PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■
NEW DELHI/CHANDIGARH

A plane carrying 119 illegal immigrants from the US landed at the Amritsar airport on Saturday night, the second such batch of Indians to be deported by the Donald Trump administration as part of its promised crackdown on illegal migration. Before the arrival and another scheduled deportee flight for Sunday created a lot of furore and controversy across the country with political parties crossing swords.

Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann questioned the move to land another plane at the Amritsar airport, as he accused the Centre of trying to defame Punjab as part of a conspiracy and sought to know under which criteria the Amritsar airport was chosen to land the second aircraft, BJP hit back accusing the AAP leader of playing politics over the matter.

Among the 119 deportees, 100 are from Punjab and Haryana alone. While 67 are from Punjab, 33 are from Haryana, eight from Gujarat, three from Uttar Pradesh, two each from Goa, Maharashtra and Rajasthan, and one each from Himachal Pradesh and Jammu and Kashmir. The second batch of illegal Indian immigrants includes four women and two minors, including a six-year-old girl. Most of the deportees are in the age group of 18 to 30, sources said. A third plane carrying 157 deportees is also expected to land on February 16. On February 5, a US military aircraft carrying 104 illegal Indian immigrants landed at the Amritsar airport. Of them, 33 each were from Haryana and Gujarat, and 30 from Punjab.

Mann visited the airport on Saturday and said his government has made arrangements to take the residents of Punjab from among the second batch of deportees to their hometowns. The deportees who hail from other states will head to Delhi from Amritsar in a flight on Sunday morning and then they will be taken to their respective places. Talking to reporters at the airport, Mann continued his attack on the Centre and said, "Do not make our holy city (Amritsar) a deport centre." Hitting back at Mann, BJP leader Tarun Chugh said on Saturday, "Bhagwant Mann sahab, people of Punjab want to know how the innocent youths went out, why they had to go, who were those who spoiled their lives. Why they had to go adopting illegal routes, who sent them, and who were the fraudulent agents who spoiled their lives." "The youths were forced to sell their land, houses. Rather than catching the culprits and acting against those who spoiled the lives of these youths, the 'AAP-da' party leader is doing politics over the issue," Chugh, who is also BJP's general secretary, said.

BJP's national spokesperson R P Singh also took a dig at Mann, and told him to stop politicising the issue. "Amritsar is the closest international airport for flights entering India from the US. That's why the plane carrying illegal immigrants is landing there. Stop politicising the issue and promoting conspiracy theories due to your lack of knowledge," Singh said in a social media post. Senior BJP leader and former Union minister Uma Bharti lashed out at the US government for the "cruel and extremely shameful manner" in which it deported the illegal Indian immigrants recently. In a post on social media platform, Uma Bharti said, "The manner in which the illegal Indian immigrants were sent back from America in handcuffs and shackles is extremely shameful and a blot on humanity."

"The American governments have shown this cruel and violent attitude towards Red Indians and people of African origin living there many times, she alleged. "When they (deportees) were being sent by a plane, keeping them in handcuffs and shackles shows the cruelty and inhumanity of the American administration. Entering a country illegally is a crime, every country has provisions for its punishment as per the law, but such cruelty is a great sin," the BJP leader said.

The North American Punjabi Association expressed serious concern over human trafficking, saying the government must take immediate action to prevent youths from taking illegal and dangerous routes to reach foreign shores. Satnam Singh Chahal, the Executive Director of the North American Punjabi Association (NAPA) alleged that despite repeated warnings and several tragic incidents, the government has failed to implement effective measures to curb illegal migration.

AAP appointments under scrutiny

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

In order to crackdown on the 'tentacles' of the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) within the Delhi government, Delhi Chief Secretary Dharmendra has asked all Secretaries and Heads of Department to compile a list of appointments of chairpersons and members made by the previous AAP government. The move may spark controversy as the AAP government had faced allegations of appointing party members and close aides of ministers to various non-official posts, allegedly bypassing established laws and government regulations.

In order to crackdown on the tentacles of the Aam Aadmi Party within the Delhi government, Delhi Chief Secretary Dharmendra has asked all Secretaries and Heads of Department to compile a list of appointments of chairpersons and members made by the previous AAP government. The move may spark controversy as the AAP government had faced allegations of appointing party members and close aides of ministers to various non-official posts, allegedly bypassing established laws and government regulations.

According to top sources, the Services Department has already received lists of non-official appointees from multiple departments. Once the compilation is complete, the list will be forwarded to the Chief Secretary for further action.

The Chief Secretary had previously discussed the matter in a meeting with HoDs and Secretaries, instructing them to prepare detailed records of all non-official appointments of chairpersons and members made by the AAP government. As per the minutes of the meeting, "All departments and their organizations shall submit a list of non-official appointments made under various Acts and Rules pertaining to their respective departments." Departments have been directed to submit their lists by February 13, after which further decisions will be made regarding these appointments. Sources indicate that hundreds of AAP workers and supporters have been appointed to key positions in various Delhi government departments over the past decade. Many of these appointments were reportedly made in Mohalla Clinics, governing bodies of educational institutions, and state public undertakings. Insiders claim that these appointments were primarily given to party volunteers, raising concerns about favoritism and possible violations of government procedures. The review ordered by the Chief Secretary is expected to examine whether these selections were made following due process or if they were politically motivated. In July 2023, the Delhi Services Department had ordered that 437 private persons appointed as advisers, fellows and consultants via "back door entry" by the Aam Aadmi Party government are "void ab initio" (void from the beginning) and directed the departments concerned to stop their services.

The 437 appointments include 140 fellows and associate fellows appointed at the Delhi Assembly Research Centre (DARC) since 2019. The Services department had compiled the information received from 23 departments and agencies of the Delhi government that engaged private persons as "specialists". During the scrutiny by the Services department, it was found that 69 persons were engaged in five departments of Archaeology, Environment, Delhi Archives, Women and Child Development and Industries without the approval of the competent authority. Also, 13 Boards, autonomous bodies which engaged 155 persons, did not take the necessary approval.

Sheesh Mahal under CVC lens

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

In mounting trouble for the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) National Convener and former Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal, the Central Vigilance Commission (CVC) has ordered a detailed probe into allegations of irregularities in the construction and expenditures incurred on interiors of his residence, 6, Flagstaff Road, during his tenure in office, on the basis of a factual report submitted by the Central Public Works Department (CPWD). construction of what the BJP has dubbed the "Sheeshmahal," spanning 40,000 square yards (8 acres). Bengaluru airport to have train connectivity to city

BENGALURU/NEW DELHI

To beat the chronic traffic problem in silicon city Bengaluru, the Indian Railways in a first of its kind has announced to connect the metropolitan to the Bengaluru Airport. Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnav said that, in addition to road, metro rail, and suburban railway services provided by the State government, Indian Railways will also introduce a train travel option from Kempegowda International Airport to Bengaluru city.

However, he noted that a few technical challenges need to be addressed before this can be implemented and the Railway team is working on resolving them. Addressing media, Vaishnav said that people currently have access to Bengaluru airport via Metro Rail, road, and the suburban railway project managed by the Rail Infrastructure Development Company (Karnataka) (K-RIDE). K-RIDE, a joint venture between the Centre and the state, is under construction and aims to enhance urban rail connectivity. "Apart from Metro Rail, road and K-RIDE, we are also creating a railway connectivity option to the airport," Vaishnav said. He recalled that during his last visit, he travelled by train from the airport to the city.

"I realised it was a comfortable 40 to 45-minute ride. However, there were some technical issues, particularly the need to construct a rail flyover. The team has now completed the necessary work and they presented the concept to me today. I will share it with you soon. This will bring significant relief to the people," the Minister said.

He also emphasised the importance of suburban and metro projects for Bengaluru, a city with a population of 1.5 crore. "It's a very large city, and we need to rapidly expand metro and suburban rail networks. The state and Centre must work in a synchronised manner," he pointed out.

Biryani, chicken curry included in Singapore's emergency meal kits

PTI ■ SINGAPORE

Curry chicken with biryani rice is among the five meal options prepared by SATS Ltd, or Singapore Airport Terminal Services, ready-to-eat foods for public consumption during national emergencies.

SATS, a Singapore-headquartered solutions company, has spent four to six months on research and development before finalising five meal options. Besides biryani -- a popular Indian dish in the city-state, the other meal options are chicken bolognese pasta, fish porridge with sweet potato and pumpkin, sweet spicy tomato fish with basmati rice, and vegetable marinara pasta. The meals are prepared in a SATS halal-certified kitchen in Singapore, reported Channel News Asia on Saturday. The report said these meals require no refrigeration, can be eaten at room temperature without reheating and have a shelf life of up to eight months.

Leveraging its experience in producing army combat rations, food caterer SATS has developed these products.

"As with any ambient product, we have to do a real-time shelf-life study... once we are assured of the quality, then we launch the commercial production," said Jean Sin, head of innovation and product development at SATS.

About 150,000 of these meals will be distributed between Saturday (February 15) and February 28 as part of this year's Exercise SG Ready, a component of Singapore's Total Defence campaign. The exercise allows people in Singapore to experience simulated power outages and disruptions to food supplies, among other scenarios. More than 100,000 students and teachers from over 90 schools, and three Institute of Technical Education colleges, along with over 8,000 seniors from 111 Active Ageing Centres, will be able to try these meals.

While long-shelf-life meals are often assumed to be unappetising, a taste test revealed otherwise.

The texture of the meals also closely resembled freshly cooked food, with the chicken, fish and rice maintaining a natural mouthfeel.

Nutritional value is another key consideration. Sin said the meals provide essential energy and nutrients, including carbohydrates, protein, fibre and fat.

PNS : LATEHAR

Opium cultivation in about 45 acres of land in Mahuatand forest under the Herhanj police station area of Latehar was destroyed by police using bulldozers and tractors on Friday. Bulldozers were used for the first time against opium cultivation.

Latehar SP Kumar Gaurav had said that there was a tip off on opium cultivation being done on a large scale in the Mahuatand forest. After the information, a team was formed under the leadership of Balumath DSP Vinod Rawani and police station in-charge Krishna Pal Singh Pawaiya and a raid was conducted against opium cultivation. There was no way to go to the place where opium was cultivated.

The police somehow covered a distance of about 18 to 20 kilometers in the forest path and reached the marked place. With the help of district police, CRPF and IRB personnel, the opium crop was completely destroyed. For the first time in Latehar district, bulldozers were used by the police against opium crops.

According to police, the opium crop grown in more than 100 acres of land so far in the Herhanj police station area alone has been destroyed. Police are trying to find out who had cultivated opium here. After investigation, legal action will be taken by registering an FIR against the culprits.

This place is located on the border of Latehar, Palamu and Chatra districts. Being surrounded by hills from all sides, even the forest department people rarely come here. For this reason, the smugglers completely destroyed the forest and turned it into a field and started cultivating opium in it.

PNS : RANCHI

Addressing media persons Sadhvi Amar Sakhi and Mahant Himanshi Sakhi said that under the right to equality, jobs and seats should be ensured for transgenders in government and private sectors. "In Jharkhand, there is a population of about five thousand transgenders in Saraikela, West Singhbhum, East Singhbhum, Ranchi and Dhanbad, out of which only 70 people have got TG cards made. She appealed to the state government to conduct a census of transgenders, so that their actual number can be known." Amar Sakhi told that transgender is not known in childhood, but this identity is formed when one becomes young. During this time, society and family throw them out of the house. Due to this, many times they are not able to get the necessary documents, because the family members hide them. In such a situation, they have to face situations like wandering on the streets, begging in trains, she added.

Jharkhand High Court Advocate Ritik Sinha and social worker Usha Singh said that the issues of Transgender Welfare Board were discussed today. He said that in 2014, through the NALSA judgment, all the state governments were directed to form Transgender Welfare Board, but no step has been taken in this direction in Jharkhand yet. crimes, but these are also being countered with a rise in awareness," said the President. She further said that the coming years are going to be even more dramatic with far-reaching advances expected particularly in Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning. As AI rapidly transforms economies, the Government of India has been quick in responding to the emerging scenario. Several initiatives are being taken to integrate AI in higher education institutions. BIT was indeed ahead of the curve as it introduced a B Tech course in AI/ML in 2023. The President said that the change brought about by AI and other technologies is also reflected in our languages. Till a few years ago, the word 'disruption', to take one example, meant something to be worried about. But now it has a positive connotation. A break or an interruption in the normal course is now something to be welcomed. But as technology creates great disruptions in societies, I believe we should remain concerned about its impact on the marginalised groups. The great opportunities being created should be available to all; the great transformations being brought about should benefit all. "I would also like to offer a word of advice. Often, the problems around us do not need any big technological intervention. Let us not forget the importance of small-scale, traditional solutions. Indeed, innovators and entrepreneurs must not ignore the knowledge base of traditional communities," she said.

"I am confident BIT Mesra will continue to make rich contributions to the continuing evolution of science and technology in India. I once again congratulate everyone associated with this prestigious institute in the past as well as the present on the occasion of the Platinum Jubilee and wish you all success in your future endeavours," she concluded.

K Raju appointed new State Congress in-charge

PNS : RANCHI

In a significant restructuring within the Congress party, Jharkhand is set to receive a new state in-charge. Koppula Raju, commonly known as K. Raju, has been appointed to take over this crucial responsibility. He currently serves as the National Coordinator for the Scheduled Castes, Tribes, Other Backward Classes, and Minorities Departments of the Congress party. His appointment marks an important shift in the party's leadership structure in the state.

Raju is replacing Ghulam Ahmed Mir, who was assigned the role of Jharkhand Congress in-charge on December 23, 2023, shortly before the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. Under Mir's leadership, the Congress party actively participated in both the parliamentary and assembly elections in Jharkhand. The party managed to secure two seats in the Lok Sabha and won 16 seats in the Assembly elections, shaping its political presence in the state.

The newly appointed Congress in-charge, K. Raju, hails from Nellore in Andhra Pradesh and has an extensive administrative background. He was formerly an officer of the Indian Administrative Service (IAS), belonging to the 1981 batch of Andhra Pradesh cadre. Over the years, he has frequently visited Jharkhand for organizational work, which has given him significant exposure to the state's political dynamics.

Raju is widely regarded as a close confidant of Rahul Gandhi. His prominence in the party grew significantly in August 2013 when he was appointed to lead the Scheduled Caste department of the Congress. That same year, he took a major step in his career by resigning from the Indian Administrative Service and formally joining the Congress party. His expertise in governance and policy-making has been instrumental in shaping key social welfare legislations, including the Right to Information (RTI) Act, the Right to Education (RTE) Act, the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA), and the Food Security Bill.

Recently, the Congress high command convened a meeting in Delhi with ministers and MLAs from Jharkhand who belong to the party's quota. The discussions focused on Jharkhand's core political and developmental agenda. Following these deliberations, the decision was made to entrust K. Raju with the responsibility of leading the Congress in Jharkhand, signaling a strategic move for the party's future in the state.

IMA Women Doctors Wing imparts screening training for cervical, breast and oral cancer to frontline health workers in Ranchi

PNS : RANCHI

Women Doctors Wing IMA Jharkhand organised a large screening training program for CHOs, Sahia Saathi and Sahias for comprehensive screening of cervical, breast and mouth cancer for Ranchi district at Ranchi Sadar Hospital, on February 14. This training program will be given sequentially to 300 CHOs, 150 Sahia Saathi and 3 thousand Sahias working in Ranchi district. In the second phase, this program will be run in Sonahatu block on 22nd March. During the training, 50 community health workers were divided into 10 groups and given training on via screening. In via screening, 5 per cent acetic acid is applied on the cervix and light spots appear on the suspicious areas of cancer. After this, 200 Sahias and 50 CHOs were also told about the screening method, symptoms and prevention for breast and mouth cancer. On this occasion, pamphlets related to this were also distributed among all the Sahias. On this occasion, with the help of posters related to the symptoms and prevention of these three cancers, they were also made aware of how to screen for these three cancers. Dr. Rashmi Prasad, Dr. Sonal, Dr. Manisha Chaudhary, Dr. Meghna, and Dr. Simmi Mahesh participated in this training campaign under the leadership of Dr. Bharti Kashyap, Chairperson of Women Doctors Wing IMA Jharkhand. Surgeon, Dr. Prabhakar Kumar and Hospital Manager Jiren and DPM Praveen Kumar were present on the occasion.

Ranchi's civil surgeon said that along with the Women Doctor Wing, they have worked extensively on cervical cancer elimination in Khunti, Ramgarh, Ranchi and now together they are working on oral and breast cancer as well so that all the Sahia Saathi, Saheyagan and Community Health Officers of Ranchi district are fully trained and no cancer reaches the advanced stage.

Dr. Bharti Kashyap said that the aim of this training being conducted in a phased manner is to identify 100 per cent of women suffering from genital swelling and treat them and any cancer is detected at an early stage and this is possible only when the community health workers of the entire state i.e. trained nurses and associates are specially trained. Therefore, first of all we gave training to the government gynaecologists of the entire Jharkhand in a phased manner by cancer gynaecologists who came from Delhi, Kolkata and America and now we are also training the community health workers i.e. trained nurses and Saheyas so that 100 per cent of the patients of genital swelling can be identified and cancer is also detected at an early stage. The Jharkhand model created by the Health Department, Jharkhand Government and Women Doctor Wing in 2021 is based on the identification and treatment of 100 per cent women with genital inflammation. The Jharkhand model is a modified version of the third part of the WHO's cervical cancer elimination policy, which is very good for developing states. Under this, screening of 6 per cent of such women of reproductive capacity who have symptoms of genital inflammation or who fall in the high risk category of cervical cancer has been ensured. This makes it possible to screen 100 per cent women with genital inflammation.

A letter to this effect has been sent to civil surgeons several times by NRHM and it has also been ensured that when women come for checkup even after 3 months of delivery, then their supporting women should also be examined at that time if they have symptoms of genital inflammation or they fall in the high risk category for cervical cancer.

Under this Jharkhand model, we have so far examined four lakh 70000 women. Dangerous symptoms: Bleeding after menopause and bleeding after intercourse is very dangerous. Get smelly white discharge treated immediately because genital inflammation is the reason for this which can later take the form of cervical cancer.

Painless lump in the breast or shrunken skin on the breast or any kind of discharge from the nipple is a sign of danger, consult a doctor immediately.

If there is a white or red patch in the mouth or a non-healing ulcer, consult a doctor immediately. In oral cancer, there may also be pain in the ears, enlargement of any part of the mouth, difficulty in swallowing food, weakening of teeth, change in voice, etc. Prevention:

1. Prohibition of tobacco, smoking and alcohol is very important to prevent cancer.
2. All married or sexually active women and adult women should get themselves examined regularly (visual inspection with acetic acid) or through Pap smear test.
3. Maintain proper genital hygiene.
4. Healthy lifestyle, proper body weight, balanced diet and regular medical check-up are very important.

Congress questions India's need for F35 fighter jets

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Congress general secretary Randeep Surjewala on Saturday raised several questions on whether the country required expensive fighter jets like F35 aircraft from the US and if security experts and armed forces were consulted in the national interest. During Prime Minister Narendra Modi's recent visit, India and the US unveiled an ambitious plan to sign a new 10-year defence partnership and pursue co-production of key weapons and platforms with President Donald Trump announcing that Washington would increase sales of military hardware to New Delhi by millions of dollars including possible supply of F-35 stealth fighter jets. In multiple posts on X, Surjewala claimed there are many flaws in the F 35 aircraft and many accidents have happened, with some calling them "junk" and others "useless". "There is a lot of discussion about Prime Minister Modi buying F 35 fighter aircraft from America, but did the Modi government consider these aspects in the interest of the country," he asked. The cost of flying an F 35 fighter aircraft is $35,000 per hour, i.e. ₹28,00,000 per hour, he said, adding F 35 is the most expensive fighter aircraft in the world and the cost of one aircraft is approximately USD 110 million, or ₹968 Crore. "Does the Modi government think that the cost of Rs 28 lakh per hour is right for India and was the opinion of the Indian Air Force and defence experts taken in this regard," Surjewala asked. "Prime Minister Modi is buying F 35 fighter aircraft from America, but did the Modi government consider these aspects in national interest before taking a unilateral decision to buy F 35 aircraft at the behest of President Trump. Does the Indian Air Force want to buy F 35 fighter aircraft in accordance with the country's defence interests? Was the Air Force's opinion taken?" the Congress leader asked in another post in Hindi.

Kerala nurses council to bar ragging accused from continuing their studies

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ Thiruvananthapuram/New Delhi

Amid widespread outrage over the brutal ragging incident at the Government Nursing College, the Kerala Nurses and Midwives Council (KNMC) on Saturday decided to bar all five accused students from continuing their studies. A council meeting convened here observed that the accused did not deserve to complete their studies or enter the service profession. The council further noted that those entering the nursing profession should be humane and compassionate—whereas the accused displayed cruelty toward their juniors—behaviour that is unacceptable in any circumstance. A council member described the Kottayam ragging incident as an "extremely cruel act" and said it cannot be justified under any circumstances. "We will never justify the incident. What we want to emphasise is that allowing such individuals into the nursing profession would be a disaster," said Usha Devi, a council member. She said the Council would soon inform the concerned authorities of its decision. With this decision, the accused students can no longer continue their studies in Kerala, she added. The Council's ruling came a day after the state Health Minister indicated that strict action would be taken against those involved in the brutal incident. On Friday, the department suspended Principal Sulekha A T and Assistant Professor/Assistant Warden-in-Charge of the student hostel, Ajeesh P Mani, pending an inquiry for allegedly failing to prevent ragging and effectively intervene in the matter. The hostel's housekeeper-cum-security staff was also ordered to be removed immediately, according to a statement issued by the Health Minister's office late Friday night. The action was taken following an inquiry conducted by the Director of Medical Education, as per the instructions of Health Minister Veena George, the statement added.

Delhi HC seeks CBIC's stand on betel nuts for customs

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi High Court has sought the stand of Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs (CBIC) on a plea for resolving the issue of alleged mis-classification of betel nuts for the purpose of customs duty. The petitioner, a customs house agent, claimed the ambiguity on whether betel nuts would attract 100 per cent or 50 per cent basic customs duty has allegedly resulted in large-scale mis-classification, enabling duty evasion and causing significant financial harm to the government. The court was informed by the petitioner's advocate that complaints have also been filed with the Central Vigilance Commission (CVC) and other higher government authorities for action to be taken against the officers who are allegedly engaging in large scale duty evasion on the basis of this ambiguity in spite the clarification provided by the Supreme Court. A bench of Justices Prathiba M Singh and Dharmesh Sharma noted that despite advance copies of petition being served to the authorities, their counsel have not been given any instructions. The court granted time to the counsel for the respondents to take instructions in the matter and listed it for further hearing on February 27.

The court said if no decision has already been taken on the complaints, it should be taken on an "early date". Advocate Kamini Lau, representing petitioner Bajrang Lal Sharma, said the issue has created enormous difficulties for customs house agents like the petitioner as no decision has been taken despite repeated complaints against the senior officials. The plea said the petitioner, along with several customs house agents, are facing repeated harassment from a group of customs officers, even as the National Customs Targeting Centre (NCTC) received multiple complaints regarding the alleged mis-declaration and mis-classification of imported betel nuts under various names such as "boiled supari, API supari, chikni supari, and flavoured supari", being wrongly classified. It claimed this mis-classification allowed importers to evade the 100 per cent basic customs duty (BCD) by paying only 50 per cent, and also bypass the Minimum Import Price conditions set by the Directorate General of Foreign Trade. The plea said the petitioner submitted a complaint to the CVC in March 2022, seeking urgent intervention against senior custom officer for his alleged involvement in duty evasion in collusion with others as the ongoing clearance of goods through mis-classification was causing significant revenue loss. However, the respondent departments failed to take any effective action, thereby allowing the duty evasion scam to continue unchecked, it claimed. The petition has arrayed the Centre through Ministry of Finance, CBIC, CVC and the Directorate General of Vigilance, Customs and Central Excise as respondents.

CIABC urges government to curb dumping of imported spirits

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

The Confederation of Indian Alcoholic Beverage Companies (CIABC) on Saturday urged the government to impose stringent measures to curb dumping of imported spirits and ensure greater market access for domestic products. The Confederation of Indian Alcoholic Beverage Companies (CIABC) said the Indian liquor manufacturers are not against reduction in import duty, though they have sought the import duty cuts in a phased manner. India on February 13 slashed import duty on bourbon whiskey to 100 per cent. It is mainly imported from the US. The confederation "has urged the government to address the concerns of the Indian companies and ensure a level-playing field in FTA (free trade agreement) negotiations and set in stringent effective measures to check and curb dumping of imported spirits and seeking better international access for Indian alcoholic products which face several non-tariff restrictions at present," it said in a statement. It has also requested the states to withdraw excise duty concessions given to imported liquor in view of reduction in customs duty.

The government needs to safeguard the interests of Indian liquor manufacturers while deciding on issues related to customs duty cuts and other concessions under FTAs, CIABC Director General Anant S Iyer said. "Though we have already recommended to the government to cut basic customs duty on spirits over a period of 10 years, we also want the government to ensure better international market access especially the Western countries and safeguard interests of Indian companies against any dumping of products through transfer price mechanism at lower prices specifically for India," Iyer said. He added non-tariff barriers imposed by other countries prevent a vast majority of Indian products being sold in the Western markets. "We also want these markets to recognise Indian whiskeys at par with other global products," he said, adding the industry needs to be protected as there is always the fear of cheap imports in spirits and wines eroding the domestic industry. The alcoholic beverage industry contributes over Rs 3 lakh crore to the exchequer of states apart from adding central government's revenue in terms of customs duty and GST on a host of inputs.

India needs strong production base, not empty words: Rahul Gandhi

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Saturday said while India has the talent, it needs a strong production base, and not empty words, to build industrial prowess in new technology to give its youth jobs. In a post on X, Gandhi highlighted how China has started producing drones which are revolutionising warfare across the world, saying India needs to develop a strategy to become competitive in this area. "Drones have revolutionised warfare, combining batteries, motors and optics to manoeuvre and communicate on the battlefield in unprecedented ways. But drones are not just one technology -- they are bottom-up innovations produced by a strong industrial system. "Unfortunately, PM Modi has failed to grasp this. While he delivers 'teleprompter' speeches on AI, our competitors are mastering new technologies. India needs a strong production base, not empty words," he said in the post, taking a swipe at Prime Minister Narendra Modi. "India has immense talent, scale and drive. We must have a clear vision and build real industrial prowess to give our youth jobs and lead India into the future," Gandhi added.

The Congress leader also tagged a nine-minute video on drone technology with the post, saying India has the talent and engineering skills to develop such technology for the future. He also referred to his speech in the Lok Sabha while speaking on the Motion of Thanks to the president's address, where he talked about new technology. In the video, Gandhi is heard saying that drones have completely transformed the way wars are fought. "But drones are not just a technology -- they are a grassroots and small-scale innovation being produced by a robust industrial system. "Drones have diminished the importance of tanks, artillery and even aircraft carriers, bringing air power to the platoon level and reshaping intelligence and precision on the battlefield. But this revolution is not just limited to warfare -- it is also about industry, AI and next-generation technology," he said. "Unfortunately, PM Modi has failed to understand this. While he is busy giving speeches on AI by simply reading from a 'teleprompter', our competitors are mastering new technologies. India needs a strong production base, not empty speeches," Gandhi said.

Textbooks not challenge for intelligence, be smarter than smartphone: Sadhguru

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Textbooks are not a challenge for intelligence and stress means the brain is not being oiled enough, spiritual leader Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev said, as he shared mantras for playful learning and avoiding stress ahead of exams with students as part of the prime minister's latest 'Pariksha Pe Charcha' episode aired on Saturday. Sadhguru told students that they have to be smarter than their smartphones. He also shared tips on how to avoid overthinking during a special session of 'Pariksha Pe Charcha' -- an annual event in which Prime Minister Narendra Modi interacts with students appearing for board examinations. In a shift from the traditional town hall format, Modi preferred a more informal setting this time and took students to Delhi's iconic Sunder Nursery for his annual interaction. Eminent personalities such as boxer MC Mary Kom and Bollywood actress Deepika Padukone have also shared their experiences and knowledge on key aspects of life and learning in different episodes of 'Pariksha Pe Charcha'. Next in the series are Bollywood actors Vikrant Massey and Bhumi Pednekar sharing tips on cultivating positivity, managing negative thoughts, and tackling exam stress with confidence. "For #ExamWarriors, among the biggest allies during exam time is positivity. Tomorrow's 'Pariksha Pe Charcha' episode delves into this topic and we have @VikrantMassey and @bhumipednekar share their insights," PM Modi wrote on X. Teaching students how to practise meditation, Sadhguru said intelligence is not about usefulness. "Intelligence creates a profundity of experience of life. If you feel stressed, it means the brain is not being oiled well," he said. "Your textbook is not a challenge for your intelligence, no matter who you are. No matter if you have not done well in school till now, I'm telling you for your intelligence that textbooks are not a challenge.

"You're unnecessarily making it difficult for yourself by approaching it in a certain way. Why can't you learn playfully? If you make it playful, your textbook will not be a challenge," Sadhguru added. The Isha Foundation chief told students that they have to be smarter than their smartphones, while urging them to not treat exams as a "challenge to their intelligence." "If you look at the grass or that motorcycle, you should think what is the physics, math and chemistry of it. Education gives you fundamentals and eventually an access to life. To find this access, one aspect is active dynamic intelligence," he said. Responding to a student's query on addiction to social media and phone, he said that a person should decide how to use a smartphone, not the other way round. He also said that there is no such thing as overthinking, as one must think beyond to be able to do something worthwhile. "You may call it stress or anxiety, but the problem is that you don't know how to keep your mind aligned. What is not well aligned will cause friction, further causing stress," Sadhguru said. Emphasising the power of meditation, the spiritual leader said studies have shown that when the 'Shambhavi Mahamudra' is practised, a large part of the brain lights up. "This is what needs to happen, that everything is lit up. The more you activate your intelligence, the more access you have to everything that you see. If your body is well-exercised, you can function better. Then why is that not true with your mental faculties?" he asked. Sadhguru also warned against comparing the intelligence of people. "Am I as intelligent as this person or that person? There is no such thing. It's a farce that's been spread in the world. Everybody can sparkle and do things that others cannot imagine. Only thing is, because there is no striving, that sparkle doesn't happen," he told students. Nutrition and health experts Shonali Sabherwal, Rujuta Diwekar and Revant Himatsingka; YouTuber Gaurav Chaudhary popularly known as 'TechGuruji' and Radhika Gupta, MD and CEO, Edelweiss Mutual Fund are among the other guests who have been part of the programme so far. The first edition of the interactive programme with school and college students was held at Delhi's Talkatora Stadium in 2018. Its seventh edition was held in a town hall format at the Bharat Mandapam last year, involving participants from around the country and abroad.

Digital lost and found centers reunite 20,000 at Mahakumbh

PNS ■ MAHAKUMBH NAGAR

Mahakumbh 2025 has set a historic milestone with its grandeur and an unprecedented gathering of over 50 crore devotees. To ensure the safety and smooth management of this massive event, the Yogi government has introduced several groundbreaking initiatives. One of the most impactful measures has been the establishment of digital lost and found centers, designed to quickly reunite lost devotees with their families. This initiative has already helped reconnect over 20,000 missing individuals with their loved ones, proving to be a crucial support system for the event. Notably, the government has successfully reunited 20,144 people who had been separated from their families in this year's Mahakumbh. A large number of those reunited were women. The police also played a key role by helping devotees from various states and even from Nepal reconnect with their loved ones. Notably, during the Amrit Snan on Mauni Amavasya (January 28, 29, and 30), the digital lost and found centers managed the crowd efficiently and reunited all 8,725 lost devotees with their families. Similarly, during the Makar Sankranti Amrit snan (January 13, 14, and 15), 598 devotees were brought back to their families, and during Basant Panchami Amrit Snan (February 2, 3, and 4), the centers helped 813 more devotees in reuniting with their families.

Apart from these major bathing festivals, the digital centers have successfully helped over 10,000 more people reunite with their families on regular days and other auspicious occasions. On December 7, 2024, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath inaugurated the digital lost and found centers, ensuring a hassle-free experience for devotees attending the Mahakumbh. He directed the police administration and fair authorities to ensure that no devotee faces any inconvenience. In line with this directive, 10 digital lost and found centers were set up at key locations, including Sangam, Jhansi, Arail, Phaphama, and sectors 3, 4, 5, 8, 9, 21, 23, and 24, as well as near Prayagraj Junction Railway Station. These centers are equipped with advanced AI-based facial recognition technology, machine learning, and multilingual support, enabling the quick reunification of lost individuals with their families. The Uttar Pradesh Police, administrative officials, and various volunteer organizations played a crucial role in the functioning of these centers. UNICEF and several other non-governmental organizations also contributed actively to this initiative.

BISWAJEET BANERJEE ■ LUCKNOW

Samajwadi Party (SP) chief Akhilesh Yadav has urged the Uttar Pradesh government to extend the duration of the ongoing Maha Kumbh, citing the overwhelming influx of devotees still hoping to participate. Yadav claimed that in previous years, the Maha Kumbh and Kumbh Mela spanned 75 days, whereas the current schedule is significantly shorter. "Even now, many people wish to visit the Maha Kumbh but are unable to do so. In such a situation, the government should extend its duration," Yadav said. Visuals circulating on social media depict overcrowded trains, congested roads, and massive crowds making their way to the pilgrimage site. Earlier this week, roads leading to the Maha Kumbh Mela witnessed severe traffic congestion stretching for kilometers, while the Prayagraj Sangam railway station was temporarily shut down due to the overwhelming rush of pilgrims. government of concealing the true number of deaths caused by a stampede at the Maha Kumbh last month. However, government officials have not yet responded to his allegations. The Maha Kumbh, considered the world's largest spiritual gathering, commenced on January 13 and is scheduled to conclude on February 26, coinciding with Maha Shivaratri. According to state government data, over 50.14 crore devotees have taken a holy dip at the Sangam as of Saturday evening. Akhilesh Yadav also took aim at the BJP-led central government, alleging that the Waqf (Amendment) Bill tabled in Parliament was an attempt to divert public attention from pressing issues and mask the government's economic failures. "The government has introduced this legislation to engage people in unnecessary debates and distract them from real issues," he alleged.

J and K government fires three for terror links

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

The Union Territory administration on Saturday terminated the services of three government employees including a jailed policeman for their alleged involvement in terror-related activities. So far services of 79 government employees have been terminated by the Lieutenant Governor (LG) in the Union Territory for their terror links in the past few years. The sacked employees have been identified as police constable Firdous Ahmad Bhat, government school teacher Mohammad Ashraf Bhat, and orderly in the forest department Nisar Ahmad Khan who was earlier arrested in connection with the killing of a National Conference minister in 2000. Reacting strongly to the fresh termination orders of government employees Chief Minister Omar Abdullah said the law says everyone is innocent until anything is proven. "They should be given a chance to speak in the court and if they cannot prove their innocence, only then appropriate action should be taken." The officials said the Lieutenant Governor invoked Article 311 (2) (c) of the Constitution to terminate the services of the three employees after an investigation by law enforcement and intelligence agencies established their terror links. According to Official sources, the dismissed policeman, who was arrested in May last year, was initially appointed as a Special Police Officer (SPO) in 2005 and subsequently promoted to constable in 2011. Currently lodged in Kot Bhalwal Jail, Bhat was posted at a sensitive position in the Electronic Surveillance Unit in the J-K Police but started working for terror outfit Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT). However, he got exposed when two terrorists - Waseem Shah and Adnan Beigh - were arrested in Anantnag with a pistol and a hand grenade as they were planning to attack non-local civilians and tourists, the officials said. During the interrogation, Bhat revealed his sinister design and led to the recovery of a sizable quantity of arms including pistols, ammunition and explosives from his residential quarter in Police Housing Colony in Srinagar and a newly constructed house in Mattan, Anantnag. According to the official sources, Firdous Ahmad Bhat used his police constable cover, to transport arms, ammunition, and explosives for terrorists and investigation also revealed that he was also working for Hizbul Mujahideen's Commander Khurshid Dar and LeT terrorist Hamza Bhai and Abu Zarrar besides Jutt. "He not only provided classified information about security forces movement, collection, storage and delivery of arms ammunition but also guided terror attacks," the officials said. They said he was also found involved in an attack on a police party in 2020 which led to the killing of sub-inspector Ashraf Bhat, an attack on a group of tourists in Pahalgam on May 18 last year that left two persons injured. Ashraf Bhat, a resident of Reasi who was appointed as 'Rehbar-e-Taleem' Teacher in 2008 and later regularised in June 2013, was affiliated with LeT. "For many years his activities were undetected but eventually came to light in 2022 and he was arrested and currently lodged in district jail, Reasi," the officials said. During the course of investigation, it was revealed that Bhat's handler was the most wanted LeT terrorist Mohd Qasim, who is based in Pakistan. "LeT found him to be very useful because as a teacher Bhat was best placed to radicalise youth and carry out terror activities. He helped LeT to raise finances for terror activities and coordinated transport of arms, ammunition and explosives," they said. Khan, who joined the forest department in 1996 as a helper and currently posted as an orderly at the forest range office, Verinag (Anantnag), was found working for Hizbul Mujahideen, the officials said.

Travel advisory against Assam hinders foreign investment: Himanta

PTI ■ GUWAHATI

Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma on Saturday said that travel advisory against the northeastern region by several countries is a major challenge in attracting investments, even as the state gears up for a mega business summit here later this month. Sarma said he has requested the countries to view Assam in isolation and not club all the North Eastern states together. He said talks are already underway with Japan, Australia and other nations to persuade them to withdraw the adverse advisory as the local government is pushing for viewing Assam "in isolation" from the other states of the region. Addressing a press conference in the run-up to Advantage Assam 2.0 Investment and Infrastructure Summit, Sarma said, "Most embassies have marked Assam in

'grey' and have a statutory warning for its citizens against visiting Assam, as the state is clubbed together as 'North East'. Removing these advisories is topmost priority for us." He said countries like Japan and Australia are being persuaded to change this advisory, with a team from the Asian country already here to look into the matter while an Australian delegation is scheduled to reach shortly. There is no adverse situation in Assam, and all stakeholders, including government, media and public, have to be together to drive home this point, he asserted. "As Chief Minister of Assam, I cannot influence other states. What I am doing is asking them (foreign nations), to view Assam in isolation," he added. "To attract foreign investment, the travel advisory has to be withdrawn. And at the same time, we also have to show them our strengths, like skilling options for our human resources, peace and stability - politically, economically and in law and order," he said. Non-availability of vast tracts of land needed for setting up big industries is also a problem for the state, which the government is working on to address, the CM added. "In spite of these limitations, we are in the process of ensuring foreign investment this time. And if we can address these issues, more investment will come. The people have a major role in taking forward the spade work being done by the government through the upcoming Summit," he maintained.

Telangana Congress slams claim on Reddy Government's collapse

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Telangana Congress on Saturday condemned former minister Errabelli Dayakar Rao's statement that the Revanth Reddy government will collapse in six months in the State. Party spokesman Bandi Sudhakar Goud in a statement said Dayakar Rao's statement that the Congress government formed with a full majority of MLAs in accordance with democracy will lose is an indication of his thirst for power. "Isn't it true that the then TRS, which was like a mother who supported and raised them, betrayed TDP and merged the TDP MLAs into the LP, their caste relatives? Since Dayakar Rao is a master of fraud conspiracies and tempting MLAs, we are suspicious of his movements and have filed a written complaint with the Telangana State DGP demanding a thorough investigation into this matter," Goud said.

BJP backs new faces for Municipal elections

STAFF REPORTER ■ GURUGRAM

The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) has expressed confidence in new faces while selecting candidates for upcoming Municipal Elections. Talking about the former councillors of the BJP, only five have secured tickets. Out of a total of 36 wards, new candidates will contest in 31 wards. Earlier in the day, the BJP announced the names of ward councillor candidates for the MCG elections. Rajrani Malhotra will fight on the party's mayor ticket which was announced on Friday night. According to the list, among the former councillors, Brahm Yadav from Ward 9, Kuldeep Yadav from Ward 11, Aarti Yadav from Ward 24, Anoop Singh from Ward 25 and Dharambir from Ward 28 have BJP tickets.

At the same time, many old faces contested the 2017 elections as independents and this time BJP has given them tickets. Madhu Batra, wife of former senior deputy mayor Yashpal Batra from Ward 30, won the 2017 corporation election as an independent candidate. Dilip Kumar Sahni has got a ticket from Ward 31. In the 2017 elections, his wife Rajni contested as an independent candidate and defeated Geeta Rani of BJP by 2,984 votes. Sheetal Bagdi from Ward 33 and Rekha Saini, wife of former councillor Dinesh Saini from Ward 36, have been given tickets by the BJP. Dinesh Saini contested the 2017 corporation election as an independent candidate from Ward 8 and won by 98 votes. Sheetal Bagdi also contested as an independent and won. In the 2017, MC elections, 14 candidates won on BJP tickets. But this time the tickets of many have been refused. Shankutala Yadav contested the election from Ward 2 on a BJP ticket and won by 2010 votes. But this time the party did not give her a ticket. Similarly, Ravinder Yadav from Ward 3 secured his victory by 1249 votes on a BJP ticket, but this time he lagged in the race for the ticket. Former Mayor Vimal Yadav's wife, Rimple Yadav, got a ticket from Ward 5, and she won by 906 votes. This time she did not get a BJP ticket. Ashwini Sharma from Ward 23 and Sunita from Ward 33 were victorious on BJP tickets, but this time they could not get the ticket. In the 2017 elections, BJP won 14 out of a total of 35 seats. Congress did not contest the election on its symbol, due to which several independent candidates won. Many of them later joined the BJP. After this, the BJP got a total of 27 members in the corporation house.

SC's Justice Oka pulls up Maharashtra government for poor infrastructure

PNS ■ MUMBAI

Supreme Court (SC) Justice Abhay Oka on Saturday criticised the Maharashtra government for lack of basic infrastructure for the judiciary, while asserting the situation in neighbouring Karnataka was different. Justice Oka was a judge in Bombay High Court before he was appointed as Chief Justice of Karnataka High Court, from where he was elevated to the apex court. Speaking at the Ashok Desai Memorial Lecture on the topic 'What ails our criminal justice system - some thoughts', Justice Oka said, "We struggle to get infrastructure from Maharashtra government. We lack basic infrastructure. It is very difficult to get infrastructure from Maharashtra government." He said judges of the civil court complex in Pune do not even have separate chambers. He, however, was quick to add that there has been change in the last five years. "It is very very different in Karnataka. There whatever the judiciary asks the Government gives. The scenario in Maharashtra is very different," Justice Oka said while pointing out that Kalaburagi bench of Karnataka HC looks like a five-star hotel. The ailments that plague the criminal justice system are too many and collectively the system has not fulfilled the expectations of the common man, Justice Oka opined. Speaking on capital punishment, the SC judge said he was personally against the concept and called for a debate on it with all stakeholders. "We really need to introspect if our system needs capital punishment. It is a debate whether the State can take someone's life. We need to see if capital punishment is a deterrent," Justice Oka said. The senior SC judge also emphasised that bail was the rule and jail the exception. Referring to Section 41 of Code of Criminal Procedure (CrPC), he said it was not necessary or mandatory for the police to arrest each and every accused even in cases where the offence is punishable with a jail term of more than seven years. "Presence of accused for investigation can be secured by issuing summons. But the ground level reality is very different. There is lot of pressure exerted on police machinery by citizens, NGOs, political leaders and media. Political leaders make statements that they will ensure the accused is arrested and put behind bars," the apex court judge said. "This is the sad reflection of the retributive tendency which still exists in our society. People still believe that once a person is arrested he is guilty," he said while criticising the ongoing trend of trial on social media. "Every citizen has right to criticise judgements. But it has to be constructive criticism. But this media trial or trial on social media platforms is not correct. People lack basic elementary knowledge of our criminal justice system. They do not know the difference between bail and acquittal. As judges we cannot go by perceptions - what people say, what social media says. We have to go by evidence," he asserted. Justice Oka said two or three decades back, courts used to grant bail without going into the merits of the case but the same cannot be done now. With restrictions imposed on bail in new legislations like Unlawful Activities Prevention Act (UAPA), Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) and Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act (NDPS), courts are forced to, prima facie, go into the facts of the case even while deciding bail pleas, Justice Oka pointed out. "Courts burdened with these cases are not able to hear regular bail matters. If you see very old cases, the HC used to just say bail granted. And no one used to say anything. But nowadays, the high courts and the Supreme Court have to do very tightrope walking," he said. "We need to go into details. Sometimes we say why so much details, sometimes we say why such short cryptic orders. Judges face criticism for not giving bail to people in some cases," Justice Oka remarked.

How many travel agents booked for human trafficking, Bajwa asks CM Mann

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Punjab Congress leader Partap Singh Bajwa on Saturday alleged that the Bhagwant Mann government in the state has "failed" in curbing human trafficking. His remarks came on a day when a second plane carrying 119 Indian deportees from the US will land at Amritsar airport. Bajwa, Leader of the Opposition in the Punjab Assembly, asked CM Mann how many travel agents were booked for human trafficking in the last three years. He said the Punjab Prevention of Human Smuggling Act 2012 regulates the profession of travel agents to check and curb illegal activities. "Can CM Bhagwant Mann, who also holds the Home portfolio, let the Punjabis know how many travel agents have been booked under the same law in the last three years," Bajwa asked. "Mann said that illegal immigration is not only a problem in Punjab but a national problem. True, but, is his government not responsible if any illegality happens in the state? He seems to have been running away from his responsibilities," the Congress leader said in a statement. It was AAP's one of the main election planks to stop the brain drain by motivating youngsters to explore careers in the home state, he added. Bajwa said it has been 10 days since the first flight carrying 104 deportees including 30 Punjabis arrived in Amritsar. But the Mann government "failed" miserably to provide a helping hand and announce any rehabilitation programme for deportees hailing from Punjab, he alleged. Mann has not announced any compensation for them, he further said. The AAP government has not assured them that the government would help them get their money refunded by the illegal travel agents, said Bajwa. "Mann says he is going to receive the 119 deportees arriving today in Amritsar. In the absence of a rehabilitation programme and compensation, this act of Mann is nothing more than a publicity stunt," he said. A plane carrying 119 illegal immigrants from the US will land at the Amritsar airport on Saturday, the second such batch of Indians to be deported by the Donald Trump administration as part of its crackdown on illegal migration. The flight is expected to land at the airport around 10 pm on Saturday, official sources said. Among the 119 deportees, 67 are from Punjab alone. Of the rest 52 deportees, 33 are from Haryana, eight from Gujarat, three from Uttar Pradesh, two each from Goa, Maharashtra and Rajasthan, and one each from Himachal Pradesh and Jammu and Kashmir.

Zelenskyy, Scholz toughen stands

Hamas frees 3 hostages, Israel releases hundreds of prisoners

TRUMP'S UNSETTLING POLICIES

Two top European leaders stiffened their spines on Saturday over unsettling new policies from Washington under President Donald Trump, as Ukraine's president urged creation of an "armed forces of Europe" and the leader of Germany denounced meddling in its election after US Vice President JD Vance met with a German far-right leader. Strident speeches from Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy and German Chancellor Olaf Scholz on Day 2 of the Munich Security Conference testified to the impact of a blizzard of Trump decisions that have resonated at home and in Europe, notably his hopes to end the Russia-Ukraine war and nurture perceived allies on the continent. Ramping up his desire for a more muscular and mighty Europe, Zelenskyy said Ukraine's three-year fight against an invading Russian army has proved that a foundation exists for the creation of a European army that has long been discussed among some continental leaders. "I really believe that time has come," he said. "The armed forces of Europe must be created." It's unclear whether the idea will catch on with European leaders. Zelenskyy has sought greater military and economic support from the European Union for years and repeatedly warned that other parts of Europe could be vulnerable to Russia's expansionist ambitions too. While the bloc — along with the United States — has been one of Kyiv's strongest backers, pockets of political disagreement in EU over its approach to Moscow and economic realities, including national debt levels that have crimped defence spending, have gotten in the way of greater support. Earlier, German Chancellor Olaf Scholz said he was "pleased" at what he called a shared commitment with the United States to the "preserving the sovereign independence of Ukraine," and agreed with Trump that the Russia-Ukraine war must end.

But also Scholz took aim at the new political tack from Washington, affirming his strong stance against the far-right and said his country won't accept people who "intervene in our democracy" — alluding to remarks by US Vice President JD Vance who scolded European leaders over their approach to democracy. Ahead of February 23 elections in Germany, polls show the far-right Alternative for Germany (AfD) party — whose co-leader met with Vance on Friday — currently in second, ahead of Scholz's own Social Democrats.

PTI ■ KHAN YOUNIS (GAZA STRIP)

Hamas-led militants released three male Israeli hostages on Saturday and Israeli forces freed hundreds of prisoners in return, in the latest indication that a fragile ceasefire that had teetered in recent days is holding. Militants in the southern Gaza Strip paraded the three hostages — Iair Horn, 46, a dual citizen of Israel and Argentina; American-Israeli Sagui Dekel Chen, 36; and Russian-Israeli Alexander (Sasha) Troufanov, 29 — before a crowd before releasing them. They were transported to Israel to be reunited with their families and to receive medical evaluation in a hospital. All had been abducted from Kibbutz Nir Oz, a community that was hard-hit in the October 7, 2023, attack that ignited the war. They appeared pale and worn, but seemed in better physical condition than the three men released last Saturday, who emerged emaciated from 16 months of captivity. A tense dispute had jeopardised the nearly four-week-old truce in recent days and threatened to renew the fighting.

US President Donald Trump's controversial proposal to remove more than 2 million Palestinians from Gaza and settle them elsewhere in the region has cast even more doubt on the future of the ceasefire. But Hamas said on Thursday it would move ahead with the release of more hostages after talks with Egyptian and Qatari officials. The group said the mediators had pledged to "remove all hurdles" to ensure Israel would allow more tents, medical supplies and other essentials into Gaza. As with previous exchanges, the hostage release was heavily choreographed, with the captives made to walk onto a stage and speak into microphones before the crowd. Dozens of masked, armed Hamas fighters lined up near the stage festooned with Palestinian flags and banners of militant factions. In Tel Aviv's Hostages Square, a huge cheer went up as the hostages were transferred to the Red Cross. "Iair, Sagui and Sasha are on their way home!" an announcer said. In return for the hostages' release, Israel began releasing 369 Palestinian prisoners and detainees. A bus carrying the first released prisoners arrived in the occupied West Bank town of Beitunia and were greeted by a cheering crowd of relatives and supporters. Some appeared gaunt, and the Palestinian Red Crescent emergency service said four were immediately taken for medical treatment. Most of those released were transported to Gaza, where a large crowd greeted them in Khan Younis, the same town where the hostages had been released hours earlier. It is the sixth swap since the ceasefire took effect on January 19. Before Saturday, 21 hostages and over 730 Palestinian prisoners were freed during the first phase of the truce. Horn was abducted along with his brother, Eitan Horn, who had been staying with him at the time. Eitan, 37, remains in captivity and is not on the list of hostages expected to be released in the ceasefire's first stage. "Now, we can breathe a little. Our Iair is home after surviving hell in Gaza," his family said in a statement. "Now, we need to bring Eitan back so our family can truly breathe." Dekel Chen had been working outside when militants stormed the kibbutz. His pregnant wife, Avital Dekel Chen, hid in a safe room with their two daughters. She gave birth to their third daughter two months later. Speaking to Israeli media Saturday, she said she was overwhelmed with happiness to see Sagui back in Israel, where he will meet his youngest daughter, Shachar, for the first time. Troufanov, whose father was killed during the October 7 attack, was taken hostage along with his grandmother, mother and girlfriend. The three women were released during a brief ceasefire in November 2023. Troufanov was informed of his father's death after his release, shortly before being reunited with his family, who said they were "overwhelmed with emotion and gratitude" as he crossed into Israeli territory.

Rohit, Kohli lead Team India for Champions Trophy

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Dressed natively in a white T-shirt and black tracks, Rohit Sharma got down from his car, and walked towards his teammates at the departure lounge amid loud calls of 'Rohit bhai' and 'Rohit sir' by fans waiting near the Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj International Airport entrance. Most of the squad members arrived in the team bus including head coach Gautam Gambhir, vice-captain Shubman Gill and star batter Virat Kohli and the stars obliged some fans by signing autographs or waving at a few of them. Soon, the team boarded an afternoon flight to Dubai for the upcoming Champions Trophy amid heightened optimism of netting another global trophy after winning the T20 World Cup last June. A Jasprit Bumrah-less India will open their campaign against Bangladesh on February 20 in Dubai before the much-anticipated blockbuster against traditional rivals Pakistan February 23, and then the Men in Blue will take on New Zealand on March 2 to round off their league engagements. The confidence - of the fans and the team - has been boosted by India's recent 3-0 ODI series whitewash at home over England. Those supporters assembled at the Mumbai airport will be hoping that the icons led by Rohit and Kohli will pull off another triumph like they did in the West Indies last year. One last opportunity for greatness? Few months ago, Hardik Pandya had walked out with the T20 World Cup trophy hoisted on his shoulders to join a sea of passionate fans on the streets near the Wankhede Stadium for an open bus parade. If those scenes are to be repeated next month, then India will need some runs from Rohit and Kohli, who have copped heavy criticism after repeated failures in Test cricket. But they replied in kind, as Rohit made a characteristically fluent hundred - a 90-ball 119 in Cuttack ODI against England - and Kohli his 73rd fifty in Ahmedabad.

Wrestlers appeal for Albania Ranking Series approval

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Asian champion Sunil Kumar, U-23 Asian Championship gold winner Minakshi and several other Indian wrestlers gathered at Sports Minister Mansukh Mandaviya's residence on Saturday, seeking his intervention to secure approval for their participation in the upcoming Ranking Series in Albania. The ministry has withheld approval for the wrestlers to participate in the second Ranking Series of the year scheduled to take place in Tirana, Albania, from February 26 to March 2. "We are unable to participate in the tournament and hence we came to the minister's residence to request him to let us participate in the tournament," Kumar said. "It will help us in the Asian Championship in Amman in March (as points will decide) the draws and first-round bouts," he added. However, the minister was travelling and unavailable. The gathered bunch of 8-10 wrestlers waited till about 2pm outside his residence before dispersing. "Earlier, we were not allowed to participate in World Ranking Championship in Croatia, and now we are not allowed to go to Albania. We came here to request, we don't know the reason," Minakshi said. "We are 30 wrestlers, there is no response. We came here and got to know that the minister is not here." The ministry has cited the Wrestling Federation of India's (WFI) failure to submit the necessary recommendations on time as the reason for withholding the approval. WFI had sent the proposal to the Sports Authority of India (SAI) on January 30, almost a month before the start of the tournament, a WFI source had told PTI on Friday. Due to the ongoing tussle between the ministry and the suspended WFI, the wrestlers had also missed the first Ranking Series in Zagreb, Croatia. Although the WFI was suspended by the ministry in December 2023, it remains recognised by the international wrestling body (UWW). The event will be followed by the Senior Asian Championships in Amman, Jordan, from March 25-30, the third Ranking Series in Ulaanbaatar, Mongolia, from May 29-June 1, and the fourth Ranking Series in Budapest, Hungary, from July 17-20. Competing in Ranking Series is very important for Indian wrestlers. By doing well there, they earn points and that helps them get seedings at World Championship. Last year, the government had cleared the Indian wrestling team's participation at for World Championships after all the 12 selected athletes assembled outside the residence of the sports minister.

Aditi Lone Indian to make cut in PIF Saudi Ladies International

PTI ■ RIYADH

Aditi Ashok was the lone Indian to make the cut after she carded an even-par 72 in the penultimate round of the PIF Saudi Ladies International held at Riyadh Golf Club. She shot an even par 72 to be 3-under for 36 holes. At T-33, she was among the top 60 and ties who qualified for the final round.

Among the other Indians Pranavi Urs (70-73) was 1-under but missed the cut which fell at 2-under 142, Diksha Dagar (75-69) also exited as did Tvesa Malik (73-73). Thailand's Jeeno Thitikul fired a round of 8-under 64 to move to the top of the leaderboard at 13-under-par. She holds a three-shot lead heading into the final day. The world number four rolled in back-to-back birdies on the first two holes before adding another on the fifth, Thitikul then rolled in three birdies on the trot on holes seven to nine. Another birdie came on the 12th before the 21-year-old's only dropped shot of the day on the 15th but the 2021 Race to Costa del Sol champion finished with a flourish with birdies on 17 and 18 to be in pole position. England's Annabel Fuller and Korea's Somi Lee sit in second place on the leaderboard on 10-under-par. Switzerland's Chiara Tamburini and Austria's Emma Spitz are in a share of fourth place on nine-under-par after 36 holes. Seven players are in a tie for sixth place with Thailand's Ariya Jutanugarn, Denmark's Nanna Koerstz Madsen, Germany's Esther Henseleit, China's Muni He, Korea's Minsun Kim, Australia's Steph Kyriacou and Germany's Olivia Cowan all on eight-under-par.

Jannik Sinner gets three-month ban

PTI ■ LONDON

Top-ranked tennis player Jannik Sinner has accepted a three-month ban in a settlement with the World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA) over his two positive doping tests, the organisation said Saturday. WADA, which was seeking to ban Sinner from the sport for at least one year, had challenged a decision last year by the International Tennis Integrity Agency (ITIA) to suspend Sinner for what the ITIA judged was accidental contamination by a banned anabolic steroid last March. Sinner's explanation - that trace amounts of Clostebol in his doping sample was due to a massage from a trainer who used the substance after cutting his own finger - had been accepted. The 23-year-old Italian, who won the Australian Open in January, will be eligible to compete in the next Grand Slam. The French Open begins May 25.

"This case had been hanging over me now for nearly a year and the process still had a long time to run with a decision maybe only at the end of the year," Sinner said in a statement. "I have always accepted that I am responsible for my team and realise WADA's strict rules are an important protection for the sport I love. On that basis I have accepted WADA's offer to resolve these proceedings on the basis of a three-month sanction." WADA had originally appealed the ITIA's ruling to the Court of Arbitration for Sport in Lausanne, Switzerland. It has formally withdrawn the appeal. "WADA accepts the athlete's explanation for the cause of the violation as outlined in the first instance decision. WADA accepts that Mr Sinner did not intend to cheat, and that his exposure to Clostebol did not provide any performance-enhancing benefit and took place without his knowledge as the result of negligence of members of his entourage," it said in Saturday's announcement. "However," the WADA statement continued, "under the code and by virtue of CAS precedent, an athlete bears responsibility for the entourage's negligence. Based on the unique set of facts of this case, a three-month suspension is deemed to be an appropriate outcome. As previously stated, WADA did not seek a disqualification of any results, save that which was previously imposed by the tribunal of first instance." WADA added that the International Tennis Federation and ITIA, "both co-respondents to WADA's CAS appeal, neither of which appealed the first-instance decision, both accepted the case resolution agreement." On Friday, Sinner posted a video on Instagram of himself training in Doha at the Qatar Open, which starts next week. The suspension is from February 9 to May 4. Sinner could return at his home tournament, the Italian Open in Rome, which starts May 7.

Italian Tennis and Padel Federation president Angelo Binaghi noted that while the case was "a shameful injustice," the ban will mark "the end of a nightmare" for Sinner. Binaghi adds that the settlement "demonstrates Jannik's innocence" and that "all of Italy" will welcome him back at the Italian Open. The ITIA said it acknowledged the settlement but in its statement Saturday reiterated that "we were satisfied that the player had established the source of the prohibited substance and that the breach was unintentional. Today's outcome supports this finding." Sinner's London-based lawyer, Jamie Singer commented: "I am delighted that Jannik can finally put this harrowing experience behind him. WADA has confirmed the facts determined by the Independent Tribunal. It is clear that Jannik had no intent, no knowledge, and gained no competitive advantage."

Gujarat Giants to make amends in WPL clash

PTI ■ VADODARA

Gujarat Giants will hope their bowlers complement the batters and fielding shows overall improvement after a crushing defeat in the Women's Premier League (WPL) season opener, when they take on the UP Warriorz here on Sunday. Gujarat Giants produced a unified batting show to set a commanding 202-run target against the defending champions Royal Challengers Bengaluru but their bowling frailties were exposed in the first game of the season itself when as many as six options also could not contain the opposition batters. Richa Ghosh was dropped on the first ball she faced and the India wicketkeeper-batter made GG pay a hefty price for the mistake, striking 64 off only 26 balls (7x4s, 4x6s) to quickly turn the tables. GG Tanuja Kanwar had also spilled Ellyse Perry's catch when she was batting on two. The Australian great too made the most of the reprieve as she hit a 34-ball 57 to anchor RCB's record chase. Gujarat Giants had earlier produced a fine batting show with fifties from former skipper Beth Mooney (56) and incumbent leader Ashleigh Gardner (79 not out) propelling them to 201 for five on a fresh surface here at the Kotambi Stadium. The opening game of the third season here on Friday was not just the highest match aggregate in WPL but also witnessed highest run chase, implying that batters will continue to make merry and the bowlers will have to keep evolving new plans.

Gukesh loses to Firouzja

PTI ■ HAMBURG

World champion D Gukesh finished last after losing to Iranian-French grandmaster Alireza Firouzja in the second game of their seventh-place playoff match at the Freestyle Chess Grand Slam here. Gukesh thus concluded his forgettable campaign in the tournament at Weissenhaus resort without a single win. After a lost battle that ended in a draw on the first day, the ball was in Gukesh's court to do well as the white pieces, but clearly, the world champion had run out of steam to lose in 30 moves. The test of time started in the middle game when Gukesh made a mistake and had to part with his queen for two pieces. While Firouzja made good use of his material advantage. Meanwhile, local favourite Vincent Keymer won the first edition despite being touted as a rookie at the start. The German winning the first leg over many of his fancied rivals is good news for the event's sponsors who started it keeping in mind the chess connoisseurs. It is no secret that FIDE, the world's apex chess body, does not like Chess 960, also known as Fischer Random Chess, or the Freestyle Chess. But it is here to stay. Pre-tournament favourite Magnus Carlsen won his second game on the trot at the expense of Javokhir Sindarov of Uzbekistan - the other big find of the tournament. Sindarov had gotten in after the withdrawal of Viswanathan Anand and proved himself more than worthy of the invite by reaching the Semis. However with Carlsen on song, the Uzbek did not stand a chance and was punished for the second day in a row by the world's best player. Hikaru Nakamura won his mini-match 2-0 against another Uzbek Nodirbek Abdusattorov to end on the fifth spot.

East Bengal to revive campaign against Mohammedan SC

PTI ■ KOLKATA

East Bengal will be eager to break their winless streak and move up in the points table when they face struggling city rivals Mohammedan SC in their Indian Super League (ISL) match here on Sunday. With just 18 points from 19 games, East Bengal's campaign has been plagued by inconsistency. They have won only once in their last five matches and have failed to score in four of those outings. While their playoff hopes are all but over, they still have 15 points to play for and will look to finish the season strongly. In their debut ISL season, Mohammedan Sporting have endured an even tougher run. Sitting at the bottom with 11 points, they have scored just nine goals while conceding 34. A three-match losing streak has added to their struggles, and their defence remains a major concern. They played out a goalless draw in the first leg fixture. Given their current form, a breakthrough in attack will be crucial for both sides. East Bengal's defensive discipline has been a highlight, with the team leading the league in catching opponents offside (51 times). Jordanian centre-back Hijazi Maher has been a standout performer, contributing both defensively and in attack with two goals. On the other hand, Mohammedan SC's defensive frailties have cost them dearly, as they have conceded multiple goals in their last four matches. Their attack has also faltered, converting just six of 29 big chances -- the worst efficiency in the league. East Bengal coach Oscar Bruzon was optimistic, saying his team has worked hard to regain their form. "This was a long week. It was a week where we worked towards bringing our performances back to the level that we have displayed earlier against good and quality teams," he said. With time running out for them, Mohammedan SC's assistant coach Mehrajuddin Wadoo urged the players to give their all. "We know the importance of this game. We are going to play with all our heart and make sure that the game is difficult for East Bengal FC," he said.

Magic Mitoma, Minteh double give Brighton 3-0 win over Chelsea

PTI ■ BRIGHTON

Brighton completed a league and cup double over Chelsea on Friday after beating the London side 3-0 for the second time in a week. Brighton beat Chelsea 2-1 in the FA Cup last Saturday and gave an even better performance for all three points in the Premier League on Friday thanks to a magic moment from Kaoru Mitoma and brace from Yankuba Minteh. With 27 minutes gone, the Japanese striker brought down with aplomb a hopeful punt forward by goalkeeper Bart Verbruggen and powered past the last man before firing a low shot past Filip Jorgensen. Mitoma was also involved in Brighton's second 11 minutes later. He danced through the Chelsea penalty box before firing a low shot across goal. The defense cut out the cross but couldn't clear the danger and the ball fell to Minteh, who stroked it home. The Gambian winger got his second and Brighton's third 17 minutes into the second half after working a nice one-two with Danny Welbeck and firing in from a tight angle as the Chelsea defense stood and watched. "Three goals, a clean sheet, what more can you ask for?" Brighton keeper Verbruggen told broadcaster Sky Sports. It was the third loss in its last four games for an insipid Chelsea side and left it in fourth place in the Premier League table, four points behind Nottingham Forest, which has a game in hand. Chelsea had 70 per cent possession but couldn't put a shot on goal. "Probably since I arrived that is the worst performance, especially in the moment we are in," Chelsea manager Enzo Maresca told the BBC. Brighton's first home win in the league since November. 9 lifted it two places into eighth, and was a brilliant reply to the humiliating 7-0 loss to Nottingham Forest on Feb 1. "It has been a massive couple of weeks for us after a horrible result and it was important we reacted in the right way," Welbeck told Premier League Productions. "There was obviously something wrong against Forest. We had to look at ourselves and have some honest conversations in the dressing room and with the manager. It was something we could not just gloss over.

Jeev off to fast start with 68 in Marbella Legends

PTI ■ BRIGHTON

India's Jeev Milkha Singh got off to a fine start on the 2025 Legends Tour season with a superb four-under 68 in the first round of the Staysture Marbella Legends event here. Jeev was lying tied 12th and his round included a superb eagle on the front nine and a hat-trick of birdies on the back. Overall, he had an eagle, four birdies and two bogeys. For Jeev it was his second Seniors event this year as he finished tied 28th at the Trophy Hassan II, an event on the Champions Tour PGA. Jeev, who was 26th on the Legends Tour rankings last year, started on the tenth with a bogey. He rallied with three birdies in a row from the 14th, but dropped another shot on the 18th. On his second nine, he landed an eagle on Par-5 fifth and added a birdie on eighth for a 68

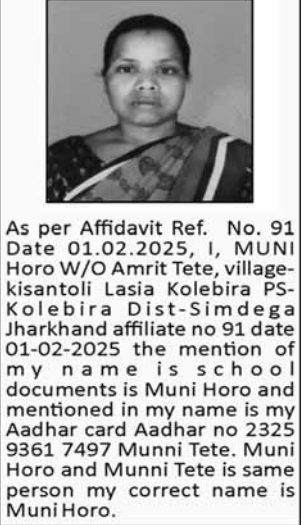

while playing with Scott Hend, a former colleague from both DP World Tour and Asian Tour. There was a group of five players sharing the lead, including Colin Montgomerie, Anders Hansen, Simon Griffiths, Adilson Da Silva and Lionel Alexandre. They were all 7-under 65 each at the Aloha Golf Club in beautiful conditions in southern Spain. Colin Montgomerie rolled in a long birdie putt down a tier on the 18th green to the delight of the spectators who followed him and local favourite Miguel Angel Jimenez right from their very first shots. Last year's Legends Tour number one Adilson da Silva remarkably birdied all four of the tough quartet of par-3s on the way to his 65. The Brazilian kept a blemish off his card as he started 2025 in the same fashion that he ended the 2024 season. Three-time DP World Tour winner Anders Hansen hasn't played competitive golf in recent years, but there wasn't much sign of any rust as the Dane reeled off seven red numbers in a 10-hole stretch from the 5th and finished with four pars to post his 65. Simon Griffiths is another player to carry good form into the new year. The Englishman picked up a win, a second, a third, a fourth, a fifth, a sixth and an eighth in his last nine tournaments last season to claim the Barry Lane Rookie of the Year Award.

Tulips Catching the Light

From Dutch fields to Delhi's gardens, tulips bring colour and unity, says SAKSHI PRIYA

There is something almost human about a tulip. It does not simply bloom, it arrives. Standing tall with effortless grace, its petals unfurl as if stretching after a long slumber, ready to greet the world with quiet confidence. Unlike the delicate rose or the wild daisy, a tulip possesses an unshakable certainty, heralding the end of winter and the promise of warmth ahead. In New Delhi, at the residence of the Netherlands Ambassador H.E. Marisa Gerards, sixty thousand tulips swayed gently in the cool February breeze, their vibrant colours painting a breathtaking spectacle. This was not just a garden in full bloom, it was a moment of poetry, a meeting of nature, diplomacy and history.

Traded for fortunes, their value soaring beyond gold. Though the frenzy eventually collapsed, the Dutch devotion to tulips never waned. Over time, tulip cultivation became one of the Netherlands' most celebrated industries. Today, three thousand varieties bloom across the country, each a product of meticulous breeding and generations of expertise. Among them, the rare broken tulip, with its flame-like streaks, remains a marvel, a reminder that even nature carries an artist's touch.

backdrops for stories of love and longing. The white tulips carried a quiet purity, like freshly fallen snow, while the deep purple ones held a regal mystery, as if plucked from a painter's canvas. The golden yellow tulips stood like little drops of sunshine, bright and warm. But the ones streaked with red were the most enchanting of all, their fiery shades blending in to a soft glow, just like a sunset on a clear evening. Then there were the pink tulips, soft yet striking, their petals catching the light in a way that made them almost glow.

Standing there, amidst a garden bursting with life, it was impossible not to be moved. Tulips are storytellers, timekeepers and silent poets. And just like the bond between India and the Netherlands, they remind us that beauty, when nurtured with care, has the power to bloom across continents and cultures, year after year.

TULIPS BLOOM IN DELHI

A rare sight in Delhi, sixty thousand tulips bloom in vibrant shades, painting a stunning spectacle. These flowers carry history, art and a bond between nations, once sparking 'Tulip Mania' in the Netherlands. Today, they bring a touch of Dutch heritage and the magic of spring to India.

Curtain Raiser

The Icons of Whisky Awards 2025 began by bringing together industry leaders and connoisseurs, writes ABHI SINGHAL

The Icons of Whisky Awards 2025 kicked off in style with a curtain raiser event at The Claridges, New Delhi. The event was hosted by Spiritual Luxury in association with Whisky Magazine and presented in partnership with Suntory Toki Whisky, the evening had fun moments of craftsmanship, innovation and industry excellence.

Since its inception in 2008, the Icons of Whisky Awards have remained India's premier international beverage accolades, curated by Spiritual Luxury Living for the past 15 years. The curtain raiser brought together industry stalwarts including distillers, brand ambassadors, connoisseurs and whisky enthusiasts, creating a vibrant space for discussions on evolving trends and innovations shaping the whisky landscape in India and beyond.

A mixology masterclass took centre stage, where expert mixologists showcased innovative whisky based cocktails, while an interactive activation allowed guests to personalise their own tote bags, adding a bespoke touch to the experience. Adding to the evening's charm was the "One Night in Toki o" experience, an immersive tribute to Japanese culture, blending tradition with modern innovation. Guests also indulged in an exquisite Japanese culinary spread including sushi, asparagus tempura and lamb chops, perfectly complementing the whisky experience.

The grandeur continues on April 12 in Gurugram, where the Icons of Whisky Awards 2025 will honour the finest talents in the Indian beverage industry.

British Remake of Culpa Mía

My Fault: London brings passion and style but struggles to match its Spanish adaptation, writes ABHI SINGHAL

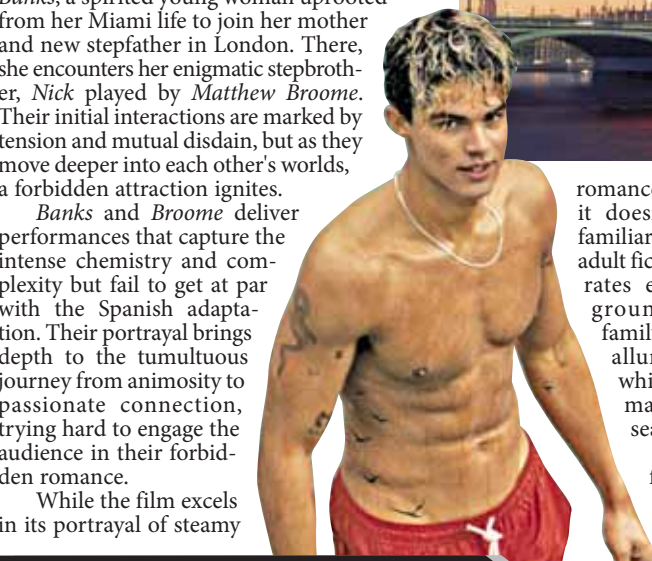

My Fault: London is a 2025 British romantic drama streaming on Amazon Prime Video. The movie is directed by Dani Girardwood and Charlotte Fassler, this film is an English-language adaptation of the 2023 Spanish hit and people's loved Culpa Mía, based on Mercedes Ron's Wattpad-originated Culpables trilogy. The narrative centres on a provocative romance between step-siblings, set against the backdrop of London.

The story follows Noah played by Asha Banks, a spirited young woman uprooted from her Miami life to join her mother and new stepfather in London. There, she encounters her enigmatic stepbrother, Nick played by Matthew Broome. Their initial interactions are marked by tension and mutual disdain, but as they move deeper into each other's worlds, a forbidden attraction ignites. Banks and Broome deliver performances that capture the intense chemistry and complexity but fail to get at par with the Spanish adaptation. Their portrayal brings depth to the tumultuous journey from animosity to passionate connection, trying hard to engage the audience in their forbidden romance.

romance and dramatic flair, it doesn't venture far from familiar tropes found in young adult fiction. The plot incorporates elements like underground racing, secretive family dynamics, and the allure of the "bad boy," which, while entertaining, may feel predictable to seasoned viewers.

My Fault: London offers a visually appealing experience which has overshadowed character development and plot intricacies. The film's commitment to delivering a high-energy, passionate story is evident, yet it sometimes comes at the expense of exploring more nuanced themes or providing substantial back-story for its protagonists.

The film serves just to the young adult romance genre. Its strengths lie in the palpable chemistry between the leads and the vibrant London setting, which together create an engaging, if somewhat predictable, viewing experience. Fans of dramatic, forbidden love stories will find satisfaction in this film, though it may not offer significant surprises or deviations from genre expectations.

A SKY FULL OF WINGS

Discover a world untouched by noise, where only the wings of birds break the silence, says SAKSHI PRIYA

There's something deeply soothing about the presence of birds. No matter where you are, the soft flutter of wings or the distant call of a bird can instantly transport you to a place of peace. Birds seem to fill the air with a quiet kind of company that makes you feel connected to the world around you. Unlike most popular nature spots, this wetland remains hidden from the typical tourist routes, untouched and unhurried, just waiting for someone to notice its magic.

I found this solace in the Dhanauri Wetlands, near Thasrana in Uttar Pradesh, a place that feels like a hidden sanctuary untouched by the noise of modern life. Unlike crowded nature reserves, it does not call out for attention. Instead, it waits patiently, its beauty unfolding only for those willing to step into its stillness. It was in this mist-laden landscape that I discovered the true magic of being among birds, where silence speaks, and nature embraces you without asking for anything in return.

WHEN THE SKY COMES TO LIFE

Around 11 AM, the sun began to work its magic. The first rays of sunlight began to filter through, slowly dissolving the fog. The Dhanauri Wetlands were finally revealed in all their splendour. The lake shimmered under the golden light, mirroring the movements of birds in the sky.

In every direction, life unfolded in the most mesmerising ways. Baikal teals, their green and chestnut plumage gleaming, glided effortlessly across the water. Sarus cranes, the tallest flying birds in the world, waded gracefully through the shallows, their striking red crowns standing out against the backdrop of endless blue. White-throated kingfishers, streaks of electric blue, darted across the surface, their sharp beaks poised for the perfect catch. Black drongos, perched high on bare branches, observed their surroundings with quiet confidence.

Then, in the midst of it all, I spotted something that truly captivated me, a Painted stork (Mycteria leucocephala), standing still in the water, its pink and white plumage vibrant against the reeds. Nearby, an Ibis sat motionless, sharing the space with an egret that hovered just above. They did not interact, nor did they compete. They simply coexisted, bound by the same stillness that surrounded them. It was a reminder that nature does not rush, nor does it seek control, simply is.

A WORLD WRAPPED IN FOG

Arriving early in the morning, I was greeted by a thick blanket of winter fog, softening every outline, blurring the edges of trees, water and distant shapes. It was the kind of silence that didn't feel empty but full - full of life stirring beneath the mist, of whispered movements in the reeds and of birds calling out unseen. The cold air carried distant sounds of wings flapping, making the entire landscape feel like something out of a dream.

At first, I thought the fog would ruin my chance of getting any decent photographs. Everything seemed swallowed up by the mist, with just the faintest shapes of trees and water appearing like ghosts in the haze. But as I stood there, waiting for the fog to clear, I realised that there was a certain calm in it. The mist didn't obscure the beauty of the place, it enhanced it. It gave everything a sense of mystery, as if nature itself was being revealed slowly, almost deliberately.

A FRAGILE HAVEN WORTH PROTECTING

Yet, as untouched as it seems, the Dhanauri Wetlands are not invincible. Like many natural spaces, they face growing threats from habitat destruction, pollution and human encroachment. It's easy to assume that places like this will always exist, remaining undisturbed and waiting for the next visitor to discover them. However, the truth is, without conscious effort to protect them, they may not. For those who have ever found comfort in nature, who have stood still just to listen to the world breathe, places like Dhanauri are not simply landscapes. They are living sanctuaries, home to thousands of species, each playing its part in the delicate balance of life.

A PLACE THAT DEMANDS NOTHING BUT PRESENCE

One of the most striking things about Dhanauri Wetlands is not just its visual beauty but its quietness. In a world constantly buzzing with movement and noise, finding a place that does not demand attention, but instead rewards those who choose to be present, is rare. There were no distractions here, no honking cars, no flashing screens, just the simple, unbroken sounds of water lapping against the shore, wings flapping overhead and birds calling out to one another.

It is a place that does not overwhelm but instead invites you to slow down. Whether you're there to watch the birds, capture the beauty through your camera or just enjoy a moment of peace, it offers more than a pretty sight, it gives you a sense of connection to something much bigger than yourself.

A SANCTUARY ON THE BRINK

The Dhanauri Wetlands are at risk, once a sanctuary for birds like the Sarus Crane and Painted Stork, now threatened by encroachment and neglect. With land repurposed for construction, the ecosystem is shrinking and disrupting its delicate balance. Water pollution and disappearing green buffers worsen the crisis. Without urgent protection, this vital habitat, which supports biodiversity, flood control and climate regulation, may soon be lost, leaving behind only memories of its once-thriving wildlife.

Recognised as an Important Bird Area (IBA) by BirdLife International and extensively studied by the Bombay Natural History Society (BNHS), Dhanauri plays a pivotal role in global bird conservation. Each year, between November and March, the wetland transforms into a sanctuary for over 50,000 migratory waterfowl, reinforcing its importance as a breeding and nesting ground

A MOMENT WITH NATURE

At Dhanauri Wetlands, you'll find yourself surrounded by the beauty of nature. Expect to spot the striking Baikal Teal, the towering Sarus Crane and the graceful White-throated Kingfisher. The Black Drongo and Citrine Wagtail add charm to the scenery, while the Painted Storks and Ibis soar across the sky, truly making you feel one with the wilderness. The Bull-headed Shrike perches quietly, surveying the land, while flocks of birds move in perfect harmony, painting the wetlands with life.

The Sarus Crane, the world's tallest flying bird, glides through wetlands with elegance, its vivid red head and long legs creating a breathtaking sight in nature's tranquillity

BIRD SPECIES,
INCLUDING 150+ SARUS
CRANES

At a time when rapid urbanisation threatens natural ecosystems, Dhanauri Wetlands stands as a critical stronghold for avian biodiversity. Home to over 150 Sarus cranes, the state bird of Uttar Pradesh and sheltering 217 bird species, including 23 endangered and vulnerable ones, this wetland is an ecological necessity.

waterfowl, but the push for conservation has yet to gain the urgency it deserves. With habitat loss accelerating, the fate of Dhanauri is about the larger battle to protect our natural heritage before it is too late.

A JOURNEY WORTH TAKING

If you decide to visit, go early in the morning, before the mist lifts completely. Walk quietly along the lake's edge, listen to the calls of unseen birds and let yourself be immersed in the stillness. Watch as the fog dissolves into golden light, revealing a world teeming with life. Dhanauri Wetlands is an experience, a reminder that, in the presence of birds, you are never truly alone.

Young and Rising Stars of Dining

The new generation of restaurateurs are transforming India's dining scene with passion

The restaurant industry has long been a playground for seasoned professionals, but a new wave of young entrepreneurs is rewriting the rules. These are not just ambitious dreamers banking on Instagrammable décor and buzzy themes, they are deeply invested in the food itself. Menu planning, ingredient sourcing, and tastings are their daily bread, and their knowledge surpasses even some chefs I have met.

Take, for instance, Tusheeta Khanna and Anant Bali, the young duo behind Encanto, a newly opened Mexican restaurant in Gurgaon. Their passion for authenticity is evident, not just in the food, which is impressive, but in their understanding of every dish, its origins, and the nuances of each ingredient. Too often, I have seen chefs operate with a superficial grasp of their own menu, but these two could school many in the trade.

Then there is Vanshika Wadhwa, carrying forward her family's legacy in the food business. Daughter of renowned restaurateur Vineet Wadhwa of Fio, she has launched Kamei, an Asian restaurant that has already won over some of the most discerning food critics. Though I have yet to visit her outlets, the praise from trusted voices makes me confident she is onto something remarkable.

And let us talk about Bhagyesh Tekriwal and Utkarsh Khandelia, the brains behind Sorbo, a Mediterranean restaurant that speaks volumes of their dedication. While not as young as the others, their work reflects the same meticulous approach, one where the food is the hero, not just the ambiance.

Moving beyond the NCR, Jaipur has its own rising star in Sagar Naggal, the force behind Swinton House. Built within an old haveli once owned by a British architect, the restaurant curates a menu inspired by his favourite dishes from around the world. The charm of the setting, combined with a well-thought-out culinary selection, makes it a standout in the Pink City's ever-growing food scene.

Further north, in Mohali, Arpit Singh is making waves with Prey, an avant-garde concept built over a dam.

With open-air dining lit by kerosene lamps, the space exudes a dreamy, romantic charm, setting the stage for an unforgettable dining experience. His vision proves that ambiance and cuisine can come together to create something truly special.

Just today, I met Muskan Katyal, the niece of Porus

Arora, the name behind Sticky Rice, Enoki, and more. She is the same age as Tusheeta and Anant and is already making waves with Mala Project, a Gurgaon-based restaurant dedicated to the fiery flavours of Chinese Mala cuisine. Her involvement in the project along with Porus and Tanvi Arora is not just token ownership, she is hands-on, ensuring the authenticity of every bite.

If these young restaurateurs are any indication, the future of dining in India is in excellent hands. Their enthusiasm, knowledge, and commitment to quality are setting new standards. This is not just a generational shift, it is a culinary revolution, and I, for one, am eager to see what they cook up next. —Pawan Soni

RECONNECT WITH YOURSELF

A wellness retreat embracing nature and modern science

Set against the stunning backdrop of the Sahyadri mountains, Swastik offers an immersive experience that rejuvenates the mind, body, and soul. Here's a glimpse into this transformative journey that redefines wellness travel.

Wellness today is no longer just a luxury for the affluent or a niche interest for certain travellers. It has become a mainstream pursuit, embraced by individuals from all walks of life. This shift is reflected in the rapidly growing wellness tourism sector, which, according to the Global Wellness Institute, is expected to reach $1.3 trillion by 2025. Amidst this burgeoning trend, I recently discovered a retreat that perfectly encapsulates the evolution of wellness travel, Swastik, a Luxury Wellbeing Sanctuary.

Swastik's Elemental Harmony

Dhyan Vihar (Space, Akash): A conical meditation hall promoting self-awareness and stillness.

Anand Vihar (Fire, Agni): A transformative space featuring dining, consultation, and performance areas.

Ayu Vihar (Air, Vayu): A rejuvenation hub offering therapies to balance body and mind.

Sukh Vihar (Earth, Bhumi): Luxurious residential spaces for immersive wellness experiences.

Ganga Vihar (Water, Jal): A space dedicated to cleansing and rejuvenation, embodying fluid energy and transformation.

A Journey into the Unknown

As a newcomer to wellness retreats, I wasn't sure what to expect. My understanding of wellness was limited to exercise and meditation, which I had found rather mundane. However, in search of a reset, I embarked on a three-day journey that would challenge my preconceptions in the most delightful way.

Upon our arrival in Pune, we were greeted by a gracious driver who took us on a scenic 1.5-hour drive to the retreat. Having expected bland, restrictive meals, I indulged in a Vada Pav before arriving at Swastik. But from the moment we stepped onto the property, the experience exceeded all expectations. The resort's design, crafted by TAOSTUDIO, is deeply inspired by the five core elements, Earth, Air, Water, Fire and Space, which form the foundation of its architectural brilliance. The property is structured around five key dimensions of life, Health, Wealth, Love, Bliss and Spirituality, ensuring that nature is woven into every aspect of the experience.

Unique Rituals and Therapies

That evening, we experienced Swastik's signature sleep ritual. Two therapists arrived at our Guha to perform a soothing bedtime routine, applying calming oils, offering a relaxing foot massage, and tucking us in with mindful silence. Whether it was the exhaustion, the tranquility, or the therapy itself, I drifted into deep, restful sleep almost instantly.

Architectural & Philosophical Vision

Swastik's philosophy is embodied in its logo, a blooming flower representing the four core values of Health, Wealth, Love, and Bliss, all rooted in Spirituality, the central force of its existence. The retreat nurtures the potential of every individual, encouraging personal growth and self-discovery. Swastik transformed my perception of wellness. It showed me that wellness is not about rigid discipline but about creating a lifestyle that balances indulgence with mindfulness.

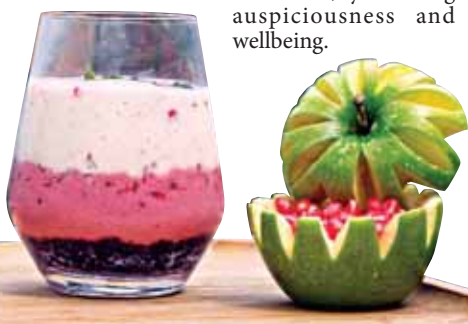

— By Rohit Kaul

A TRANSFORMATIVE WELLNESS EXPERIENCE

Our wellness journey began with an assessment by an in-house Ayurvedic doctor, who analysed our doshas (body energies) and recommended therapies to restore balance. The evening's dinner was a revelation. Contrary to my expectations of bland health food, Swastik's culinary offerings were a sensory delight. Each meal was a five-course experience, crafted from locally sourced, seasonal ingredients, many of which were grown on-site. Chef Arvind Joshi's thoughtfully curated menu transformed my understanding of healthy eating. It was nourishing, flavourful, and fulfilling without feeling restrictive.

A Retreat in Nature's Embrace

Nestled in the peaceful Peacock Valley, Swastik overlooks the backwaters of Khadakwasla Lake and the majestic Sinhagad, with the Sahyadri mountain range as its backdrop. Designed to honour nature's rhythms, from sunrise to moonrise, Swastik seamlessly integrates spirituality and wellness. The name itself, derived from Sanskrit, combines well, being associated with, symbolising auspiciousness and wellbeing.

Chettinad: Unleashing the Ghosts of Imagination

Though known for its stunning architecture, rich cultural heritage, and unforgettable cuisine, Chettinad hides a deeper mystery, the kind that stirs the imagination ground spices from a Chettinad kitchen.

And so, here I am, in Chettinad, on a journey to unravel its mysteries. It is not merely a destination, it is an experience, an ongoing unravelling that draws you in deeper with every step.

When speaking of South India, it is impossible to ignore the region's vibrant culture and magnificent architecture. The interplay of bright colours, lush greenery, and the salty air gives this part of India its unique character, attracting visitors from all corners of the globe. One such captivating destination is Chettinad, the homeland of the Nattukottai Chettiars (also known as Nagarathars), a prosperous banking and business community. The name "Chettinad" refers to a region comprising 56 villages in the Sivagang district and 20 in the Pudukottai district. Historically, this area was part of the Ramnad kingdom of Pandya Nadu.

Despite lacking typical tourist attractions like beaches or lofty hill stations, Chettinad captivates visitors with its majestic mansions, architectural masterpieces that stand in stark contrast to the arid landscape. These grand homes, some more than 300 years old, whisper stories of the generations who once lived under their roofs. The Chettiar community, originally merchants and traders dealing in salt, gems, textiles and jewellery, controlled much of India's banking economy in the 19th century. Their legacy is written in the stunning mansions that still stand today, some meticulously preserved as heritage properties, while others gradually succumb to the ravages of time.

The Athangudi Palace is one such treasure, showcasing the finest elements of Chettiar architecture. For a modest fee of INR 50, visitors can explore its open courtyards, elegant verandahs, and the seamless blend of European and Indian architectural styles. Built in the early 20th century, the palace boasts imported wood, marble, tiles, and mirrors from around the world. Its interiors, maintained with painstaking care, offer a rare glimpse into the grandeur of the Chettiars' past.

For those with a spiritual inclination, Chettinad is home to some remarkable temples. A visit here would be incomplete without exploring the Ariyakkudi Thiruvangadamudaiyan Temple, dedicated to Lord

THOUGH THESE VILLAGES MAY BE VACANT NOW, THEY STILL STAND RESILIENT, HOLDING ONTO THE MEMORIES OF A BYGONE ERA

Srinivasa. Built in the 17th century by Sevugan Chettiar, a devout Saivite, this temple was constructed after the divine Lord Venkateswara appeared to Chettiar in a dream, instructing him to build a temple in his village. The temple's Dravidian architecture is awe-inspiring, reflecting the community's deep devotion.

Chettinad also holds its share of ancient fortifications. The Thirumayam Fort, built in 1687 by Raja Raghunatha Thevar of Ramanathapuram, sits atop a hillock. It encompasses temples, caves, a jail, and even a mysterious pond. As my guide, Kavita, excitedly narrated the fort's history, I was particularly drawn to a natural water pond at the summit, whose water level remains unchanged year-round, a phenomenon that adds to the fort's allure. From the highest point, I was rewarded with a stunning 360-degree view of the region, a moment of pure enchantment.

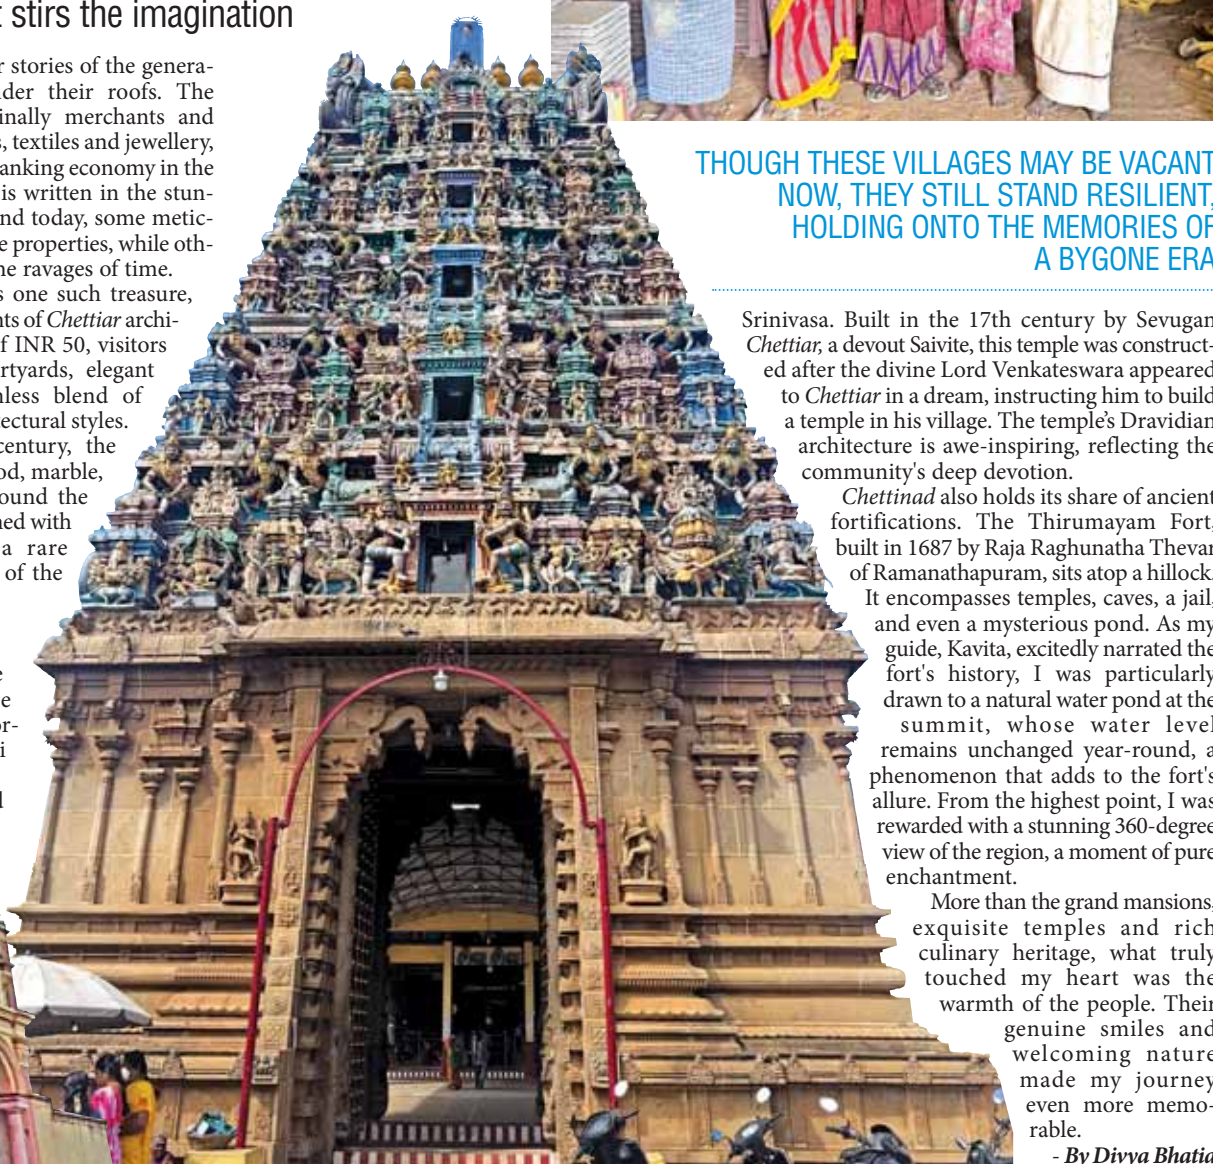

More than the grand mansions, exquisite temples and rich culinary heritage, what truly touched my heart was the warmth of the people. Their genuine smiles and welcoming nature made my journey even more memorable.

There is something enchantingly captivating about a place frozen in time. As you wander through the quiet streets of Chettinad, its serenity is only disturbed by the soft whispers of the wind and the distant echoes of a long-forgotten past. The grand yet lifeless palaces, beautifully crafted and untouched by time, seem to hold within their walls the secrets of centuries. Even now, these imposing structures stand firm, guarding corridors that once hummed with life.

Chettinad is a paradox, a land where opulence was once abundant, yet the echoes of that prosperity now linger in a quiet, almost meditative stillness. Unlike the bustling tourist hubs that thrive on their vibrant energy, Chettinad flourishes in this exotic calm, where each cracked tile and fading mural speaks of an era long past, brimming with migration, prosperity, and change. Walking through its abandoned villages, you don't just observe history; you feel its pulse in the air, hanging like the intoxicating scent of freshly

Sacred Confluences: Reflections on Kumbh and Spirituality

On this quiet evening, as I sat with my friend while the sun painted the sky in gentle hues, memories of my recent visit to Kumbh Mela flooded back, sparking a deep conversation about spirituality and human nature. The cooling evening air seemed to sharpen our thoughts as we recalled the extraordinary scenes witnessed at Prayagraj.

The vivid images remained crystal clear in my mind – the swirling smoke from countless sacred fires, the endless sea of humanity moving like waves toward the Triveni Sangam, and the fascinating sight of sadhus wielding smartphones alongside their traditional implements. Each memory carried its own weight of meaning, prompting us to contemplate the unique blend of ancient and modern that defines today's spiritual gatherings.

As the evening shadows lengthened, I found myself describing the remarkable atmosphere at Kumbh – how the air seemed charged with collective faith and anticipation. The memory of millions of devotees waiting patiently, some for years, to take their sacred dip at the confluence sparked an interesting discussion about human psychology and spiritual seeking. What particularly struck us both was the contemporary evolution of this ancient gathering. I shared stories of seeing sadhus actively engaged with social media, posting their spiritual journeys online, their orange robes bright against the glow of mobile screens. This observation led us to ponder how technology has transformed even the most traditional spiritual practices, creating a new kind of sacred space that exists both in the physical and digital realms.

Our conversation naturally flowed to broader questions about mental well-being in modern times. We discussed how the mind, like the converging rivers at Sangam, seeks its own confluences – between tradition and modernity, between spiritual seeking and everyday life, between individual practice and communal experience.

The evening's discussion reminded me of the various factors affecting mental health that I had observed during my visit. While obvious threats like substance abuse were visible, we found ourselves more intrigued by the subtle, everyday habits that can gradually erode mental well-being. The irony of seeing people seeking spiritual awakening while simultaneously being tethered to their devices sparked a thoughtful dialogue about digital detachment and mindful engagement.

We explored how seemingly innocent modern habits can impact our cognitive health – from insufficient sleep to excessive solitude, from sedentary lifestyles to mindless overconsumption. The contrast with the disciplined lives of traditional sadhus provided an interesting perspective on balance and well-being.

As dusk settled around us, our conversation turned to the role of community and connection. The Kumbh experience highlighted how human beings naturally seek confluence – with others, with higher meaning, with themselves. Yet modern life often pulls us toward isolation, even as our devices promise greater connectivity.

The memory of watching countless devotees take their sacred dip led us to reflect on transformation – how people seek it, whether through traditional spiritual practices or modern means. We pondered whether the sacred waters of Sangam truly awakened everyone who bathed there, or if the real awakening came from the intention and belief they carried within.

As our evening of reflection drew to a close, we realised that the Kumbh had offered us more than just spiritual spectacle – it provided a powerful lens through which to examine our own relationship with tradition, technology, and mental well-being. The smoke from the sacred fires, which had seemed so prevalent during my visit, now felt like a metaphor for the way old and new intermingle in our quest for meaning and mental peace.

Our twilight discussion revealed that while the tools and expressions of spiritual seeking may evolve, the fundamental human desire for connection, meaning, and well-being remains unchanged. Whether through ancient ritual or modern practice, we all seek our own version of the sacred confluence, where the rivers of tradition, innovation, and personal growth meet to form something greater than their individual streams.

As the first stars began to appear in the darkening sky, the insights gained from examining these memories of Kumbh through the lens of our conversation felt both profound and practical – a reminder that sometimes the greatest understanding comes not from the experience itself, but from the thoughtful reflection that follows.
