TGBCL invites applications from new liquor suppliers

The Telangana Beverages Corporation Limited (TGBCL) has invited applications from new liquor brands as the TG government has approved the new liquor policy. The TGBCL decided to invite applications from new suppliers who have not been registered so far. With this decision, foreign and local liquor companies and beer manufacturers got a chance to enter the state. The TGBCL said in its notification that companies which do not face any legal charges in any state can submit applications. However, the companies have to submit a self-certification on quality and standards while declaring that they are not facing any legal charges in any state. The TGBCL welcomes complaints from the public while uploading applications submitted by the liquor companies. The TGBCL will take a decision on whether to give permission to the new companies or not based on the complaints received by it. The Telangana Excise Department and the TGBCL allowed new liquor brands in 2024. However, it withdrew its decision following criticism. Now they are giving permission through a special policy. PNS ■ NAGARKURNOOL

Irrigation & Civil Supplies Minister Capt. N. Uttam Kumar Reddy said that the government is making all-out efforts to rescue the eight workers trapped inside the collapsed Srisailem Left Bank Canal (SLBC) tunnel in Nagarkurnool district. He said the state government, Army, Navy, National Disaster Response Force (NDRF), State Disaster Response Force (SDRF), and other agencies are working together to ensure a swift and safe rescue. Dewatering operations have begun, and oxygen is being continuously pumped into the tunnel to sustain the trapped workers. PNS ■ NAGARKURNOOL

Despite relentless efforts by the Indian Army, NDRF, and other agencies, no breakthrough was achieved on Sunday in the rescue operations to extricate eight persons who have remained trapped for over 30 hours inside a tunnel after a section of it collapsed in the SLBC project, with prayers on for their well-being. Videos released by the state government showed rescuers navigating through thick muck, tangled iron rods, and cement blocks. The final 200 meters stretch of the collapsed section of the tunnel has been filled with water and silt, the Minister said, indicating the difficulty that the rescue teams are faced with to reach the spot. The teams that managed to wade up to the 13th kilometer, where the tunnel had collapsed, called out the names of the trapped individuals, but there was no response, sources said. The trapped persons have been identified as Manoj Kumar and Sri Niwas from Uttar Pradesh, Sunny Singh (J&K), Gurpreet Singh (Punjab) and Sandeep Sahu, Jegta Xess, Santosh Sahu and Anuj Sahu, all from Jharkhand. Of the eight, two are engineers, two are operators and four labourers.

Nagarkurnool District Collector B Santhosh, who is supervising the rescue operation, said four NDRF teams—one from Hyderabad and three from Vijayawada, comprising 138 members, 24 personnel of the army, personnel of SDRF. Continued on Page 2

Later, addressing the media, Jupally said that dewatering and de-silting are going on inside the tunnel. "We are making all-out efforts to rescue the workers. Revanth will join BJP at the right time: KTR

Asks why is BJP shielding Revanth govt

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

BRS Working President KT Rama Rao that all BJP leaders including Union Ministers from Telangana are protecting Revanth Reddy as he recently promised to join the BJP at the right time and has entered into a secret agreement regarding that. KTR issued a media statement on Sunday regarding this and said that the BJP-led Centre is shielding Congress Chief Minister Revanth Reddy. While fighting politically in Delhi, the Centre is protecting Congress Chief Minister Revanth Reddy, he said. "The Congress government in Telangana and Congress Chief Minister Revanth Reddy have been involved in many scams, but the Centre has not responded not even once so far. The Centre which once responded to the Kaleshwaram Project scam due to warnings and deployed Central agencies is not responding now to the retaining wall collapse at the Sunkishala Project and the accident in the SLBC tunnel," he said. He said the people of Telangana are observing whether the NDSA and other Central agencies will at least investigate the accidents that have occurred, find out reasons for that and explain them to the people, as they have done in the past, or will they try to protect the Congress CM here as usual. While Rahul Gandhi is fighting the BJP across the country, surprisingly here in Telangana, it has been made clear many times that the Congress and the BJP are working together, KTR said. He said that Revanth had entrusted the Rs 1,337 crore Urban Development and Municipal Administration Department Fund received from the Centre to his brother-in-law and had personally submitted details of the scam in the Amrut scheme to the Centre, but despite providing evidence the Centre has not responded so far.

Kohli's ton powers India to six-wicket win over Pak

PNS ■ DUBAI

Virat Kohli showcased his penchant to lord over Pakistan in ICC tournaments once more as the batting icon's glittering unbeaten 100 helped India claim an authoritative six-wicket win over their traditional rivals and all but seal a semi-final spot in the Champions Trophy here on Sunday. The victory should be enough for India, who are now on top of Group A with four points, to make the last four. However, Pakistan are staring at early elimination from the eight-team event after their second successive loss. Chasing a tricky 242, India rode on Kohli's 51st ODI ton, Shreyas Iyer's classy 67-ball 56 and Shubman Gill's brilliant start of 46 off 52 balls to overhaul the target with more than seven overs to spare. The Union Minister of State for Home Affairs, Bandi Sanjay Kumar, said that Chief Minister Revanth Reddy has lost his guts and spirit. On the day of your child's wedding, didn't you say that the KCR government illegally arrested you and put you in jail? Didn't you declare that you would take revenge? Now, you are the Chief Minister. You claimed that there is evidence of KCR's family's involvement in the

KTR'S SUPPORT FOR BUREAUCRATS EXPOSES HYPOCRISY

KTR's recent tweet defending civil servants has raised some serious questions, especially considering the hypocrisy it highlights. KTR stated that CM has destroyed the image of the bureaucratic system. However, this sudden defence of bureaucrats by KTR comes off as more than a bit ironic. His entire social media machinery was branding Sircilla Collector Sandeep Kumar Jha as "psycho". A month ago, Ex CM KCR's PRO was actively defending KTR by writing articles shifting blame onto bureaucrats regarding the Formula E race issues. KCR's own camp made sure the officers took the heat to shield his son. Bureaucrats themselves have pointed out the hypocrisy. A senior bureaucrat said that when KTR's father was in power, it was the rule of men, now it's the rule of law. Whispers are that KTR's support for bureaucrats isn't driven by any sense of fairness, but simply because Revanth's comments hit too close to home. The corridors of power are buzzing with irony - KTR's tweet is a classic case of selective outrage and political convenience, exposing the contradictions within the family's stance on bureaucracy.

N SRIDHAR'S SPEEDY PRESSER LEAVES MEDIA STRUGGLING TO KEEP UP

It was clear he hadn't been in front of the press for quite some time and he was forced to do a press meet. The media, eager to get a word with him post-meet, tried to catch up but couldn't match his pace as he rushed off. Journalists couldn't help but chat amongst themselves, amused by how quickly he moved out, leaving them behind.

ABHILASHA BISHT'S KUMBH DIP COULDN'T SAVE HER FROM TELANGANA EXIT

Abhilasha Bisht, the Director of the Dr. RBVRR Telangana State Police Academy, has been sent packing to Andhra Pradesh. A little bird told us that she just returned from Maha Kumbh and tad came orders. It seems that even a spiritual dip at the Maha Kumbh couldn't work the magic she hoped for. Despite her hopes of staying in Telangana, she's now being relieved from her post and moving across state lines. While another DG Anjani Kumar has less than a year of service was sent to Andhra Pradesh, Abhilash Bisht has 2 years of service. Even amid his demanding administrative responsibilities, IAS officer Krishna Teja finds time to fulfil promises close to his heart. Currently serving as Officer on Special Duty (OSD) to Deputy Chief Minister Pawan Kalyan, Teja was brought to Andhra Pradesh on deputation for his strong administrative acumen.

Recently, he took to social media to share a deeply personal milestone—one that has been nearly two years in the making. Back in March 2022, when he was the District Collector of Alleppey, Teja had pledged to provide homes for children who lost their parents to COVID-19. True to his word, the final six houses have now been handed over, ensuring that all 292 COVID orphans under the initiative have not just a roof over their heads but also access to education.

His heartfelt post, expressing gratitude to all who supported the cause, quickly went viral, earning widespread appreciation. While Teja may be making headlines for his administrative prowess in Andhra Pradesh, it's gestures like these that truly set him apart. --Yours truly opposition to peel off a memorable knock that took 111 balls and was punctuated with seven fours. Pakistan, on the other hand, are on their way out of the tournament of which they are the hosts. Once again, they ran into their old nemesis — Kohli. The 36-year-old had several demons of his own to tame — a lean run, recurring form of dismissals and struggles against spin.

But he slayed each one of them, in a manner befitting a batter who also became the quickest to 14,000 ODI runs during the course of the knock. Pakistan might have hoped to hustle him a bit through pacers Shaheen Shah Afridi and Haris Rauf.

But Kohli drove them on the up with elan or pulled them with audacity as Pakistan's premier pacers transformed into dejected figures after the early high of Afridi casting Rohit Sharma (20 off 15 balls) with a peach of a yorker.

Perhaps, the biggest hope Pakistan harboured against Kohli would have been leg-spinner Abrar Ahmed, considering the Indian's recent travails against England's Adil Rashid. Kohli did have a couple of tough moments against Ahmed but none big enough to put him in distress. He largely dealt with him in singles, cutting down risks.

But the Pakistan quicks offered him enough chances to free his arms.

At the other end, Iyer flowed with a variety of shots but a 103 metre six off spinner Salman Agha was the standout hit during his tenure, in which he assisted Kohli to raise 114 runs for the third wicket.

Iyer had to walk back to the hut after Imam-ul-Haq pulled off a stunner at covers off spinner Khushdil Shah although replays suggested that the ball might have been grounded.

But by then, India had already shut the door on Pakistan.

A large chunk of credit for this win can also be rightfully claimed by Indian bowlers, who were stunningly accurate while limiting Pakistan to 241.

That total was made possible by Saud Shakeel's polished fifty and Khushdil's cameo.

Shakeel (62, 76b, 5x4) was largely untroubled and added 104 runs for the third wicket with skipper Mohammad Rizwan (46), but Pakistan never really managed to break the shackles after opting to bat.

'KCR & Cong destroyed Kaleshwaram Project'

"KCR destroyed half of the Kaleshwaram Project and the Congress is responsible for destroying the other half," the Union Minister of State for Home Affairs, Bandi Sanjay Kumar, said.

Summer hasn't even arrived, but the paddy crop has dried up. Nearly seven lakh acres of paddy have withered. Once summer arrives, who knows how bad the situation will be," Sanjay said.

If that's the case, the Congress is not for farmers. Farmers are already struggling. Even if they cultivate a crop, they face many difficulties before harvesting it. In such a situation, how can they

12 Indians arrive in Delhi days after being deported to Panama by US

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Twelve Indian nationals, who were deported to Panama by the US, returned to India from the Latin American nation on Sunday evening, officials said.

The deportees arrived at the Indira Gandhi International Airport in New Delhi, marking the first batch of Indians returning from Panama following their deportation by the US. The 12 Indians are learnt to be part of 299 undocumented migrants deported to Panama by the US a few days back.

The Trump administration has begun a mass deportation programme of foreign nationals living illegally in the US. Over 300 Indians have already been deported to India by the US in three different flights this month.

"It is the obligation of all nations to take back their nationals, if they are found to be living illegally abroad," External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said in Parliament on February 6.

"This is naturally subject to an unambiguous verification of their nationality. This is not a policy applicable to any specific country, nor indeed one only practised by India. It is a general accepted principle in international relations," he had said.

college administrations to the brink of closure. Tomorrow, Chief Minister Revanth Reddy is visiting Mancherla district. I am requesting the release of fee reimbursement dues. If this is not done, it is shameful that local MLAs are threatening people not to attend the CM's meeting," he added.

The Congress is facing a shortage of candidates, which is evident from the fact that they had to bring in an outsider as their graduate candidate. For the other two constituencies, they couldn't even find candidates. The BRS is staying out of the race to help the Congress win. This is because the BRS wants to avoid arrests in scam cases by striking a secret deal with the Congress.

Although Revanth Reddy himself claimed that there is strong evidence of BRS leaders' involvement in Kaleshwaram, farmhouse drugs, phone tapping, and Formula E race scams, he is protecting them by not making any arrests. Even KCR's visit to Delhi to negotiate with the Congress high command has led to the dilution of these cases, he said.

He said that KCR sent Revanth Reddy to jail back then. He was arrested and put behind bars on his child's wedding day. But why is he not arresting KCR's family even after they have been involved in massive scams? Has Revanth lost his guts and spirit? It is shameful that he is joining hands with the BRS to suppress the growing BJP in Telangana.

'I am draining swamp'

Trump defends mass deportations

PNS ■ WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump has defended the mass deportation of undocumented foreign nationals, saying his administration draining the swamp by sending home fraudsters, cheaters, globalists and deep state bureaucrats.

Trump has made the mass deportation of undocumented migrants a key policy.

Addressing the Conservative Political Action Conference (CPAC) outside Washington on Saturday, he said, "The fraudsters, liars, cheaters, globalists, and deep state bureaucrats are being sent packing." "Illegal alien criminals are being sent home. We're draining the swamp and restoring government by the people," he said.

As of 2022, unauthorised immigrants represented 3.3 per cent of the total US population and 23 per cent of the foreign-born population, according to Pew Research Centre.

US President Donald Trump has moved to overhaul parts of the US immigration system since returning to office and promised "mass deportations" and arrests. The Department of Homeland Security posted on X that, as of February 3, its agents had arrested 8,768 people.

Three batches comprising a total of 332 Indians have already been sent back to India from the US amid an intensified crackdown by the Trump administration against illegal immigrants.

A group of Indians deported from the US recently arrived in Panama after President Jose Raul Mulino agreed that his country would become a "bridge" country for deportees.

"As of now, we don't have communication with them (those trapped)," the collector said on Sunday afternoon. An NDRF official said that a team had last night went inside the tunnel.

There is a lot of debris and the TBM is also damaged and its parts are scattered inside.

"There is water logging 2 km just before the 13.5 km point. It is a challenging task and due to this our heavy equipment is not able to reach till the last point and hence dewatering has to be completed which will enable the equipment to reach ahead. Then only the removal of debris can start. Additional motors have been used to speed up the dewatering process," he said.

The team after reaching 13.5 km called those trapped, but did not

IN VIOLATION OF CINEMATOGRAPHY ACT 1952

Theatres in TG allowing underaged kids to watch censored content

SAMUEL JOSHUA
samueljoshuamjmc@gmail.com
■ HYDERABAD

Theatres and multiplexes in Telangana are violating the Cinematography Act 1952 by allowing underaged kids.

When asked, social activist and TG High Court advocate Vijay Gopal raised concerns that kids and teenagers are being allowed inside theatres. He said that there are four ratings: 18+ (A-rated), UA 7+, UA 13+, and UA 16+, according to the Cinematography Act 1952. He mentioned that apart from 18+ A-rated movies, UA 16+ teenagers must be accompanied by parents or legal guardians as per the law. Similarly, for UA 13+, only parents can accompany them, while uncles and aunts are restricted.

He said that many theatres and multiplexes in the city allow kids as young as 11-year olds, exposing them to censored content and violence, which negatively affects their minds. Vijay said that 80% of movies contain scenes of drunkenness, stalking, rape, molestation, sexual abuse and murder, where the lead actors are shown saving victims from villains, something that rarely happens in real life. He mentioned that young kids who watch such content are affected during their teenage years, becoming aggressive and arrogant.

Vijay cited a recent incident involving Pushpa 2, a UA 16+ movie, where school kids and parents rushed inside, leading to a stampede. An injured boy, only 8-years-old, was among those who should not have been allowed inside. The advocate said that theatres must follow the law regardless of business concerns or parental consent. He stressed that parents do not have freedom over the Cinematography Act 1952 and that while they may not face penalties, theatres and multiplexes should face heavy fines along with teenagers who violate the law.

As licensing authorities, Vijay requested the Commissioners of Police of Cyberabad, Hyderabad, and Rachakonda to ensure the cancellation of licences of theatres that allow underaged kids to watch UA 13+ or UA 16+ and 18+ movies. He also called on District Collector Anudeep Durishetty to enforce these laws.

40 YRS OF DECCAN COLLEGE OF MEDICAL SCIENCES

'Nothing can be achieved without political will'

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

"Without political power, we would not have reached this milestone of serving with educational institutions," said AIMIM president Asaduddin Owaisi, while addressing the Quadragesimarian 2025 - 40 years celebrations of Deccan College of Medical Sciences at Owaisi Medical and Research Campus.

"Leaders are remembered for their work after their passing. I urge every leader to focus on meaningful contributions rather than indulging in criticising us," he added. He emphasised the importance of political unity and leadership, stating, "We have given you citizen rights and not merely treated you as voters who show up only on the election day."

The event marked Deccan College of Medical Sciences' 40-year anniversary, paying tribute to Salar-e-Millat Alhaj Sultan Salahuddin Owaisi for his vision and contributions.

"It is God and my parents who have given me this life," Owaisi acknowledged.

Members of the Darussalam Educational Trust reminisced about the relentless efforts that went into establishing the Deccan College of Medical Sciences.

"Over 5,000 doctors have graduated from this institution, with many serving in medical camps across North America, Europe and Bangladesh," the members noted. Owaisi recounted the challenges faced by Sultan Salahuddin Owaisi, in setting up educational institutions, "People mocked him, saying he was uneducated and incapable of running a school or college. They claimed they would take over. But he stood firm and said, Let's see what happens. It was sheer hard work that brought the medical college into existence."

Encouraging continued commitment to education, he urged, "As part of history, it is our responsibility to keep educating more students. Hardships will always arise, but our goals will keep pushing us forward."

He concluded by highlighting a significant achievement: "Our Educational Trust, my brother Akbaruddin Owaisi, and I faced immense challenges. But we won with efforts to make Osmania General Hospital not leave the limits of the Old City."

HMRL MD inspects Future City Metro Corridor

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Managing Director of Hyderabad Metro Rail Limited (HMRL) NVS Reddy conducted a field inspection of the Future City Metro Corridor on Sunday. He stated that the project aligns with Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy's vision to develop the Future City as the fourth major city after Hyderabad, Secunderabad, and Cyberabad. The goal is to make it a pollution-free, green city of global standards. Hyderabad Airport Metro Ltd (HAML) is preparing a Detailed Project Report (DPR) for this Metro Corridor.

NVS Reddy inspected the DPR survey from the airport to Skill University at Meerhanpet. Due to the lack of roads beyond Kongara Kalan, the team trekked through rough terrain for the inspection. The Metro route, approximately 40 km long, will begin at Shamshabad Airport, follow the airport boundary for 5 km along Mansanpally Road and reach Pedda Golconda ORR Exit. Two Metro stations are planned at Bahadurguda and Pedda Golconda to develop 1,500 acres of government land into a world-class hub.

From Pedda Golconda, the elevated Metro will extend 14 km along the ORR to Raviryala Exit. From there to Skill University, it will run at road level along the 100-meter-wide Green Field Road.

NVS Reddy recalled his past proposal to reserve space for the Metro along the ORR during Dr YSR's tenure. Critics doubted it, but both ORR and Metro became reality, boosting Hyderabad's global appeal. He emphasised that the current government's infrastructure projects will further enhance Hyderabad's future. HAML will collaborate with HMDA, TSIC, and other agencies to implement CM Revanth Reddy's vision.

He noted that the DPR for Future City, along with the North City Medchal and Shamirpet Corridors, will be completed by March and submitted for approval. Engineers and officials participated in the inspection.

Teachers and pupils at the primary school resembling the train at Kandikatkoor village in Rajanna Sircilla district

Govt school designed like train to attract students

PNS ■ RAJANNA SIRICILLA

It is a district that does not have rail connectivity, but in this district, a train has chugged into the station and stopped in a remote area. It is not an ordinary train; it has chugged into the village though there is no track. In that train, school students attend classes every day. Wondering how a train can come without tracks? To understand that, one must visit Kandikatkoor village in Ellanthakunta Mandal in Rajanna Sircilla district.

By 8 am every day, students run to get on the train, which is how their educational journey begins. During the interval, they come onto the platform and have fun.

They walk around inside the compartments. Teachers and the principal also stay there. Are you wondering what this train is? Here's a little twist: it is not a real train, but a train of children's dreams. It's the "Education Train" for students. This unique model school is located in Kandikatkoor village under Ellanthakunta mandal in Rajanna Sircilla district.

Normally, to get children to attend school, there need to be teachers who impart knowledge well, and the environment should be child-friendly.

Without these, children are not interested in attending school. To attract the students, the local administration and villagers have come up with a creative idea. They designed the school to resemble a train, and students are attracted to it. The school is painted with colourful designs, and figures of animals and cartoons, making it visually appealing for students. The school now resembles a railway station, which creates a pleasant atmosphere for the students.

Once, this primary school was housed in an old building, and parents were not eager to send their children to the school. To overcome this, the Education Department officials and villagers came up with the idea of transforming the school resembling a train, including an engine and a platform.

When people from outside the village visit, they are likely to think that it is a real train. As a result, children are now flocking to this school in large numbers.

The principal of the school mentioned that these creative ideas have encouraged students to come to school, and the environment has made the teachers role models in imparting education.

Couple allege illegal registration of land overnight

Addressing a media conference held at Press Club here on Sunday, Pavurula Krishna said that he inherited 1.26 acres of land from his father. The said land is situated under survey No. 169/E/5 in Arempala village.

He said that he gave the land on lease to relatives Boddur Venkamma and her son

Nageswara Rao. While he and his wife were away at Paloncha for their livelihood, Venkamma illegally registered 18 kuntas of land on her name, he alleged. As if it is not enough, Khammam rural Tahsildar and Revenue Inspector illegally overnight registered the rest of 1.08 kuntas of land in the name of real estate trader Jada Durga Prasad overnight, he said, adding that it took place in spite of he obtaining a court stay order against illegal registration. The orders were sent to Tahsildar and Revenue Inspector through a WhatsApp message and also by him personally, he said. When confronted, the rural Tahsildar abused him, Pavurula Krishna said, appealing to the officials concerned to probe the matter and take suitable action.

Bird flu confirmed in Nelapatla village

PNS ■ YADADRI BHUVANGIRI

Bird flu has been confirmed in Nelapatla village under Choutuppal mandal in the district.

The Animal Husbandry Department has declared the village a restricted area due to the outbreak. Laboratory tests confirmed that poultry at a farm in the village died from the virus.

In response, officials acted quickly, sanitising the affected poultry farm.

They have decided to cull all poultry birds within a 1-km radius of the farm. The farm, owned by Siva, experienced the sudden loss of 600 poultry birds, which were promptly buried.

Animal husbandry officials collected samples from the deceased birds and sent them for analysis, confirming bird flu as the cause of death.

District Animal Husbandry Officer Janaiah, along with his team, immediately visited the site, wearing personal protective equipment (PPE), and removed the waste material from the farm. A pit was dug with a JCB machine, and the carcasses were buried.

The affected farm and its surroundings were thoroughly sanitised. Officials also seized poultry feed found on the farm and instructed that the area be sanitised every three days.

They advised local poultry farmers to refrain from raising poultry for at least three months.

In addition, all poultry birds within a 1-km radius of the infected farm, including local breeds, will be culled and buried. While most poultry farms in the village are now empty, some are still housing local breeds, prompting the closure of chicken shops within a 1-km radius.

A police picket will be established, and a control room will be set up to monitor the situation.

The Animal Husbandry Department will also examine all poultry farms within a 10-km radius of the affected farm, collecting samples for further testing.

The poultry industry in Yadadri district, which is close to the state capital, is a major economic sector, with an estimated 4 million poultry birds. As the bird flu outbreak spreads, both poultry farmers and the public are increasingly concerned.

"The seven-day period is good enough. If one decides to give up arms, it can be done in a day. After that (period), we will go and take such weapons from them," Singh told reporters on the sidelines of an event. He said the administration has been working on multiple fronts and there has to be peace and normalcy. "Weapons should not be at the hands of the public. That is a dangerous situation. Weapons at the hands of those who are not authorised to use it is a dangerous situation...Looted weapons or any other weapons pose a threat to the society."

Those with a slave mentality keep attacking our faith: PM

TERMS MAHA KUMBH AS MAHA KUMBH OF UNITY

PNS ■ CHATTARPUR

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Sunday slammed a section of leaders over their critical remarks on Maha Kumbh, saying those with "slave mentality" keep attacking the country's religious and cultural traditions with the backing of foreign powers.

Modi termed the ongoing Maha Kumbh in Prayagraj as the "Maha Kumbh of Unity" after laying the foundation stone for Shree Bageshwar Medical Sciences And Research Institute, which will include a cancer hospital, at Chhatarpur in Madhya Pradesh.

Bageshwar Dham is a prominent religious site associated with Lord Hanuman frequented by thousands of people. "These days we see that there is a group of leaders who mock and ridicule our religion. They are bent upon breaking the unit and are engaged in dividing people. "Many times, foreign powers too are seen trying to weaken the country and religion by supporting these people," Modi said. a row over West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee dubbing Maha Kumbh as "Mrityu Kumbh" citing mismanagement and incidents of stampede. She had also accused the authorities of suppressing the death toll. Modi said the haters of Hindu faith have been living in different disguises for centuries. "These people with slave mentality attack our beliefs, temples, saints, culture and traditions. These people abuse our festivals, traditions, and beliefs," he said. Modi further said the agenda of this section was to break the society and unity of the country. "They have the audacity of throwing slush at our religion and culture which is intrinsically progressive," he added.

Modi underlined the religious significance of Maha Kumbh in Prayagraj which is taking place after 144 years.

He praised 'safai karmis' (sanitation workers) and police personnel for doing a great job in making the Maha Kumbh a successful event.

"This is the great Kumbh of unity where thousands of doctors and volunteers work with dedication and the spirit of service. People visiting the great Kumbh of unity appreciate these efforts," he said. Modi also praised services rendered by ophthalmologists to the needy people at the mega religious congregation attended by crores.

Highlighting efforts made by his government in fighting cancer, Modi said cancer day care centres will be opened in all districts of the country in the next three years.

PREVENTION OF CORRUPTION ACT

'Preliminary inquiry not mandatory in every case'

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court has said conducting a preliminary inquiry is not mandatory in every case lodged under the Prevention of Corruption Act and it is not a vested right of the accused.

The court has said while a preliminary inquiry is desirable in certain categories of cases, including those lodged under the Prevention of Corruption (PC) Act, it is not a mandatory pre-requisite for the registration of a criminal case.

A bench of Justices Dipankar Datta and Sandeep Mehta has said the purpose of a preliminary inquiry is not to verify the veracity of the information received, but merely to ascertain whether the said information revealed the commission of a cognisable offence.

"The preliminary inquiry is not mandatory in every case under the PC Act," the bench said in its verdict delivered on February 17.

"If a superior officer is in seisin of a source information report, which is both detailed and well-reasoned and such that any reasonable person would be of the view that it prima facie discloses the commission of a cognisable offence, the preliminary inquiry may be avoided," it said.

The top court delivered its verdict on an appeal filed by the Karnataka government, challenging a March 2024 judgment of the state high court.

The high court had quashed an FIR lodged by the Karnataka police station against a public servant for alleged offences under the PC Act.

The public servant was accused of acquiring assets that were disproportionate to his known sources of income.

"If a superior officer is in seisin of a source information report, which is both detailed and well-reasoned and such that any reasonable person would be of the view that it prima facie discloses the commission of a cognisable offence, the preliminary inquiry may be avoided."

Congress to hold AICC session in Ahmedabad on April 8-9

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Congress on Sunday announced that it will hold its AICC session in Gujarat's Ahmedabad on April 8 and 9 to deliberate on the challenges posed by the BJP's "anti-people" policies and its alleged attack on the Constitution, as well as on charting the party's future road map.

In a statement, Congress general secretary, in-charge organisation, K C Venugopal said the upcoming session will serve not only as a platform for crucial deliberations but also as a reaffirmation of the party's collective resolve to address the concerns of common people and present a strong alternative vision for the nation.

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge will preside over both the meetings, which will be attended by Congress Parliamentary Party chairperson Sonia Gandhi, Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi, all chief ministers of the Congress-ruled states, national office bearers, senior party leaders, and other AICC delegates, Venugopal said.

Atishi becomes first woman to be LoP in Delhi assembly

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Former Delhi chief minister and MLA from Kalkaji constituency Atishi was chosen as the Leader of Opposition in the Delhi Assembly at a meeting of AAP MLAs here on Sunday.

With this, Atishi becomes the first woman to hold the post. AAP supremo Arvind Kejriwal was also part of the meeting of the party's 22 MLAs where Atishi was picked. In a press conference, AAP's Delhi unit convenor Gopal Rai said by consensus all AAP MLAs have chosen Atishi as the Leader of Opposition (LoP). MLA from Burari, Sanjeev Jha, proposed Atishi's name as LoP and all MLAs supported the proposal, said Rai, who is also the MLA from Babarpur.

Speaking at the press conference, Atishi thanked the party chief Kejriwal and all the MLAs.

"AAP will show what a strong opposition's role is in the House and will raise all issues with full force. AAP will ensure that the BJP fulfills all its promises as the party in power. Specifically, Prime Minister Narendra Modi's promise to provide Rs 2,500 crore to women in the city by March 8. We promise that we will make the Rekha Gupta-led BJP government fulfil this promise."

The first session of the Delhi

Assembly will begin on February 24. In the three-day session, the ruling BJP government has said that pending CAG reports against the performance of the previous AAP government will be tabled in the House. On the expected tabling of CAG reports, Atishi said it is a routine procedure and that she had sent these reports to the House as CM. Kejriwal, in a post on X, said, "I congratulate Atishi ji for being elected as Leader of AAP in the House. AAP will play the role of constructive opposition in the interest of the people of Delhi."

Atishi also posted on X and said, "The people of Delhi have entrusted us with the role of opposition, and as a strong opposition we will ensure that the BJP government fulfills all its promises made to the people of Delhi."

Political temperatures soar in Bihar ahead of PM's tour

PNS ■ PATNA

Political temperatures soared in Bihar on Sunday, a day ahead of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's tour of Bhagalpur, from where he will disburse close to Rs 23,000 crore to nearly 100 million beneficiaries of Kisan Samman Nidhi Yojana.

To oversee preparations for the PM's visit, Union Agriculture Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan arrived in the state a day in advance and interacted with farmers cultivating foxnuts, to draw a plan for the much talked about "Makhana board" announced in the recent budget.

"We took a decision that the Makhana board must be set up in consultation with farmers, who are the real stakeholders. We were not in favour of a diktat being issued from Krishi Bhavan at Delhi," Chouhan told reporters on the sidelines of the 'Makhana Panchayat' held in Darbhanga.

He also disclosed that the PM's function on Monday will have an impact on the entire country as 9.80 crore farmers will be getting Rs 22,700 crore as yet another instalment of Kisan Samman Nidhi Yojana.

The former Madhya Pradesh chief minister rubbished the allegation of RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav that the PM had chosen Bihar for the function with an eye on assembly polls which are due in a few months.

"Tejashwi should know that Modi today visited Madhya Pradesh where there are no elections. Tomorrow, after Bihar, he is scheduled to go to Assam where no polls are to be held. Our prime minister prefers being among the people to enjoying the comforts of his bungalow."

Incidentally, the charge that the PM's tour was motivated by elections has also come from Jan Suraj Party founder Prashant Kishor, a former political strategist who had handled Modi's campaign in the 2014 Lok Sabha polls.

Talking to reporters in Patna, Kishor said, "Now that polls are due in Bihar, it is quite obvious that the PM will set his eyes on the state."

Earlier, he was busy with Maharashtra, Jharkhand and Haryana."

Women entrepreneurs help empower rural Bihar

PNS ■ MUZAFFARPUR (BIHAR)

In the heart of rural Bihar, where groundwater depletion, extreme heat and erratic weather have caused havoc for farmers, a quiet transformation is underway.

A group of women, once confined to their homes despite their education, have emerged as agri-entrepreneurs, transforming not only their own lives but also helping their communities adapt to the growing threats of climate change. Each agri-entrepreneur (AE) works with at least 150-200 small and marginal farmers, who are hit the most by these worsening climate challenges. They provide solutions to farmers on irrigation, provide climate-resilient seeds, help out with crop diversification, and act as a helpdesk for digital work—essentially a one-stop centre for all problems they may encounter.

Their remuneration is proportional to the range of services they provide farmers within a panchayat.

Soni Kumari from Hajipur, for instance, began her journey as an agri-entrepreneur last year by registering a farmer for a farmer card. She then prepared a detailed business proposal based on the farmer's profile—his social indicators, finances and cropping patterns. She then entered the farmer's requirements into a Management Information System, creating a database of her customers to understand demand and create a business plan for her enterprise.

Once a homemaker, Soni who is a science graduate said she never imagined she would one day be at the forefront of promoting sustainable farming practices. "I opened a shop with a micro-financing loan, where I stock everything from climate-resilient seeds to organic manure and fertilisers. We even have a drone for irrigation," Soni said.

The drone technology Soni uses has been a game-changer for her, she added.

It sprays water evenly across fields, ensuring efficient water use and reducing labour costs. "We can irrigate one acre of land in just 5-7 minutes at Rs 300-500. Without the drone, this task would take 3-4 hours and labour costs would have been much higher," she said.

But drones are a big investment for the community as the battery lasts only 10-15 minutes per charge and replacing a battery would cost around Rs 90,000, she added.

PAPER WITH PASSION

Rise of the Right

Giorgia Meloni's recent speech struck a chord with the Right, yet it also exposed its inherent contradictions

Italian Prime Minister Giorgia Meloni recently made headlines with her fiery remarks at the Conservative Political Action Conference (CPAC) in the US. Speaking via video link, she claimed that the global Right is unfairly branded as a threat to democracy, while the Left enjoys undeserved legitimacy. In her speech, she drew a parallel between figures like Donald Trump, Argentina's Javier Milei and India's Narendra Modi, arguing that when the Left created a global network in the 1990s, it was celebrated, whereas today's Right is vilified for doing the same. While Meloni's argument taps into the grievances of conservative movements worldwide, it is riddled with logical gaps and selective reasoning. Meloni paints a picture of right-wing leaders as persecuted underdogs fighting against an entrenched leftist establishment. However, the reality is more complex. The rise of leaders like Trump, Milei and Modi demonstrates that conservative politics is not an underdog movement but a dominant force in many parts of the world.

Trump served as the President of the United States, Narendra Modi is in his third term as India's Prime Minister and Milei recently won the Argentine presidency. If anything, the Right has been steadily gaining power rather than being systematically oppressed. Moreover, Meloni's assertion that the world no longer believes in the Left's "lies" is an oversimplification. The political landscape remains deeply divided, with both right-wing and left-wing parties winning elections in different parts of the world.

While conservative movements have gained momentum, liberal and progressive politics continue to hold substantial influence. The notion that people have wholesale rejected the Left is misleading and fails to acknowledge the electoral victories of left-leaning leaders in countries like Brazil, Germany and Spain. Trump's tenure was marked by an unprecedented number of falsehoods, ranging from his claims about election fraud to downplaying the COVID-19 pandemic. If the global Right is positioning itself as a movement rooted in truth, aligning with a figure like Trump severely undermines that claim. The argument that the Right is unfairly labelled as a threat to democracy also ignores the legitimate concerns surrounding authoritarian tendencies within conservative movements. Trump's refusal to accept the results of the 2020 US election and the subsequent Capitol riot were direct attacks on democratic institutions. Similarly, Modi's government has faced criticism for suppressing dissent and Milei has made inflammatory remarks about eliminating key government institutions. Indeed, Meloni's speech captures the defiant spirit of the modern Right, but it also exposes its selective reasoning and internal contradictions. While it is true that right-wing movements have gained traction, it does not follow that concerns about the Right's democratic integrity are unfounded. Yes, the world may be more right than left at the moment—but that does not mean all is right with the Right.

Prakriti Lamsal tragic death: A wake-up call

Prakriti Lamsal's tragic fate calls for urgent reflection on education diplomacy, bilateral trust and the necessity of systemic reforms

NAVITA SRIKANT

Armed Forces personnel often narrate stories of valour and courage of Nepali Gorkha soldiers. They say their sacrifice for India's security is unparalleled. The unique tradition of Honorary General Rank to each other's Chief of Army Staff is a jewel in bilateral relations. Prime Minister Narendra Modi earlier noted, "I salute the Nepali braves who have laid down their lives for India" during his address to the Constituent Assembly of Nepal (August 3, 2014).

In bilateral relations such as these, a private university's administration acted inhumanely and irresponsibly to the grievance of harassment – the outcome – a 20-year-old Nepali female student Prakriti Lamsal committed suicide (under investigation) on February 16, 2025, at KIIT Bhubaneswar. Other resident Nepali students, shocked by the alleged suicide, protested against the harassment of Lamsal. Nepali students were abused, asked to leave and forcibly evicted. Hundreds of Nepali students rushed back to Nepal with bare survival means. Nepali students in trauma due to the death of Lamsal and the ordeal they underwent seek answers. So, "What did we miss?"

It has been alleged that Lamsal complained to the college authorities of harassment by her batchmate but no action was taken. Did willful neglect and cruelty lead to Lamsal committing suicide? Access to emergency medical services and safeguarding evidence after being declared dead did not seem to function as one would expect. Undoubtedly, the basic compliances to safeguard students failed. Several key questions are unanswered to day as the state investigation is under progress and justice is yet to be served. The case is no longer about justice for a deceased Nepali student but leaves a question mark on the capability of India as a nation to assure wellbeing and justice to a foreign student. The authorities did not stop at mere oral refusal of information but abused, used fear and forced eviction of hundreds of Nepali students risking their lives. No doubt that KIIT's conduct should be a template of 'what not to do' for every public or private institution in India dealing with foreign students.

There has to be zero tolerance for actions against the law of the land, the ethos of the nation and the civilisational legacy that India and Nepal take pride in. Every Indian condemned the action of the KIIT Administration and expressed unequivocal solidarity with Nepali Students. It is at this juncture, recollecting PM Modi's Address to the Constituent Assembly of Nepal in August 2014 "When an adverse wind blows in Nepal, India too feels cold."

"How can India be happy if Nepal is unhappy?" One wonders why the Prime Minister has not addressed the people of India and Nepal assuring Nepali Students' safety, security and wellbeing as high priority. Reiterating these words to Nepali parents and students would strengthen relations for times immemorial. Undoubtedly, the Government of India managed the situation diligently, however, it is PM Modi whose personal connection with Nepal reinforces trust among Nepali people. PM Modi has spoken for the rights of Palestinians, Afghans and Bangladeshi minorities. It is even more important that he is seen assuring Nepali Students' concerns.

THE CASE IS NO LONGER ABOUT JUSTICE FOR A DECEASED NEPALI STUDENT BUT LEAVES A QUESTION MARK ON THE CAPABILITY OF INDIA AS A NATION TO ASSURE WELLBEING AND JUSTICE TO A FOREIGN STUDENT

The Vishwamitra vision of India's foreign policy begins at home. To recalibrate the India-Nepal friendship and heal the wounds inflicted by the ill deeds of KIIT, India must be consciously seen as Vishwa Bandhu of Nepal. It is necessary to walk the extra mile towards the safety and wellbeing of foreign students, bring culprits to justice and regain the trust of Nepali Parents as "India First" for educational pursuits.

The education system in Nepal is flawed. On average, about five lakh students appear for grade X every year, and less than 50 per cent pass the exam. Frustrated with ghost colleges and universities, students want to leave Nepal for even Grade X and two levels. If 70 per cent of eligible higher secondary pass-out students are leaving for abroad, then where does the accountability lie for the state of despair among youth?

If the National Lawmakers do not respect the youth's future, where and how the youth will garner respect abroad? The lawmakers roar for a while in Parliament, make powerful nationalistic statements, victim's family reconciles eventually and Nepali lawmakers diseased with short memory move on abandoning pending education reforms.

There has been no news so far if the Nepali government constituted any high-level committee to review education reforms and migration-related safeguards.

How many of these 70 per cent of students traveling abroad are registered with Nepali missions, and receive any cultural or crisis-handling counselling? When Lamsal did not get counselling support against harassment, why did she not reach out to local law enforcement authorities or the Nepali Embassy?

There have been unfortunate incidents in earlier years with Nepali students studying abroad, as in the case of Pramod Bhattarai found dead in the USA, Shristi Bhandari in Australia and John Lama in Japan. Wake up Nepal!! Invest in your demographic dividend, Nepali youth, impart technical education, skill and empower them with cognitive and socio-emotional skills for holistic development. This is not the first and certainly not the last unpleasant event in global disruptive times.

It is high time that sustainable lessons are learned at all levels. If education diplomacy between the two open border states fails, the repercussions are far-reaching. India and Nepal boasting of timeless relations and open border cultural ties should invest in its youth, their aspirations and importantly grievances.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CORRUPTION CONTINUES TO RISE

Madam — Recently, Transparency International, a global organisation, released its Corruption Perceptions Index for 2024, ranking India 96th out of 180 countries. In 2023, India was ranked 93rd, indicating that corruption has increased. Even today, corruption scandals involving politicians, government employees and high-ranking officials continue to surface in every state across the country. Despite the widespread use of digital technology, the level of corruption has not decreased, as evidenced by this report. We often talk about India's glorious past and the ideals of 'Ram Rajya', but honesty, integrity and transparency are rarely reflected in our actions.

There is a clear disconnect between what we preach and what we practice. Moreover, corruption has gained social acceptance, allowing individuals to amass wealth through dishonest means because they know that society primarily respects and honours the wealthy. Honest government employees, leaders and self-employed individuals do not receive the same social recognition. This is why corruption, like the mythical demon 'Bhasmasura', continues to grow day by day. To eradicate corruption, the citizens of the country must become aware and stop giving social respect to corrupt individuals. Additionally, the government must strictly enforce stringent laws against corruption to set an example. Only then can corruption be truly eradicated.

WELFARE SCHEMES FOR DELHIITES

Madam — Newspapers are abuzz with the news about the new BJP government in Delhi under the new CM Rekha Gupta. Now Delhi enters political tranquillity after a decade of turmoil. All the welfare schemes, including Ayushman Bharat, will now be implemented for Delhiites. It also ends an era of confrontation with the Union Government. This is perhaps the first time that the environmental

New bat virus identified

A recent study has identified a new bat coronavirus in China that has the potential to infect humans, raising concerns about future zoonotic outbreaks. Bats have long been recognised as natural reservoirs for coronaviruses and this discovery underscores the ongoing risk of spillover events where viruses jump from animals to humans. Scientists emphasise the importance of monitoring such viruses closely, as past outbreaks like SARS and COVID-19 originated from similar sources.

While there is no immediate evidence of human-to-human transmission, the genetic makeup of this new virus suggests it could adapt over time. Factors such as habitat destruction, illegal wildlife trade and increased human-animal interactions contribute to the growing emergence of such diseases. The key takeaway from this finding is the need for proactive research and global collaboration in tracking and containing potential threats. With advancements in virus surveillance and vaccine technology, early detection could prevent future pandemics.

EDUCATION NEEDS REFORM

Madam — Attention must be drawn to the alarming findings of India's Graduate Skill Index 2025 by Mercer-Mettl. The report reveals that only 42.6 per cent of Indian graduates are employable, reflecting a decline from 44.3 per cent in 2023. This downward trend highlights a growing mismatch between academic training and industry requirements. Bridging this gap requires urgent intervention. Academic institutions must align their programmes with industry demands, incorporating skill-based training, internships and technology-driven learning.

Additionally, collaboration between policymakers, educators and businesses is essential to reform the education system and enhance career readiness. The employability crisis, if left unaddressed, will hinder India's economic growth and global competitiveness.

Steep hike in passport & visa services abroad: A big blow to blue-collar workers

This sharp price hike could impose severe financial strain on most vulnerable citizens, who work under harsh conditions to support their families back home

For millions of Indian workers abroad, securing and renewing essential documents like passports and visas is already a challenging process. However, a newly revised Request for Proposal (RFP) by the Government of India threatens to make it even more difficult by drastically increasing service fees. This move, which could raise costs by 15 to 20 times, is set to impose a significant financial burden on blue-collar workers—individuals who work tirelessly overseas to support their families and contribute to India's economy through remittances.

It is a fact that drastic fee hike threatens millions of Indian workers abroad. The Government of India has introduced a revised Request for Proposal (RFP) for outsourcing Passport, Visa, and Consular (CPV) services across 23 Indian Missions/Posts worldwide. There is genuine concern that this new fee structure could increase service costs by 15 to 20 times and that could impose a heavy financial burden on those blue-collar workers who is considered the backbone of India's global diaspora. A mandatory bundled service cannot be justified at an exorbitant price! The proposed model enforces a "Service Fee per application" that requires applicants to pay for a bundled package, including document digitization, fingerprint and facial biometric capture, and four additional services—photocopying, photography, form filling, and courier services. Crucially, this fee is mandatory, even if the applicant does not require all these services. As a result, a simple service that currently costs $5-$7 could surge to an alarming $90-$100. This hike disproportionately affects Indian workers in Gulf countries, the UK, and beyond, many of whom struggle to make ends meet. It is also well-known that Indian blue-collar workers abroad face several unseen struggles. They form the backbone of industries such as construction, hospitality, and domestic labour across the Gulf, the UK, and Southeast Asia. Most come from humble backgrounds, often taking loans to secure jobs abroad. Their primary goal is to support their families back home, sending every possible rupee as remittance to cover household expenses, children's education, and medical needs. Despite enduring harsh working conditions, low wages, and exploitative contracts, these workers persevere for a better future. However, the government's latest fee hike threatens their already fragile financial stability. It is easy to understand how this fee hike will harm Indian workers. Earning as little as Rs 20,000- Rs 30,000 per month, many blue-collar workers barely manage to save. A sudden jump in service fees from $5-$7 to $90-$100 means they will have to cut down on basic necessities. Many may even struggle to renew passports or access essential documentation, jeopardizing their employment abroad. Many of these workers rely on loans to finance their overseas employment. Higher service fees add financial strain, potentially pushing them into debt or forcing them to return home jobless because they cannot afford visa renewals or work permits. Furthermore, the hike will be a direct hit to India's foreign remittances. India received over $100 billion in remittances in 2023, much of it from blue-collar workers. If rising service costs force many to return home, the country could see a significant drop in remittances, affecting millions of dependent families and impacting the national economy. The question remains—will India's policymakers stand by their overseas workers, or will they burden them further with unnecessary and exploitative service costs? The government must reconsider this fee structure to prevent further hardship for millions of Indian workers who contribute not only to their families but also to the nation's economy.

A KASHMIRI AT MAHA KUMBH

Maha Kumbh is a deeply immersive experience, a transformative journey like no other

JEHANZEB ALLAQABAND

As a Kashmiri Muslim, I, Jehanzeb Allaqaband, had heard of the Maha Kumbh Mela but never imagined experiencing it. In 2025, my friend Yuvraj Srivastava invited me to witness the event in Prayagraj, and what was meant to be a two-day visit turned into an unforgettable week. The spiritual energy and unity of the gathering left me deeply moved, and I didn't want to leave, though prior commitments forced me to return home. The Kumbh Mela was a unique blend of ancient rituals and modern technology.

The event attracted millions of pilgrims and was especially significant due to a rare cosmic alignment. It was more than just a religious event; it was an experience of learning, connection and respect for all cultures. I was struck by the seamless combination of tradition and innovation, such as AI being used to manage crowds and sustainability efforts. The efforts of the Uttar Pradesh government under Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath were impressive. The cleanliness, security and hospitality were top-notch. I was particularly moved by the creation of a temporary city for the pilgrims, with 150,000 tents, medical camps and free healthcare. When I fell ill, I received prompt treatment without charge.

One remarkable initiative was the "Vidya Kumbh" project, which provided free education to the children of 15,000 sanitation workers. This showed the administration's commitment to both the event and the well-being of the workers' families. As a Kashmiri Muslim, I was warmly welcomed by the pilgrims, and the sense of unity and brotherhood was palpable.

The experience left a lasting impression on me, strengthening my belief in the power of faith and unity. My time at the Maha Kumbh Mela was a life-changing experience. As a social activist, I am committed to applying the lessons of spirituality, unity, and service to humanity within my community. The event's success under Yogi Adityanath's leadership is a model of effective public administration, showing how large-scale gatherings can honour tradition while embracing progress.

Indeed, Maha Kumbh is not just a religious congregation; it is a symbol of unity, inclusivity and spiritual awakening. Held once every twelve years, this grand event draws millions of people from across the world, transcending barriers of caste, creed, nationality and social status. From ascetics and spiritual seekers to scholars, pilgrims, and tourists, everyone comes together in pursuit of divine blessings, wisdom, and self-discovery.

At its core, Maha Kumbh embodies the principle of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam—"the world is one family." It fosters an environment where people from diverse backgrounds coexist in harmony, sharing prayers, knowledge and experiences. The sacred rivers become the melting pot of traditions, where faith unites humanity beyond differences. It is a place where the rich and the poor, the learned and the unlettered, stand side by side, immersed in devotion and introspection. Beyond its spiritual significance, Maha Kumbh serves as a cultural confluence, bringing together art, philosophy, and age-old traditions. It is a global event where seekers of truth and wisdom are welcomed with open arms. Maha Kumbh is for all—an enduring testament to inclusivity, faith, and the boundless spirit of togetherness that defines humanity.

Agarwood: The golden green tree revives Tripura's economy

V K BAHUGUNA

As Tripura emerges as India's Agarwood hub, farmers across the country are eyeing its cultivation. However, unlocking its full potential requires streamlining regulatory policies

The Agar tree known scientifically as Aquilaria malaccensis in India is found primarily in the North-Eastern states of Assam, Tripura, Mizoram, Manipur and Arunachal Pradesh. The capital city of Agartala was once full of Agarwood trees and hence named after it by the Tripura Royal family. Myanmar, Sumatra, Laos, Peninsular Malaysia, Singapore, Borneo and the Philippines. It is a critically endangered tree species due to its heavy demand and illegal trade and is on the Red list of the International Union of Conservation of Nature (IUCN). There are 15 crore Agarwood trees in India and the tree species are making a ripple in Tripura due to proactive actions taken by the state government on its promotion and value addition and providing a platform for its conservation and promotion on private lands. Now farmers from other states are taking seedlings from Tripura and North-East and this species is poised to grow in other suitable localities. I visited Tripura in the second week of this month to study the economic and ecological potential of Agar trees in Tripura and as such for the farmers of the country. The Architecture of Agar tree management especially in Tripura has undergone a sea change for the last eight to ten years and the Dharmanagar area in North Tripura is now becoming an epicentre of Agar tree propagation and value addition.

Earlier the distillation units were raided and destroyed by the forest department now being promoted along with the big push for plantation on farmers' land considering its immense potential for increasing the income of farmers manifold. Considering the demand for Agarwood oil and chips in the international market especially in Middle Eastern countries there is huge scope for its propagation in a big way. The Agarwood market was initially monopolised by a single family of Assam as it thrived also from illegal cutting of trees from Tripura and Assam but now after a major policy thrust by the government and involvement of farmers and traders, Tripura is driving not only the conservation of Agarwood tree but leading the nation in its innovative value addition.

THE FOREST DEPARTMENT DURING THE LAST SEVEN YEARS HAS WORKED ON ALL FRONTS OF AGAR FROM PROPAGATION TO MARKETING TO VALUE ADDITION AND SOON IT WILL BE GROWN IN EVERY HOMESTEAD MAKING ITS CONSERVATION EASY AND VALUE ADDITION PERFECT FOR THE FARMERS TO EARN BIG MONEY

Thanks to policy support from the state government the forest department during the last seven years has worked on all fronts of Agar from propagation to marketing to value addition and soon it will be grown in every homestead making its conservation easy and value addition perfect for the farmers to earn big money. Let us discuss the economics of growing Agarwood trees and the steps needed to be further taken by the government of India and the States. Each tree if inoculated artificially or naturally attacked by fungi like Fusarium, Lasiodiplodia, Penicillium, and Aspergillus after around seven years of age or more will yield resin in the next 5 to 6 years and the tree shall be felled to extract the resin which then can be distilled to produce around 20 to 25 ml of Agar oil worth Rs 20,000 and worth Rs 80,000 wood chips in the international and national market according to Mr Parvin Agrawal IFS officers who as head of Agar project oversaw the Agarwood revolution in Tripura. The sale price of one litre of Agar oil in the international market is 10 lakhs per litre and of the chips is 1 lakh per kg.

A farmer can earn anything between 15 to 20 lakh per year from around 500 trees in one hectare of Agarwood plantation and thus 2 crores in ten to fifteen years. Agar, therefore, is a Golden Green Tree and a wonderful gift of nature that needs to be promoted on a large scale in India through trials along with a policy push that helps farmers adopt it on a large scale. During my visit, I spoke with Mr Mamon Ali proprietor of Momin Enterprise distillery in Kadamtala in North Tripura and visited his plantations and distillery. He is having a turnover of more than one crore every year. The government of Tripura has also promoted its diversification in perfume making from the oil of Agar resin. In Middle Eastern countries Agar oil is used directly but a few value addition units for perfume and Agarbatti production had been set up by a few entrepreneurs in Tripura and the quality of the perfume is very pleasing. In yet another example, the forest department had through a public-private partnership initiated a project to artificially inoculate agar plantation near Agartala through chemicals under which nine inoculation supplier firms are participating. The initial results are encouraging after burning the chips for perfume. The chips are sold for religious purposes to Buddhists and other religious groups and for that, the smoke yields a good fragrance.

During my visit to Tripura, I met a senior Priest of Mahakaal Jyotirlinga Ujjain in Agartala on February 11 who is going to invest 5 crore to help farmers grow Agar trees in collaboration with the forest department to produce Agarwood dust for the Mahakaal temple of Ujjain.

The Royal family of Baroda had funded him for this investment. Now the question is what needs to be done at the national level to promote income generation for the farmers. Agar tree is under the Convention on International Trade on Endangered Species (CITES) of wild flora and fauna. Therefore, Agar product sales and exports are regulated as per international protocols. For every state, a quota is fixed and recently the Government of India had increased the quota from states. However, if we want to make Agar Tree a household tree the government needs to emulate the example of one trader Mr Habib Chaudhury from Assam. He took his Agar business from Assam to Laos and settled there and is now a very rich and big trader because he found the Laos government had created a very trader and farmer-friendly quick system of approval for export within a few days.

In India, it is still a big bureaucratic process and involves a lot of paperwork at every stage which discourages the farmers and entrepreneurs. The government apart from promoting Agar plantation trials in suitable agro-climatic zones of the country must first create a customer-friendly business environment. Like in Laos, the DFO office should issue the clearance online and it must have online access with govt of India and the CITES office simultaneously so that clearance is given to traders quickly. With a suitable infrastructure and a friendly regulatory policy framework, the Agarwood business profile has the potential of touching 15,000 to 20,000 crores in the next ten to twelve years.

The tea export of 250.7 million kg during the fiscal year 2023-24 with a value of US$ 776 million corresponding to around 7,000 crores Rupees. I have been writing to create an Agarwood and Red Sanders Board at the government of India level to promote these two species at the international level and to double the farmer's income as desired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and discussed with PCCF and Principal Secretary RK Samal who is keen on leapfrogging the Agarwood policy framework.

It is, therefore, high time that both Centre and States sit together and chalk out a policy framework for this by creating a National Board for Agarwood and Red Sanders to be housed in the Commerce Ministry.

The footwear industry takes a step towards sustainability and social empowerment

With the footwear sector projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate of nearly 12.39 per cent, the emphasis on sustainable growth has never been more crucial

The Indian footwear industry has evolved significantly in the 21st century, blending tradition with innovation. Once solely focused on fashion and quality, the industry now embraces sustainability, fairness and social empowerment. Of late the industry is aggressively pursuing its corporate social responsibility as it is in direct touch with the people on the lower rung of the society. With the footwear sector projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of nearly 12.39 per cent from 2025 to 2032 (as per Statista), the emphasis on sustainable growth has never been more crucial.

Embracing CSR as a Core Strategy
The journey towards sustain-

ability begins with a clear vision that prioritises human welfare alongside business growth. As the Indian footwear industry rapidly expands, it is adapting to meet the expectations of socially conscious consumers. Companies are integrating CSR efforts with government schemes to focus on environmental conservation, education and healthcare.

For instance, Relaxo's CSR initiatives stem from a deep-seated commitment to uplifting underserved communities and making a tangible difference in their lives. Transformative Projects

One of the most compelling examples of CSR in action is seen in Rajasthan's Alwar district, where water scarcity has long been a pressing issue. In response, check dams have been constructed along the Ruparel River under the 'Mukhya Mantri Jal Sanchay Yojana'.

These reservoirs, with a total storage capacity of 146,000 cubic meters, have transformed local agriculture by recharging 455 hectares of irrigated land, benefiting nearly 1,000 families. This initiative highlights the power of responsible water management in enhancing rural livelihoods.

Another impactful initiative is a large-scale afforestation project near the Sariska Tiger Reserve. By planting 50,000 saplings, including 25-30 per cent fruit-bearing trees, this project not only restores biodiversity but also provides sustainable income opportunities for local communities. By involving villagers directly in conservation efforts, such projects promote environmental awareness and reduce human-wildlife conflicts.

Education and Skill Development:

Beyond environmental initiatives, the Indian footwear industry is actively driving change in education and skill development. Recognising the importance of quality education, companies like Relaxo have taken significant steps to improve school infrastructure. The Parivartan Model School Project, for instance, has revitalised over 100 government schools in Haridwar district, particularly in the Khanpur and Laksar blocks. With 77 schools already renovated, the project has upgraded classrooms, built protective boundaries, and improved sanitation and mid-day meal facilities. These enhancements have significantly boosted student enrollment and retention, particularly among girls, creating a more inclusive learning environment.

Equally transformative are vocational training programs that equip young people with marketable skills. Collaborations with NGOs such as GMRVF and Teamlease Foundation have facilitated training for nearly 400 youths annually in fields like customer service, front office management, banking, and financial services. With a job placement rate of around 80 per cent, these programmes are empowering young individuals with skills that ensure long-term career stability.

Healthcare is another area where CSR initiatives are making a significant impact. Relaxo's "Nayan Avoidable Blindness Project" is a shining example. This initiative provides high-quality eye care services to 194 villages in Rajasthan's Tijara Block. Since its inception in 2018, the project has established two advanced vision centers staffed by certified ophthalmic professionals.

Utilising state-of-the-art technology, these centers offer comprehensive eye exams and vision correction services. The project also prioritises training local youth, particularly women, in eye care professions, thereby fostering economic independence. By 2026, the initiative aims to screen nearly 60,000 students across 281 government schools, improving both health outcomes and quality of life in marginalised communities.

Sustainable Business Growth: The future of India's footwear industry is bright, fueled by robust market growth and a strong commitment to CSR. As consumer awareness grows, leading companies like Relaxo are proving that profitability and social responsibility can go hand in hand. By prioritising people and sustainability, the Indian footwear sector is setting a global example—demonstrating that businesses can thrive while making a lasting positive impact on society.

India, UK to resume talks on trade agreement from today

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

After a gap of over eight months, India and the UK will resume negotiations for a proposed free trade agreement (FTA) here from February 24, an official said.

UK's Secretary of State for Business and Trade Jonathan Reynolds will be here for resumption of the talks. He will hold a bilateral meeting with Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal, the official added.

The India-UK FTA negotiations were launched on January 13, 2022.

Total 13 rounds of negotiations have been held till December 2023. The 14th round, which began on January 10, 2024, was underway when negotiations were paused by the UK side in May 2024 due to elections in that country.

The talks would resume the discussions from the progress achieved previously and seek to bridge the gaps for expeditiously closing the trade deal, the official added.

The agreement is aimed at boosting bilateral trade and investments.

In such pacts, two countries either eliminate or significantly reduce customs duties on maximum goods traded between them. They also ease norms for promoting trade in services and bilateral investments.

The Indian industry is demanding greater access for its skilled professionals from sectors like IT and healthcare in the UK market, besides market access for several goods at nil customs duty.

On the other hand, the UK is seeking a significant cut in import duties on goods such as scotch whiskey, electric vehicles, lamb meat, chocolates and certain confectionary items.

Britain is also looking for more opportunities for UK services in Indian markets in segments like telecommunications, legal and financial services, including banking and insurance.

The talks for the agreement may get an impetus as Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman had said that foreign direct investment (FDI) limit for the insurance sector will be raised from 74 per cent to 100 per cent.

Presenting Union Budget 2025-26, the Finance Minister had said that foreign direct investment (FDI) limit for the insurance sector will be raised from 74 per cent to 100 per cent. The two countries are also negotiating a bilateral investment treaty (BIT).

There are 26 chapters in the agreement, which includes goods, services, investments and intellectual property rights.

The bilateral trade between India and the UK increased to USD 21.34 billion in 2023-24 from USD 20.36 billion in 2022-23. The average duty on goods imported from India into the UK is 4.2 per cent.

According to economic think tank GTRI, items including textiles, apparel (shirts, trousers, women's dresses, bed linen), footwear, carpets, cars, marine products, grapes, and mangoes would be benefited from the pact as these products face relatively low to moderate tariffs in the UK.

India's coal imports flat at 201 MT

India's coal imports remained flat at 201.30 million tonnes (MT) in the April-December period of the ongoing financial year. The country's coal import was 201.52 MT in the year-ago period, according to the data compiled by Mjunction services, a leading name in the e-auction space. Coal import in December declined to 19.28 MT over 23.35 MT in the corresponding month of the previous fiscal year. "Imports in December 2024 stood around 19.28 million tonnes as against 23.35 MT imported in December 2023," it said. During April-December 2024, non-coking coal imports were at 128.85 MT, lower than 133.46 MT imported during the same period in the previous year. Coking coal imports were at 40.64 MT during April-December 2024, down from 42.81 MT reported for April-December 2023. "The high stock position in the domestic market, coupled with lower-than-expected demand, has led to a drop in import volumes. We expect the demand scenario to remain unchanged in the coming weeks," mjunction MD & CEO Vinaya Varma said. Coal and Mines Minister G Kishan Reddy recently said reducing coal imports and increasing domestic production is the focus of the government.

'IT sector may see cautious salary hikes amid economic headwinds'

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Salary increments in India's USD 250 billion IT services sector are projected to be moderate in fiscal year 2025, as companies navigate a complex landscape of global economic uncertainties, evolving skill demands, and the increasing adoption of artificial intelligence (AI), according to experts.

Industry experts predict an average wage increase of 4-8.5 per cent, a notable step down from previous years, signalling a shift towards more pragmatic compensation strategies.

"The outlook for salary hikes this year is quite cautious," noted Krishna Vij, VP, TeamLease Digital. "Industry players are looking at increments in the 4 per cent to 8.5 per cent range, which is lower than what we've seen in previous years. This slowdown is largely due to global economic challenges, reduced discretionary spending, and shifting business priorities."

Companies are being more conservative with their salary budgets, and many have even pushed their appraisal cycles beyond the usual April-June period, she said, which has made salary revisions less predictable in the current scenario. "Organisations are shifting to skills-based pay, leveraging Tier II hiring for cost efficiency. Instead of salary hikes, retention bonuses, ESOPs, and project-based incentives are being implemented as compensation strategies," Vij said.

Reed & Willow CEO Janoo Motiani also gave a similar expected hike range, pegging it between 5-8.5 per cent.

"The days of double-digit hikes seem behind us—at least for now. The industry is settling into a more pragmatic rhythm, with average hikes expected to hover between 5 per cent and 8.5 per cent. This aligns with the cautious optimism seen across the sector. TCS has taken the lead, announcing hikes ranging from 4-8 per cent effective April 2025, setting the tone for the rest of the industry."

This massive selling has resulted in the Nifty yielding negative returns of 4 per cent year-to-date.

Marico expects double-digit revenue growth

Home-grown FMCG major Marico expects to deliver a double-digit revenue growth in FY25 helped by sequential improvement with price hike and better volume, its MD & CEO Saugata Gupta said. However, he also mentioned that as far as profitability is concerned there is inflationary pressure on the material inputs in the second half of FY25 and the operating margin should be in the "broad region of 20 per cent" helped by a strong and institutionalised cost management system. "If you look at the volume growth trajectory every quarter, we have sequentially improved. I think the way we look at it is that we should be able to deliver double-digit revenue growth. Our aspiration is to deliver top quartile volume growth," Gupta told PTI. The "diversification journey" of Marico, where it is increasing its play in the food segment, continues to gather momentum and is doing very well, he added. "For example, food in the last two quarters hit an annual recurring revenue (ARR) of Rs 1,000 crore. We have a digital business, and two of our digital brands have scaled. Digital businesses put together have a very low cash burn," he said.

Markets to track global cues, FII trading activity: Analysts

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Global trends, trading activity of foreign investors and news flow on tariffs are expected to influence movement in the equity market in a holiday-shortened week ahead, analysts said.

Equity markets would remain closed on Wednesday for Mahashivratri.

"This week, we expect Nifty to remain in consolidation mode; tracking the mixed global market cues, US trade policy announcements and geopolitical developments with regards to the Russia-Ukraine war," Siddhartha Khemka, Head - Research, Wealth Management, Motilal Oswal Financial Services Ltd, said.

Movement of global oil benchmark Brent crude and the rupee-dollar trend would also dictate market trends this week.

Sebi mulls expanding investors pool for angel funds

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Markets regulator Sebi is looking to expand the definition of qualified institutional buyers (QIB) and remove the 200-investor cap, allowing angel funds to access a broader pool of accredited investors.

This move will enable more wealthy investors to participate, boosting funding for startups. It ensures that only financially strong investors take on high-risk investments, helping Angel Funds raise more capital and support early-stage companies.

Angel Funds, a type of venture capital fund, mobilize money from investors to support startups.

However, concerns have been raised about inadequate verification of investors' risk appetite, the onboarding of numerous investors without strong financial backing, and potential conflicts with private placement regulations under the Companies Act, 2013.

To address these concerns, Sebi previously proposed that only Accredited Investors (AIs) should be allowed to invest in Angel Funds.

Now, the regulator is seeking feedback on amending the definition of QIBs to include accredited investors, specifically for offering investment opportunities and allocating investments through angel funds.

Additionally, Sebi has proposed removing the 200-investor cap for Angel Funds.

Under the Companies Act, private placements cannot be offered to more than 200 investors unless they are QIBs.

Currently, Angel Funds provide investment opportunities to a large number of investors, even though actual investments per company are limited to 200.

'I made Sanya's character a bit like me—little milder, putting herself out there'

TEJAL SINHA
tejal.sinha30@gmail.com

Arati Kadav, known for her distinctive storytelling and emotionally charged narratives, is currently basking in the success of her latest film, Mrs. The film, an adaptation of the critically acclaimed Malayalam movie The Great Indian Kitchen, has resonated deeply with audiences, sparking conversations about gender roles, marriage and self-discovery. As the film continues to engage viewers, Kadav reflects on her creative journey of adapting the original work, the motivations behind her choices and her experience working with lead actress Sanya Malhotra.

"I'm really happy with the conversation and dialogue," says Kadav with a tone of genuine gratitude in this exclusive chat with The Pioneer. "It's just nice to see that people are responding and connecting to the film so much." She elaborates on her initial feelings about adapting the original Malayalam film for a North Indian audience, admitting that while she was excited, she also felt apprehensive. "Initially, when we were planning to adapt this for North India, I was apprehensive because I'm a huge fan of the original. But I felt it needed to be slightly more accessible," she explains. "My mother, for instance, is a typical audience for a story like this, and I knew she would connect with it."

The desire to broaden the film's appeal, especially to younger viewers, also influenced her casting decisions. "I just felt that we could go wider with it. We could cast someone whom young girls really relate to. For example, Sanya Malhotra—she's someone many young girls see themselves in. That was the idea behind adapting it." By blending universal truths with her personal voice, she has created a film that resonates with audiences on a profound level, demonstrating her unique gift as a filmmaker.

For Kadav, Mrs. was deeply personal. Having seen similar experiences unfold in North India, she felt compelled to tell this story from her own perspective. "North India has a lot of these small, small things that I've seen firsthand. I felt it was important to tell this story from my perspective," she explains. "This is a very burning, very urgent story. I wanted my mother to watch it and I wanted other women, who may not be open to watching a Malayali film, to be able to connect with it."

Adapting a beloved film with such a dedicated fan base was not without its challenges. Kadav acknowledged that audiences, particularly those who engage with films online, often have strong emotional attachments to the original.

"When you remake a film that people have a strong relationship with, it's always a bigger challenge," she notes. "The question was, how do we break that challenge?" To overcome this, Kadav and her team focused on maintaining a high standard of technical quality while also staying true to the core honesty of the story.

"I made it with a lot of honesty, sincerity and love," she explains. "I'm telling the story of my aunts, my cousins, my Didi—people I admire. I've met young girls, whom I never thought would go through something like this, but they are. I wanted to tell their stories with the honesty they deserve."

She also reflected on the responsibility she felt toward the women who shared their experiences during the research phase of the film. "For the sacredness of the relationship I had with these girls who were honest enough to open up to me, I thought I should also be honest with my work when I make it for them," she says, emphasizing the deep sense of duty she felt toward those whose stories she was telling.

Speaking of her collaboration with Sanya Malhotra, Kadav couldn't help but praise the actress for her dedication and emotional range. "Sanya is a director's dream. She prepares so hard, brings so much sincerity and depth to her character. She had diary entries for every scene and met many women to truly empathise with them," Kadav shares. "Her empathy was so high that she was crying along with them, listening to their stories. She brought that empathy into this role."

Kadav also spoke about the physically and emotionally demanding nature of the role for Sanya. "It was a very intense role, not just emotionally, but in terms of the shoot itself. I was shooting it like a theater piece, making them do big, big scenes in one go. I would take multiple retakes until I got the right vibe of the scene," she reveals. "There's one scene where Sanya is eating cassata ice cream. We did five or six takes for that, so she must have eaten three or four ice creams for that scene alone. In every take, the ice cream became worse and worse and we channeled that into the scene."

Kadav also highlighted Sanya's authenticity, noting that the actress doesn't rely on tricks like glycerin to evoke tears. "She doesn't pretend to be sad—she actually feels it. As we progressed, Sanya became deeply affected by the role. She had to detach herself sometimes and remind herself it's just a role, but she was so emotionally invested that she felt it deeply. She would say, 'I can't believe this happens to real girls.'"

The adaptation also brought with it some narrative shifts. While the original film revolves around the Sabarimala Temple ruling, Kadav made a deliberate choice to shift the focus toward a dance troupe and YouTube channel. "For me, the whole story had a stronger POV of this girl who's enthusiastic about her own passion," Kadav explains. "We really wanted to bring her passion to the forefront—just like how she keeps going back to cooking, we wanted her to keep going back to her passion for dancing and making videos."

Kadav further reflected on the emotional core of the film, particularly a pivotal moment where Sanya's character is asked to erase her videos. "When someone asked her to delete the videos, it felt like asking her to erase her complete identity," she says adding, "In Mrs., we didn't adapt the Sabarimala plotline, as it didn't resonate with North Indian audiences. However, we touched on Karva Chauth, a festival that symbolises patriarchy and subtly questioned its underlying norms without going too extreme."

As the film progresses, Kadav's personal voice continues to influence the narrative. She reflects on how her own perspective shaped certain key moments, particularly scenes that felt particularly personal. "There were a lot of elements that I thought were very unique to the adaptation. Especially in the scenes where Sanya is looking at herself in the mirror or trying to dance—those moments felt very personal to me."

She also shared that the excitement, sweetness and vulnerability of Sanya's character were reflective of her own experiences. "The whole point of view—the excitement, the sweetness, the way she's still seeking validation—was very much a part of my personality too. I made Sanya a bit like me, just a little milder. She's trying to impress, she's understanding, and she's putting herself out there."

Among Kadav's favourite scenes is one where Sanya visits a friend's house, gets drunk and laughs uncontrollably. "That was a uniquely personal moment. It felt like it was our own—it truly reflected both the character and my own connection to her."

When asked about a scene every man in India should watch, Kadav offered a simple yet profound perspective: "Just one day in the life of that character," she said. "It could be any day because so often, we don't see what women do. A lot of their work is invisible. Men go to the office, their work is visible. But women—especially those we label as housewives—are doing so much. In Mrs., the scene where Sanya is upset but continues working encapsulates this. Men often take a break when they're upset, but women don't have that luxury—they have to keep going."

Looking ahead, Kadav revealed that she is working on several new projects, including a few science fiction scripts that maintain a deep emotional connection. "I'm working on a few scripts right now. Some in the science fiction genre, but with a very deep emotional connect. You'll hear about them soon."

With Mrs., Kadav has once again proven her exceptional ability to craft narratives that are not only engaging and deeply poignant but also grounded in real-life experiences.

I'm telling the story of my aunts, my cousins, my Didi—people I admire. I've met young girls, whom I never thought would go through something like this, but they are. I wanted to tell their stories with the honesty they deserve

Innovations driving sustainable luxury

The world is changing every single day in 2025 in the direction of a more sustainable and greener future. In a world that is rapidly changing, sustainability is now a need rather than an option. As environmental issues get more attention, hotels, resorts and other lodging establishments are trying to combine comfort and elegance with an understanding of their environmental responsibilities. Consumer expectations, technology developments, and the urgent need to slow down climate change are the main drivers of this transition.

Renewable energy utilisation

One of the best strategies to increase the sustainability of the hospitality industry is to use renewable energy sources. To lessen their need for fossil fuels, several hotels are making investments in geothermal, wind and solar energy. Solar panels, for instance, may power anything from water heating systems to lights, thereby reducing emissions and electricity costs. In order to guarantee that renewable energy sources power their operations, several properties are also collaborating with green energy providers.

Waste reduction strategies

Amrita Gupta, Director of Manglam Group and Founder President of CREDAI Rajasthan Women's Wing shares with us that the conservation of water is the cornerstone of environmental sustainability. She adds, "It's important to use less water and find newer ways to save more every day. Hotels are implementing comprehensive recycling programs, composting organic waste and exploring waste-to-energy technologies. Meanwhile, food waste is also a significant concern, and many establishments now partner with food banks or adopt smart inventory management systems to reduce excess. Additionally, some hotels are repurposing wastewater for irrigation or cooling systems, thereby conserving water."

Eco-friendly guest practices

It's critical to motivate visitors to take part in environmental initiatives. Significant environmental advantages may result from this practice. Reusable toiletry dispensers, computerised check-ins to cut down on paper waste, and towel and linen reuse programs are all being promoted by hotels. Another method hotels are using is offering rewards, such as loyalty points or discounts, to encourage eco-friendly behaviour.

Growing demand for sustainable Travel

The demand for green hospitality is largely driven by environmentally conscious travellers. "Hotels that demonstrate their commitment to sustainability through certifications like LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) or EarthCheck often attract eco-conscious travellers. Additionally, many booking platforms now offer filters that allow travellers to choose eco-friendly accommodations, further reinforcing the importance of green hospitality," shares Amrita.

Sustainable hospitality practices

Sustainability in hospitality is not limited to energy conservation and waste management. The industry's green transformation also extends to design, sourcing and guest engagement.

Sustainable hotel design and construction

Green building practices are shaping the future of hospitality. Hotels are increasingly constructed using sustainable materials, such as recycled wood, reclaimed metal and locally sourced stone. Additionally, modern designs incorporate natural lighting, efficient insulation, and ventilation systems that reduce energy consumption. These efforts not only lower the hotel's carbon footprint but also create aesthetically pleasing, healthier environments for guests.

Locally sourced and organic food options

One of the most impactful ways hospitality businesses can promote sustainability is through food sourcing. Supporting local farmers and producers reduces transportation emissions and strengthens regional economies. Farm-to-table dining experiences, where restaurants use ingredients grown in their gardens, are becoming popular among eco-conscious travellers. Seasonal and organic menu options further enhance sustainability efforts while offering guests fresh, high-quality meals.

Eco-friendly transportation solutions

Many luxury resorts and hotels are taking steps to provide sustainable transportation options for guests. Electric vehicle (EV) charging stations, bicycle rentals, and shuttle services using hybrid or electric vehicles are now common in green hospitality. Encouraging guests to explore destinations through walking or cycling not only reduces emissions but also enriches their travel experience.

Business benefits of sustainable hospitality

While sustainability is often perceived as a moral obligation, it also presents significant business advantages. Adopting green initiatives can lead to cost savings in energy and water consumption, reduce waste disposal expenses and enhance brand reputation. Hotels that prioritise sustainability often attract a loyal customer base, particularly among younger travellers who value ethical business practices.

Additionally, government regulations and incentives in many regions encourage businesses to adopt environmentally friendly operations. Tax benefits, grants and subsidies for implementing green technologies make it financially viable for hotels to transition towards sustainable practices.

Tourists can fully observe how hotels and resorts have been adopting green practices to reduce carbon footprint. This not only enhances the experience of the guests but shows their commitment towards protecting the environment. As we move further into the 21st century, sustainable hospitality will become an industry standard rather than a niche approach. Technological advancements, such as AI-powered energy management systems and smart room controls, will further enhance sustainability efforts. Moreover, as consumers become more environmentally conscious, the demand for eco-friendly accommodations will continue to grow. Businesses that are embracing sustainability are not only contributing to a greener planet but are also securing their place in a future where responsible tourism is the norm.

Nikita Dutta reveals fitness regime beyond workout

In an era where instant gratification often extends to our eating habits, actress Nikita Dutta stands as an inspiration for disciplined and mindful living. A strong advocate for fitness, she has maintained an unwavering commitment to health for over a decade. Known for her passion for running, Nikita has been participating in marathons for the past ten years, with an impressive six-year streak at the prestigious Bombay Marathon.

At a recent event, Nikita proudly shared her long-standing commitment to avoiding processed foods. She revealed:

"I've actually been following this for the last 13 years of my life since I adopted a healthier lifestyle and I swear by it. I'm very proud to say that I have not touched instant noodles in the last 13 years—no Maggi, no Ramen, none of that. I have not touched any biscuits, you know, the classic ones you get in a packet. I've also avoided farsan, and my entire theory is that no matter how healthy they claim to be, they will have preservatives. Anything that comes in a packet for six months, a year, or two years is not part of my diet."

Her strict stance on processed foods highlights her belief in consuming fresh, unprocessed ingredients, a lifestyle choice that has helped her maintain peak fitness.

Beyond her disciplined diet, Nikita's fitness journey is inspiring. She actively engages in high-intensity workouts, strength training and endurance-building activities. Her dedication to running, especially her consistent participation in marathons, showcases her deep-rooted passion for physical well-being.

LAKSHMI MANCHU REVEALS HOW SRIDEVI CHANGED HER VIEW ON BEAUTY SECRETS

Actress Lakshmi Manchu in the latest episode of her popular show Beauty With Lakshmi welcomed Maheep Kapoor as a guest, where the two discussed various important topics surrounding self-care and women's health. The episode focused on issues like perimenopause, the significance of a good diet and sleep, and the need for women to prioritize their well-being for a healthier life.

In the course of the conversation, Lakshmi Manchu shared a heartwarming and amusing anecdote about her encounter with the legendary actress Sridevi. Recalling a moment from her gym experience, Lakshmi revealed how she once saw Sridevi on a treadmill with her hair oiled up, an image that left a lasting impression on her.

Lakshmi shared, "I remember being at a gym once when she was there and I couldn't enter because she had put this oil in her hair and was on the treadmill. This was in Hyderabad and then I realized that Sridevi ji was on the treadmill with her hair fully oiled." The anecdote was a personal reflection on how Lakshmi, as a South Indian, had grown up with the practice of oiling hair, which she once found cumbersome. However, witnessing Sridevi's natural beauty and confidence while performing this traditional ritual made Lakshmi rethink her views.

She went on to say, "Growing up, oil was a special part of South Indians and earlier, I used to hate it. But that one moment just shifted it for me. I realised that if the legendary Sridevi is doing it, it has to be incredible because she is all natural."

The heartwarming story highlighted not just the influence Sridevi had on those around her, but also the significance of embracing cultural traditions in modern times. Lakshmi's personal revelation resonated with viewers, offering a glimpse into the admiration she had for the late actress while also sharing a relatable moment from her own life.

Babar conspicuously absent from Pakistan nets

PTI ■ DUBAI

Pakistan's star batter Babar Azam was conspicuous by his absence from the team's training and there was no clarity on his availability for the Champions Trophy (CT) clash against India here on Sunday even as the country's cricket board chief Mohsin Naqvi urged the side to win "at any cost".

Speculation is rife that he may not be considered for the match after he was not seen at the practice session on Saturday evening. The practice was attended by PCB chief Naqvi and Azam was the only player who chose to take the day off.

Azam copped a lot of criticism for a 94-ball 64 in the 60-run loss to New Zealand in the opening match. He was lambasted for failing to accelerate while the asking rate crept up in the chase of 320 runs in Karachi. Interim head coach Aqib Javed, who addressed the media after practice, did not give any specific reason for Azam's absence, saying that the former captain chose to rest.

Last night, Naqvi met the Pakistan cricket team at the Dubai International Cricket Stadium, and urged them to win Sunday's crucial match against India "at any cost" to silence critics. Pakistan would be knocked out of the tournament if they lose this game.

The team was scheduled to practice for about two hours but the proceedings were halted within an hour as Naqvi took "stock of things", met captain Mohammad Rizwan and head coach

Aqeeb Javed and discussed cricketing matters with them. PTI has learnt through reliable sources that he urged the captain, coach and players to give it their best shot against India and win the match to "silence their critics, including himself."

He was seen having a long chat with pacers Shaheen Shah Afridi and Haris Rauf. Naqvi, who was reportedly unhappy with the selection of the team, made it a point to meet each and every player, coach and support staff.

Later, Naqvi told media-persons that the Pakistani team was ready to face India and do well against them.

"It would be a great game and our team is fully prepared and in my opinion, they are in form. We are with our team, whether they win or lose," he said.

When asked about Pakistan having to play India here despite being the hosts of Champions trophy, he quipped: "You should ask this to Indians if the same would have happened to them, then how they would have felt?"

India had refused to travel to Pakistan citing security concerns and are playing their share of Champions Trophy matches in Dubai. Even the final of the tournament will be held in Dubai if India go the distance.

India face Dutch in Women's FIH Pro League match

PTI ■ BHUBANESWAR

A faltering India would look to halt the slide when they take on reigning champions the Netherlands in their women's FIH Pro League match here on Monday.

India's home leg so far hasn't gone according to script with the team currently placed seventh in the standings with seven points from six games.

They had opened their campaign with a thrilling 3-2 win over England but lost the second game against the same opponents in the shoot-out.

Against Spain, the hosts came agonisingly close but suffered back-to-back defeats, first losing 3-4 and then being edged out 0-1 in a tightly-fought match.

Against Germany, India endured a 0-4 defeat in the first leg but bounced back by securing a 1-0 win in the second leg.

The team would look to forget the dismal run and just carry forward the momentum of defeating Germany in the previous match and hope the Dutch are not at their menacing best.

The Dutch are in dominant form, having comprehensively defeated England 5-1 and 6-0 in their last two matches. They have recorded five wins and just one loss in their six matches, placing them second in the table with 15 points.

They will be eager to maintain their momentum and continue their impressive run in the competition.

India captain Salima Tete acknowledged that getting past the Dutch would be easier said than done, though she added her team was motivated as they wanted to end the home leg on a high.

"The Netherlands are one of the strongest teams in the world, and we know it's going to be a tough match. But we are motivated to give it our best shot and finish the India leg of the tournament on a high. Our win against Germany gave us a lot of confidence, and we have worked on improving our weaknesses," said Salima.

India and the Netherlands have faced each other seven times since 2013, with the European powerhouse winning five of those matches, while India have secured just one win.

Inter Milan beats Genoa 1-0

PTI ■ ROME

Lautaro Martinez scored late and Inter Milan beat Genoa 1-0 to take the provisional lead in Serie A on Saturday.

Lautaro met a corner with a header that deflected off a defender's chest before going in to break a deadlock at the San Siro.

The Argentina striker then climbed up on a security fence to celebrate with Inter's fans on the other side.

Inter moved one point ahead of Antonio Conte's Napoli, which can reclaim the lead with a win at Como on Sunday.

Next weekend, Inter visits Napoli. AC Milan falls further into crisis after Champions League exit Four days after getting eliminated from the Champions League, AC Milan dropped further into crisis with an error-strewn 2-1 loss at Torino.

The mistakes started with an own goal from Malick Thiaw five minutes in when a clearance from Milan goalkeeper Mike Maignan ricocheted off his own defender into the net.

United States international Christian Pulisic then failed to convert a penalty for the first time in his career when Torino goalkeeper Sergej Milinkovic-Savic lunged to his right to push away the American's low spot kick.

Milinkovic-Savic has saved four of the five penalties he's faced this season.

After a shot from Milan's Joao Felix hit the post, the Rossoneri equalized with a shot from Tijjani Reijnders in the 74th. But Torino reclaimed the lead two minutes later with a quick shot from Gvidas Gineitis following a free kick that seemed to surprise Milan.

Milan remained seventh while Torino moved up to 11th.

On Tuesday, Milan was eliminated from the Champions League by Feyenoord on 2-1 aggregate.

Earlier, Parma coach Cristian Chivu had a successful debut with a 2-0 win over regional rival Bologna; and fourth-place Lazio was held to a 0-0 draw at relegation-threatened Venezia.

UP Warriorz to face challenge from Mandhana

PTI ■ BENGALURU

Royal Challengers Bengaluru's sturdy middle-order, in-form skipper Smriti Mandhana and a partisan home crowd will be the major challenges UP Warriorz will have to face when the two teams clash in their Women's Premier League match here on Monday.

India vice-captain Mandhana has been in red-hot form, smashing five half-centuries and a ton in the last 10 matches she has played for the country and her franchise.

But the top-order batter would not like to take Deepti Sharma's side, who just picked their maiden win of the season, lightly, knowing well that Australia pace all-rounder Tahlia McGrath's power-hitting could turn tables around anytime in the contest.

However, after having made a confident start with back-to-back victories, and chasing down a 200-plus score against Gujarat Giants with plenty of deliveries to spare, Mandhana would have oodles of confidence in her side going into the contest.

Though RCB suffered a setback in their previous outing against Harmanpreet Kaur's side Mumbai Indians, it was more on account of the Bengaluru team's middle-order having an off day, though Elyse Perry stood rock-solid with a fine 81.

Overall RCB have performed remarkably well so far this season, one of the reasons they are leading the table with four points from three games and maintaining a healthy net run rate (NRR) of +0.835.

UP Warriorz, on the other hand, have not enjoyed a great start which is evident as they are placed fourth with two points from three games in the five-team league.

It's partly because of the team dishing out below-par performance despite having ace India spinner Deepti McGrath and England stalwart Sophie Ecclestone in the side.

After consecutive losses to Gujarat Giants and Delhi Capitals, they did manage to defeat the Delhi franchise in the return match at Bengaluru but it was more on account of individual efforts from the young right-arm pacer Kranti Goud (4/25) and Australian veteran spinner Grace Harris (4/15).

A team like RCB might prove to be a difficult customer for them.

Arsenal loses to West Ham

PTI ■ LONDON

A prolific striker might have cost the team the chance to win the Premier League title. Frequently collecting red cards hasn't helped, either.

Second-place Arsenal was unexpectedly beaten 1-0 at home by West Ham on Saturday to dent its title challenge, just when it seemed Liverpool was starting to look vulnerable.

The result left Liverpool with an eight-point lead, having played the same number of games as Arsenal, and that advantage could grow when the Reds play Manchester City away on Sunday.

Jarrod Bowen's 44th-minute header secured a win for West Ham, which arrived at Emirates Stadium with just one victory in its last eight games. There was worse to come for Arsenal, with left back Myles Lewis-Skelly handed a red card in the 73rd following a video review for his foul on Mohammed Kudus as the last man.

It was Arsenal's fifth red card of the campaign — two more than any other team — and its disciplinary record under Arteta is understandably coming under scrutiny, given it has contributed to valuable dropped points this season.

Maybe a bigger annoyance to fans is the club's decision to not sign a proven out-and-out striker either last offseason or in the winter transfer window.

With forwards Kai Havertz, Bukayo Saka, Gabriel Martinelli and Gabriel Jesus all out injured, Arsenal had only two shots on target against West Ham. "I am very disappointed, and obviously very angry as well," Arsenal manager Mikel Arteta said. "Even though we had 20 shots, I never felt that we were at the standard and the level that we needed."

"We have to be (angry), and I hope we are because we didn't hit the levels today, and I am very much responsible for that so I am very, very angry."

Guirassy scores 4 goals for Dortmund

PTI ■ DORTMUND

Serhou Guirassy became the first player since Erling Haaland to score four goals for Borussia Dortmund in a 6-0 rout of Union Berlin on Saturday in the Bundesliga.

"Four goals, victory, amazing fans," Guirassy told broadcaster Sky after the game. "The first time in my life, I think. Four goals is such a great thing. I'm happy of course, but always, the most important is the team and the victory."

Haaland scored his four in a 5-2 win at Hertha Berlin in November 2020.

"World class," Dortmund coach Нико Kovac said of Guirassy's performance. "There's nothing else to say."

Kovac also praised midfielder Pascal Gross for setting up four goals.

Guirassy had only scored nine in 19 league games prior to Union's visit, far from reaching the 28 goals he scored in 28 Bundesliga appearances for Stuttgart last season.

Altogether he scored 44 goals in 58 games over two seasons at Stuttgart after joining the German club from French team Rennes in 2022.

The Guinea star was the second player after Germany defender Waldemar Anton to join Dortmund from Bundesliga runner-up Stuttgart last summer, but both struggled to impress as Dortmund made a faltering start to the season.

The club finally fired Nuri Sahin as coach in January, appointing Kovac, the former Eintracht Frankfurt and Bayern Munich coach, in his place. But Kovac also labored to get the team going as Dortmund lost both of his first two Bundesliga games in charge.

Performances in the Champions League suggested the team was capable of more.

Dortmund won 3-0 at Sporting Lisbon, then drew 0-0 against the Portuguese team on Wednesday to seal progress to the last 16.

Guirassy scored one goal and set up another in Lisbon. He has 10 goals and five assists in the Champions League this season.

At Stuttgart, Guirassy thrived in a strike partnership with Germany forward Deniz Undav. At Dortmund he has been more isolated.

He benefited from Gio Reyna being given a rare start on Saturday as Kovac gave the young American just his second league start this season.

New Zealand aim for semifinal spot, Bangladesh fight for survival

PTI ■ RAWALPINDI

A confident New Zealand side will be eager to seal their semifinal spot when they take on Bangladesh, who will be fighting for survival, in their Champions Trophy (CT) Group A match here on Monday.

The Black Caps started their campaign in dominant fashion, defeating hosts Pakistan by 60 runs. This emphatic victory placed them at the top of Group A with a healthy net run rate of 1.200.

A win on Monday will put them within touching distance of a semifinal berth.

Bangladesh, on the other hand, suffered a six-wicket loss to India and currently sit third in the group with a net run rate of -0.408. They must secure a victory to stay in contention for the knockout stage.

New Zealand looked clinical in their opening match, and their recent triumph in the tri-series has further helped them adapt to the conditions in Pakistan.

However, they now face a selection dilemma with the potential return of Rachin Ravindra from a head injury.

In his absence, Devon Conway and Will Young opened the innings. Initially, Young was expected to make way for Ravindra, but the right-hander's century against Pakistan has complicated the decision — in a positive way.

Moreover, Young has consistently proven his ability to handle spin bowling effectively. Dropping him would also disrupt the left-hand-right-hand combination at the top, which could be crucial for New Zealand's batting strategy.

Meanwhile, Conway appears to be regaining his best form.

Apart from this selection call, New Zealand look well-settled and are unlikely to make further changes to their playing XI.

Bangladesh, however, face an uphill task and must regroup quickly after their disappointing defeat against neighbours India.

Chappell calls curtains on his five-decade-long journalistic career

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Legendary cricketer Ian Chappell's insightful writings, critical reviews and anecdotes from his playing days will be missed after the Australian icon called curtains on his more than five-decade-long journalistic career, penning his last piece on Sunday.

The 81-year-old fondly recalled some of the best moments he has written about, including the legendary battle between Sachin Tendulkar and the late spin wizard Shane Warne in the 1998 Chennai Test, as well as VVS Laxman's iconic 281 against Australia in Kolkata, in his last column for 'ESPNcricinfo'.

"There have been many pleasures from writing, notably Sachin Tendulkar combating Shane Warne in Chennai. Other highlights included writing about the genius of Brian Lara, Ricky Ponting's aggression, and VVS Laxman's classic 281 in Kolkata," Chappell wrote.

However, he felt the time was right for him to "put down the pen and pack away the computer", adding that retirement from journalism was as emotional as stepping away from cricket.

"I have been writing for more than 50 years, but the time has come and this will be my last column. Retirement from journalism is similar to cricket - I knew the time was right," said the former top-order batter, who played 75 Tests, scoring 5,345 runs.

"In my playing days I asked former Australia captain Richie Benaud if retirement was a difficult decision. 'No Ian,' Benaud replied wisely, 'It's easy. You'll know the right time.'"

Chappell said he would miss writing columns and shared an anecdote about how alcohol cannot enhance the quality of a piece, giving his example as a test case. Chappell added his columns has a "substantial influence" of American sports writer Walter Wellesley "Red" Smith. "The influence of Pulitzer-winning writer 'Red' Smith The Australian said he was a stickler for deadlines and despite coming close to busting them a few times, he managed to avoid the embarrassment.

"Despite that stumble, I never missed a deadline - came close a couple of times, but was never late. My wife Barbara-Ann has been a positive influence both as an excellent sub-editor and also by telling me."

"However, the time has come to close the writing section of my computer. I wish each and every one who has helped and befriended me along the way all the best in their future endeavours."

"I will miss filing a column, as writing has been a favoured task. A writing career spanning more than 50 years means I surpassed my journey both as a cricketer and a broadcaster. A justifiable part of writing is, it's all your own work -- it might be rubbish but at least it's your rubbish."
