Poll bugle sounds in Bihar by Modi

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ PATNA/NEW DELHI

Blowing the poll trumpet in Bihar for year-end assembly elections, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday attacked the Lalu Yadav-led "jungle raj" regime in Bihar. Modi said "same" people were now making "vulgar" remarks about the ongoing Maha Kumbh at Prayagraj. Addressing a function in Bihar's Bhagalpur district, Modi, without naming the party or the former chief minister, also alleged that "the jungle raj wallahs hate our heritage and our faith". "The Maha Kumbh at Prayagraj is the greatest celebration of Bharat's unity. The number of people who have taken a holy dip exceeds the population of Europe. Many people from Bihar have also undertaken the pilgrimage," the PM said. "But these jungle raj wallahs are speaking ill about Maha Kumbh and making vulgar remarks. These people were opposed to the Ram temple at Ayodhya, too. I know Bihar will not forgive them," said Modi. While demanding the resignation of Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnav over the stampede at New Delhi railway station recently, Prasad questioned the heavy rush, saying "what does Kumbh signify? It is nonsense." The PM, who disbursed close to Rs 23,000 crore to nearly 100 million beneficiaries across the country, began his 40 minute speech with a reference to Kumbh and its connection with Bihar.

Pay present property tax to MCD, clear all past dues

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

In a big relief to the people of Delhi, the Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) has announced a house-tax waiver scheme, allowing residents to clear their house tax dues of 2024-25 and have all previous pending taxes written off. Additionally, in the next financial year, 100 percent of house tax on 100-yard homes and residential-area shops will be scrapped, while properties between 100-500 yards will get a 50 percent waiver. For the first time, 1,300 housing societies - previously ineligible - will receive a 25 percent rebate. This transformative proposal is set to be passed in the MCD House on February 25.

After losing the turf to BJP in governing the national Capital, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP)-led MCD on Monday introduced a major house tax waiver for property owners which can be witnessed as a direct confrontation between the two different regime in Delhi.

The announcement, made ahead of the mayoral polls in April, was delivered at a press conference by AAP leader, MCD Mayor Mahesh Khinchi, Deputy Mayor Ravinder Bhardwaj, and Leader of the House Mukesh Goyal.

Announcing the initiative, Rajya Sabha MP Sanjay Singh said those who settle their 2024-25 house tax dues will have all previous outstanding amounts waived. The move aims at easing financial burdens on citizens and curbs corruption in tax collection, is set to be passed in the MCD House.

Singh highlighted that the decision is that those who pay their house tax for 2024-25 will have all their previous outstanding house tax dues, which have been a burden on them, completely waived. "This is a major announcement: upon paying the house tax for 2024-25, all previous outstanding dues, which were a financial burden, will be written off. Secondly, the house tax for buildings ranging from 100 square yards to 500 square yards will be reduced by half. That is, houses within the 100-500 square yard range will now have their house tax cut by 50%," he said.

He further noted that for buildings below 100 square yards, the house tax will be entirely waived. He said, "So, properties between 100 and 500 square yards will have their tax reduced by half, and those below 100 square yards will have their tax fully waived."

Under the scheme, properties measuring up to 100 square yards, including residential shops, will be completely exempt from house tax from the next financial year. Houses measuring between 100 and 500 square yards will receive a 50 per cent waiver, while 1,300 housing societies that previously did not qualify for any exemption will now get a 25 per cent rebate. Singh further added that additionally, residential properties where commercial activities such as shops are running, and properties designated for commercial purposes, will also have their house tax waived. Singh said, "There are over 1,300 apartments in Delhi that do not currently receive any tax exemptions or benefits. A crucial decision has been made regarding them as well: 1,300 housing apartments in Delhi will receive a 25% house tax waiver."

Powered BJP face fired AAP in Delhi Assembly

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The first day of the Delhi Assembly under the newly-formed BJP government witnessed a heated exchange between the treasury benches and opposition Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) members, leading to a brief adjournment of the House on Monday following Vijender Gupta's election as speaker amid sloganeering from both the treasury and the Opposition benches, with AAP members accusing the BJP being "anti-Dalit and anti-Sikh".

The Leader of Opposition Atishi accused new Government for removing BR Ambedkar and Bhagat Singh's portraits from Delhi Chief Minister Rekha Gupta's office, a charge denied by the ruling BJP. Tensions escalated when the Leader of Opposition Atishi, while congratulating Gupta, alleged that photos of BR Ambedkar and Shaheed Bhagat Singh had been removed from the Chief Minister's Office. Her remarks, made without permission, led to loud protests from BJP MLAs prompting Speaker Vijender Gupta to censure her for speaking out of turn.

As disruptions continued, the newly elected assembly speaker Vijendra Gupta accused the AAP of disrupting the house with pre-planned intentions and adjourned the house for 15 minutes. The Speaker said it was a courtesy address and You (Opposition) should not have made it a political platform." The Opposition does not want the House to run smoothly. AAP has come with the intention of disrupting the House. Maintain the dignity of the House," said Gupta.

Ruckus witnessed both inside and outside when Leader of Opposition (LoP) in Delhi Assembly Atishi alleged that the BJP removed the portraits from the Chief Minister's Office in the Assembly - portraits that had been put up under the AAP government. As the Assembly session began, AAP MLAs, led by the LoP, in a mark of protest inside the House, raised slogans and demanded the immediate reinstatement of the portraits.

The BJP accused the opposition party of trying to divert people's attention from the CAG reports that will be tabled in the Assembly to expose "corruption" by AAP when it was in power. The Delhi BJP shared photos of the chief minister's office on social media and said, "The portraits of Mahatma Gandhi, Babasaheb Bhimrao Ambedkar, Bhagat Singh the President and the prime minister are displayed in the offices of Chief Minister Rekha Gupta and other ministers." Delhi BJP president Virendra Sachdeva also clarified that that the portraits of the revered Mahatma Gandhi, Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, Bhagat Singh, the President of India, and the Prime Minister of India continue to be displayed in the offices of the Chief Minister and all ministers of Delhi - something that anyone can easily verify.

Earlier from Sanskrit to English and Maithili to Punjabi, the first session of the newly constituted eighth Delhi Legislative Assembly began on Monday with MLAs of the ruling BJP and opposition AAP demonstrating the linguistic diversity of the legislature by taking their oaths in six languages including - Hindi, English, Sanskrit, Urdu, Maithili and Punjabi.

One dead, 10 injured in clash at Bangladesh air force base

PTI ■ DHAKA

A man was killed and several others injured in a clash on Monday between a group of local people and air force personnel at an airbase in Bangladesh's Cox's Bazar, officials said. The Inter Service Public Relations (ISPR) - the media wing of the military - in a statement said the "miscreants" attacked the Bangladesh Air Force Base near Cox's Bazar's Samitipara. "Bangladesh Air Force is taking necessary actions in this regard," it said. The ISPR said that "some local miscreants" of the Samitipara area adjacent to the beach resort town "launched a sudden attack" on the airbase after a biker was stopped at a checkpoint as he was crossing the base area without any papers for the vehicle. It said the biker was taken inside the base for interrogation when over 200 people marched towards the base. The security personnel tried to stop them, sparking a clash that left four Air Force personnel injured. Deputy Commissioner of the district, Mohammad Salahuddin, said: one person was killed, and several others were injured in the incident." The official said a thorough investigation would be conducted into the cause of the attack.

Misbehaviour with Nepal students KIIT directed to take action against guilty staffs

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

The Odisha Government on Monday directed the authorities of the KIIT University to take action against the employees involved in the mistreatment of students following the recent suicide of a Nepalese girl in her hostel room.

The government's directive came a day after Nepal Foreign Minister D Arzu Rana Deuba spoke over phone with Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi regarding the incident.

Deuba urged removal of teachers and staffs who had misbehaved with Nepalese students.

A government official said they have already issued an instruction to the KIIT authorities to take prompt action to restore the confidence of Nepalese students who have not returned to the campus so far.

The Nepal Government has also expressed concern that their students may be subjected to reprisal if the "unruly" teachers and staff members remain in the institute.

Out of the nearly 1,000 Nepalese students of KIIT, only a few could return to the campus responding to the State Government's assurance and apology by the institute authorities.

Police, after examining CCTV footage, have arrested 10 employees of KIIT, including some director-level officials, security guards and others on the charge of assaulting the students.

According to a release issued by KIIT on February 18, two security staffs were terminated from service while two senior hostel officials and one senior administrative officer of the International Relations Office (IRO) were suspended pending inquiry.

The KIIT authorities have also tendered an apology for some of its staffs making disparaging comments and the distress caused to the students.

KIIT girl student death Nepal NHRC seeks speedy investigation

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

The Nepal National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) has sought a speedy probe into the alleged assault and mistreatment of Nepalese students studying at the KIIT University in Bhubaneswar after the girl student Prakriti Lamsal was found dead in the hostel of the university.

The NHRC has expressed its demand for justice, citing serious allegations of improper conduct by the KIIT University authorities. In a communiqué, the NHRC emphasised the need for a secure environment for students, free from fear and intimidation.

The Nepal commission has requested the NHRC of India to investigate the incident of the girl's suspicious death and provide justice to the victim and to make university officials and others involved in the incident accountable.

The Nepal commission's letter underscored the importance of student safety and called for swift action in addressing the alleged mishandling by the university staffs. The communication also emphasised creating a safe educational atmosphere, crucial for students' wellbeing.

Based on the complaints received, the Nepal commission is also collecting information from the Nepal Embassy in India and media reports about the incident and the situation of the students.

Survival of trapped men bleak in tunnel collapse: Govt

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ HYDERABAD

Even as multiple agencies are at war footing in Telangana reminding their efforts in 17 days Silykara Bend rescue operation in Uttarakhand, chances of survival of the eight persons who remain trapped in the SLBC tunnel seems to be "very remote".

The latest to join are a team of rat miners, who had rescued the construction workers trapped in the Silykara Bend-Barkot tunnel in Uttarakhand in 2023, to extricate the men.

Indian Army, Navy, NDRF, SDRF and other agencies are also involved in rescue operations in close coordination with each other.

Despite relentless efforts by the Indian Army, NDRF and other agencies, no breakthrough has been achieved so far in the rescue operations to extricate the eight persons who have remained trapped for over 48 hours inside the tunnel after a section of it collapsed in the Srisaillam Left Bank Canal (SLBC) project in Telangana's Nagarkurnool district on Saturday.

The persons who have been trapped in the collapsed tunnel for the past over 48 hours have been identified as Manoj Kumar and Sri Niwas from Uttar Pradesh, Sunny Singh (Jammu and Kashmir), Gurpreet Singh (Punjab) and Sandeep Sahu, Jegta

Xess, Santosh Sahu and Anuj Sahu all from Jharkhand. Of the eight, two are engineers, two operators and four labourers.

Telangana Minister Jupally Krishna Rao said that rescuing the trapped individuals would take at least three to four days, as the accident site is filled with muck and debris, making it a daunting task for the rescuers.

"To be honest, the chances of their survival are very, very, very remote. Because, I myself went up to the end, almost just 50 meters short (of the mishap site). When we took photographs, the end (of the tunnel) was visible. And out of the 9 meter diameter (of the tunnel) -- almost 30 feet, out of that 30 feet, mud has piled up to 25 feet," he said.

"When we shouted their names also, there was no response...So, there is no chance at all," he said.

Krishna Rao said the process of clearing the debris is underway with several machinery in place.

According to officials the Tunnel Boring Machine (TBM) which weighs a few hundred tons, got almost flushed away by about 200 meters after the collapse and due to the gushing water.

"Even, even assuming they (the trapped persons) are in the lower part of the TBM machine, assuming even if it is intact on the top, where is the air (oxygen)? Underneath, how the oxygen will go," he asked though pumping of oxygen and dewatering have been continuously done.

"For removing all the debris and all that, in spite of all types of efforts, all types of organisations (working), it takes, I think it takes not less than 3-4 days (to extricate the people)," Rao, who had overseen the rescue operations along with Irrigation Minister Uttam Kumar Reddy, said. Rao said the conveyor belt was being restored at the tunnel to clear the debris.

Meanwhile, a social media post from Telangana Chief Minister's Office (CMO) said CM Revanth Reddy has been continuously reviewing the situation regarding the SLBC tunnel accident and was in constant touch with the ministers and senior officials involved in the rescue operations.

Dewatering is going on while oxygen was being continuously pumped into the tunnel. The officials also informed that they are exploring alternative routes to reach the site of the accident by clearing the debris of soil mounds in the tunnel, the post said.

Advanced AI cameras to be installed in Twin City

To detect criminals, traffic offenders

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

Advanced artificial intelligence (AI) cameras would soon be installed in the twin cities of Cuttack and Bhubaneswar to enhance security measures against crimes, criminals and traffic violations, said Twin City Commissioner of Police S Devadatta Singh on Monday.

Singh said the use of AI-enabled cameras would strengthen public safety in these rapidly urbanising cities. The new AI technology would play a significant role in spotting both traffic offenders and criminal activities.

Alongside the installation of AI cameras, plans include expanding closed-circuit television (CCTV) coverage and increasing the number of security personnel. These efforts aim to provide the community with thorough surveillance, thereby enhancing security and boosting residents' peace of mind.

Singh said that in Bhubaneswar, already 1,000 CCTV cameras have been installed at several prominent junctions. Such cameras at present are inadequate in view of population rise and other aspects.

"The AI-enabled cameras will be equipped with facial recognition so that culprits can be clearly identified and the entire analysis will be AI-enabled. This will bring in more efficiency in the delivery of services, maintaining law and order and other security measures by the Commissionerate Police," said the Commissioner.

Sources said the locations for the installation of AI cameras have been identified as per an exercise undertaken by respective police stations by taking into account shadow areas, from traffic point of view and on the basis of suggestions from civil society and others.

The Commissionerate police have detected several burglaries and other cases. Such cases had been learning lessons for the Commissionerate police and highlighted the need for installation of more CCTV cameras, which is possible through public partnership as well, he said.

Supreme Court reprimands Odisha over pension case delays

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR
The Supreme Court has reprimanded the Odisha Government over delays in pension cases. The court has highlighted a crucial distinction between 'work-charged employees' and 'job contractors' concerning pension entitlements under the Odisha Pension Rules 1992. This clarification follows numerous delayed petitions from Odisha regarding pension benefits. Explaining the distinction between the work-charged employee and employees working on a job contract, the apex court observed, "There is a clear distinction between the employees who are in work-charged establishment vis-à-vis those who are in job contract establishment. The distinction becomes obvious from a bare perusal of sub-Rules 3 and 6 of Rule 18 of the Odisha Pension Rules, 1992 where it is given that work-charged employees who have worked in the establishment for a period of five years or more without interruption and are subsequently appointed to the same or another post in temporary or substantive capacity in a pensionable establishment, the period of service rendered by him/her in a work-charged establissement shall qualify for pension under the Odisha Pension Rules 1992." "Compare this with the provision relating to job contract establishment for whom it has been specifically stated that in case of a job contract employee, after he/she is brought in pensionable establishment, only that much period as job contract service shall be added to regular service as would make him qualify or eligible for pensionary benefits," the court added. In a notable decision, according to Live Law, the Supreme Court allowed Odisha's delayed petitions to be considered on their merits.

This move deviates from typical protocol but was deemed necessary due to the large number of employees involved and the significant implications for the state's financial resources. Despite permitting the delayed petitions, the court expressed its discontent with Odisha's tardy management of these pension-related legal proceedings. To address the undue delays caused by these appeals and petitions, the court imposed a financial penalty on the State, charging Rs 1.5 lakh per employee for prolonging the legal process unnecessarily. This decision highlights the financial impact on both the affected employees and the State Exchequer, emphasising the need for efficient legal proceedings to uphold pension rights effectively. A Bench comprising Justices Sudhanshu Dhulia and Ahsanuddin Amanullah was hearing the State of Odisha's batch of petitions against the Orissa High Court's Division Bench decision to dismiss their Writ Appeals as time-barred. In this case, the court decided the long-standing dispute over pensionary benefits for employees who were initially hired as job contractors and later regularised in the State of Odisha.

1,448 rare turtles seized by DRI in Khordha

PNS ■ KHORDHA
A team of the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI) seized a large number of rare turtles and arrested a person allegedly involved in the smuggling of turtles from Khordha district. The DRI officials seized 1,448 Indian Flap Shell Turtles following a raid at Godipada Toll Plaza in the district. The vehicle used in transporting the turtles was also seized. The DRI officials said Indian Flap Shell Turtles are classified as a Schedule I species and accorded stringent protection under the Wildlife (Protection) Act, 1972. Earlier, in March 2024, DRI officials had foiled a major wildlife trafficking attempt and rescued over 300 Indian Tent turtles during a raid near Manguli Toll Plaza in Cuttack district. These are not isolated incidents as several instances of illegal trafficking of turtles have been reported from different parts of the State at regular intervals. Railway Protection Force (RPF) personnel had rescued 117 live turtles from the Bhubaneswar railway station when they were being illegally transported in the Utkal Express in May 2024. Four persons, including a woman, were arrested in this connection.

More time needed for Ratna Bhandar repair

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR
The repair work of the Ratna Bhandar of the Jagannath Temple in Puri is taking longer than originally expected. Law Minister Prithviraj Harichandan on Monday stated that the Ratna Bhandar's restoration efforts might extend by another one to two months. This delay has been attributed to additional repair work that was uncovered during the ongoing process. Harichandan assured that the counting process of the Ratna Bhandar's inventory would be concluded before the Rath Yatra this year. However, the inventory process that was intended to wrap up by March would not meet the deadline. The additional repair work has lengthened the timeline. Earlier, the Odisha Government had announced to make public all details of the ornaments and other valuables after the completion of the inventory work. Comprehensive details about the ornaments will be disclosed once the counting process is completed, the Law Minister had said earlier, adding that the last inventory check was conducted in 1978. It is pertinent to mention here that the Ratna Bhandar was opened after a gap of over 45 years on July 14, 2024. Addressing criticisms regarding the temple administration's alleged failure to allocate adequate time for the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) to conduct the repair works, the minister clarified that the work is being done in conjunction with the temple's daily rituals. "The repair efforts are coordinated with the rituals, allowing a timeslot of four to five hours daily by adjusting the schedule," said Harichandan. He dispelled allegations of neglect, confirming ongoing collaboration between the temple administration and the ASI.

In Odisha 34.98 lakh farmers benefit from PM-KISAN scheme

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR
In a significant development for the agricultural community, over 34.98 lakh farmers from Odisha have been included in the prestigious PM-KISAN Yojana. This was informed by the State's Agriculture Secretary Arabinda Kumar Padhee on Monday. This marks a rise of 3.43 lakh beneficiaries from last year. "Farmers in Odisha are increasingly joining the Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman Nidhi (PM-KISAN) scheme as recent efforts have led to a significant rise in participation," Padhee stated during the distribution of the 19th installment of the PM-KISAN scheme by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. This surge in the number of farmers has been attributed to a special drive to enroll farmers who were rejected or left out due to various reasons last year. More farmers can now register through the authorised portal to avail of the benefit, Padhee added. To ensure no farmer is left behind, those still not included in the scheme have been encouraged to submit their applications through the established portal. This move is part of the government's ongoing efforts to support farmers financially and boost the agriculture sector. This initiative aims to ensure inclusive support for farmers across the State, enhancing their livelihood and improving agricultural productivity. The PM-KISAN scheme, which provides direct financial support to farmers, has been crucial for enhancing the livelihoods of small and marginal farmers across India. This renewed focus on inclusion in Odisha reportedly aims to strengthen rural communities and enhance economic stability in the village level.

Scams plague road projects of Works Dept

SAROJ MISHRA ■ BHUBANESWAR
Even though a new government has taken reins of the State, the Works Department which is responsible for the construction and maintenance of infrastructure projects in the State, continues to be plagued by rampant corruption, gross irregularities and favouritism. This has put the major projects implementation in jeopardy and doubts have been expressed over their timely execution. In a glaring example of the corruption in the department, the renovation of roads were carried out across the State for the DGPs Conference, Pravasi Bharatiya Divas and Utkarsha Odisha in which bitumen worth crores of rupees were procured from a particular hot mix plant in the Dadhi Maccha Gadia area in Khordha. The contractors were forced to procure bitumen from this plant and warned that if they don't procure bitumen from that plant they won't get the contracts. It is further alleged that though many roads were in good condition yet they were covered with new layers of bitumen only to help the plant owners. To make matters worse, the department's top officials, in nexus with executing agencies and contractors, have misled

Works Minister Prithviraj Harichandan in the name of adopting new technology which is unnecessary and costs sky-high than other materials. A classic example is the use of mastic asphalt. At Capital Hospital Square, New Airport Road and a few other places mastic asphalt has been laid on the road even though technical experts said there was no need for laying mastic asphalt there which costs 60 per cent more than bitumen. There are plans to lay mastic asphalt at 10 places in the capital city. Notably, mastic asphalt is a waterproofing material and used as a wearing course for a whole range of construction work of roads and bridges. It protects structural concrete and flexible pavement top from wear and tears due to environmental impact. However, Capital Hospital Square is downstream and during rains the water flows towards the New Airport Square and there is no water-logging and there is no roundabout there. So, the use of mastic asphalt at those places is questionable; and it seems that it has been done deliberately to damage the roads so that it can be repaired again, said experts. It is alleged by reliable sources that some corrupt engineers in a pre-planned manner have misinformed the new Works Minister about use of this technology and materials to collect a huge percentage (PC) from the contractors which is leading to misutilisation of the public funds. If the State Government orders a Vigilance probe into the scams in the Works Department, there can be some transparency in the projects and the misutilisation of funds can be curbed, opined the experts.

In Bhubaneswar

Road widening, flyovers just won't help ease traffic woes

The year 2024 witnessed a change in the government in the State of Odisha but the problems of capital city of Bhubaneswar like water logging, congestion, garbage, livelihood and pollution etc continue to remain unaddressed. Meanwhile, like the previous BJD government, the present BJP government too has come up with plans to expand road accessibility, flyovers and ring roads etc. But what the decision makers are not ready to accept is Bhubaneswar is originally a grid pattern city and is more comfortable for cycling, pedestrians and public transport than accommodating highways, flyovers and ring roads.

In the last decades, cities across the globe have undergone massive experiments in either expanding most major roads, leading to an additional congestion or went on investing in slow streets. Adding more wider roads actually accelerates the growth of driving. In other words, widening a street can make traffic even worse than before. Traffic demand is based on the immediate cost of driving. Reduce the time it takes to drive somewhere, and that trip will become cheaper. People drive more because it now costs less. But as more people choose to drive more miles, the cost of driving settles back to where it was originally. Where does new traffic come from in Bhubaneswar. In last decades, new driving by individuals contributed between 9% and 39% of induced demand; heavy vehicles contributed between 19% and 29%, increased migration accounted for between 5% and 21%, and people switching from side roads to main roads accounted for 0% to 10%. More trips and more driving means more social and economic activity that may not have happened before. However, the social and economic benefits of new traffic are generally not regarded or even modelled to see if the project's monetary costs (construction and maintenance) and social costs (added pollution and traffic deaths) are worth it. Planners and engineers are silent on what benefits might actually come from road widenings, choosing instead to believe in the fiction that congestion is beatable. But the fact remains that more road widening leads to more congestions. Despite having five decades of evidence of its inefficacy, governments still keep widening roads in the capital city. So, rather than congestion, it's more important to understand the politics of road widening or expansion in Bhubaneswar. Many believe widening will reduce congestion; while others believe the short term benefits of congestion are worth the cost, or that bicycle paths and transit improvements alongside widening will have meaningful impacts. But the fact is Bhubaneswar has not got any relief so far from its flyovers, widened roads and expanded highways over the years. Needless to say, Bhubaneswar, Puri and Cuttack should now have more practical urban planning intervention. Perhaps our decision makers need to understand widening or building more flyovers won't solve city's problems; rather it will create more water logging situations, more congestion and health issues. It's like buying larger pants for a bulky body than addressing the obesity challenge that our city inherited from automobile culture. Let's wish 2025 be year of sustainability and sustainable urbanisation. (Dr Rout is an urban planner, can be reached in X @piyushrout)

Money doubling scam Odisha EOW arrests fraudster from Hyderabad

For duping more than Rs 5 cr from investors

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

The Odisha Economic Offences Wing (EOW) has arrested one Dhanajaya Sahoo from Hyderabad in connection with a fraud of Rs 5 crore.

Sahoo, a resident of Bhadrak district, is accused of duping people on the pretext of doubling the invested amount in 10 months.

Sahoo has been arrested under several sections including the Banning of Unregulated Deposit Schemes. Following the arrest, Sahoo was brought to Bhubaneswar on transit remand after production in the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate in Hyderabad.

The EOW arrested Sahoo based on the complaint of one Govinda Chandra Sahoo of Jajpur district. The complainant alleged that Sahoo duped him and many others by illegally taking the deposits under the promise of doubling the deposits through his company 'Mutual Alliance Global Pvt Ltd' within 10 months.

The EOW said that from 2011 to 2021, the arrested accused had formed five companies, Goodland Happy Home Infra Ltd., Goodland Construction Pvt Ltd, PURIFIO Technology Pvt Ltd, Coinex Technology Pvt Ltd and Mutual Alliance Global Pvt Ltd and was operating the same as managing director.

The accused allegedly induced the investors to deposit through his companies for high profits from further investment of the deposited amount in real estate market, blockchain in the real estate market, e-commerce, and on online gaming platforms.

It was in 2010 when the arrested accused had formed Mutual Alliance Global Pvt Ltd at the Budheswari in Bhubaneswar. He allegedly induced the general public by holding meetings in different reputed hotels in Bhubaneswar seeking deposits in his company in exchange for high returns promising to double the invested amount in 10 months.

The agency said the accused had taken unregulated deposits of Rs.5 crore from around 200 investors mainly from Cuttack, Khordha, Jajpur, Bhadrak, Keonjhar and Mayurbhanj districts.

Although the accused paid a very meagre return for one or two months, he later stopped making any payments. It has been found that the arrested accused had earlier visited foreign countries like Dubai, Thailand and Germany.

Sai Ashram annual day held in D'nal

PNS ■ DHENKANAL

The 24th annual day function of Dattatreya Sai Ashram was held at Krushnakumar near Kapilash in Dhenkanal district on Saturday.

Thousands of Sai devotees gathered on the occasion and sang bhajans and also performed various other rituals.

Late Dwarika Mohan Mishra was one of the main architects of the Sai Ashram. He had also consecrated the Siridi Sai temple, Sairam temple and Nabagraha Mandap. Besides, Mishra had set up the Dhuni Mandir, Dhyana Mandap, dining hall and a number of guest houses for Sai devotees over around 25 acres of land at Krushnakumar.

Cybercrime: Vulnerable Boudh needs special attention

MAHESH SATPATHY ■ BOUDH

Cybercrime poses a significant threat nationwide, but Boudh requires special attention due to its unique challenges. The district's predominantly rural areas face educational backwardness, exacerbated by poverty and difficult circumstances. This makes innocent residents vulnerable to cyber frauds, as they lack awareness and understanding of online threats.

The situation is dire, with even educated individuals falling prey to cybercrime. The ease with which online cheats target and deceive innocent people is alarming. Despite past experiences with fraudulent companies like cheat funds or insurance companies, people continue to lose money to online scammers.

The threat of digital arrest is particularly concerning, as cybercriminals cleverly withdraw funds from bank accounts. In some cases, negligence by bank employees has resulted in victims lose money to online hackers, despite filing complaints with their respective banks.

The intellectual community is making an emotional appeal to the administration to take decisive action against cybercrime. They urge the authorities to launch awareness programme to educate residents about cyber threats and online safety.

Collaboration with banks is needed to enhance security measures and prevent digital arrests. Establishment of a dedicated cybercrime reporting mechanism to ensure prompt action. Providing support and compensation to victims of cybercrime are mostly needed.

The administration must respond to this appeal and take concrete steps to protect the people of Boudh from the scourge of cybercrime.

Absconding after incident

PNS ■ BALESWAR

A girl identified as Jyotirmayi Rana, a resident of Lingapada village and a student of the Soro College in Baleswar district, was killed on Monday.

The accused youth, identified as Biswaranjan Puhan from Bhairavpur village under Basudevpur block in Bhadrak district, slit the girl's throat over a one-sided love affair.

Jyotirmayi had previously sought help from the Soro police by lodging an FIR about the suspect's persistent threats and harassment related to marriage proposals. She was alone at home on the day when the attack took place.

"Jyotirmayi was returning home at around 10 am after taking bath and I was going to my shop at that time. I don't know what happened thereafter. However, she was a nice girl. Her mother works in a nearby school and usually leaves home at around 9.30 am every day," a relative of the girl told mediapersons

"Family of the victim is telling that the incident is fallout of love affair. I have no knowledge of what happened," he further said.

"He (Biswaranjan) was an acquaintance and used to visit our house at times. The two families visit each other's place. Recently, one day, he insisted for marriage and I rejected his proposal," the girl's mother Tulasi Rana said,

"Perhaps, irked with this and when no one else was present at home, he slit the girl's throat," she said.

The Soro police have launched an investigation. The suspect is absconding. Police have launched a manhunt to nab him.

Woman killed in road accident in K'pada

Husband, son injured; locals block road

RAJESH BEHERA ■ KENDRAPADA

A woman was killed in an accident near Tinimuhani Chhak in Kendrapada on Monday. Her husband and minor son were critically injured in the mishap.

The accident occurred when a scooter carrying the woman, her husband, and their son, was hit by a truck. The couple was on way to drop their son in a playschool in the area.

The truck driver sped away from the spot, following which irate locals staged a demonstration by blocking the road.

Police rushed to the spot and started an investigation into incident and tried to trace the truck.

Local residents said that some restrictions on the movement of heavy vehicles engaged in the transportation of sand and other goods could help avoid such mishaps.

"Several heavy vehicles are engaged in transportation of sand during peak hours here. We urge the administration to enforce some restrictions so that such incidents do not reoccur," they said.

Another resident said, "The administration has turned a blind eye to the regular movement of heavy vehicles despite several educational institutions being located on the busy stretch of road. As already there is heavy traffic on the road, the administration should allow heavy vehicles only during night."

Rift in BJD in Ganjam

No-trust motion against NAC chief

PNS ■ BRAHMAMUR

The Biju Janata Dal (BJD) is witnessing an internal rift in Kabisuryanagar NAC in Ganjam district as a majority of Councillors have moved a no-confidence motion against their own party's elected chairperson S Lakshmi.

The NAC, comprising 18 wards, has long been under the BJD's control. However, discontent among the Councillors over the chairperson's alleged unilateral governance and lack of developmental initiatives led 16 Councillors, including Vice-Chairperson Bikrant Sahu, to approach the district Collector with a no-confidence petition.

The BJD appears divided with the chairperson accusing Councillors of deliberately obstructing meetings for personal gains. Interestingly, neither former MLAs in the area nor other party leaders have intervened in the matter, raising speculations about political maneuvering behind the move.

The growing dissent within BJD in Kabisuryanagar has fuelled discussions about shifting political dynamics in the region. The district Collector is expected to take further action based on legal provisions.

Keonjhar Citizens' Forum holds meeting

- Discusses disturbing situation in DD University
- Delegation to meet CM to appraise situation

RAJENDRA K SAHU ■ KEONJHAR

The Keonjhar Citizens' Forum held its meeting on Sunday chaired by its president Dr Arun Kumar Sahoo and discussed about the problems of three educational institutions, DD University, DD Medical College and Keonjhar Engineering College.

The discussions mainly focussed on the ongoing disturbing situation in the DD University, particularly the Registrar and the OSD leading to a stalemate-type situation in the university. It was revealed that the Registrar, a senior administrative officer of the State Government who has joined some days back, wants to work as per the established rules of the government. But on the other hand, a group of faculties allegedly having support of the Registrar, want to run the institute as per their own old style before the joining of Registrar. It was further discussed how the students of +2 Council and undergraduates are now suffering by paying 4 to 5 times

College by dissociating the DD Autonomous College from the university; otherwise, the declaration of DD University by the then BJD government would have no benefit for more of the tuition and hostel fees after the DD Autonomous College was upgraded to DD University. In this regard, the specific demand of the citizens' forum is that there be separate DD University and DD Autonomous students of Keonjhar. The problems, including land disputes, were also discussed in the meeting. It was also decided that very soon a delegation would meet the Chief Minister in this regard.

Want Jammu and Kashmir where no life is lost due to terrorism: Amit Shah

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

There is peace in Jammu and Kashmir and this peace has to be permanent, and the Narendra Modi government's aim is to make a Jammu and Kashmir where no life is lost due to terrorism, Union Home Minister Amit Shah said here on Monday. Interacting with youngsters from Jammu and Kashmir who have come to the national capital under the Watan Ko Jano youth exchange programme, Shah also said the people of Jammu and Kashmir had equal rights over the entire country, like the people of any other state, and the entirety of India looked at the people of the Union Territory with love and respect. When terrorism comes to an end, there is no need for the deployment of police and that day is not far, he added. "When there is peace, no police will be required. This message has to be carried by you to your friends, family and villagers... when you go home, tell your friends, neighbours that the entire country is living in peace and the people of Jammu and Kashmir should also live in peace," Shah said. There is peace in Jammu and Kashmir and this peace has to be permanent and "our aim is to make a Jammu and Kashmir where no life is lost due to terrorism", he added. "Violence brings nothing. Due to the decades of terrorism in Jammu and Kashmir, 36,000 people lost their lives," the home minister said. Shah said Prime Minister Narendra Modi had made the country equal for all by abrogating Article 370 and now, the people of Jammu and Kashmir had equal rights anywhere in India, like the people of Delhi, Rajasthan, Gujarat or Rajasthan. "You have rights over Jammu and Kashmir. Is it not good that you also have equal rights over the other 29 states of the country? Like Jammu and Kashmir, the whole country is yours," he said. Peace is most important for everyone and, under the Modi government, peace and development have come to Jammu and Kashmir, hospitals, roads and bridges have come, infrastructure has been created, he added. "The entire country looks at the people of Jammu and Kashmir with love and respect. It is because peace is prevalent there.

It is because of peace, development is taking place in Jammu and Kashmir," the home minister said. There are 30 states in the country and Jammu and Kashmir is one of them. Together, all these 30 states become India, he said. "Our country is our home. If you don't step out of Jammu and Kashmir, you will not be able to know the country. So, don't you think that you should visit and know the country well? In your next school vacation, you must visit any of the states along with your parents. If required, have a fight at home but you must visit one of the states," he added. In the past 10 years, terrorism has come to an end in Jammu and Kashmir, incidents of blasts and stone pelting have come to an end, and schools are opening regularly, the home minister noted.

Shah said there was no theatre earlier and no one could go to watch a film. There was no 'tazia' procession but, now, all these are happening, he said. Elections were held for local bodies and 36,000 people elected as panch, sarpanch. All these have happened in the past 10 years, he added. "When the country will progress, you will progress too. As much as the country progresses, becomes modern, you will also become prosperous. This is what Prime Minister Modi is doing," he said. The world's tallest railway bridge is now located in Jammu and Kashmir, Asia's longest tunnel is located in the Union Territory. It is the only place with two AIIMS and two IIMS, Shah said.

Segregating waste at source important for environment: SC

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Monday said segregation of waste at source was of "vital importance" for the environment and asked the NCR states for the compliances made in adherence to the Solid Waste Management Rules, 2016. A bench of Justices Abhay S Oka and Ujjal Bhuyan said the non-compliance in adhering to the 2016 Rules had affected all cities in the country. "In one of the orders, we have observed that all smart city projects are in progress. How the cities can become smart without compliance with the Solid Waste Management Rules?" the bench asked. The National Capital Region (NCR) comprises Delhi and certain districts of Haryana, Uttar Pradesh and Rajasthan. If there was no proper segregation of waste, the court said, even waste-to-energy projects would create more pollution. Senior advocate Aparajita Singh, the amicus curiae in the pollution matter, referred to solid waste management in the NCR while flagging the low percentage of segregation of waste. She said sending unsegregated waste to waste-to-energy plants caused more pollution. "As rightly submitted by the amicus curiae, the segregation of waste at source is of vital importance for the environment. If there is no proper segregation, even waste-to-energy projects will create more pollution," the bench said. The NCR states were ordered to file affidavits dealing with the compliances of all the urban local bodies with the provisions of the 2016 Rules so far. They have been asked to file the affidavits by end of March following which the matter would be taken up. The bench has also asked the states to set out a comprehensive plan for waste management along with timelines and implementing agencies and said, "Needless to add that the affidavits will state compliance in relation to all urban local bodies within the NCR." The authorities were asked to set out the "best practices" they proposed to follow for solid waste management. The bench in the meantime directed the Central Pollution Control Board to submit a report on the impact of waste-to-energy projects on the environment. While dealing with the issue of solid waste management in the national capital previously, the court said if there was no real solution to tackle the issue of untreated solid waste generated per day, it would consider passing drastic orders to stop certain construction activities. It had flagged the failure of the Delhi government and the municipal corporation to comply with the 2016 Rules. "We are facing a huge problem which arises due to the fact that approximately 3,000 tonnes of solid waste generated every day in Delhi remains untreated. With the passage of time, this figure is bound to increase," it said on January 27. The aspect of solid waste management in Delhi-NCR came about when the apex court was hearing the issue of pollution in the NCR.

Essential to induct more women in UN peacekeeping missions, President Murmu

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

It is essential to induct more women in UN peacekeeping missions as they are better equipped to address gender-based violence, build trust and promote dialogue, President Droupadi Murmu said on Monday. Addressing a group of women peacekeepers who had called on the president at Rashtrapati Bhavan, she said the presence of women in a peacekeeping mission made it more diverse and inclusive. "Women peacekeepers often have greater access to local communities and can serve as role models for women and children. They are better equipped to address gender-based violence, build trust and promote dialogue," Murmu said. The president said peacekeeping missions with a higher percentage of women personnel had been more effective in reducing violence and achieving long-lasting peace agreements. "It is, therefore, essential that we induct more women in UN peacekeeping missions," she said. The president recalled India's proud history of contribution to UN peacekeeping, with more than 2,90,000 (2.90 lakh) peacekeepers having served in more than 50 missions. "Today, there are over 5,000 Indian peacekeepers in nine active missions, deployed in often-hostile conditions, for the cause of international peace and security," Murmu said. She expressed her happiness, noting that Indian women peacekeepers had been at the forefront of the call of duty. "Today, there are over 154 Indian women peacekeepers deployed in six ongoing UN missions. Right from the 1960s in Congo, to policing in Liberia in 2007, our women peacekeepers have exhibited the highest traditions of professionalism and conduct," Murmu said.

Modi Government not 'neo-fascist': CPI(M)

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

Changing its stand, the CPI(M) has issued a note to its State units on the draft political resolution for the upcoming Party Congress. The note says the party does not consider the Narendra Modi Government or the Indian State as "neo-fascist", even as there are manifestations of "neo-fascist characteristics". The note sent to the State units of the Communist Party of India (Marxist) also stresses that the position is different from that of other Left parties, such as the Communist Party of India (CPI) and the Communist Party of India (Marxist-Leninist) Liberation. The CPI has characterised the BJP-led Centre as a fascist government, while the CPI(M) has said an "Indian fascism" has been put in place. The CPI(M)'s note says the political resolution talks about the danger of the Hindutva-corporate authoritarianism going towards neo-fascism, if the BJP-RSS is not fought back and halted, but stresses that the party is not calling the Modi Government 'neo-fascist'. The draft political resolution of the CPI(M), which will be discussed at the Party Congress in Tamil Nadu's Madurai in April, was adopted at a meeting of the party's Central Committee in Kolkata from January 17 to January 19. The draft resolution says there has been a growing conflict between the forces of the Hindutva-corporate regime, represented by the Modi Government, and secular-democratic forces that are opposed to it. It says "the push to impose a reactionary Hindutva agenda and the authoritarian drive to suppress the opposition and democracy display neo-fascist characteristics". In the note, the CPI(M) has clarified that talking about the political setup showing "neo-fascist characteristics" does not mean that the party is calling the Modi government fascist or neo-fascist. "We are not saying that the Modi Government is a fascist or neo-fascist Government. Nor are we characterising the Indian State as a neo-fascist State," the note has said. "What we are pinpointing is that after 10 years of continuous rule by the BJP, which is the political wing of the RSS, there has been a consolidation of political power in the hands of the BJP-RSS and this is resulting in the manifestation of 'neo-fascist characteristics'," the major Left party has said. "The word 'characteristics' means features or trends, but they have not developed into a neo-fascist government and political setup. So the political resolution is talking about the danger of the Hindutva-corporate authoritarianism going towards neo-fascism, if the BJP-RSS is not fought back and halted," the note has said. The CPI(M) has said the term "neo-fascism" is being used to distinguish it from the classical fascism, which rose in the inter-war years in Europe, like in Italy under Benito Mussolini and in Germany under Adolf Hitler. "Neo-fascism is a product of the crisis of neo-liberalism and is a global phenomenon," the party said.

Priyanka writes to PM, seeks relief package for Wayanad people

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

Congress MP Priyanka Gandhi Vadra on Monday wrote to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, apprising him about the hardships being faced by the people of Wayanad while trying to rebuild their lives after the devastating landslides last year and urging him to convert the government's relief package into a grant. In a letter to Modi, the Congress general secretary said she believes that the people of Wayanad deserve every possible assistance and support to pull themselves out of the terrible misfortune that has befallen them. "As the MP for Wayanad Lok Sabha, I felt it my duty to apprise you of the plight of the people of Chooralmala and Mundakkai in my constituency. It is indeed heartbreaking that even six months after a horrific tragedy destroyed their lives and livelihoods, they are facing unimaginable hardships while trying to rebuild their lives," Priyanka Gandhi said. Noting that a devastating landslide took place on July 30, 2024, in and around these two habitations of Wayanad district, she said in the aftermath of this disaster, 298 people were found dead, 231 bodies were recovered along with 223 body parts and 32 persons were reported missing and declared dead. She said 17 families with members totalling 58 persons were completely wiped out and 1,685 buildings damaged. "These were houses, schools, village offices, dispensaries, anganwadis, shops, religious centres and government buildings," she said. The Congress leader said educational institutions, namely, the government vocational Higher Secondary School Vellarmala and the government lower primary school Mundakkai were completely wrecked by the landslide. "Permanent rehabilitation of these two institutions at which 658 students were previously enrolled is still awaited," she said. The Congress leader pointed out that 110 acre of agricultural land was destroyed by the landslide. "Tea, coffee and cardamom were the main crops of this area. Many people who earned their livelihood from these crops and from tourism activities in this region found themselves without any means to earn a living. Jeep and autorickshaw drivers, shop owners, home-stay owners and tourist guides were some of those deprived of a livelihood in the aftermath of the disaster," she said. In ward numbers 10, 11 and 12 of Meppadi gram panchayats there are many small scale industry owners who are now struggling to make ends meet, she said in her letter.

"Given the above circumstances, it is clear that Wayanad district desperately needs support. Its people are resilient and brave, yet it is impossible for them to overcome this catastrophe without decisive financial and infrastructural support from both, the state and central governments. Unfortunately, the rehabilitation process is progressing at a painful pace," she said. This has only increased their agony and compounded the psychological turmoil they are experiencing as their future remains uncertain, she added.

Hindi can serve as country's common language, DMK indulging in 'petty politics': VHP

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

Tamil is one of India's "national languages" but only Hindi can serve as the common language of coordination in the country, the Vishva Hindu Parishad (VHP) said on Monday and asked the DMK not to "separate" Tamil Nadu from the mainstream of the country's progress by rejecting it. The remarks by the VHP come against the backdrop of an ongoing row over a three-language formula for school education, prescribed under the National Education Policy (NEP), with the Tamil Nadu's ruling DMK accusing the Centre of attempting to impose Hindi on the state by insisting on the policy's implementation. VHP joint general secretary Surendra Jain also slammed the DMK for regularly objecting to Sanskrit and said the party was "blinded by vote bank" but it could not cut off Tamil Nadu "from its roots by separating it from Hindi and Sanskrit". Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan has dismissed the Tamil Nadu government's opposition to the NEP as "politics", saying the three-language formula did not impose Hindi on students and that the state government could pick any three Indian languages for school education. Asked for comment, Jain hit out at the Tamil Nadu government, alleging that the DMK wanted to separate the state from the "mainstream of the country's progress" by rejecting Hindi. "That's why it is not implementing the NEP while all academics are of the view that it is a good initiative to ensure progress of the people, including the new generation, and to make them good citizens," he said. Tamil is also a "national language" but the country needs one common language which everyone can speak, he said. "Will they speak English?" he asked.

"If there can be a language of coordination in the entire country, it can only be Hindi. So please do not separate Tamil Nadu from the mainstream of national progress by rejecting it," he added. Amid the row, pro-Tamil activists on Sunday smeared black paint on Hindi words on the boards at two railway stations in the state. A video became widely circulated on social media that purported to show the activists painting over "Pollachi Junction" written in Hindi with black paint. Officials later rectified it. DMK activists also painted over the Hindi name on the board of Palayankottai station in Tirunelveli district with black paint. Six party workers were booked by the Railway Protection Force under provisions of the Railways Act. Slamming the DMK for its "petty politics" over language, the VHP functionary said a large number of people from Tamil Nadu visited Prayagraj to take a holy dip at the Sangam during the ongoing Maha Kumbh. "They did not properly understand Hindi but were in harmony with other devotees, speaking broken Hindi because they understood the language of the heart. Kumbh has become a symbol of Hindu unity," Jain said. Temples in Tamil Nadu are the living form of Hindu culture, he added. "The wife of the chief minister (MK Stalin) also goes there. His family members' names are also (in Hindi) Karunanidhi, Dayanidhi, Udayanidhi," he said. He asked if Stalin would stop his wife from visiting temples and change the names of his family members. The VHP functionary said DMK MP Dayanidhi Maran recently protested against the Lok Sabha Secretariat's move to provide simultaneous interpretation of House proceedings in Sanskrit despite Tamil Nadu being home to the "oldest" Sanskrit college in the country.

Multiple launches of knowledge products will take place at the Forum including a compendium of over 100 best practices put together by the National Institute of Urban Affairs (NIUA). The Forum will host an international 3R trade and technology exhibition, providing a platform for over 40 Indian and Japanese businesses and start-ups to showcase best practices, ideas and solutions that support circularity and 3R principles, while encouraging cross-learning. Union Minister Shri Manohar Lal informed that 'Waste-to-wealth initiatives by NGOs and Self-help Groups across India will also be showcased at the Forum promoting sustainability-driven entrepreneurship and community engagement,' said Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs in a statement. Minister said that the 12th Forum will conclude with the adoption of the 'Jaipur Declaration' for enabling transition to a resource-efficient, circular economy in Asia-Pacific countries and will be handed over to the next host country. The Jaipur Declaration (2025-34) builds upon the Hanoi Declaration (2013-23) and aims to provide participating countries with a framework for developing 3R and circular economy policies and programs, which enable a shift from a linear 'take-make-dispose' economy to a circular economy.

BSF mobilises more troops along Pakistan border in Punjab and Jammu

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

The Border Security force (BSF) has ordered mobilisation of additional manpower at posts along the India-Pakistan border in Punjab and Jammu as part of its measures to strengthen the anti-infiltration grid and check the intrusion of drones carrying ammunition or drugs, official sources said Monday. The sources said that the Western Command of the Border Security Force headquartered in Chandigarh has also directed for setting up of nine "tactical" headquarters along the front in these two regions with the maximum intelligence and operations paraphernalia being "shifted" here under the monitoring of a newly created control room. A tactical or 'tac headquarter' is a forward base which is closer to the border, just near the border post, and ahead of the battalion base in the rear. The 'tac headquarter', as per the sources, will also have the presence of one senior commander from all verticals including the commanding officer (CO) of the battalion whose unit is deployed at these vulnerable border posts, the sources said. Directions have also been issued to mobilise "maximum" manpower of the force to border guarding units all across these two regions after shifting them from the battalion headquarters, they said. Sources in the security establishment said the measure had been taken late last week keeping in mind the "vulnerability and the constant threat" to these border areas from the point of view of cross-border infiltration and drone flights emanating from Pakistan. "The directions mandate these steps to be taken immediately," a senior officer based in Punjab said. However, officials said that asking the commanding officers to be present at their respective tac headquarters "all the time" will lead to command and administration issues. The CO of a battalion is responsible for multiple companies and units that are deployed wide across and such an officer has to be moving across their different units rather than stationed at one place 24X7, BSF field officials said.

Why hasn't Bihar granted special category status as promised: Congress

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

The Congress on Monday posed questions to Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Bihar, asking why hasn't the state been granted Special Category Status as promised and why are so many essential projects lying incomplete there. Ahead of Prime Minister Modi's visit to Bihar, Congress general secretary in-charge communications Jairam Ramesh posed four questions for him. "Where are the promised airports for Bhagalpur, Muzaffarpur, and Purnea," Ramesh asked in his post on X. "The PM promised an airport in Purnea on 18th August, 2015. Six years and three Nitish Kumar U-turns later, his government is yet to fulfil the promise," Ramesh said. In a 2019 rally, Modi promised to open Patahi Airport in Muzaffarpur and in 2023, Home Minister Amit Shah also pledged to kickstart operations at the Patahi airport, while the BJP promised a fully operational airport by Diwali 2023, he said. "However, an AAI ground team from March 2024 found that the land plot has broken boundary walls, and buffaloes roam the runway. What has the government been doing for 10 years? Muzaffarpur joins Purnea and Bhagalpur as cities that need and deserve airports, but under the Bharatiya Janata Party, all they get is broken promises. Why has the PM repeatedly lied to the people of Bihar on this subject?" Ramesh said.

ecosystem in the states. India is emerging as the top supply chain for global aerospace firms, he said, adding that textile, tourism and technology sectors will generate crores of jobs in the years to come. The PM also unveiled 18 new policies of the Madhya Pradesh government, aimed at attracting major investment in the BJP-ruled state. "With a strong talent pool and thriving industries, Madhya Pradesh is becoming a preferred business destination," Modi said. "This is the time, and right time, to invest in the state," the prime minister said. "The speed of development in Madhya Pradesh has doubled after the formation of the 'double engine' government in the state," he said. Modi further said Madhya Pradesh is among the leading states in India's electric vehicles revolution. There are several opportunities in the health and wellness sector in the country, he said, adding, "The world is liking the 'heal in India' mantra". Modi said in the past two decades, MP has seen a lot of transformations. There were issues pertaining to electricity and water, and law and order was even worse. In such a scenario, industrial development was difficult, he noted. But in the past 20 years, with the help of the people, the BJP state government focused on governance.

Two decades ago, people used to stay away from investing here (in MP), and now it is among the top states in the country for investment, Modi said.

He said that a few days ago, a UN organisation on climate change called India a "solar power superpower".

"This organisation also said that while many countries only talk, India shows results," Modi added.

On the occasion, Chief Minister Mohan Yadav said with the organisation of the Global Investors Summit here, Madhya Pradesh will make its identity as a major global investment destination.

Yadav said his government is committed to double the state's economy in the next five years, as part of the country's commitment to make India a developed nation by 2047.

Madhya Pradesh has decided to observe 2025 as a year of industries and employment, as part of its commitment towards making India a developed nation, he added.

BJP set up factory of 'jumlas' in Assam says Congress

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI

The Congress on Monday demanded answers from Prime Minister Narendra Modi over alleged corruption under the Himanta Biswa Sarma dispensation in Assam and asserted that the "double dhokha (betrayal) government" will be held accountable for its "sins" in the assembly polls next year. Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge said Modi has set up a "factory of jumlas" in Assam, whose mastermind is the most corrupt chief minister of the BJP.

"Recently, Congress leaders in Assam have been attacked both ways - politically and physically! The public will respond to these attacks by forming a Congress government after one year," Kharge said in a post on X.

The state of Assam is suffering the consequences of corruption, hatred and misgovernance by the "land mafia of the BJP", he alleged. "The unemployment of the youth, the helplessness of the tea garden workers, the rebuke of the Hon'ble Supreme Court on the issue of illegal foreigners and the hypocrisy of the BJP are well known.

"The state has lagged behind on every scale of development and economically. 3.5 Crore people of Assam are extremely angry, no slogan of Modi ji can cool their anger now. Change is certain in Assam and the North-East," he asserted.

Addressing a press conference ahead of Prime Minister Modi's visit to Assam, Congress general secretary in-charge of party affairs in the state, Jitendra Singh, said what magic lamp did Modi give to the Assam chief minister that he (Sarma) became a business tycoon.

"Himanta Biswa Sarma has built an entire empire in Assam. The Chief Minister of Assam owns many tea gardens, news portals, a big outlet of McDonald's, international schools and lots of lands. A lot of land has been purchased in tribal areas including Majuli, Kamrup, Guwahati, Nagaon, Golaghat, where land cannot be purchased," he said at the presser also addressed by Assam Congress chief Bhupen Borah, Gaurav Gogoi, Pradyut Bordoloi, Pawan Khera, among others. Singh also alleged that rat-hole mining was happening under the nose of Assam CM. If all this is happening, then are Narendra Modi's agencies investigating, he asked.

State Congress chief Borah said Assam Tribal Students Organization has asked three questions to PM Modi today. During the 2014 Lok Sabha elections, Modi had promised that the daily wage of 11 Lakh tea workers of Assam would be increased to ₹351 but today this wage is between ₹250 and ₹220, Borah said.

"Narendra Modi had promised that six communities of Assam will be given ST status within 100 days. This promise has not been fulfilled till date. Rat-hole mining is illegal in Assam, but it still continues in many places.

"So the question is: under whose leadership is illegal rat-hole mining taking place in Assam? When will there be an investigation into illegal rat-hole mining, when will the CM take action?" he said. Borah said he was attacked a few days ago, but no one has been arrested till date.

VIP darshan suspended at Kashi Vishwanath from February 25-27

VARANASI

Anticipating a heavy rush of devotees during Mahashivratri, authorities have decided to suspend the VIP 'darshan' facility at the Kashi Vishwanath temple here from February 25 to 27.

Kashi Vishwanath Temple's Chief Executive Officer, Vishw Bhushan Mishra said on Monday that the number of visitors to the temple has significantly increased due to the return flow of devotees from the ongoing Maha Kumbh in nearby Prayagraj.

With Mahashivratri falling on February 26 this year alongside the Kumbh Mela, pilgrims from across the country, along with saints from various akharas, including Naga sadhus, are expected to arrive in large numbers to offer prayers, he noted.

"On this occasion, the Naga akharas will also take out a grand procession, which will temporarily block general access through gate number four of the temple. This is likely to increase the waiting time for regular devotees.

Given the hot and humid weather conditions, prolonged waiting could pose health risks, especially for children, women, and elderly visitors.

Keeping this in mind, authorities have decided to completely suspend VIP darshan for the three-day period," he said. Mishra noted that last year, around 12 Lakh devotees visited Kashi Vishwanath Dham on Mahashivratri.

However, given that this is a Maha Kumbh year, the number is expected to be even higher. Divisional Commissioner Kaushal Raj Sharma emphasised the significance of Mahashivratri for Kashi, saying currently, six to nine Lakh people are visiting the Kashi Vishwanath temple daily during the Maha Kumbh.

On Mahashivratri, the number is expected to reach 10 to 12

Lakh. To manage the massive crowd, the number of queues at all four temple gates has been increased, and specific timings have been allocated for akharas and Naga sadhus, while the remaining time slots are reserved for general devotees, Sharma said.

Additional arrangements have been made within the temple premises, including drinking water stations, ORS and glucose supplies, shaded waiting areas, medical facilities, and ambulances, he said.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (Kashi Zone) Gaurav Banswal said that for crowd management and security, police have identified 55 locations in the city where barricading will be enforced.

The Kashi Vishwanath temple premises have been divided into zones and sectors, with 13 sectors assigned to dedicated police forces.

The area from Godowlia to Maidagin intersection has been declared a no-vehicle zone, and barricading will be strengthened up to Dashashwamedh Ghat, he said.

To ensure smooth traffic flow, eight traffic inspectors, 24 traffic sub-inspectors, 164 head constables, and over 300 home guards will be deployed across the city, he added.

According to information available on the Kashi Vishwanath Temple's website, on Mahashivratri, the 'Mangala Aarti' would be performed at 2.15 am while the midday 'Bhog Aarti' will be held at 11.35 am.

However, there will be no Saptarishi Aarti (6.15 pm), Shringar-Bhog Aarti (8 pm) and Shayan Aarti (10.30 pm) on February 26, it showed.

"The temple doors will not be closed on the day of Mahashivratri and four-hour aarti will be performed from 11 pm to 6.30 am the next day. Mangala aarti will not be performed the next day of Mahashivratri," stated the message on the website attributed to the temple's trust.

Fadnavis approves 109 names as OSDs, PS to ministers

MUMBAI

Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis on Monday said he cleared 109 out of 125 names referred by cabinet ministers for their appointment as personal secretaries or OSDs but didn't approve others because they are either facing inquiries or known as "fixers".

"I have received some 125 names of officials whom my cabinet colleagues wanted to appoint as either personal secretaries (PS) or as officers on special duty. Out of it, I have cleared the names of 109.

"The reasons behind not clearing the names of the remaining (16) is either there is some inquiry going on against those officials or they are known as fixers in the administrative circles," Fadnavis told reporters.

He also said the rest (16) are facing various types of allegations. "Even if it would hurt someone, I will not clear such names".

Fadnavis also snubbed Agriculture Minister Manikrao Kokate, who belongs to the Nationalist Congress Party, over his remarks that even PS and OSDs are appointed by the chief minister, "leaving nothing in our hands".

Kokate had said that Fadnavis issued a stern warning to all his cabinet colleagues to maintain strict discipline within their respective departments.

"He (Fadnavis) stated that any minister who attempts to deviate from the government's plan risks losing their position. There is nothing left in our hands, as even the PS and OSDs are appointed by the chief minister. We will have to perform now," Kokate said. When asked about the agriculture minister's remarks, Fadnavis said Kokate probably didn't know approving the appointments of PS and OSDs is the CM's prerogative.

"A minister can propose candidates, but the final decision rests with my office," the CM added. Fadnavis also expressed concerns regarding the issue of illegal constructions near Mumbai, which have led to court interventions.

"Some builders are playing a dirty game, by first engaging in illegal constructions and then manipulating individuals to file cases in court against illegal structures.

Deputy Chief Minister Eknath Shinde has brought this issue to my attention. We will intervene in the courts to end such practices," he said.

Electricity employees to go for nationwide strike against privatisation

NAGPUR

The CITU backed Electricity Employees Federation of India has urged central government and state government to stop further privatisation of power and energy sector and decided to protest against the implementation of Labour Codes. The national convention of electricity employees and engineers held in Nagpur on Sunday decided to go for strike on June 26 and blamed Central and State Government for "forcefully privatised its highly profitable, efficient and low tariff power utility in an irregular manner".

"The National Federations of electricity employees and engineers under the banner of National Coordination Committee discussed very gravely about the multi-prong attacks on the public electricity sector and the energy security of our country.

The convention took a serious note over the attacks on the democratic rights of the electricity employees and consumers, especially in UP. The Strike proposal was supported by the Samyukta Kishan Morcha and Central Trade Union leaders present in the Convention. The Strike is the response to all the attacks unleashed by the Central and several State Governments upon the public Power industry.

"After being elected for the third time, the NDA government has become desperate to privatise all the public electricity utilities. Under the diktat of the Central government, the Chandigarh UT Administration forcefully privatised its highly profitable, efficient and low tariff Power Utility in an irregular manner. Desperate attacks of Privatisation have been unleashed on Purvanchal Vidyut Vitaran Nigam Ltd. (PVVNL) and Dakshinanchal Vidyut Vitaran Nigam Ltd. (DVVNL) of Uttar Pradesh.

It will put the service of 27,000 employees and engineers and 50,000 contract workers at stake. Electricity employees and engineers of UP are fighting for last 87 days defying the instigation and attacks of the UP administration," said Electricity Employees Federation in a statement.

The Federation also blamed Rajasthan Government for starting bidding process to privatise the Generation and Battery Storage Projects. Battle is going on for last several months in Telangana, where the Government has planned to handover the electricity distribution service of South Hyderabad Circle to Adani group, said the Federation.

"Actually, the Central Government is in real haste to privatise the state DISCOMs. A unique regional meeting on Power sector with States and UTs of Delhi, Haryana, Himachal Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir, Ladakh, Madhya Pradesh, Punjab, Rajasthan and Uttar Pradesh has been held on 20th February, New Delhi.

As per the Press Release of the Ministry of Power, "the States have urged Centre for support in privatisation of distribution" and "Listing of Utilities will be taken up by States to bring investment."

Undoubtedly, all these State governments will try to move very fast in their privatisation agenda," said Prasanta N Chowdhury, General Secretary of Electricity Employees Federation.

"Further to facilitate the privatisation project, a Group of Ministers have been formed by the Government of India and the convener of the group is the UP Energy Minister, who is infamous for his privatisation drives. And again the Central government is coming with a new draft of the Electricity Amendment Bill. The struggle is bound to be sharpened in coming days," added the Federation.

Yogi slams SP over remarks on Kumbh arrangements

LUCKNOW

Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath slammed the opposition Samajwadi Party on Monday, saying that during its rule in the state, the chief minister did not have the time to review Kumbh arrangements and "a non-Sanatani was made its in charge".

He was referring to the Kumbh organised in 2013 when Akhilesh Yadav was the Uttar Pradesh chief minister and Mohammad Azam Khan was made the in charge of the religious congregation in Prayagraj.

In his address in the state assembly, Adityanath said, "We have not played with faith like you. In your time, the chief minister did not have time to see and review the event and therefore he appointed a non-Sanatani as the in-charge of Kumbh."

"But here I myself was reviewing Kumbh and am still doing it. This is the reason that whoever went to the Kumbh in 2013 saw chaos, corruption, and pollution. There was no water fit for bathing in the Triveni of Ganga, Yamuna and Saraswati. The prime minister of Mauritius is an example of this who refused to take a bath," he said. Adityanath said that this time people are visiting the Maha Kumbh continuously.

"The President, the prime minister and the vice president visited there. The King of Bhutan came, and heads of all other countries of the world — that is 74 nations — visited the place. All of them participated in the event and made it successful. For the first time... everyone became a part of this event and made it successful," he added.

Adityanath alleged that in the past one-and-a-half months, leftists and socialists made poisonous statements on social media about Maha Kumbh. "Apart from dirt, disorder and trouble of tourists, they found nothing else there. But apart from all this, their ideology has no effect on the ground.

There is silence on hundreds of deaths due to conditions during Haj. The leftists and seculars of India who have been seen speaking on the Maha Kumbh maintain silence on that," he said.

Attacking the opposition over their criticism of Kumbh arrangements, he said whoever searched for something in Kumbh, got it.

The Madras High Court on Monday dismissed a petition seeking direction to authorities concerned from granting permission to conduct Mahashivratri celebrations at Isha Foundation in Coimbatore.

Petitioner S T Sivagnanan had sought a direction to the authorities to initiate appropriate action against Isha Foundation for allegedly operating its facilities without adequate sewage treatment facilities, discharging untreated sewage, for causing severe noise pollution and divert from issuing any permission for conducting the Mahashivratri function on February 26 and 27 in light of alleged violations committed last year. The Court had last week directed the Tamil Nadu Pollution Control Board (TNPCB) to verify as to whether the rules and regulations are being followed by the foundation during Mahashivratri celebrations.

Kannan submitted that Isha Foundation has provided adequate treatment facilities and the standard of the Ambient Noise Level was within the standards prescribed by the Board. In the premises of the Isha Foundation, seating capacity was only 60,000. He said no complaint petition has been received from the public regarding air, water and noise pollution.

The Isha Foundation has also followed Noise Rules, he added.

Following this, a division bench comprising Justices S M Subramaniam and K Rajasekar dismissed the petition filed by Sivagnanan.

German election Tik Toked

As Germany votes to elect its new chancellor, far right may make substantial gains thanks to its Tik Tok campaign

Germany votes in a snap federal election, a political shake-up triggered by the collapse of the three-party coalition government at the end of last year. With 59.2 million eligible voters, this election is set to reshape the country's political landscape, potentially heralding a shift towards conservatism and a stronger far-right presence. At the forefront of the race is Friedrich Merz, the 69-year-old leader of the conservative Christian Democratic Union (CDU). Merz has emerged as the frontrunner to become Germany's next chancellor, advocating for economic stability, stricter immigration policies, and a reassertion of Germany's leadership in Europe. The far-right Alternative for Germany (AfD) is poised to make historic gains, emerging as the second-largest political force. This comes at the expense of Chancellor Olaf Scholz's Social Democratic Party (SPD), which has suffered due to economic stagnation and dissatisfaction with the previous coalition government. The Green Party and the Free Democrats (FDP), both part of the fallen coalition, have also struggled to maintain voter confidence. Meanwhile, the Left Party is fighting to remain relevant amid internal divisions and the broader shift in political sentiment.

This election is taking place at a critical juncture for Germany, with pressing domestic and international challenges shaping the national narrative. Germany, the EU's largest economy, is grappling with slow growth, rising inflation, and concerns about industrial competitiveness. Many voters are looking for a leader who can restore economic stability and drive innovation. Besides, the country has faced growing debates over migration policies, with many Germans expressing concerns about integration and border security. The AfD has capitalised on this sentiment, calling for stricter immigration controls. With growing geopolitical tensions, including relations with China, Russia, and the United States, Germany's next leader will need to navigate foreign policy challenges carefully. But the biggest factor that is being analysed is why the AfD is gaining ground? Indeed, the rise of the AfD can be attributed to several factors. Firstly, economic dissatisfaction has pushed voters towards populist rhetoric, with the AfD portraying itself as the party of change. Secondly, frustration with the previous coalition's handling of immigration and energy policy has bolstered nationalist sentiments. An interesting aspect of this election has been the role played by social media, particularly TikTok. The AfD has effectively leveraged TikTok to reach younger audiences, spreading populist messages through short, engaging videos, often laced with negative content. Meanwhile, mainstream parties have struggled to counteract misinformation and viral narratives that favor the far-right. This election underscores the growing influence of digital platforms in modern politics, raising questions about regulation and the impact of algorithm-driven content on democratic processes. Whatever the outcome, it will have far-reaching implications for Germany, the EU and beyond.

Navigating differences: Lessons in collaboration from a life in leadership

My experiences have taught me that to find common ground one must show patience, open to dialogue and accommodate perspectives different from your own

I have been trying to set up a small library within my condominium complex. A lady was apprehensive about the criticism from a select few for the expenditure on this noble venture. Her sharp rejoinder that she could never stoop so low to my simple solution of inviting the critics to inaugurate the library left me seething.

In another instance, a lady unequivocally told me that she would not work with another lady in the Art and Literature Festival I am organizing within my society. I found their response irrational. I had worked in the government sector for more than 30 years out of the 35 years of an active professional life.

The initial 17 years were spent in handling big teams of literate or semi-literate staff. My success depended upon their performance. I could not achieve much without the support of subordinates, peers, and superiors. I did not have the luxury of going back to my seniors to shift a person if he did not perform. I also could not go back asking for a transfer if I felt overwhelmed by the people who had strong unions, and who would not hesitate to run me down even at the slightest hint of weakness. I was taking stock of the previous day's performance with my senior supervisor in my very first posting in a maintenance shed that had more than 1,000 staff.

A group of staff and their leaders barged into the room to air their grievances. An unruly element from the crowd threw an earthen tea cup to landed right in front of me on the table. I had to gulp down the insult to present a brave face as I thundered in the most authoritative voice I could muster that the meeting was over and I would not discuss any further. It turned out that they were testing me and the leaders tried their best to be on my right side. A senior visited my shop floor during lunch hours in another posting in a production unit a few years later.

A place where a lot of grease was used was usually quite gloomy with layers of the sticky substance accumulating over years. The shop floor would also not be the cleanest of the places at lunchtime. Railways was an extremely hierarchical organisation with the seniors considering themselves masters at insulting the subordinates, particularly the officers, who would not retaliate in front of the staff out of a sense of propriety. This senior gentleman shouted at me that if the cleaning staff was not available, then I should have cleaned myself.

SANJAY CHANDRA

My supervisor and the staff showed more compassion as they rushed around. There were many such incidents when I felt degraded and insulted. I did not have the same options that the two young ladies wanted to exercise. To give credit to both, they are well educated, one of them having studied psychology in college, the other is a medical professional. I find a similar unwillingness in other younger professionals. They are rigid in their approach to daily problems and would rather not talk to a person with contrary opinions than sit down to resolve them. The attitude often spills into the personal lives also. There would always be some difficult times. There is a need to discuss and find a middle ground.

I would like to bring their attention to the famous words of Abraham Lincoln, "I do not like that man. I must get to know him better." It will take a lot of time and effort. But in the end, it will be worth it. (The author is an electrical engineer with the Indian Railways and conducts classes in creative writing; views are personal)

New VC appointment rules undermine State autonomy

The UGC's draft guidelines, while ostensibly aimed at ensuring uniformity in VC appointments, have opened a Pandora's box of political and constitutional concerns

K S TOMAR

The University Grants Commission's (UGC) draft guidelines proposing a shift in the appointment of Vice-Chancellors (VCs) have ignited a political storm. By granting Chancellors—predominantly Governors—the authority to constitute search-cum-selection committees for appointing VCs, the UGC has stirred concerns about federalism, state autonomy, and academic independence.

Adding to the controversy, non-compliance with these guidelines could disqualify state universities from UGC funding schemes, creating a direct clash between the Centre and opposition-ruled states such as Tamil Nadu, Kerala, West Bengal, Punjab, and Himachal Pradesh. This move, seen as a veiled attempt to centralise power over state universities, places the spotlight on India's federal structure and the simmering tension between state governments and Governors, especially in opposition-led states. At the core of the debate is the growing role of Governors, often viewed as proxies of the Centre, in state governance.

Historically, state governments have played a central role in appointing VCs by constituting independent search committees. However, the UGC's draft proposes a shift, granting Governors—functioning as Chancellors of state universities—control over these committees. Governors, constitutionally expected to act as neutral figures, have increasingly been accused of serving partisan interests, particularly in states like Tamil Nadu, Kerala, and West Bengal. By formalizing the Governor's role in academic appointments, the UGC guidelines risk politicising the process, potentially undermining academic independence and turning universities into ideological battlegrounds. The fears of state governments are not unfounded.

In Tamil Nadu, for example, the DMK has accused the Governor of deliberately delaying VC appointments to push candidates aligned with the ruling party at the Centre. Similarly, Kerala has witnessed repeated stand-offs between the Governor and the state government over academic appointments. The new guidelines only add fuel to these already volatile relationships. The UGC's draft guidelines also raise significant constitutional questions. Education, as a subject under the Concurrent List, allows both the Centre and states to legislate on it. However, the Constitution also upholds federal principles, granting states substantial control over their universities.

The new guidelines, by empowering Governors to dominate the VC appointment process, are being viewed as an encroachment on states' jurisdiction. Several states may challenge these guidelines in court, arguing that they violate the federal structure enshrined in the Constitution. States like Tamil Nadu have already passed laws to curtail the Governor's powers in academic governance, reflecting a broader pushback against what they see as an overreach by the Centre.

For opposition-ruled states, where educational institutions are often viewed as bastions of intellectual and political autonomy, the UGC's guidelines have deepened fears of central overreach. The ruling dispensations in states like Tamil Nadu, Kerala, and West Bengal have expressed strong apprehensions about Governors using this newfound authority as an extension of the Centre's political influence. In West Bengal, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's government has long accused the Governor of interfering in the state's affairs, particularly in the educational domain. The UGC guidelines could exacerbate this friction, allowing the Governor to influence appointments to academic institutions. Such moves, critics argue, undermine the intellectual independence that universities in the state have historically enjoyed.

In Kerala, where the Left Democratic Front (LDF) government has vociferously defended educational autonomy, the guidelines are being seen as an outright encroachment on the state's constitutional rights. The state government fears that politicised appointments could compromise the ideological neutrality and academic standards of its universities.

The DMK-led Tamil Nadu government has also repeatedly opposed the Governor's increasing interference in educational appointments. The state has even passed legislation to reduce the Governor's control over the VC selection process, only to have it stalled by the Governor. For Tamil Nadu, these new guidelines are a direct challenge to the state's efforts to safeguard its educational institutions from external political influence.

Universities, as centres of higher learning, thrive on autonomy and academic freedom. The UGC's intervention threatens to compromise these principles by potentially turning VCs into political appointees. Critics argue that such appointments could erode academic independence, with VCs prioritising political allegiance over educational excellence. In opposition-led states, this concern is particularly acute.

The fear is that such interference could stifle intellectual diversity, with universities becoming vehicles for propagating the central government's political agenda. This interference also undermines the confidence of academicians and researchers.

Scholars worry that political considerations will outweigh merit in appointments, leading to a decline in the quality of higher education. The resulting chilling effect could discourage free thought and innovation in academic institutions.

The controversy over VC appointments is emblematic of a larger tussle between the Centre and states over federalism. For states like Tamil Nadu, Kerala, and West Bengal, the guidelines represent an erosion of their autonomy in managing critical domains such as education. This growing centralisation also poses questions about the role of Governors in a federal structure.

A balanced approach, one that respects state autonomy while ensuring accountability in academic governance, is the need of the hour. Without such a resolution, the guidelines risk becoming another flashpoint in the Centre-state relationship, with significant implications for India's federal structure and the future of its education system.

FARMERS DESERVE FAIR PRICES

Madam — The Union Agriculture Minister talking about the government working out schemes (February 23) to prevent distress sale of farm produce is welcome. India continues to be predominantly an agrarian country. Its contribution to the country's GDP was around 51 per cent at the time the country got freedom. Still, we had to depend on aids like PL480 to feed the poor. Thanks to the green revolution taken up with all by the government as well as the farming community with all sincerity the country is upgraded to food surplus status. But due to the shifting of focus from agriculture to industry, agriculture is suffering the worst, facing all sorts of odds at every level.

Though every commodity's price is fixed by the producer, it doesn't hold good for the farm produce. The government doesn't volunteer to take the ground reality into account and fix the cost, leaving it to the market dynamics. This policy has allowed the middlemen to play havoc. This reality, coupled with the apathetic moves of the government, has resulted in millions of farmers resorting to committing suicide. Many small farmers are deserting their farming activities and migrating to cities seeking daily wage jobs for their livelihood. The government is still not sensitised to address the issues but comes out with plans to monopolise farming by a few private corporations. It is good that the minister has now talked about the woes of the farmers who fail to get reasonable returns and the consumers who fail to get the benefit of the plenty. It would be a meaningful act of the government to discuss with the farmers and address their woes without attaching any political strings. Farmers are the real wealth creators and providers of food security.

MEDIA TARGETS KIIT UNIVERSITY

Madam — After the suicide of a Nepali student at Odisha's KIIT University following an unhealthy relationship, some sections of the media are targeting the university

Virat shines as India beats Pakistan

India has beaten its archrival Pakistan by six wickets in their group A match of the ICC Champions Trophy 2025 at the Dubai International Cricket stadium. Virat Kohli has once again proved his supremacy against Pakistan in the ICC tournaments, delivering a scintillating unbeaten century with a memorable knock off 111 balls. The win propelled India to the top of Group A with 4 points, virtually securing a semifinal berth, while Pakistan faced the threat of an early exit, suffering their second consecutive defeat. Kohli's knock featuring seven exquisite boundaries dismantled Pakistan's hopes as their premier pacers Shaheen Shah Afridi and Haris Rauf struggled to make an impact after Afridi dismissed Rohit Sharma (20 off 15) early with a fiery yorker. It is Kohli's 51st ODI tonne by becoming the fastest batter to reach 14000 ODI runs during his innings. With 51 centuries in ODIs and 30 in Tests, with 7 double centuries in international cricket, Kohli is regarded as one of the greatest batsmen of all time. Kohli is often referred to as the King Kohli by his fans and supporters due to his achievements and contributions to the game.

to satisfy their agenda. Now, the context of justice for the deceased girl has been diverted to their own vendetta. As a result, the last couple of days have been very dramatic for the student fraternity. Other students in KIIT who have come for higher studies from outside and their parents have been in a distributing mind state. They should not suffer from the media trial. Considering the incident, the state government formed a high-level committee to probe into it. Now it's become a political farce; every day different political outfits are staging protests in the evening in front of the main gate like a daily routine, which is ruining the academic environment on the campus. Amid all of this, we should not forget the contributions of this university to the sports and education systems of the state. Let's make a healthy environment for the other students of KIIT and have faith in the law.

TRUMP DISRUPTING WORLD ORDER

Madam — US President Donald Trump's economic and geopolitical decisions have raised global concerns. His imposition of tariffs on Mexico, Canada, Brazil, and China has strained trade relations. His remarks about annexing Canada and Panama are alarming, while his characterisation of India as the highest tariff-imposing nation risks diplomatic tensions. On foreign policy, Trump's abandonment of Ukraine, despite US Democrats pushing it into conflict with Russia, has left the nation vulnerable.

His call for Palestinians to vacate Gaza and seek refuge in Egypt and Jordan adds to Middle East instability. If America alienates nations through unilateral policies, it risks losing global leadership. A hostile US stance could push China and Russia closer. No country, not even the US, can remain strong forever without allies. For America to truly remain great, Trump must adopt a more cooperative and balanced approach to international relations.

THE HANDWRITING BLUES: A STORY OF DECLINE

Some see handwriting as a reflection of character, but it shifts, evolves and often declines beyond recognition

APS MALHOTRA

Some conjecture that a person's handwriting can give a glimpse into that person's character. But I am a sceptic in this regard, because, in my opinion, the handwriting of an individual is not a constant, but keeps on morphing as time goes by. A case in point is your humble friend, who has seen his handwriting deteriorate over the past few decades, till now, in my fifth decade, it is nothing more than a painstaking, almost illegible scrawl—although, with the advent of the now ubiquitous personal computer and other sundry devices, the negative impact of this deterioration has been minimised, especially in official work. Because today, when I write a note on any file with my hand, others find it rather difficult to 'decrypt'. Even filling simple financial documents like a cheque is a nightmare now, a stiff challenge, that is increasingly being left to my better half to handle, as bank people, on a few occasions, have raised doubts about the authenticity of my signature. But before the readers start commiserating about the sad and agonising state of my handwriting, I will share with them that this was not always the case. In the early years of school, I was the darling of my teachers because of my neat and clean handwriting, which made me the cynosure of my peers. Writing on four-line copies, I would get full marks in English handwriting.

The slide commenced from middle school onwards, when I shifted from writing with a pencil to writing with a ball pen, and the copy changed from one with four lines to that with two lines. But the hand was still steady, and teachers did not have any problem reading my answer sheets, as was evident from the good grades I continued to get in my exams. But I am sure, that as I entered college and the university in the mid-eighties, the good professors would have become increasingly impatient in poring over my messy answer sheets, with scribbles galore. Throughout, my father, a diligent and thorough gentleman, with very precise and beautiful handwriting, kept counselling me to stem the rot, even as I secured a job in the public sector in 1991. He gently warned that it would adversely impact my prospects of growth in the corporate world, especially when this was the period when all office work was conducted on well-defined sheets of paper— which, in my case, were to be yellow pages.

Before leaving for Bombay (as Mumbai was then called), I scoffed at Dad's gentle, but consistent reprimands. It was only when I took my first, tentative steps in the company did I realise that what Dad had been emphasising over the years was not an iota away from the truth. I faced a mild, personal nudge from some bosses on this account, but others were not so kind, and their reaction bordered on outright contempt, reprimand and disapproval. But Dad was an eternal optimist. He still harboured a strong wish to get my handwriting back on track, even at this stage, for which he purchased a book— 'Techniques to improve your handwriting'. I was back in kindergarten.

So, whenever I came home to Delhi for a break, he would insist that I sit with him, at least for some time, and practice on ways to improve my, by now abominable handwriting. But by this point, my mind, like that of all young men, was engrossed in finer things of life than improving my writing ability, which, I realised, was destined to be an exercise in futility. This cat-and-mouse game continued even after I got married in 1993. It was only after I became a father in 1995 did Dad finally buried his desire to improve my handwriting to a decent level.

RBI should go for an 'accommodative' stance

UTTAM GUPTA

While inflation has been steadily declining, the RBI opted to retain its 'neutral' stance, signaling a measured approach rather than give push to boost liquidity and demand

On February 7, 2025, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) Governor Sanjay Malhotra announced the decisions taken by the six-member Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) in its sixth bi-monthly meeting of the current financial year (FY). It has reduced the policy rate or the repo rate (the interest rate at which the RBI lends to banks) by 25 basis points to 6.25 per cent. This marks the first repo rate cut in nearly five years. Moreover, it has continued with a neutral stance which it shifted in its fourth bi-monthly review/announcement on October 10, 2024, from its earlier stance of "withdrawal of accommodation". In 2016, the Union Government put in place an institutionalized framework to enable the MPC to formulate monetary policy and determine the key interest rates including the policy rate for inflation targeting. It mandated the RBI to fix the policy rate in such a manner as to maintain the Consumer Price Index or CPI (it corresponds to a basket that includes food, fuel, manufactured goods, and select services) within the target range of 4 per cent (+/- 2 per cent).

The RBI decides the policy rates once in two months during each FY. The mandate initially given for five years ending March 31, 2021, has since been extended for a further period of five years. The current mandate will continue till March 31, 2026. The other crucial policy instrument the RBI uses for targeting inflation is Liquidity - jargon for the quantum of credit available in the banking system. Pumping more liquidity along with a reduction in the policy rate represents a scenario which in jargon is described as an 'accommodative' policy stance. The terminology was coined by the outgoing governor Shaktikanta Das in June 2019 when he started going for aggressive cuts in the policy rate and an increase in credit availability.

Since June 2022 the RBI changed its stance to "withdrawal of accommodation" and had stuck to it till October 9, 2024, when in the fourth bi-monthly review, the MPC decided to go for a "neutral" stance. A

THE PROBLEM IS RBI'S OBSESSION WITH INFLATION. MALHOTRA RECOGNISES THAT INFLATION IS ON A DOWNWARD TRAJECTORY. YET, HE DOESN'T WANT TO RELINQUISH HIS NEUTRAL STANCE CITING GLOBAL ECONOMIC CHALLENGES "PROGRESS IN GLOBAL DISINFLATION IS STALLING"

"neutral" stance connotes that the RBI has vowed to keep its options flexible meaning it will neither squeeze liquidity by restricting credit availability and keeping policy rates high nor go for unrestrained lending at low interest rates.

While inflation targeting is important, it is equally necessary to dovetail the monetary policy to sustain the momentum of high growth. During the second quarter of the current FY, growth in GDP plummeted to a low of 5.4 per cent down from a high of 8.1 per cent during the second Qr of FY 2023-24. For the current FY 2024-25, it is estimated at 6.4 per cent as against 8.2 per cent recorded during FY 2023-24. Seen in this backdrop and an overarching need to achieve a growth of 8 per cent on a sustained basis in line to make India a 'developed economy' by 2047, the RBI could have given the desired push. It could have gone for an 'accommodative' policy stance by opting for a significant cut in the policy rate and pumping sufficient cash into the banking system. However, it has stuck to a "neutral" stance while reducing the repo rate by a small 0.25 per cent. RBI's reluctance has to do with a mindset that was reflected in ex-Governor Das's observation while announcing the first bi-monthly policy of the current FY. He had said "The elephant has now gone out for a walk and appears to be returning to the forest."

We would like the elephant to return to the forest and remain there on a durable basis." Put simply, he meant there was no need to start reducing interest rates until inflation reached the target of 4 per cent and stayed at that level. The incumbent Governor has continued with this mindset. In February 2023, the policy rate was at a peak of 6.5 per cent. During FY 2022-23, the CPI inflation was hovering around 8 per cent.

In the following year, it started decreasing from 7.4 per cent in July 2023 to 5 per cent in September 2023, 4.8 per cent in October 2023 and 5.1 per cent during January/February 2024. For FY 2023-24, it was 5.4 per cent. During the current FY also, it has kept low; 5.08 per cent in June 2024 and 3.54 per cent in July of 2024. After a brief spurt of 6.2 per cent in October 2024, in January 2025, it declined to 4.3 per cent.

During FY 2024-25, the RBI has estimated it at 4.8 per cent. Given the above, from the third quarter of FY 2023-24, the CPI inflation has remained well within the target range of 4 per cent (+/- 2 per cent). This position continues during the current FY. For FY 2025-26, the RBI expects it to be 4.2 per cent. Thus, there was a strong case for a significant reduction in the repo rate besides the injection of sufficient liquidity. This would have helped in stimulating demand thereby giving a boost to economic growth besides helping millions of borrowers reduce their EMIs and helping industries, especially MSMEs reduce the cost of servicing their loans. But, this was not to be.

The problem is RBI's obsession with inflation. Malhotra recognizes that inflation is on a downward trajectory. Yet, he doesn't want to relinquish his neutral stance citing global economic challenges "progress in global disinflation is stalling." Put simply, he fears imported inflation impacting CPI hence, a "neutral stance will provide MPC flexibility to respond to evolving macro-economic environment." A major factor contributing to wide variations in CPI inflation is food inflation which has a weight of around 40 per cent and is impacted predominantly by supply side/seasonal factors whereas monetary policy instruments work on the demand side. Invariably, food inflation maintains an upward trend even as a small disruption in supply caused by seasonal factors can lead to spiralling prices.

As long as food remains a part of the CPI basket, inflation targeting will always remain a problem. There is an urgent need to exclude it while setting benchmark interest rates, an idea that was mooted by the Chief Economic Advisor in the Economic Survey (ES) for 2023-24. The CEA argued that monetary policy has no bearing on the prices of food items, which are dictated by supply-side pressures.

For instance, during 2021-22, wheat output was affected by unusually high temperatures. During 2022-23, rains accompanied by hailstorms acted as a spoiler. During the first half of FY 2023-24, food inflation went up due to a spike in the prices of vegetables caused by seasonal factors. The spurt in food prices during October 2024 also had to do with supply-side pressures only. The RBI can achieve little to control them by keeping the policy rate high. The RBI should take the idea mooted in the ES - 2023-24 on board. Meanwhile, it should consider reducing the weight of food inflation in CPI to reflect the contemporary reality. The current 40 per cent weight is based on the Consumption Expenditure Survey (CES) of 2011-12 whereas Summary Statistics from the 2022-23 CES point towards a significant reduction.

While formulating its monetary policy, the RBI's prime responsibility is to ensure macro-economic stability its pivotal focus being on keeping inflation within reasonable bounds. However, it can't be oblivious of the dire need to support economic growth which could be adversely impacted if it doesn't relax the credit environment.

M23 rebellion and Rwanda's role: The escalating crisis in Eastern Democratic Republic of Congo

At the heart of this conflict lies a web of ethnic tensions, political grievances, and economic exploitation, particularly vast mineral wealth of DRC

The recent escalation of violence in the eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) is a stark reminder of the region's deep-rooted instability. The resurgence of the M23 rebellion, which led to the seizure of Goma and further advances into South Kivu, is not merely an internal Congolese crisis—it is a conflict with significant regional and international implications. Rwanda's involvement, whether direct or indirect, remains contentious, as accusations of its support for M23 persist. While Kigali denies these allegations, the sophistication of M23's operations raises serious questions about its backing. At the heart of this crisis lies a complex mix of ethnic tensions, political grievances, and economic exploitation, particularly concerning the DRC's vast mineral wealth. For years, Rwanda has been accused of providing M23 with financial and military support, a claim reinforced by multiple UN reports and statements from Western governments. Kigali, however, insists that it is acting in self-defence, citing the threat posed by the Democratic Forces for the Liberation of Rwanda (FDLR), a Hutu militia operating in eastern DRC with historical ties to the perpetrators of the 1994 Rwandan genocide. Yet, Rwanda's actions go beyond border security. The conflict's economic dimension cannot be ignored, with Rwanda being accused of profiting from the illicit exploitation of Congolese minerals, particularly coltan, a key component in electronic devices.

The capture of Rubaya, a coltan-rich area, by M23 last year suggests that economic interests play a crucial role in shaping the rebellion's trajectory. M23 claims to be fighting for the rights of ethnic Tutsis in eastern DRC, arguing that the Congolese government has failed to protect them from persecution. While there is historical evidence of ethnic violence against Tutsis in the region, M23's actions undermine its credibility. Rather than advocating for political rights through diplomatic means, the group has engaged in violence, forced displacement, and human rights violations. Its strategy of seizing key cities and resource-rich territories suggests an agenda extending far beyond self-defence.

The DRC, backed by the international community, has dismissed M23's claims, arguing that the group is acting as a proxy for Rwanda's regional ambitions. The latest attempt by regional leaders to broker peace, with the Southern African Development Community (SADC) and the East African Community where demonstrators burned portraits of President Paul Kagame, indicates a deepening rift between the two countries. With diplomatic ties severed and hostilities intensifying, the prospects for a negotiated settlement remain bleak. A purely military solution is unlikely to yield lasting peace. The Congolese army has historically struggled to contain well-equipped rebel groups, and the presence of the UN peacekeeping mission, MONUSCO, has done little to prevent the latest wave of violence. Foreign military intervention, whether from regional actors or international forces, risks escalating the situation rather than resolving it. The most viable path forward is a combination of military containment and political engagement. Strengthening the DRC's security forces to prevent further territorial losses is crucial, but diplomatic efforts must also address the root causes of the conflict, including ethnic grievances and economic exploitation. The global demand for coltan and other precious resources ensures that armed groups can sustain themselves through illegal mining operations. Without stronger international regulations and accountability measures, companies sourcing minerals from conflict zones will remain complicit in financing violence. Holding both state and non-state actors accountable for their role in resource exploitation is essential for breaking the cycle of conflict. The ongoing crisis in eastern DRC is not just about M23 or Rwanda's alleged involvement—it is part of a larger geopolitical struggle that has plagued the region for decades. Unless regional actors commit to genuine peace efforts and the international community enforces stricter measures against illegal mineral trade, the conflict will persist. The path to stability requires addressing both security concerns and economic incentives that drive armed groups. Without meaningful action, eastern DRC will remain trapped in a cycle of violence, with its people bearing the brunt of a war that serves the interests of powerful actors far beyond its borders.

(EAC) calling for an immediate ceasefire, reflects a growing recognition that the crisis cannot be resolved through military means alone. However, the reality on the ground tells a different story. M23 had briefly declared a ceasefire before resuming attacks, signalling that diplomatic efforts are struggling to keep up with battlefield developments. The DRC's call for UN sanctions against Rwanda, coupled with protests in Kinshasa

Conservatives win German poll

Far-right party surges to second place

PTI ■ BERLIN

Provisional results confirmed that mainstream conservatives led by Friedrich Merz won Germany's national election, while a far-right party surged to become the nation's second-largest.

The campaign was dominated by worries about the years-long stagnation of Europe's biggest economy and pressure to curb migration, something that caused friction after Merz pushed hard in recent weeks for a tougher approach.

It took place against a background of growing uncertainty over the future of Ukraine and Europe's alliance with the United States.

The results released by the electoral authority showed Merz's Christian Democrats and the centre-left Social Democrats winning a combined majority of seats in the national legislature after small parties failed to make the electoral threshold.

That gives Merz the best chance of becoming the country's next chancellor. He said on election night that he hopes to form a government by Easter at the latest.

He has ruled out a coalition with the far-right Alternative for Germany, or AfD, which is now the country's second-largest party after its best showing ever.

For the time being, outgoing Chancellor Olaf Scholz, whose Social Democratic party suffered a stinging defeat, will remain.

Mainstream parties hold majority as far-right surges Merz's conservatives won 208 seats in the 630-seat Bundestag, while the AfD won 152. The three parties in the former governing coalition lost seats, with the SDP falling to 120 seats and the Greens to 85.

The pro-business Free Democrats, which triggered early elections by pulling out of the coalition, failed to reach the 5 per cent of the vote required to win seats.

The AfD was jubilant on Sunday night, with leaders vowing to become the country's main party in the next election as its appeal expands. The anti-immigrant, far-right party has established itself as a significant political force in the 12 years since it was founded, but it hasn't yet been part of any state or national government. That's the result of what is often called a "firewall" against Alternative for Germany. Other parties say they won't work with the AfD, which is under observation by the domestic intelligence agency for suspected right-wing extremism, something that AfD objects to strongly. Its branches in three eastern states are designated "proven right-wing extremist" groups, which is particularly sensitive in view of Germany's Nazi past.

The election took place seven months earlier than originally planned after Scholz's unpopular coalition collapsed in November, three years into a term that was increasingly marred by infighting. There was widespread discontent and not much enthusiasm for any of the candidates.

Merz says he's ready to face challenges from US and Russia Merz said Sunday night that his top priority is to unify Europe in the face of challenges coming from the US and Russia. Both US Vice President JD Vance and Trump ally Elon Musk openly supported the AfD.

"I have no illusions at all about what is happening from America," he told supporters. "Take a look at the recent interventions in the German election campaign by Mr. Elon Musk." He added that "the interventions from Washington were no less dramatic and drastic and ultimately outrageous than the interventions we have seen from Moscow. So we are under such massive pressure from two sides that my absolute priority now is really to create unity in Europe".

Germany is the most populous country in the 27-nation European Union and a leading member of NATO. It has been Ukraine's second-biggest weapons supplier, after the US, and will be central to shaping the continent's response to the challenges of the coming years, including the Trump administration's confrontational foreign and trade policy.

The conservative leader said that "the most important thing is to reestablish a viable government in Germany as quickly as possible". "I am aware of the responsibility," Merz said. "I am also aware of the scale of the task that now lies ahead of us. I approach it with the utmost respect, and I know that it will not be easy."

"The world out there isn't waiting for us, and it isn't waiting for long-drawn-out coalition talks and negotiations," he told cheering supporters.

THIRD ANNIVERSARY OF WAR WITH RUSSIA

Foreign leaders visit Ukraine in show of solidarity

PTI ■ KYIV

A dozen leaders from Europe and Canada visited Ukraine's capital on Monday to mark the in a show of support for Kyiv by some of the nation at war's most important backers.

European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen and Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau were among the visitors greeted at the train station by Ukrainian Foreign Minister Andrii Sybiha and the president's chief of staff Andrii Yermak.

In a post on X, von der Leyen wrote that Europe was in Kyiv "because Ukraine is in Europe". "In this fight for survival, it is not only the destiny of Ukraine that is at stake. It's Europe's destiny," she wrote.

The guests, also including European Council President Antonio Costa as well as the prime ministers of Northern European countries and Spain, were set to attend events dedicated to the anniversary and discuss supporting Ukraine with President Volodymyr Zelenskyy amid a recent US policy shift under President Donald Trump.

In the latest sign of Europe's efforts to rework its strategy on Ukraine to respond to Trump's actions, Costa on Sunday announced that he would convene an emergency summit of the 27 EU leaders in Brussels on March 6, with Ukraine at the top of the agenda.

"We are living a defining moment for Ukraine and European security," Costa said in a post on social media.

The three-year mark of the war in Ukraine came at a sensitive moment for Kyiv as Zelenskyy navigates a rapidly changing international environment upended by Trump's changes to the US approach to the war.

The US leader has sought to follow through on his campaign promises to end the war quickly, though his methods for doing so have alarmed many in Ukraine and Europe who believe that his approach is too conciliatory toward Russia and its president, Vladimir Putin.

Russia's foreign ministry said Saturday that preparations for a face-to-face meeting between Trump and Putin were underway, and US officials have said that they had agreed with Moscow to reestablish diplomatic ties and restart economic cooperation.

And on Sunday, Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Sergei Ryabkov told the state TASS news agency that Moscow and Washington would continue bilateral talks at the end of next week, adding that "quite a lot" of contact was ongoing between the Russian and American sides.

Leaders across the EU, fearing both that Trump's approach to Ukraine would lead to an unfavorable settlement for Kyiv and that they — among Ukraine's most important supporters — would be sidelined in negotiation for peace, have rushed to assert their own response to the rapidly shifting environment.

The EU's top diplomat, Kaja Kallas, insisted on Monday that the US cannot seal any peace deal to end the war without Ukraine or Europe being involved. She highlighted what she claimed were pro-Russian positions being taken up by the Trump administration.

"You can discuss whatever you want with Putin. But if it comes to Europe or Ukraine, then Ukraine and Europe also have to agree to this deal," Kallas told reporters in Brussels, where she is chairing a meeting of EU foreign ministers.

Kallas travels to Washington on Tuesday for talks with US Secretary of State Marco Rubio. Asked whether the US administration is acting in the interests of Russia or Ukraine's Western backers, she said: "If you look at the messages that come from the United States, then it's clear that the Russian narrative is there very strongly represented."

Pope facing kidney problems

PTI ■ ROME

Pope Francis woke up and was continuing his therapies on Monday after a quiet night, on the 10th day of his hospitalisation for a complex lung infection that has provoked the early stages of kidney insufficiency, the Vatican said.

"The night passed well, the pope slept and is resting," it said. A medical bulletin was expected later Monday.

He is continuing to feed himself and is not receiving artificial or liquid nutrition, the Vatican said.

Late Sunday, doctors reported that blood tests showed "early, slight kidney insufficiency" that was nevertheless under control. They said Francis, 88, remained in critical condition but that he hadn't experienced any further respiratory crises since Saturday. He was receiving high flows of supplemental oxygen and, on Sunday, was alert, responsive and attended Mass. They said his prognosis was guarded.

Doctors have said Francis' condition is touch-and-go, given his age, fragility and pre-existing lung disease. They have warned that the main threat facing Francis is sepsis, a serious infection of the blood that can occur as a complication of pneumonia. To date there has been no reference to any onset of sepsis in the medical updates provided by the Vatican.

This hospitalisation now looks set to be Francis' longest as pope. He spent 10 days at Rome's Gemelli hospital in 2021 after he had 33 centimeters (13 inches) of his colon removed.

In New York on Sunday, Cardinal Timothy Dolan acknowledged what church leaders in Rome weren't saying publicly: that the Catholic faithful were united "at the bedside of a dying father".

"As our Holy Father Pope Francis is in very, very fragile health, and probably close to death," Dolan said in his homily from the pulpit of St. Patrick's Cathedral, though he later told reporters he hoped and prayed that Francis would "bounce back".

Francis' condition has revived speculation about what might happen if he becomes unconscious or otherwise incapacitated, and whether he might resign.

Human rights suffocated by autocrats and warmongers, says Guterres

PTI ■ GENEVA

UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres says human rights are being "suffocated" around the world, lashing out at voices of division and anger who see them as a barrier to their quest for power and profit.

In a speech to the Human Rights Council, Guterres decried Russia's full-scale war in Ukraine that marked its third anniversary Monday, appealed for a permanent cease-fire between Palestinian militants and Israel, and urged respect for Congo's territorial integrity, among other things.

While reiterating many of his concerns about conflict and climate change, the UN chief said he would propose new ideas to the Security Council aimed to bring greater stability and security for the people of Haiti, where a multinational security support mission has been deployed.

Guterres depicted a world where human rights were "on the ropes and being pummeled hard" by warmongers, a "morally bankrupt global financial system" that favors profits over planet protections, those who might exploit artificial intelligence to harm people, and leaders who seek to demonize migrants or restrict women's rights.

Human rights, he said, "are being suffocated by autocrats, crushing opposition because they fear what the truly empowered people would do," and "by voices of division and anger who view human rights not as a boon to humanity, but as a barrier to the power, profit and control they seek."

Three weeks ago, US President Donald Trump announced a US pullout from the council, though the Biden administration had already decided the United States would not seek a seat on the 47-member-country body when its latest three-year term expired at the end of last year.

China holds live-fire exercises in Gulf of Tonkin as Vietnam marks territorial claims

PTI ■ BANGKOK

Chinese authorities said they began live-fire exercises in the Gulf of Tonkin on Monday, only days after Vietnam announced a new line marking what it considers its territory in the body of water between the two countries.

China's Maritime Safety Administration said the exercises would be focused on the Beibu Gulf area, closer to the Chinese side of the Gulf of Tonkin, and would run through Thursday evening.

It gave no further details, but the drills follow an announcement last week by Vietnam establishing a baseline used to calculate the width of its territorial waters in the Gulf of Tonkin.

State-run Vietnam News reported that the baseline was in compliance with the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and would provide "a robust legal basis for safeguarding and exercising Vietnam's sovereignty, sovereign rights and jurisdiction". Vietnam has not publicly responded to the Chinese drills.

China and Vietnam have long had a maritime agreement governing the Gulf of Tonkin, but have been locked in competing claims in the nearby South China Sea over the Spratly and Paracel Islands and maritime areas.

China has been growing aggressive in pursuing those claims, and in October assaulted 10 Vietnamese fishermen near the Paracel Islands, three of whom suffered broken limbs. China claims almost the entire South China Sea as its own, though it has not publicly released exact coordinates of its claim other than a map with 10 dashed lines broadly demarcating what it calls its territory.

In addition to Vietnam, China's claims overlap with those of the Philippines, Malaysia, Brunei and Taiwan, while Indonesia has also figured in violent confrontations with the Chinese coast guard and fishing fleets in the waters around the Natuna Islands.

Tensions have been particularly high with the Philippines, with regular confrontations between the two countries.

Most recently, a Chinese navy helicopter flew within 10 feet (3 metres) of a Philippine patrol plane last week over the South China Sea, near the hotly disputed Scarborough Shoal off the northwestern Philippines.

Leaders in Australia and New Zealand also said China should have given more warning before its navy conducted an unusual series of live-fire exercises in the seas between the two countries, forcing flights on Friday and Saturday to divert on short notice.

Political leaders from both countries emphasized that China didn't breach international law, but said they had only been given "a couple hours notice" rather than the usual 12 to 24 hours.

Greenpeace says pipeline company's lawsuit threatens organisation's future

PTI ■ MANDAN (US)

A Texas pipeline company's lawsuit accusing Greenpeace of defamation, disruptions and attacks during protests against the Dakota Access Pipeline goes to trial in North Dakota on Monday, in a case the environmental advocacy organisation says threatens free speech rights and its very future.

The lawsuit stems from the protests in 2016 and 2017 over the oil pipeline's planned Missouri River crossing, upstream from the Standing Rock Sioux Tribe's reservation. The tribe has long argued that the pipeline threatens its water supply. Of the thousands of people who protested the project, hundreds were arrested.

Energy Transfer and its subsidiary Dakota Access allege trespass, nuisance, defamation and other offenses by Netherlands-based Greenpeace International and its American branch, Greenpeace USA. The lawsuit also names the group's funding arm, Greenpeace Fund Inc.

The jury trial in state court in Mandan, North Dakota, is scheduled to last five weeks.

What are details of the case? Dallas-based Energy Transfer alleges Greenpeace tried to delay construction of the pipeline, defamed the companies behind it, and coordinated trespassing, vandalism and violence by pipeline protesters. The lawsuit seeks millions of dollars in damages.

The Dakota Access Pipeline

was completed and has been transporting oil since June 2017. Greenpeace International said it shouldn't be named in the lawsuit because it is distinct from the two US-based Greenpeace entities, operates outside the US, and its employees were never in North Dakota or involved with the protests.

Greenpeace USA said the plaintiffs have failed to back up their claims in the years since the protests. Earlier in February, a judge denied motions by Greenpeace to throw out or limit parts of the case.

What is Greenpeace's position? Representatives of the environmental organisation founded over 50 years ago said the company just wants to silence oil industry critics.

"This trial is a critical test of the future of the First Amendment, both freedom of speech and peaceful protest, under the Trump administration and beyond." Greenpeace USA Interim Executive Director Sushma Raman told reporters.

"A bad ruling in this case could put our rights and freedoms in jeopardy for all of us, whether we are journalists, protesters or anyone who wants to engage in public debate." Greenpeace USA helped support "nonviolent, direct-action training" on safety and de-escalation at the protests, Senior Legal Adviser Deepa Padmanabha said.

Energy Transfer is arguing that "anyone engaged in a training at a protest should be held responsible for the actions of every person at that protest," Padmanabha said.

Federal workers confront mass confusion as Musk's deadline to list accomplishments looms

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

Confusion and chaos loom as hundreds of thousands of federal employees begin their workweek on Monday facing a deadline from President Donald Trump's cost-cutting chief, Elon Musk, to explain their recent accomplishments or risk losing their jobs.

Musk's unusual demand has faced resistance from several key US agencies led by the president's loyalists — including the FBI, State Department, Homeland Security and the Pentagon — which instructed their employees over the weekend not to comply. Lawmakers in both parties said that Musk's mandate may be illegal, while unions are threatening to sue.

Trump over the weekend called for Musk to be more aggressive in his cost-cutting crusade through the so-called Department of Government Efficiency, or DOGE, and posted a meme on social media mocking federal employees who "cried about Trump and Elon".

Musk's team sent an email to hundreds of thousands of federal employees on Saturday giving them roughly 48 hours to report five specific things they had accomplished last week. In a separate message on X, Musk said any employee who failed to respond by the deadline — set in the email as 11:59 p.m. EST Monday — would lose their job.

Mass confusion followed on the eve of the deadline as some agencies resisted the order, others encouraged their workers to comply, and still others offered conflicting guidance. One message on Sunday morning from the Department of Health and Human Services, led by Robert F. Kennedy Jr., instructed its roughly 80,000 employees to comply. That was shortly after the acting general counsel, Sean Keveney, had instructed some not to. And by Sunday evening, agency leadership issued new instructions that employees should "pause activities" related to the request until noon on Monday.

"I'll be candid with you. Having put in over 70 hours of work last week advancing Administration's priorities, I was personally insulted to receive the below email," Keveney said in an email viewed by The Associated Press that acknowledged a broad sense of "uncertainty and stress" within the agency.

Keveney laid out security concerns and pointed out some of the work done by the agency's employees may be protected by attorney-client privilege: "I have received no assurances that there are appropriate protections in place to safeguard responses to this email."

Democrats and even some Republicans, including Sen. John Curtis, R-Utah, were critical of Musk's ultimatum.

"If I could say one thing to Elon Musk, it's like, please put a dose of compassion in this," Curtis, whose state has 33,000 federal employees, said on CBS' "Face the Nation." "These are real people. These are mortgages. ... It's a false narrative to say we have to cut and you have to be cruel to do it as well."

Newly confirmed FBI Director Kash Patel, an outspoken Trump ally, instructed employees to ignore Musk's request, at least for now.

"The FBI, through the Office of the Director, is in charge of all of our review processes, and will conduct reviews in accordance with FBI procedures," Patel wrote in an email confirmed by the AP. "When and if further information is required, we will coordinate the responses. For now, please pause any responses."

Ed Martin, interim US attorney for the District of Columbia, sent his staff a message Sunday that may have caused more confusion.

"Let me clarify: We will comply with this OPM request whether by replying or deciding not to reply," Martin wrote in the email obtained by the AP, referring to the Office of Personnel Management.

"Please make a good faith effort to reply and list your activities (or not, as you prefer), and I will, as I mentioned, have your back regarding any confusion," Martin continued. "We can do this." Officials at the Departments of State, Defense and Homeland Security were more consistent.

Tibor Nagy, acting undersecretary of state for management, told employees in an email that department leadership would respond on behalf of workers.

"No employee is obligated to report their activities outside of their Department chain of command," Nagy wrote in an email. Pentagon leadership instructed employees to "pause" any response to Musk's team, according to an email from Jules Hurst, the deputy undersecretary of defense for personnel and readiness.

The Homeland Security Department, meanwhile, told employees that "no reporting action from you is needed at this time" and that agency managers would respond, according to an email from RD Alles, deputy undersecretary for management.

Thousands of government employees have already been forced out of the federal workforce — either by being fired or through a "deferred resignation" offer — during the first month of Trump's second term.

There is no official figure available for the total firings or layoffs so far, but the AP has tallied hundreds of thousands of workers who are being affected. Many work outside of Washington.

Musk on Sunday called his latest request "a very basic pulse check." "The reason this matters is that a significant number of people who are supposed to be working for the government are doing so little work that they are not checking their email at all!" Musk wrote on X. "In some cases, we believe non-existent people or the identities of dead people are being used to collect paychecks. In other words, there is outright fraud."

He has provided no evidence of such fraud. Separately, Musk and Trump have falsely claimed in recent days that tens of millions of dead people over 100 years old are receiving Social Security payments.

Meanwhile, thousands of other employees are preparing to leave the federal workforce this coming week, including probationary civilian workers at the Pentagon and all but a fraction of US Agency for International Development staffers through cuts or leave.

Trump's abrupt change of US policy on Ukraine raises questions about Taiwan support

PTI ■ BNAKGOK
US President Donald Trump's abrupt reversal of three years of American policy toward Ukraine has raised concerns China might become emboldened to push its territorial claim on Taiwan, though experts say Beijing is most likely in a wait-and-see mode right now to see how the situation in Europe plays out. In the past two weeks, Trump has falsely claimed Ukraine "should have never started the war," said Ukraine "may be Russian someday" and questioned the legitimacy of President Volodymyr Zelenskyy's government, while upending the longstanding American position of isolating Russia over its aggression by beginning direct talks with Moscow and voicing positions sounding remarkably like the Kremlin's own. Before heading to Washington for talks with Trump on Monday, French President Emmanuel Macron said he would emphasize "you can't be weak in the face of President Putin." "It's not you, it's not your trademark, it's not in your interest," Macron said he would tell Trump. "How can you, then, be credible in the face of China if you're weak in the face of Putin?" What does Ukraine have to do with Taiwan? Like Moscow's claim Ukraine is rightfully Russian territory, China claims the self-governing island of Taiwan as its own. Chinese President Xi Jinping has not ruled out taking it by force. Trump on Friday appeared to walk back his earlier comments inaccurately blaming Ukraine for starting the war, but his administration's overall abrupt shift in policy on the conflict could cause some in Taiwan to question "whether the United States could pull the rug out from underneath them as well," said Russell Hsiao, executive director of the Global Taiwan Institute in Washington. Still, while Beijing is certainly paying close attention to Trump's comments, it is unlikely to act in haste, he said. "I don't think Xi Jinping will be so brash as to roll the iron die on the conclusion that just because Trump acted in a certain way concerning Ukraine he would do the same over Taiwan," Hsiao said. "Trump is too unpredictable." Trump administration has shifting positions on Taiwan:

Trump was quite popular in Taiwan when he left office in 2021 and was widely credited with bringing the US and the democratically governed island closer together. By American law, the US is obligated to supply Taiwan with sufficient hardware and technology to fend off invasion from the mainland, but maintains a policy of "strategic ambiguity" on whether it would come to Taiwan's defense. Recently, Trump has been more critical of Taiwan, saying it should pay the US for its military defence. On several occasions, he also has accused Taiwan of taking computer chip manufacturing business away from the US and suggested earlier this month he might impose tariffs on semiconductors. At the same time, Trump has appointed many China hawks in his administration, including in top-level positions such as Secretary of State Marco Rubio and Defense Secretary Pete Hegseth. After meeting NATO allies in Brussels earlier this month, Hegseth stressed that if the US were to pull back support from Ukraine, it would be to concentrate on the Asia-Pacific region and leave European defense primarily to Europeans. "The deterrent effect in the Pacific is one that really can only be led by the United States," Hegseth said. A few days later, Rubio issued a joint statement with his counterparts from Japan and South Korea after they met on the sidelines of a security conference in Munich, stressing the "importance of maintaining peace and stability across the Taiwan Strait as an indispensable element of security and prosperity for the international community." In a move that irked Beijing, the State Department also removed a line on American opposition to independence for Taiwan in a revised U.S. government fact sheet on the island. Comments seem likely to give Beijing pause: "If I were Beijing, I would be paying the most attention to what Hegseth said about why the U.S. is changing its support to Ukraine," said Meia Nouwens, senior fellow for Chinese security and defense policy at the International Institute for Strategic Studies in London. "Hegseth said this is about the Indo-Pacific, that the US has priorities elsewhere, and I don't think, from Beijing's perspective, that would have been comforting," Nouwens said. The shift on Ukraine will give China the opportunity to push a message that the US is an unreliable partner, she said, but it was unlikely Beijing would read Washington's seeming willingness to concede Ukrainian territory as it being somehow open to Taiwan falling into Chinese hands. "The broader trend lines of each country, of the US and China, looking forward aren't necessarily changing," Nouwens said. "Neither wants to give up any space, both want to continue on a trajectory that increases their national strength." It is worth noting that in the early months of Trump's first term, there were concerns his administration might be moving too close to China, but he actually took a much tougher approach than some before him, said Euan Graham, a senior defense analyst with the Australian Strategic Policy Institute. Graham said that while all American allies "should be concerned by the Trump administration's abandonment of Ukraine and willingness to deal with Putin," it would be "simplistic" to assume a similar arrangement would apply to the China-Taiwan situation. "It's more likely that the US administration is attempting, misguidedly, to get Ukraine out of the way by making it a European problem, in order to face China from a relatively stronger position," Graham said. "I think it's a dangerous approach, because of the appalling precedent it sets. But it's unlikely to be repeated with China."

PTI ■ WASHINGTON
President Donald Trump welcomed French President Emmanuel Macron to the White House for talks on Monday at a moment of deep uncertainty about the future of transatlantic relations, with Trump transforming American foreign policy and effectively tuning out European leadership as he looks to quickly end Russia's war in Ukraine. The two leaders were starting their day by taking part in a virtual meeting with fellow leaders of the Group of Seven economies to discuss the war. Trump also has made demands for territory — Greenland, Canada, Gaza and the Panama Canal — as well as precious rare earth minerals from Ukraine. Just over a month into his second term, the "America First" president has cast an enormous shadow over what veteran US diplomats and former government officials had regarded as America's calming presence of global stability and continuity. Despite some notable hiccups, the military, economic and moral power of the United States has dominated the post-World War II era, most notably after the Cold War came to an end with the collapse of the Soviet Union. All of that, some fear, may be lost if Trump gets his way and the US abandons the principles under which the United Nations and numerous other international bodies were founded.

Chinese aggression brings Japan, Philippines closer

PTI ■ MANILA
Japan and the Philippines agreed on Monday to further deepen their defense collaboration and talk about protecting shared military information in the face of mutual alarm over China's increasing aggressive actions in the region. Japanese Defence Minister Gen Nakatani and his Philippine counterpart, Gilberto Teodoro, forged the agreements in a meeting in Manila where their concern over China's actions in the disputed South China Sea and East China Sea was high in the agenda. Japan and the Philippines are treaty allies of the United States, and the three have been among the most vocal critics of China's assertive actions in the region, including in the contested waters. At the opening of his meeting with Nakatani, Teodoro said the Philippines was looking forward to boosting defense relations with Japan "against unilateral attempts by China and other countries to change the international order and the narrative." Nakatani said after the meeting that he agreed with Teodoro "to strengthen operational cooperation," including joint and multinational defense trainings, port calls and information-sharing. "We also agreed to commence discussion between defence authorities on military information protection mechanism," Nakatani said. The Philippines signed an agreement with the United States, its longtime treaty ally, last year to better secure the exchange of highly confidential military intelligence and technology in key weapons to allow the sale of such weaponry by the US to the Philippines. Then-Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin and Teodoro signed the legally binding General Security of Military Information Agreement in Manila at a time when the US and the Philippines were boosting their defense and military engagements, including large-scale joint combat drills, largely in response to China's increasingly aggressive actions in Asia. Nakatani said that he and Teodoro "firmly concurred that the security environment surrounding us is becoming increasingly severe and that it is necessary for the two countries as strategic partners to further enhance defence cooperation and collaboration in order to maintain peace and stability in Indo-Pacific." Japan has had a longstanding territorial dispute with China over islands in the East China Sea. Chinese and Philippine coast guard and navy ships, meanwhile, have been involved in a series of increasingly hostile confrontations in the South China Sea in the last two years. Also high in the agenda of Nakatani and Teodoro, a copy of which was seen by The Associated Press, was the "expansion of bilateral cooperation, especially in the context of the Reciprocal Access Agreement". Last year, Japan and the Philippines signed the agreement allowing the deployment of Japanese and Philippine forces for joint military and combat drills in each other's territory. The Philippine Senate has ratified the agreement, and its expected ratification by Japan's legislature would allow the agreement to take effect. The agreement with the Philippines, which includes live-fire drills, is the first to be forged by Japan in Asia. Japan signed similar accords with Australia in 2022 and with Britain in 2023. Japan has taken steps to boost its security and defensive firepower, including a counter-strike capability that breaks from the country's postwar principle of focusing only on self-defence.

Blast outside Russian Consulate in Marseille

PTI ■ PARIS
An incendiary device exploded outside the Russian Consulate in Marseille early Monday, authorities said, on the third anniversary of Russia's invasion of Ukraine. No injuries were reported. A second device that was thrown but did not explode, and a bomb disposal expert was called to the scene. The suspect fled and an investigation has been launched, an official said on condition of anonymity because they were not authorized to be publicly named by national police policy. Authorities did not provide details on the suspect or a motive. Marseille, France's second-largest city and a major Mediterranean port, is home to a diverse population but does not have a notably large Russian community.

Police raid PTI leaders' homes, offices, arrest dozens in Pakistan

PTI ■ LAHORE
Pakistan raided offices and residences of Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) leaders and arrested a dozen activists as the party announced the resumption of political activities, it said on Monday. The Punjab police rounded up over a dozen PTI activists for making arrangements for holding workers conventions in Rawalpindi and other districts of the province, senior PTI leader from Punjab Shaukat Basra said. "The sanctity of the homes of PTI lawmakers has been violated by those who stormed and vandalised them. The fascist regime functionaries justify their action by saying they are doing so on the army's order," Basra said. Basra said over a dozen PTI activists, including Murrez District General Secretary Safdar Zaman Satti, were arrested. "This is a blatant example of political victimisation and injustice. Our only crime is our love for Imran Khan. We strongly condemn the illegal arrest and ransacking of the houses and offices of party activists and leaders," he said. Basra and PTI's Punjab Chief Organiser Ahiya Hamza shared several videos on social media in which police high-handedness is visible. Hamza said the Punjab government was only busy running a massive advertising campaign to propagate its fake and fudged figures of growth in the economy. She said the military-backed "mandate thieves" have unleashed a reign of terror on the masses. "This fascist regime has stooped too low by picking up a young college girl through male policemen in Punjab for sharing a post against Chief Minister Maryam Nawaz on social media," she said. PTI spokesperson Sheikh Waqas Akram said: "The puppet regime has systematically trampled the rule of law, eradicated constitutional supremacy, paralysed the judiciary, ruined the economy, and unleashed a reign of terror to ensure its authoritarian grip on power." PTI supreme and former prime minister Imran Khan has been in jail since August 2023. He has announced a countrywide protest movement after Eid in April.

To help revive Syria's economy, EU eases sanctions

PTI ■ BRUSSELS
The European Union on Monday began easing energy and transport sanctions and banking restrictions against Syria, aiming to help breathe life into the conflict-torn country's economy if its new leaders work toward a peaceful future. The EU started to impose asset freezes and travel bans on Syrian officials, banks, agencies and other organisations in 2011, in response to then-President Bashar Assad's crackdown on protesters, which festered into a civil war. But after Assad was toppled in a lightning rebel offensive in December, Hayat Tahrir al-

Sham (HTS), the main rebel group now in control of Syria, set up an interim administration, saying that a new government would be formed through an inclusive process by March.

India, UK resume talks for trade pact

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

India and the UK on Monday announced the resumption of negotiations for the proposed free trade agreement (FTA), which is expected to double or even triple bilateral trade from the current $20 Billion in the next 10 years.

The announcement was made by Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal and UK Secretary of State for Business and Trade Jonathan Reynolds here.

"Today, the Republic of India and the United Kingdom (UK) have resumed negotiations towards a trade deal between our two countries," a joint statement issued after the meeting said.

Both sides have agreed to resume talks towards a balanced, mutually beneficial and a forward-looking deal that delivers mutual growth and builds on the strengths of the two complementary economies.

The strengthening of the trading relationship has the potential to unlock opportunities for business and consumers across both nations and build further on the already deep ties, it said.

Briefing media, Goyal said the pact will be "pathbreaking" and would provide huge opportunities to grow "our current $20 Billion bilateral trade in merchandise to probably twice or thrice in the next 10 years".

On the deadline to conclude the negotiations, he said its never "too early" or "too late" to conclude a good agreement as these pacts are for a long-term future.

"One has to crystal gaze may be 20-30-50 years into the future and make a robust agreement which is a win-win situation for both sides and therefore neither should we rush into things, but it's always to conclude fast. So we will have speed but not haste," he added.

Reynolds said it is the top priority of the UK and such agreements are about the long-term future.

Asked whether the negotiations for the bilateral investment treaty (BIT) would be concluded along with the FTA, Goyal said the two countries are actively negotiating at three different fronts - FTA, BIT, and a Double Contribution Convention Agreement.

"And all three are in parallel and conjoint with each other," he said.

Goyal also said that immigration has never been a part of trade negotiations anywhere in the world and India has "never ever" discussed immigration in any FTA negotiations.

On this, Reynolds said that the UK welcomes "the huge and important relationship we have with people coming from India to UK whether to study, whether to be part of the businesses and obviously business mobility is a separate issue to immigration".

Goyal added that in several countries, including the US, UK, Canada, New Zealand and Australia, Indian students travel for education.

In almost all these countries, to incentivise education, business and attract more people, countries "do give a certain period of time for students to gain practical experience to work in their country but that is short-term business work visas. It has nothing to do with immigration as such," he added.

The India-UK FTA negotiations were launched on January 13, 2022.

The agreement is aimed at boosting bilateral trade and investments.

In such pacts, two countries either eliminate or significantly reduce customs duties on maximum goods traded between them. They also ease norms for promoting trade in services and bilateral investments.

The bilateral trade between India and the UK increased to $21.34 Billion in 2023-24 from $20.36 Billion in 2022-23.

The United Kingdom is the sixth largest investor in India. The country has received $35.3 Billion FDI during April 2000 and September 2024.

India Inc expected to achieve seven-eight per cent growth in Q4: ICRA

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Domestic rating agency Investment Information and Credit Rating Agency (ICRA) on Monday said Indian companies are likely to clock seven-eight per cent revenue growth during the March quarter of the current fiscal year, led by revival in rural demand and uptick in government spending.

ICRA expects the private capital expenditure (capex) cycle to remain measured in view of the uncertainties around geopolitical developments and relatively subdued outlook on merchandise exports from India.

Nonetheless, certain sunrise sectors such as electronics, semiconductors and niche segments within the automotive space like electric vehicles (EVs) will continue to see a scale-up in investments, in line with various production-linked incentive programmes announced by the Government of India, it said. In a statement, ICRA said the recovery in the operating profit margins (OPM) for India Inc witnessed over the past quarter is likely to be sustained at 18.2-18.4 per cent, supported by an increase in demand, led by improved consumer sentiments.

"Rural demand is expected to be upbeat in H1 CY2025 (January-March), aided by the robust output for most kharif crops and the favourable outlook for the ongoing Rabi season.

Beyond that, a normal and well distributed monsoon in 2025 is crucial to support the agricultural outcomes," said Kinjal Shah, senior vice president and co-group head, Corporate Ratings, ICRA.

Urban demand, which has been sluggish over the last few quarters, is expected to improve, aided by the sizeable income-tax relief in the Union Budget 2025, the monetary easing by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), and the expectations of a moderation in food inflation, which would augment discretionary consumption, Shah added.

ICRA said the evolution of the global economic and political scenario, movement in foreign exchange rates, impact of the new US President's policies, pick up in government spending and a revival in the domestic urban demand would remain the key monitorables over the near-term.

ICRA's analysis of the Q3 FY2025 (October-December) performance of 602 listed companies (excluding financial sector entities) shows a 6.8 per cent year-on-year revenue growth, supported by improved demand across consumption-oriented sectors like consumer durables, FMCG, retail, hotels and airlines, while a few commodity-oriented sectors like iron and steel witnessed some decline, following lower realisations owing to weak global demand and influx of cheaper imports from China.

Delhi discoms achieve A+ rating in consumer service 2023-24

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

In a major achievement for Delhi's power sector, the city's discoms, including BSES Rajdhani Power Limited (BRPL) and BSES Yamuna Power Limited (BYPL), have been awarded the highest A+ rating in the fourth edition of the Consumer Service Ratings of Discoms for the year 2023-24.

Released by REC Limited under the Ministry of Power, this evaluation ranked 66 power distribution companies across India, covering over 33 Crore consumers. The rankings were based on four broad parameters: operational reliability (45 marks), connection and other services (10 marks), metering, billing and collection (35 marks), and fault rectification and grievance redressal (10 marks). These were further divided into 23 sub-parameters, ensuring a comprehensive evaluation of service delivery.

Of the 66 discoms assessed, 56 were state-owned, while 10 were private. However, only six managed to achieve the coveted A+ rating, with BRPL and BYPL standing out for their exceptional service quality.

Over the last four years, five discoms, including BRPL, BYPL, and Tata Power Delhi Distribution Limited (TPDDL), have consistently maintained top grades (A+/A), highlighting their commitment to operational efficiency and consumer satisfaction.

Delhi discoms performed exceptionally across several critical aspects. They ensured 24-hour power supply, a significant achievement in a sector plagued by frequent outages in many parts of the country. BRPL recorded an impressive distribution failure rate of only 0.1 per cent, while BYPL stood at 0.6 per cent - a stark contrast to the national average of 6.4 per cent.

The report also recognised Delhi discoms for their efficiency in processing consumer applications, achieving a 100 per cent processing rate through their online portals compared to the national average of 87 per cent.

Billing accuracy was another area of excellence, with 99 per cent of bills generated through actual meter readings, surpassing the national average of 91 per cent. In the adoption of advanced metering technologies, BYPL led the way with 100 per cent bills generated via non-manual meter readings, while BRPL and TPDDL followed closely at 99 per cent, significantly higher than the 37 per cent national average.

Consumer engagement was another stronghold for Delhi discoms, with 99 per cent of BRPL and BYPL consumers receiving billing alerts compared to the national average of 82 per cent. The digital transformation of payment systems also placed them ahead of the curve, with 89 per cent of BRPL and BYPL consumers opting for digital payments, far exceeding the national average of 41 per cent.

The Consumer Service Ratings of Discoms, released by Union Power Minister Manohar Lal Khattar during the Review, Planning, and Monitoring (RPM) last week, aims to benchmark service delivery, promote healthy competition, and encourage continuous improvements among discoms.

With this recognition, Delhi's discoms reaffirm their commitment to excellence, setting a benchmark for the power distribution sector nationwide.

Indian tech sector revenues to grow 5.1 per cent in FY25

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Indian tech sector's revenues are set to grow 5.1 per cent to $282.6 Billion in fiscal year 2025, and likely to climb up further to $300 Billion in fiscal year 2026, lobby grouping Nasscom said on Monday. The revenue growth is on the "right trajectory", the body's president Rajesh Nambiar told reporters here, pointing out to revenue growth of four per cent in fiscal year 2024, 5.1 per cent in fiscal year 2025 and the over 6.1 per cent needed to cross its expectation of crossing $300 Billion in fiscal year 2026.

"It has been a good outcome broadly given everything happening around us," Nambiar said pointing to aspects like geopolitics, and tariffs which are dominating the worries at present.

Nasscom said the sector, which includes IT services companies, business process management companies, global capability centres and e-commerce companies, added 1.26 Lakh new jobs in fiscal year 2025 to take the overall employment to 58 Lakh.

Nambiar hinted that the industry will continue to add employees in the same pace that it did last year.

The Indian IT sector's fiscal year 2025 growth is likely to be faster than the 4.7 per cent growth in global tech services spending in the calendar year 2024, Nasscom said, adding that India's share in global sourcing stood at 58 per cent as of fiscal year 2025.

Among the segments, the IT services companies' revenues will grow 4.3 per cent to $137.1 Billion while the BPM industry will see its revenues grow by 4.7 per cent to $54.6 Billion.

The engineering research and development space is the fastest growing at seven per cent at $55.6 Billion, Nasscom said.

The domestic revenues for the sector which has been traditionally focused on exports will grow seven per cent to $58.2 Billion, outpacing exports' 4.6 per cent growth at $224.4 Billion, Nasscom said.

The body said the export revenues between Indian and global multinationals are evenly split at present, and denied that the heft of the foreign 'companies has increased courtesy of the global capability centres (GCC) play. It pegged the total number of GCCs at 1,760 and added that such units employ 19 Lakh people at present.

Retail inflation eases slightly for farm workers

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Retail inflation for farm and rural workers eased slightly to 4.61 per cent and 4.73 per cent, respectively, in January from 5.01 per cent and 5.05 per cent in December 2024, showed the government data released on Monday.

The All-India Consumer Price Index for Agricultural Labourers (CPI-AL) and Rural Labourers (CPI-RL) decreased by four points and three points, respectively, for the month of January 2025, reaching 1,316 and 1,328 points, the labour ministry said in a statement.

According to the statement, the CPI-AL and CPI-RL stood at 1,320 points and 1,331 points, respectively in December 2024. The food index for CPI-AL decreased from 1,262 points in December to 1,255 points in January this year.

Gold rises ₹350 to reclaim ₹89,000 mark

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Gold prices rose ₹350 to trade near a record high at ₹89,100 per 10 grams in the national capital on Monday amid firm global trends, according to the All India Sarafa Association. The precious metal of 99.9 per cent purity had closed at ₹88,750 per 10 grams on Friday.

Gold of 99.5 per cent purity increased ₹350 to ₹88,700 per 10 grams from the previous close of ₹88,350 per 10 grams.

"Gold traded with a modest gain on Monday as geopolitical and trade tensions continued to provide a safe haven demand to hedge against uncertainty," Saumil Gandhi, senior analyst of commodities at HDFC Securities, said.

Last week, gold of 99.9 per cent and 99.5 per cent purity hit fresh peaks of ₹89,450 and ₹89,050 per 10 grams, respectively. However, silver traded flat at ₹1 Lakh per kg.

Ranjan Dimri

Further, Gandhi highlighted that the US dollar has provided an additional boost for the precious metal. The dollar index fell for the third week in a row and is trading lower amid mixed United States macro data. Meanwhile, in futures trade on the MCX, gold contracts for April delivery appreciated ₹118 to ₹86,128 per 10 grams.

"Gold traded within a range, posting minor gains, supported by Comex gold holding above $2,925. Rupee weakness provided additional support to MCX gold," Jateen Trivedi, V.P research analyst - commodity and currency, LKP Securities, said.

Comex gold futures for April delivery quoted higher at $2,954.71 per ounce in the overseas markets.

Globally, spot gold also rose $5.50 to $2,941.55 per ounce. "Gold prices continue to hover near all-time highs as the dollar weakens amid escalating geopolitical and economic uncertainty," Abans Holdings' chief executive officer Chintan Mehta said.

The precious metal's rally is expected to persist as safe-haven demand remains strong, with central banks worldwide continuing to accumulate gold to hedge against economic volatility and policy uncertainty, Mehta added.

On the other hand, silver futures in the Asian market hours quoted 0.43 per cent lower at $33.20 per ounce.

According to Kotak Securities, traders are closely monitoring the upcoming Personal Consumption Expenditures (PCE) data release to further understand the US Federal Reserve's policy trajectory, as it directly impacts bullion's investment appeal.

Sensex tumbles over 850 points on weak global cues

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Falling for the fifth straight session on Monday, equity benchmark BSE Sensex plunged over 850 points to drop below the crucial 75,000 level, tracking a weak global market trend and unabated foreign fund outflows amid escalating trade tensions.

Besides, deep losses in IT, telecom and metal stocks added to the gloom, analysts said. The 30-share BSE benchmark tanked 856.65 points or 1.14 per cent to settle at 74,454.41. During the day, it plummeted 923.62 points or 1.22 per cent to 74,387.44.

The NSE Nifty dropped 242.55 points or 1.06 per cent to 22,553.35. As many as 2,810 stocks declined, while 1,207 advanced and 183 remained unchanged on the BSE.

"The market is more concerned about the US' likely move to reciprocate higher tariff levies on exporting nations, which could impact developing countries, including India. Also, FII's showing no signs of putting brakes on their India exit strategy continue to weigh heavily on markets, with expensive valuations driving investors to curb their equity bets here.

"Heavy selling in banking, IT, telecom and other old economy sectors saw benchmark Sensex end below the crucial level of 75k mark," Prashanth Tapse, Senior VP (Research), Mehta Equities Ltd, said.

In the last five trading sessions, the BSE barometer lost 1,542.45 points or two per cent, and the Nifty tanked 406.15 points or 1.76 per cent. From the Sensex pack, HCL Tech, Zomato, Tata Consultancy Services, Infosys, Tech Mahindra, Bharti Airtel, Tata Steel and NTPC were among the biggest laggards.

In contrast, Mahindra and Mahindra, Kotak Mahindra Bank, Maruti, Nestle and ITC were among the gainers. Among BSE sectoral indices, BSE Focused IT dropped 2.65 per cent, IT (2.60 per cent), teck (2.56 per cent), telecommunication (2.26 per cent), metal (2.16 per cent), commodities (1.53 per cent) and utilities (1.42 per cent). On the other hand, Auto and FMCG were the gainers.

The BSE smallcap gauge declined 1.31 per cent, and the midcap index dipped 0.78 per cent.

Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) offloaded equities worth ₹3,449.15 Crore on Friday, according to exchange data.

Foreign investors have pulled out over ₹23,710 Crore from equity markets so far this month, pushing total outflows past ₹1 Lakh Crore in 2025 amid rising global trade tensions.

"The D-Street indices experienced a sharp drop to an eight-month low as market sentiment remained subdued. The decline was primarily driven by significant losses in heavyweight stocks, especially within the IT sector. This weakness followed reports of declining consumer confidence in the US, casting a shadow over the country's growth outlook.

"The broader market felt the impact, pulling down both small and midcap indices," Ameya Ranadive, Chartered Market Technician, CFTe, Sr Technical Analyst, StoxBox, said.

In Asian markets, Seoul, Shanghai and Hong Kong settled lower. Equity markets were closed in Tokyo for a holiday.

European markets were trading mostly in positive territory. US markets ended significantly lower on Friday.

"Global headwinds continue to weigh on the domestic market, with persistent volatility causing uncertainty among retail investors, who generally have a lower risk appetite. Weak US consumer sentiment and tariff concerns may further pressure export-oriented sectors such as IT," Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Financial Services, said. Global oil benchmark Brent crude rose 0.04 per cent to USD 74.46 a barrel.

On Friday, the BSE benchmark dropped 424.90 points or 0.56 per cent to settle at 75,311.06. The Nifty declined 117.25 points or 0.51 per cent to 22,795.90.

NTPC, Reliance, Adani commit ₹4 Lakh Crore investment in MP

PTI ■ BHOPAL

Billionaire Gautam Adani's group, Reliance Industries and state-owned power producer NTPC were among over a dozen companies that on Monday committed to invest about ₹4 Lakh Crore across businesses in Madhya Pradesh, amid a high-voltage showcase by the state of its vast opportunities and investment potential.

While Adani promised ₹1.10 Lakh Crore in pumped storage, cement, mining, smart meters, and thermal energy, Reliance committed ₹60,000 Crore to set up bio-fuel projects in the state.

Speaking at the eighth edition of the Madhya Pradesh investment summit, Adani promised another ₹1 Lakh Crore in a greenfield smart city, an airport project, and a coal-gasification project for which the ports-to-power conglomerate is in talks with the state government. "Today, I am proud to announce new investments of over ₹1,10,000 Crore in the areas of pumped storage, cement, mining, smart-meters and thermal energy. These multi-sectoral investments will create more than 1,20,000 jobs in Madhya Pradesh by 2030," he said.

Adani said the plans are not just about investments, but they are milestones in a shared journey - one that would make the state a national leader in industrial and economic growth.

The inaugural MP Global Investors Summit began with big-ticket announcements - with the state going all out to woo global investors and large business houses to invest in the MP's limitless potential. NTPC-NGEL (NTPC Green Energy Ltd) and MPPGCL (Madhya Pradesh Power Generation Company Ltd) signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) for 20 GW worth of renewable power generation in the state, with an intent to invest ₹1,20,000 Crore in the energy sector. NTPC Chairman and Managing Director Gurdeep Singh said his firm and its subsidiaries and joint venture partners will invest ₹1.2 Lakh Crore in setting up 20 gigawatts of renewable power generation capacity in Madhya Pradesh. NTPC will also look at investing another ₹80,000 Crore in two sites of greenfield nuclear power plants in the state.

Renewable energy player Avaada plans to invest ₹50,000 Crore in setting up solar, wind, and pump hydro storage and battery storage projects and solar photovoltaic module manufacturing facility, its MD Vineet Mittal said.

"We will invest ₹50,000 Crore over a period of next three to five years in solar, wind, pumped storage, as well as battery," Mittal said. Ahmedabad-based Torrent Power committed ₹26,500 Crore investment in renewable energy projects.

Power Finance Corporation (PFC) and Rural Electrification Corporation (REC) committed ₹26,800 Crore and ₹21,000 Crore of lending support, respectively, to projects coming up in the state.

The Indo-European Chamber of Small and Medium Enterprises, the Germany India Innovation Centre, and the Indo-German Chamber of Commerce also signed MoUs with Madhya Pradesh Industrial Development Corporation (MPIDC).

OPG Power Generation Pvt Ltd pledged ₹13,400 Crore investment in setting up a manufacturing facility for battery storage systems, small modular reactors, green hydrogen and hybrid (solar and wind) power generation. The final numbers will change after the state government releases a full list of investment commitments at the end of the two-day summit on Tuesday. Chief Minister Mohan Yadav, while addressing audiences during the MoU signing ceremony said, the State has hit new milestones on the inaugural day of the Global Investors Summit.

He said that nations across the world have reposed confidence and faith in India's pace of progress and leadership in multiple sectors.

Liverpool marching towards Premier League title

PTI ■ MANCHESTER
Can anyone stop Liverpool's march toward the Premier League title? Not Manchester City, that's for sure. With a 2-0 win at the home of the four-time defending champion on Sunday, Liverpool produced a statement performance to move 11 points clear of Arsenal at the top of the standings. "Special" was how Mohamed Salah described the latest victory that left the away fans chanting "We're gonna win the league" after the final whistle. City manager Pep Guardiola, meanwhile, accepted the title was now Liverpool's to lose. First-half goals from Salah and Dominik Szoboszlai put Arne Slot's team on course for a win that leaves it in command of the title race after 27 games. Liverpool is now 20 points above fourth-placed City after completing a league double over Guardiola's once all-conquering team. While Slot tried to dampen title talk with months still remaining of the campaign, Liverpool's advantage is undeniable. "What we do know is that no one saw us as a title contender when we started in the beginning of the season. And I think no one in the world of football would have expected City not to be so close to the one that leads the league," the Dutch coach said. This was City's eighth defeat in the league this season and 14th overall. The most games City had lost under Guardiola in any of his previous eight seasons was 12 in the 2019-20 campaign, which was the last time it failed to win the title. Then, as now, it was Liverpool that led the way, and the Merseyside club looks likely to win a record-equaling 20th league title this year. City, meanwhile, faces a fight to secure a top-four finish and a return to next season's Champions League. It is above fifth-placed Newcastle on goal difference and just two points ahead of Aston Villa in eighth. TITLE CHARGE Arsenal's surprise 1-0 loss to West Ham on Saturday had given Liverpool the opportunity to strengthen its grip on the title race. And the visitors quickly took control at the Etihad through Salah's deflected effort from a well-worked corner routine in the 14th minute. It was his 30th goal of an outstanding campaign. He turned provider in the 37th to set up Szoboszlai, whose low shot wrong-footed City goalkeeper Ederson and rolled into the bottom corner. City, without the injured Erling

Haaland, rarely looked like getting back into the match, with Omar Marmoush's disallowed goal for offside the closest the home team came to scoring. "Now you're gonna believe us," chanted Liverpool's fans. "The fans can sing whatever they want. I think they sing it quite long (time) already, but we know as a team how hard we have to work for every single win," Slot said. CITY SLUMP Another humbling defeat in an ever-worsening season for City. On Wednesday a 3-1 loss to Real

Madrid sent Guardiola's team crashing out of the Champions League. Back to domestic matters on Sunday and City was powerless to slow down Liverpool's title charge. The FA Cup is now the only realistic trophy available to City this season, while Champions League qualification is the priority for a team that has dominated English soccer under Guardiola. "If it doesn't happen it's because we were not good enough, not because a lack of hunger and desire," Guardiola said. "It is so tight with four or five teams and Nottingham, Newcastle, Aston Villa are so good. It will not be easy but we will try." City went into this season having won an unprecedented four English league titles in a row. Under Guardiola it has won six of the last seven. In total, he has won 15 major trophies at the club, including the Champions League as part of a treble in 2023. SEVEN-GOAL THRILLER Newcastle scored four goals in 11 minutes against Nottingham Forest, but still had to withstand a late fightback to seal a 4-3 win. A first-half goal spree — including two more for Alexander Isak — gave Newcastle a 4-1 lead at the break at St James' Park. But Forest, which had led after six minutes, mounted a comeback that provided a nervous finish. The win moved Newcastle up to fifth and boosted its hopes of a top-four finish and Champions League qualification. Third-placed Forest led through Callum Hudson-Odoi's opener in the sixth. But Newcastle powered back with Lewis Miley's goal in the 23rd sparking a remarkable spree. Jacob Murphy put the home team ahead two minutes later and Isak struck from the penalty spot in the 33rd. A minute later Isak scored his second to take his total for the season to 21. The Sweden striker is level with Erling Haaland on 19 league goals and only Mohamed Salah, with 24, has scored more this season. Forest's fightback began in the 63rd through Nikola Milenkovic and in the 90th, Ryan Yates pulled the score back to 4-3. The defeat was Forest's third in its last four games in the league and saw it miss out on the chance to move to within three points of second-placed Arsenal.

PTI ■ BERLIN
Bayern Munich substitute Serge Gnabry grabbed a late goal to cap a 4-0 win over third-placed Eintracht Frankfurt that consolidated the Bavarian powerhouse's Bundesliga lead. Gnabry fired the ball through Frankfurt goalkeeper Kevin Trapp's legs in the second minute of stoppage time, almost 10 minutes after Jamal Musiala ran past a host of defenders and got a fortunate bounce of the ball before firing it past Trapp for Bayern's third goal. Without top scorer Harry Kane, who only played the final half hour or so, Bayern stayed eight points clear of defending champion Bayer Leverkusen with 11 rounds remaining. The only blemish from Bayern's point of view was an injury to Joshua Kimmich in the first half. The Bayern midfielder had to go off after clutching the back of his left thigh. Bayern coach Vincent Kompany opted against starting Kane, who sustained a facial injury in the draw against Leverkusen last weekend. Altogether he made six changes to the team that drew with Celtic 1-1 in the Champions League playoffs on Tuesday, with Bayern veteran Thomas Müller leading the attack. "We heard a few things about ourselves last week," Bayern board member for sport Max Eberl said of the team's two draws. "We stayed calm. We focused on what we wanted to achieve, namely beating the third-placed team in the German league at home. And that's what we did." Frankfurt forward Hugo Ekitike had the best chance early on after a mistake from Hiroki Ito, before Musiala had Bayern's first opportunity cleared off the line. There were more to come. Bayern dominated proceedings and duly took the lead through Michael

Bengaluru FC seek win against Chennaiyin FC

PTI ■ BENGALURU
A play-offs spot at stake, Bengaluru FC will bank on their impressive home record when they host their southern neighbours Chennaiyin FC in an Indian Super League (ISL) match here on Tuesday. Mohun Bagan Super Giant have already clinched the ISL Shield on Sunday with three rounds of matches remaining, thereby earning a berth in the AFC Champions League 2, but the trophy is still up for grabs. The top two teams at the end of the league will automatically qualify for the semifinals while the four teams from third to sixth will play a single-leg round to fill up the remaining two spots. Both Bengaluru FC and Chennaiyin FC are in two-game-long winning runs currently, with the Blues placed fourth in the table, having 34 points from 21 games on the back of 10 wins and four draws. Chennaiyin FC are eighth with 24 points, eight behind the sixth-placed Mumbai City FC (32), and they will want to keep their qualification hopes afloat with a positive outcome here. The Blues have a formidable hold over this fixture at home, winning each of their last four games against the Marina Machans and keeping a clean sheet in three of them. However, Chennaiyin FC are stitching a positive string of results, winning their last two matches 3-0 and 2-1 against East Bengal and Punjab FC respectively. The two sides have played 16 matches against each other, with Bengaluru FC winning nine games and Chennaiyin FC emerging victorious four times. Three matches have produced draws. Bengaluru head coach Gerard Zaragoza said that his team needs to produce a positive result and get the three points to confirm their place in the top-6. "We deserve the six points that we won in the last two matches. Now, we have to achieve our objective, which is to arrive in the playoffs," he said. Chennaiyin head coach Owen Coyle laid down straightforward objectives for his team ahead of the match against Bengaluru FC.

Real Madrid 2-0 win against Girona in Spanish league

PTI ■ MADRID
Luka Modric scored a beautiful long-range goal in Real Madrid's 2-0 home win against Girona that moved the defending champion level on points in the Spanish league with leader Barcelona. The veteran midfielder chested the ball down in the 41st minute before firing a right-footed shot into the top corner. "To score a goal like that, you have to keep shooting," Modric said. "I was by myself, controlled the ball, I struck it well and thank God it went in. It was a nice goal and it's always special to score at home in front of the fans at the Bernabeu." Modric received a huge ovation from the crowd at the Santiago Bernabeu Stadium. "I'm very grateful and proud of the affection that Madrid fans show me every day," he said. "Today they've done it again and I can only say 'thank you.'" Vinicius Junior scored Madrid's second goal after an assist from Kylian Mbappé in the 83rd to leave Madrid with the same 54 points as Barcelona, which won 2-0 at Las Palmas on Saturday. Barcelona leads on the head-to-head tiebreaker against Madrid. Atletico Madrid is one point behind the two rivals. Diego Simeone's team won 3-0 at Valencia on Saturday.

Modric made his ninth start in 25 league matches for Madrid in a season in which the 39-year-old has played few minutes off the bench. The former world player of the year scored his fourth goal this season with his neat strike to put Madrid ahead at the Bernabeu. "Modric is a gift for soccer," Madrid coach Carlo Ancelotti said. "We've had the luck of having a legend with us." Vinicius scored his first league goal since November from inside the area after a nice through ball by Mbappé, who on Wednesday scored a hat trick to lead Madrid to a 3-1 win over Manchester City at the Bernabeu in the Champions League playoffs. REGULARS RESTED, ALABA STARTS Ancelotti rested a few regular starters following the City match at the Bernabeu, including central defender Antonio Rudiger and Federico Valverde, the midfielder who for the first time this season didn't play any minutes. Defender David Alaba made his first start in more than a year following a knee injury, while Lucas Vázquez was back in the lineup after missing a few games to nurse a left hamstring issue. Modric had also started in the league draw at Osasuna last weekend as Ancelotti rotated his squad for the Champions League playoff games against City. Brahim Diaz was another who got to start on Sunday. Midfielder Jude Bellingham served the first of a two-game suspension for cursing at a referee in the match against Osasuna. Girona, sitting in 12th place, has lost seven of its last eight games in all competitions, including three in a row in the Spanish league. SEVEN-GOAL ROUT FOR ATHLETIC Forward Nico Williams scored a goal in each half as Athletic Bilbao trounced last-place Valladolid 7-1 at home. Mikel Jauregizar, Maroan Sannadi, Oihan Sancet, Gorka Guruzeta and Iñaki Williams, Nico's brother, also scored for Athletic. Valladolid, which has lost six in a row, played with 10 men from the 66th after a red card for Stanko Juric. The visitors had what would have been the 1-1 equalizer in the first half disallowed for offside. Before each match, a banner with the words "respect the referee" and "respect soccer" was displayed as players from both teams posed for photos. The campaign comes after several complaints from clubs against refereeing decisions and some threats by fans against the officials. OTHER RESULTS Japan forward Takefusa Kubo scored a second-half goal as eighth-placed Real Sociedad comfortably beat Leganes 3-0 at home.

PTI ■ DUBAI
Virat Kohli provides unmatched stability to the Indian team, according to former Sports Minister Anurag Thakur and BCCI Vice President Rajeev Shukla, who felt the superstar batter displayed exceptional composure under pressure during his century against Pakistan. Kohli's majestic unbeaten century was the backbone of India's six-wicket victory over Pakistan in the Champions Trophy. "Virat Kohli has shown how to handle the pressure and how to play for the country. Through his outstanding innings, Virat has won many hearts and the match for the country," former BCCI

President Thakur said. "If you look at Virat's innings, he never went outright for the century. For him, the priority was India's win. He was rotating the strike, not going for his own runs only. "He wanted to play till the last and win the match for India. That is a big thing about Kohli. For big players like him individual innings is not very important, it's country's victory that matters," he added. After India's bowlers restricted Pakistan to an underwhelming 241, Kohli stitched match-winning partnerships with Shreyas Iyer and Shubman Gill to chase down the target with 45 balls to spare. "Kohli's century was simply fabulous. The way he scored his century. The way he provided stability to Indian team, nobody can do it," Shukla said. "Shreyas and Gill also played very well. The Indian team is back to full form. All boundaries. "The entire country was waiting for Virat to score a century. The way he played today, it was a fantastic innings to watch," IPL Chairman Arun Dhimal said. "I am pretty sure that IPL has played a major role in India's good show at the ICC tournaments. Look at the bench strength. Not just for Indian cricket, IPL has changed the cricket world over. "That's the change of attitude that has happened over the years. That has made cricket very interesting and that is why you have new audience hooking on to cricket. It augurs well for the game," he added.

the players were fully fit and they were ready to take on Pakistan. And they did it in style. The team looks well oiled for the finals," he added. Kohli's century, his 51st in ODIs, was laced with seven

Paris Saint-Germain continues to dominate in France league

PTI ■ PARIS
Paris Saint-Germain has no serious rival in France this season and will soon find out if its crushing domestic dominance can translate into the team thriving on European soccer's biggest stage. Still unbeaten in the French league after 23 matches, PSG extended its massive lead at the top of the standings to 13 points on Sunday with a 3-2 win at sixth-placed Lyon. The match came to life after the interval and featured inspired attacking moves from both sides. PSG was the better side and led 2-0 with seven minutes left to play. The only downside for Luis Enrique's team was its players' inability to keep their lead intact when Lyon really upped the tempo. Inspired by the in-form Ousmane Dembélé — who scored his 17th league goal at Lyon — PSG has made tremendous progress in recent weeks. Achraf Hakimi scored PSG's other goals. There appears little doubt that PSG will win a record-extending 13th league title this season. But a far tougher test looms in March against Premier League leader Liverpool when the two teams face off in a mouthwatering last-16 Champions League tie. The first leg is in Paris on March 5. It's the next big hurdle on the road that separates PSG from their ultimate goal of winning the Champions League, a task that has proved too difficult so far despite the millions injected by Qatari investors since 2011. The only French club to win the Champions League, second-placed Marseille, made headlines for the wrong reason this weekend. It lost 3-0 at Auxerre, and its president accused French league referees of corruption. In Lyon, Hakimi put PSG ahead in the 53rd minute from Bradley Barcola's cross and Dembélé doubled the lead six minutes later with a superb strike in the opposite corner. Ryan Cherki ensured some suspense when he pulled one back at the end of a fine team move with seven minutes left to play. Hakimi completed his brace soon after to restore PSG's two-goal lead after Gonçalo Ramos delivered a scintillating backheel pass in the buildup, only for Corentin Tolisso to revive the suspense in stoppage time with a header. But that was too little, too late. NANTES BOUNCES BACK

Struggling Nantes moved five points clear off the relegation playoff spot with a 3-1 win against Lens. A week after getting hammered 7-1 at Monaco, Nantes bounced back to secure only its fifth win in 23 league games this season. The hosts put on a spirited display against a visiting side that lacked an attacking spark and was reduced to 10 men for the last 20 minutes. French teenager Louis Leroux celebrated his first minutes later but Lens never looked capable of scrambling a comeback, especially after Mbala Nzola was sent off. Meschack Elia Lina secured a Nantes victory in stoppage time from former Arsenal midfielder Francis Coquelin's assist. Lens slumped to a third straight loss and remained in eighth place. LONG WAIT According to the league's statistics, Coquelin played his first Ligue 1 game since May 29, 2011, meaning he waited for 13 years and 270 days. The much-traveled Coquelin joined Nantes last month as a free agent. It's the second longest gap between two matches for a player in the French topflight since 1947-48 after Samuel Lobé — 14 years, 79 days between January 1986 and April 2000.

Australia vs South Africa: Two batting firepower clash

PTI ■ RAWALPINDI

Australia and South Africa, two teams possessing plenty of batting firepower, will look to outmuscle each other here on Tuesday and put one foot in the semifinals of the Champions Trophy (CT).

Not many were giving a depleted Australia a chance in the tournament but their record-breaking chase against England in Lahore has once again shown their penchant for rising to the occasion in ICC events.

The dew played its part the other night in Lahore and could once again aid the chasing team in Rawalpindi.

Australia are bound to miss the pace trio of Pat Cummins, Mitchell Starc and Josh Hazlewood in the tournament but at least in the opener, the audacious batting display compensated for their absence.

Josh Inglis' confidence must be sky high after playing the innings of his life with runs also coming from the bat of Matthew Short, Marnus Labuschagne, Alex Carey and Glenn Maxwell.

That leaves out only skipper Steve Smith and opener Travis Head in the batting department and they could score a big one against the Proteas. A better bowling effort would be expected from left-arm pacer Spencer Johnson and Maxwell too was on the expensive side against England. The sixth bowler's role is likely to be shared by Labuschagne and Short.

Like Inglis, Ryan Rickleton in the South African dressing room would be beaming with confidence after an attacking hundred against Afghanistan. Number three, four, five striking half-centuries augurs well for the Temba Bavuma-led side. Heinrich Klaasen missed out on the last game due to injury and his participation in Tuesday's game is not certain.

South Africa's pace attack is certainly stronger than their opponents with Kagiso Rabada leading the charge.

With first choice players not available, South Africa did not have the best of build ups for Champions Trophy but are backing themselves to go all the way.

"I think as a group we might not have had the best results coming into this tournament, but quietly I think everyone's quite confident. We do have incredibly good players in this team, not just in the team but obviously the whole squad as well," said Rickleton.

"There's guys that are maybe a bit young in the side as well that are also looking to make an impact. But I don't think we're too burdened by the hunt to win the whole thing. Obviously, we're here to do that. But we don't let that restrict us. We have to play our best game, have fun, enjoy each other's company," he added.

Squad:
Australia: Matthew Short, Travis Head, Steven Smith (captain), Marnus Labuschagne, Josh Inglis (wk), Alex Carey, Glenn Maxwell, Ben Dwarshuis, Nathan Ellis, Adam Zampa, Spencer Johnson, Jake Fraser-McGurk, Aaron Hardie, Sean Abbott, Tanveer Sangha.
South Africa: Ryan Rickleton (wicketkeeper), Tony de Zorzi, Temba Bavuma (captain), Rassie van der Dussen, Aiden Markram, David Miller, Wiaan Mulder, Marco Jansen, Keshav Maharaj, Kagiso Rabada, Lungi Ngidi, Heinrich Klaasen, Tabraiz Shamsi, Tristan Stubbs, Corbin Bosch.

Delhi Capitals, Gujarat Giants eye improved batting effort

PTI ■ BENGALURU

Struggling with batting frailties, Gujarat Giants and Delhi Capitals will look to return to winning ways when they clash in the Women's Premier League here on Tuesday.

Both teams head into this fixture on the back of defeats. Gujarat Giants, who finished last in the previous two seasons, remain at the bottom of the points table with just one win in three games.

Meanwhile, Delhi Capitals have slipped to third after a 33-run loss to UP Warriorz, their third defeat in five matches. Despite being one of the most consistent teams since the league's inception, Delhi Capitals have endured a patchy run this season.

They are yet to live up to their pre-tournament favourites tag, struggling to put together commanding performances.

Their batting lineup, in particular, has failed to fire consistently. Openers Shafali Verma and Meg Lanning have shown glimpses of form but haven't capitalised.

Lanning, in particular, has struggled, with just one strong performance so far, suggesting that international retirement might have impacted her game. While Shafali, Jemimah Rodrigues, and Annabel Sutherland have provided occasional fireworks, none have converted their starts into substantial innings.

"We have played extremely well in patches but haven't been as good at other times. We just have to put everything together moving forward," Lanning said after the loss to Warriorz.

Gujarat Giants, on the other hand, have been heavily reliant on Australian all-rounder Ashleigh Gardner, who has been their standout performer. Gardner is the third-highest run-scorer in the tournament, amassing 141 runs in three innings.

However, in the match against Mumbai Indians, her failure exposed the team's lack of batting depth, as Gujarat crumbled for just 120.

The pressure is mounting on the Indian batters, particularly number three D Hemalatha, to step up. South African batter Laura Wolvaardt is also due for a big innings. With the ball, Gardner has led from the front, receiving good support from leg-spinner Priya Mishra. However, Gujarat will need an all-round effort if they hope to turn their season around.

Squads:
Gujarat Giants: Ashleigh Gardner (c), Bharti Fulmali, Laura Wolvaardt, Phoebe Litchfield, Simran Shaikh, Danielle Gibson, Dayalan Hemalatha, Deandra Dottin, Harleen Deol, Sayali Satghare, Tanuja Kanwar, Beth Mooney (wk), Kashvee Gautam, Mannat Kashyap, Meghna Singh, Prakashika Naik, Priya Mishra, Shabnam Shakil.
Delhi Capitals: Meg Lanning (c), Jemimah Rodrigues, Shafali Verma, Sneha Deepthi, Alice Caspey, Annabel Sutherland, Arundhati Reddy, Jess Jonassen, Marizanne Kapp, Minnu Mani, N Charani, Niki Prasad, Radha Yadav, Shikha Pandey, Nandini Kashyap (wk), Taniya Bhatia (wk), Sarah Bryce (wk), Titas Sadhu.

Playing cover drive is 'catch-22': Kohli

PTI ■ DUBAI

Indian batting maestro Virat Kohli admitted that his trademark cover drive puts him in a "catch-22" situation as it has been a weakness lately but playing the shot gives him control over the innings.

Kohli crafted a memorable unbeaten century against Pakistan, steering India to a six-wicket win. His 111-ball masterclass featured the cover drive prominently, a shot that has in recent time led to his downfall but remains a signature weapon in his arsenal.

"It's a 'catch-22'. I mean, it's (cover drive) kind of been my weakness as well over the years, but I've scored a lot of runs on that shot," Kohli said in a video posted by BCCI.

"I think today was just about backing my shots and I think the first couple of boundaries I got were cover drives on the rise, so I really had to just let it go a little bit and take a bit of risk and follow through with my shots.

"Because when I hit that kind of shots, then I feel in control when I bat out there. So, it was a good innings for me personally and it was a great team win," he added.

An India-Pakistan game is always a blockbuster, but Kohli felt Sunday's clash was even more electrifying, with Dubai's stands packed with passionate fans from both nations.

"The occasion is a bit more lively when you play against Pakistan, especially in this region because you have an equal number of fans from both countries, yeah, it was a great day for us as a team and for me personally as well."

Delighted to contribute to India's victory once again, Kohli, who became the fastest batter to complete 14,000 ODI runs, said his role at number three has remained unchanged over the years

- minimising risk, stabilising the innings, and, when possible, finishing the chase.

"One thing that I've always thought of batting at three is to minimise risk and make sure that I put my team in a winning position and if you have a chance to finish off the game in a chase, obviously, that's much better and I always preferred that kind of a situation. My role over the years has remained the same, whatever the demand of the game, I put my head down and try to do that," he added.

Our Champions Trophy campaign as good as over, says Rizwan

PTI ■ DUBAI

Pakistan captain Mohammad Rizwan has conceded that his team's Champions Trophy (CT) campaign is as good as over following the loss to India here.

The six-wicket defeat to India was Pakistan's second in as many games. From Group A, India and New Zealand are expected to reach the semifinals. Pakistan's last league game is against Bangladesh on February 27.

"We can say that our campaign is as good as over. We have to depend on results of other matches. There is hope as there is one more game left. As a captain, I don't like this scenario (depending on other teams). We should have our fate in our hands," said Rizwan at the post-match press conference.

He gave due credit to India and especially Virat Kohli, who completed his 51st ODI hundred and his fourth against the arch-rivals.

"I am amazed at the hardwork he puts in. The whole world was saying he was out of form but coming into such a big game, he scored runs effortlessly. His fitness and work ethic is indeed praiseworthy. We tried our best to get him out but we could not. As far as the match is concerned, we are obviously disappointed. We made mistakes in all three

Kuldeep feels good rhythm after comeback from injury

PTI ■ DUBAI

Indian spinner Kuldeep Yadav feels he has found his rhythm following a comeback from injury and expects to get better with every game he plays in the ongoing Champions Trophy (CT).

Kuldeep struck thrice in the death overs against Pakistan on Sunday and was also on a hat-trick.

The 30-year-old had undergone a surgery for a sports hernia last year, keeping him away from the game for more than three months.

"Injuries take six months to recover. I played two matches against England. I had a good rhythm. I had a good rhythm even against Bangladesh.

"But obviously, you always look for wickets (he went wicketless against Bangladesh). But today, when I bowled my first over, I felt that I am in a better rhythm. I am in a comfortable position.

"Even now, I feel that I can bowl better. I have played 3-4 matches. I will get better as I play more." Kuldeep told newsmen in the Mixed Zone after six-wicket win over the arch-rivals.

Kuldeep's three victims included Salman Agha, Shaheen Afridi and Naseem Shah.

games, you tend to mix your pace."

He also relishes the challenge of bowling in the death overs.

"I was able to become the first choice in bowling the last 10 overs. Even the captain felt that it's very difficult to hit spinners when you have variations. Luckily, it was good for me. The wicket was slow. I was trying to mix with the pace and wrong ones or topspin.

"If you get one or two wickets in the middle, the batsmen tend to block you. That's what they did in the last 10 overs. Playing Pakistan, there is a lot of pressure from the fans.

"To be very honest, in terms of accuracy, I feel that if I play more games, I will be much better. Obviously, when you play a lot of

Love to take on bowlers when we are under pressure: Shreyas Iyer

PTI ■ DUBAI

Giving a peek into his mindset when faced with high-pressure situations, India batter Shreyas Iyer has said that he likes to be aggressive to "steady the ship", something that he demonstrated quite well in the Champions Trophy (CT) win over arch-foes Pakistan after making a sedate start.

Iyer's 56 off 67 was the perfect supporting act to Virat Kohli's unbeaten 100 as India chased a 242-run target with more than seven overs to spare on Sunday night. The win has pushed Pakistan to the brink of elimination and taken India within touching distance of a semifinal berth.

"I love to take on the bowlers when we are under pressure. And that is my mindset. If we take charge, if we gain the momentum towards us, then it is easy to steady the ship,"

Iyer said in the post-match press conference.

"And from there on, the rest of the batsmen, when they come in, it becomes easy for them."

He expected India to take way less than the 42.3 overs that the side consumed for the six-wicket victory.

"I think we could have won a bit earlier, could have been a convincing win based on how competitive team and involved warding off a lot of external pressures."

"I haven't played that many matches in Pakistan, so I don't know exactly how it would have felt. But it's a neutral venue and it's a challenge for both the teams. But any victory against Pakistan is sweet because they are always competitive," Iyer told reporters.

"It's a challenge and there's a lot of pressure externally as well. It was a lot of fun. It was my third game in Pakistan," he added but did not elaborate what exactly he meant by external pressure.

Iyer, who formed a vital 114-run alliance with Kohli for the third wicket, lauded his senior colleague for making a fluent hundred. It was Kohli's 51st ODI hundred, and he also completed 14,000 runs in the format during the course of the knock.

"I have never thought of Virat struggling for runs. He is always hungry for runs. I remember yesterday, he had come almost an hour before us for the practice session and he played a few balls and he was looking from outside," the 30-year-old said.

"He looked as crisp as he looks all the time. So, I never feel that he is struggling for his runs," he added.

No injury to Shami, Rohit

The Mumbaikar also allayed injury concerns over skipper Rohit Sharma and veteran pacer Mohammed Shami. Both had to stay away from the field during the initial phase of the Pakistan's innings.

"I had a brief chat with them and both of them were quite comfortable with the way things progressed and yeah from my knowledge, I don't think there is any issue," he said.
