to reach China Open final

AP ■ BEIJING

Coco Gauff rallied from a set down for the third consecutive match as she beat Paula Badosa 4-6, 6-4, 6-2 to reach the China Open final on Saturday. The sixth-ranked Gauff will play Karolina Muchova of the Czech Republic in Sunday's final. Muchova defeated Olympic gold medalist Zheng Qinwen 6-3, 6-4 in the other semifinal. Gauff, who has a 7-1 record in tour finals, has made a habit of slow starts in Beijing this week and the script played out again as the No. 19-ranked Badosa took a tight opening set, saving 10 of 11 break points. The Spaniard then built a 3-1 lead in the second set before 2023 U.S. Open champion Gauff shifted the momentum by saving four break points and then breaking back to level at 4-4. Gauff held for 5-4 and broke Badosa again to force a deciding set. "I felt like I was playing the right way the whole time, just a couple of unforced errors, she was playing well too," Gauff said on court. "I was trying to stay focused. Mentally, I just tried to reset. I got down a couple of times, and I tried to bounce back." With all the momentum, Gauff broke Badosa three more times - for the loss of one of her own - as she clinched the match in 2 hours, 20 minutes. Gauff also lost the first set to Naomi Osaka in the fourth round before winning by walkover and against No. 115-ranked Yulia Starodubtseva in the quarterfinals. "I've had tough opponents the whole tournament," Gauff said. Shanghai Masters Carlos Alcaraz and top-ranked Jannik Sinner showed no signs of fatigue from their China Open final this week as they advanced in Shanghai with comfortable straight-set victories in their opening matches. The second-ranked Alcaraz, who beat the Italian in Beijing on Wednesday for his fourth title of the year, recorded his 10th consecutive win against 19-year-old Shang Juncheng of China 6-2, 6-2. The Spaniard won the first nine points of the match and four of seven break points as he rushed into a third-round meeting with another Chinese player, Wu Yibing. "I'm not used to playing against players younger than me," Alcaraz said. "He has been playing good tennis lately, lifting his first ATP (title in Chengdu), so I'm pretty sure he's going to climb the rankings. I'm just happy to be able to win these kinds of matches." Sinner, who is dealing with a doping case, had a comfortable 6-1, 6-4 outing against Taro Daniel of Japan for his 250th career win. Sinner, who won the U.S. Open last month for his second major of the year, fired 12 aces and 38 winners. "I felt quite comfortable today," said Sinner, who next plays Tomas Martin Etcheverry of Argentina. "I feel in good shape, which is very important for me. I was serving really, really well, especially in important moments, and was moving well." Third-ranked Alexander Zverev began with a 6-4, 6-2 win over Italian qualifier Mattia Bellucci, while fourth-ranked Novak Djokovic had a tougher task prevailing 7-6 (3), 7-6 (9) over Alex Michelsen of the United States. No. 65-ranked Jakub Mensik of the Czech Republic broke sixth-ranked Andrey Rublev seven times on his way to an upset 6-7 (7), 6-4, 6-3 victory. Yosuke Watanuki also surprised by beating No. 35-ranked Brendan Nakashima 7-6 (4), 6-3. The Japanese qualifier next plays seventh-ranked Taylor Fritz of the U.S. Global Chess League: Alaskan Knights stay unbeaten; Ganges break losing streak

Global Chess League: Alaskan Knights stay unbeaten; Ganges break losing streak

PTI ■ LONDON

PBS Alaskan Knights continued their unbeaten run, while Ganges Grandmasters secured their first win in a dramatic day three of the Tech Mahindra Global Chess League here. The PBS Alaskan Knights extended their lead with a dominant 12-3 win over the Ganges Grandmasters, maintaining a perfect record with four consecutive victories, earning them 12 match points and 49 game points. Defending champions Triveni Continental Kings played two matches on Saturday -- winning the first 15-3 against American Gambits, where Alireza Firouzja defeated world number two Hikaru Nakamura, but narrowly losing the second to Ganges Grandmasters. Triveni remained in second place with six match points and 43 game points, just six behind the leaders. Alpine Sg Pipers also impressed, defeating upGrad Mumba Masters 12-4. They now sit in third place with six match points, though their 27 game points from three matches leave them behind Triveni. UpGrad Mumba Masters, in fourth place, have only one win from four matches and 29 game points after losing to the Pipers. Big upset The final match saw the surprise of the day with Ganges Grandmasters, led by former World Champion Vishwanathan Anand, finally breaking their losing streak with a 10-8 win over Triveni. With one win and 24 game points from four matches, they now sit in fifth place. Hikaru Nakamura's American Gambits are in last place, with only one match victory and 16 game points from three matches, having been dismantled 15-3 by Triveni. Anand's team, desperate for their first victory after three crushing defeats, was under immense pressure. Already reeling from an earlier loss in the day, Anand had to rally his team, using his authority as a former world champion to lift their spirits. But no pep talk could help on the board, where players had to prove they could outmanoeuvre their opponents. After the coin toss, Triveni played with the white pieces, putting Anand on the back foot as Black against Alireza Firouzja. The young French star steadily built-up pressure, and by move 22, had a winning position. Despite Anand's best efforts to resist, he eventually had to concede defeat, giving the lead to Triveni. Firouzja's stellar form continued, having defeated three giants -- Carlsen, Anand, and Nakamura -- over the past two days. Meanwhile, Ganges' Arjun Erigaisi settled for a fourth consecutive draw, splitting the point with Wei Yi, a further sign of his struggling form. Triveni extended their lead when Alexandra Kosteniuk beat Vaishali Rameshbabu. However, Parham Maghsoodloo, who had blundered a winning position in the previous match, redeemed himself with a key victory over Teimour Radjabov, keeping Ganges in the fight. With the junior board ending in a draw, the fate of the match rested on Valentina Gunina and Nurgyl Salimova. In a drawn position, Gunina pushed too hard despite her team being ahead. She eventually lost on time, handing Ganges the crucial four points they needed to pull off their first win of the tournament. The final score of the match was 10-8, for Ganges.

Underdogs strike as Bayern rivals Leverkusen and Dortmund drop points in Bundesliga

AP ■ Berlin

Bayern Munich won without playing on Saturday as Bundesliga rivals Bayer Leverkusen and Borussia Dortmund dropped points to modest opponents. Dortmund slumped at Union Berlin to a 2-1 defeat without injured forward Karim Adeyemi, who starred in the team's 7-1 rout of Celtic in the Champions League on Tuesday. Defending champion Leverkusen squandered an early two-goal lead over promoted Holstein Kiel and drew 2-2. It was only Kiel's second point in its debut top-flight season. Leverkusen played in a special black jersey with red trim to commemorate the club's 120th anniversary, and for Xabi Alonso it was also a special occasion - the Spanish coach took over exactly two years before. Leverkusen fans didn't have to wait long to celebrate after Victor Boniface opened the scoring in the fourth minute and Jonas Hofmann made it 2-0 four minutes after that. Leverkusen looked set for a rout. But the home team failed to make more of its dominance - Boniface had another goal ruled out for offside and Kiel secured a lifeline before the break when Max Geschwil scored after a corner. Fiete Arp scored an unlikely equalizer from the penalty spot in the 69th. "I wouldn't say arrogance, but I'd say there's a bit of complacency. We need to stay concentrated, because we want to be a better team," Alonso said. "We could win a few games, and not win a few games, up and down, but that's not our goal. Today we didn't have the best competitive mindset." Dortmund disappoints Union illustrated early on against Dortmund why it's the club with one of the most ineffective forward lines in the league. The Koenig-based team had only four goals from its opening five games. Former Union player Nico Schlotterbeck offered assistance by conceding a penalty with a foul on the lively Benedict Hollerbach, and Kevin Vogt duly scored the opener from the spot in the 25th. The home team kept pushing and got its due reward before the break when Yorbe Vertessen let fly through a host of players for 2-0. Early in the second half, masked Union ultras displayed an array of Dortmund scarves and banners presumably confiscated from their rivals before the game. They hung the tattered flags on the railings behind one of the goals and raised their fists, goading the Dortmund fans far away on the other side. Former Union player Julien Ryerson responded on the field in the 62nd by firing inside the far post for 2-1, set up by Julian Brandt after a period of pressure from the visitors but it wasn't enough. Also, Freiburg won at Werder Bremen 1-0, and Wolfsburg enjoyed a 3-1 win in Wolfsburg.
