Parliament Committee to question Meta CEO

DEEPAK KUMAR JHA ■ NEW DELHI

Peeved by the unwarranted comments on Lok Sabha elections by social media giant Mark Zuckerberg, the Parliamentary Committee is to summon representatives of the Meta during the next couple of days. In past also social media giants Facebook and the then Twitter, Amazon, Google were summoned by the Centre and Parliament committees on different issues including protection of data and its privacy and allegation over supporting a particular individual, group or party in elections. The Centre led by Union Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw has already responded and countered to Meta CEO Mark Zuckerberg's claims that most incumbent governments, including BJP led NDA, lost their positions post the Covid-19 pandemic. BJP MP Nishikant Dubey, who heads the Parliament's Standing Committee on Communications and Information Technology, sought an apology from social media giant Meta for "tarnishing" India's image. He said that the panel will summon the firm very soon. "My committee will summon Meta for this incorrect information. Incorrect information about any democratic country tarnishes its image. This organisation will have to apologise to the Indian Parliament and the people here for this mistake," Dubey said in a statement. A day earlier Vaishnaw took the lead to criticise Zuckerberg for making "factually incorrect" statement that the incumbent government in India lost the election in 2024 over issues arising out of the COVID-19 pandemic. "It is disappointing to see misinformation from Zuckerberg himself. Let's uphold facts and credibility," Vaishnaw said on several social media platforms including X (formerly Twitter) from where the matter has spiraled. While Zuckerberg owns the controlling stake in the Meta group of companies, X is now headed by US Tycoon Elon Musk. "From free food for 800 million, 2.2 billion free vaccines, and aid to nations worldwide during COVID, to leading India as the fastest-growing major economy, PM Modi's decisive 3rd-term victory is a testament to good governance and public trust," Vaishnaw said in a statement. Zuckerberg in a podcast said the lead to criticise Zuckerberg for making "factually incorrect" statement that the incumbent government in India lost the election in 2024 over issues arising out of the COVID-19 pandemic. The Meta chief was referring to 2024 Lok Sabha elections, in which BJP lost its majority and the third term of Narendra Modi's government was formed by alliance partners like JDU and TDP as NDA alliance.

Police find NGO, political ties in Delhi bomb threats

SAUMYA SHUKLA ■ NEW DELHI

Hinting towards a deeper conspiracy behind the bomb threats being sent to schools and several educational institutions across Delhi-NCR in recent past, the Delhi Police on Tuesday revealed link of an NGO, who opposed the hanging of terrorist Afzal Guru and has a political party, with the 12th class student who had sent mails to over 400 schools. BJP alleged that the police investigation hints towards Aam Aadmi Party's (AAP) involvement in the case, charging that AAP chief Arvind Kejriwal is not just Delhi's but the country's enemy ahead of the Delhi elections. The BJP has been targeting Chief Minister Atishi on her parents opposing the hanging of Guru. Addressing a Press conference, Special CP/Law and Order Division Zone-II Madhup Tiwari said that the minor has sent about seven threatening mails to more than 400 schools between February 12 and January 8. He also sent the mail on May 1 when about 250 schools received the hoax bomb threat creating large-scale panic and fear among both parents and children, disrupting normal lives of the public, the officer added.

The matter came to fore when the police identified a 16 year old for sending bomb threats to about 23 schools on January 8. The hoax threats were delivered through heavily encrypted email services and complex digital pathways, clearly indicating intent to conceal identity and evade detection, Tiwari said. However, he added that considering technical complexities and advanced techniques used in sending such emails, the police started probing the role of other entities/players/associates. The police pulled out at the background of the juveniles family. "We wanted to see how this child could have done all this on his own. To investigate this, we did a background profiling of the entire family. It is revealed that one NGO, which is part of a civil society group, has a significant influence at the workplace of the juvenile's guardian. It has a longstanding association and deep connection with a political party. This NGO is known for advocacy for the political party in open public domain and questions the legitimacy of Afzal Guru's hacking, a convicted terrorist involved in the 2001 Parliament attack," the officer said.

Release Indians hired to army: MEA to Russia

Mohammad Asfan was killed on the Russia-Ukraine frontlines last year. He travelled to Russia for a security guard's job but was sent to the war zone

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

India on Tuesday pressed Russia to release all the Indians recruited by the Russian military, following the death of another Indian national in the Russia-Ukraine conflict zone, taking the death toll to 10. Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said an Indian national from Kerala has died and another has sustained injuries and is undergoing treatment at a hospital in Moscow. Jaiswal said the matter has been strongly taken up with Russian authorities in Moscow as well as with the Russian embassy in New Delhi. "We have also reiterated our demand for an early discharge of the remaining Indian nationals," he said. Prime Minister Narendra Modi had strongly raised the issue of early discharge of the Indian nationals working in the Russian Army during his talks with Russian President Vladimir Putin in Moscow in July last year. The death of Binil TB, who hailed from Thrissur, was made public on Monday by one of his relatives. Though the MEA did not provide the circumstances of his death, he reportedly died on the frontlines of the conflict in Ukraine. According to official data, nine Indians died while serving in the Russian Army in the last few months. Binil's death has taken the toll to 10. "We have learnt of the unfortunate death of an Indian national from Kerala, who had apparently been recruited to serve in the Russian Army," Jaiswal said. "Another Indian national from Kerala, who was similarly recruited, has been injured and is receiving treatment in a hospital in Moscow," he said. The MEA offered condolences to the family of the deceased.

Kite string slits claims four lives in Gujarat

PNS ■ AHMEDABAD

Four persons including a four-year-old boy died after their throats were slit by 'manja' or kite string during Uttarayan celebrations in Gujarat on Tuesday. A death each was reported in Rajkot, Panchmahal, Mehsana and Surendranagar districts while numerous cases of injury were reported across the state, officials said. Manja made from nylon or coated with crushed glass is sharp enough to cause fatal injuries. Despite being banned, it is used by kite enthusiasts who find them effective for cutting an opponent's kite. Kunal Parmar (4) bled to death in Halol town of Panchmahal district after his neck was slit by kite string, said an official of the local police station. He was riding with his father on motorcycle to buy kites and balloons from the market when a piece of string wrapped around his neck and caused a deep gash. Mansaji Thakor (35), a farmer, died in Vadnagar taluka of Mehsana district.

Some experts estimated the average cost of accommodation and food for each visitor in Prayagraj would be Rs 10,000, which would contribute Rs 4 lakh crore to the state government's treasury by the end of the Mela. BJP MP from Chandni Chowk and Secretary General of CAIT, Praveen Khandelwal said an estimate suggests that with an average expenditure of Rs 5,000 per person during religious travel, the total spending will exceed Rs 2 lakh crore. This includes spending on hotels, guesthouses, temporary accommodations, food, religious items, healthcare, and other services. Many companies and corporate sectors from India as well as abroad are jostling for space to showcase their presence during the 45 day event. Dabur, Parle, Coca-Cola, Reliance Consumer Products, ITC Mangaldeep, Aditya Birla Sun Life AMC are just some of the companies out to woo the crores of devotees expected at the holy fair. Australia loss prompts BCCI to limit wives, girlfriends on tours

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

India's 1-3 loss to Australia in the recent five test match series there has prompted Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) to consider disciplinary measures like limiting the presence of wives on tours. The BCCI also proposes to make it mandatory for players to travel together in the team bus. They may also be asked to pay for extra luggage. These proposed measures also come in the backdrop of Indian cricket team losing all the three test matches against New Zealand at home before the Border-Gavaskar test match series in Australia. The steps were reportedly discussed in the review meeting between the BCCI and Rohit Sharma and Gautam Gambhir after the loss Down Under. The proposed steps include not allowing spouses to travel with players beyond two weeks on a tour that more than 45 days, it was learnt. If the tour is shorter, the duration may be reduced to seven days. India's next Test assignment away from home is a five-match tour of England starting in June. Moreover, it will be made mandatory for the players to travel together in team buses. They have also been asked to pay for extra luggage. If players' luggage exceeds 150 kg, BCCI will not cover the extra charges, and players will have to pay them. Two top players of the Indian team reportedly travelled with their families between cities during Australian tour while the rest of the players travelled together. A report even claimed that the Indian team did not celebrate their historic win in Perth together. The BCCI decided to avoid any knee-jerk reactions in terms of the combination of the team. It is understood that with an important ODI tournament like the Champions Trophy scheduled in another six weeks' time, any immediate reaction would hurt the team as well as the support staff. Moreover, the issue of managers of players and coaches was highlighted when the personal manager of a senior coaching staff member was allowed on the team bus on the recent tour in Australia. The issue of managers of players and coaches was highlighted when the personal manager of a senior coaching staff member was allowed on the team bus on the recent tour that ended with India losing 1-3. Personal managers travelling on the team bus also raising a red flag with the anti-corruption unit. It should be avoided going forward. As far as the presence of wives on tours is concerned, it is being discussed in the board and a call would be taken on it soon, sources said. Also players and coaches should only travel by team bus. It was always supposed to be the case but of late, players use other modes of transportation. That should be avoided, they said. India's 1-3 defeat, their first loss to Australia in 10 years also meant that the Indians failed to make the cut for the World Test Championship final to be held in London in June.

Retail inflation drops, Sensex, Nifty bounce

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ MUMBAI

Benchmark indices Sensex and Nifty bounced back on Tuesday after declining for the past four sessions on easing retail inflation and a rebound in global markets. Besides, bargain hunting in energy, banking and metal stocks supported the market sentiment. However, rising global crude prices and unrelenting selling by foreign investors capped the gains, traders said. The 30-share BSE benchmark Sensex rose 169.62 points or 0.22 per cent to settle at 76,499.63. During the day, it surged 505.6 points or 0.66 per cent to 76,835.61. As many as 2,867 stocks advanced while 1,096 declined and 110 remained unchanged on the BSE. The NSE Nifty climbed 90.10 points or 0.39 per cent to 23,176.05. The BSE Sensex has plunged 1,869.1 points or 2.39 per cent in the past four trading sessions. "A rebound in the global market and an ease in domestic CPI inflation provided respite to the broader indices. This may provide some leeway for RBI in its next policy meeting. However, rising oil prices and higher 10-year yields will be watched carefully. "The IT sector weighed down amid concerns over weak earnings guidance for Q4. The domestic sentiment will be more inclined towards the ongoing earnings season and upcoming union budget, which has a mixed view," Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Financial Services, said.

Haryana CM asks officers to bring cooperative sugar mills out of losses

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini on Tuesday directed officials to set up biofuel briquetting plants in all cooperative sugar mills of the state so that the financial condition of the sugar mills can improve. Presiding over a review meeting of the Naraingarh Sugar Mill here in Chandigarh, the Chief Minister said the work of setting up a biofuel briquetting plant had been started in the Kaithal Cooperative Sugar Mill as a pilot project, in which bagasse briquettes are being made and sold to thermal power plants and other consumers of Haryana. This has also improved the financial condition of the sugar mill considerably.

about 7.14 lakh quintals of bagasse and earned additional revenue of Rs 1,630.31 lakh. During the meeting, Sugarfed Chairman Dharambhar Singh Dagar gave suggestions to improve the financial condition of the sugar mills.

Reviews schemes of Housing for All Department; Issues instructions to officers

He directed the officials to set up such plants in other cooperative sugar mills of the state on the same lines. Every possible effort should be made to bring the cooperative sugar mills out of losses, he added. Saini expressed happiness over the steps being taken by the government in the interest of cooperative sugar mills and farmers in the state and the continuous improvement in the efficiency of cooperative sugar mills. The Chief Minister was informed in the meeting that in the current crushing season 2024-25, till January 13, all the cooperative sugar mills associated with Sugarfed have crushed a total of 113.56 lakh quintals of sugarcane and produced 9.18 lakh quintals of sugar with an average sugar recovery of 8.70 per cent. In the last crushing season 2023-24, Rohtak, Sonapat, Jind, Palwal, Meham, Kaithal and Gohana cooperative sugar mills saved

In another meeting, Saini said that under the 'Mukhyamantri Gramin Awaz Yojana' and 'Pradhan Mantri Gramin Awaz Yojana', the state government will soon provide housing facility to all underprivileged families. The Housing for All Department has made all necessary arrangements in this direction. The allotment of 100-square-yard plots to eligible individuals will be carried out in a phased manner. Under the scheme, the 100-square-yard plots will be given in developed colonies with all essential amenities, similar to urban areas. To facilitate this, the Chief Minister has already approved an allocation of Rs 100 crore.

The Chief Minister directed the officers to ensure that eligible families are provided the option of financing the amount for flat or plot allotment through banks. This will ensure that no eligible family is deprived of the scheme's benefits, even if they are unable to make a lump sum payment.

It was informed during the meeting that under the schemes, all eligible families in the state who do not own a house, land to build a house, or a flat, and whose annual income is less than Rs 1.80 lakh, have been identified. Under the 'Mukhyamantri Gramin Awaz Yojana', over 5 lakh people have applied for 100-square-yard plots, and all eligible beneficiaries will soon receive their plots in phases. Similarly, under the scheme, 50-square-yard plots will be allotted in Mahagram Panchayats.

Similarly, under the 'Mukhyamantri Shabri Awaz Yojana', more than 2.89 lakh families living in cities, which do not own a house and have an annual income of less than Rs 1.80 lakh, have applied for housing. Among them, approximately 1.51 lakh individuals have applied for plots, and 1.38 lakh have applied for flats. Last year, provisional allotment letters were issued to 15,256 applicants.

It was informed in the meeting that Housing Board Haryana has successfully developed a Property Management System (PMS) software to manage the data of approximately 80,000 allottees. Previously, all property records were maintained manually by estate managers in ledgers, and allottees had to visit the concerned estate manager's office to update their details after making EMI payments. In addition, the Property Management System portal has been integrated with the Jamabandi portal, enabling seamless registration of properties under Housing Board Haryana. This integration ensures greater transparency and accuracy in property records. The Property Management System should also be linked with the Parivar Pehchan Patra to improve the implementation of schemes in the future, said the Chief Minister.

Kejriwal used Anna Hazare for political mileage: Bajwa

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Terming the Aam Aadmi Party supremo Arvind Kejriwal an epitome of lies, the Leader of the Opposition (LoP) in the Punjab Assembly, Partap Singh Bajwa on Tuesday said that Kejriwal used his political master Anna Hazare to take political advantage.

"Anna Hazare once on record said that he cannot even dream of Kejriwal swindling funds from liquor," Bajwa added.

In a statement, Bajwa also urged the voters of Delhi to vote the AAP out of power and choose the Indian National Congress, which is the only and the best option for the people of Delhi.

He also lashed out at Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann for leaving the Punjab and Punjabis in the lurch to campaign for Delhi elections. "Punjab's nero (Mann) has been fiddling while the Punjab has been burning. Punjab has been shaken up by blasts in the border areas, and the CM earlier left for Australia to witness a cricket match, and now he is busy campaigning for Delhi elections," Bajwa added.

The Senior Congress Leader held both Bharatiya Janata Party-led Union and Aam Aadmi Party-led Punjab governments for their complete inefficiency in maintaining law and order in the border belt.

"All the blasts took place in the border belt of Punjab. However, the Border Security Force (BSF) now exercises its power within 50 km jurisdiction of the fence while the Punjab Police is responsible for ensuring law and order in the entire state," Bajwa stated. "Ever since the AAP assumed power in the state, the Punjabis have lost the sense of security. Neither precious lives nor property is safe in Punjab," Bajwa added.

Ready to die to preserve peace & Punjabi unity: Sukhbir Badal

PNS ■ MUKTSAR

Senior Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) leader and former deputy chief minister Sukhbir Singh Badal on Tuesday made a fervent appeal to the people of Punjab to rebond with the Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) even as he vowed that he was ready to sacrifice his life for the Panth as well as peace and progress of Punjab.

urged the people to again repose their trust in the SAD in the same manner as the 40 Mukta had been welcomed back into the fold at this historic site. "Today the need of the hour is to strengthen our 'kaum' and the SAD alone can do this. I vow to you that like S Parkash Singh Badal I will do everything in my capacity for the welfare of the people. Even if I have to sacrifice myself I will do so for the sake of Punjab, Punjabiyat and the Khalsa Panth", he said. In an emotive speech, Badal cautioned the Panth and Punjab against the politics of communal divisiveness and bloodshed of Punjabi youth and asserted he would never flinch from the path of peace and communal harmony shown by the great gurus, saints and seers. He asserted he had already owned full responsibility on behalf of the party so that the people of the state could move forward into a future full of hope, peace and prosperity for our youth.

Kataria flags off 60 new buses in Chandigarh

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

On Makar Sankranti, Governor of Punjab and Administrator UT Chandigarh Gulab Chand Kataria on Tuesday flagged off 60 new buses added to the Chandigarh Transport Undertaking (CTU) fleet. "This step is a major milestone in strengthening and modernizing public transport in Chandigarh," a statement said. The Governor highlighted CTU's efforts to promote eco-friendly transportation and announced that the administration aims to make the CTU fleet 100 per cent electric by 2026-27. This will not only reduce diesel consumption but also significantly improve air quality. So far, the administration has included 80 electric buses in the fleet, resulting in savings of 29.81 lakh liters of diesel and a reduction of 7,872 metric tons in carbon emissions. Under the PM E-Bus Scheme, 100 more electric buses will soon be added to the fleet, he added.

Kataria further said that the 60 new buses come equipped with modern features such as an Intelligent Transportation System (ITS), smart card facilities, and integration with the Tri-City Mobile App. These technologies will allow passengers to check live bus locations, schedules, and fare details, making their travel more convenient and efficient.

ities, reduce administrative workload for the department, and enhance their financial security. With this fleet expansion, CTU now has a total of 684 buses. Among these, 438 buses serve urban and suburban routes, while 220 operate on long-distance routes. The inclusion of these advanced buses will significantly improve the travel experience for passengers.

A Czar in America

Trump has unveiled plans to annex Canada, claim Greenland and reclaim control of the Panama Canal

As President-elect Donald J Trump unveiled his controversial territorial ambitions during a press conference at Mar-a-Lago, the world watched in shock and bewilderment. Proposals to annex Canada, claim Greenland, reclaim the Panama Canal and even rename the Gulf of Mexico have raised serious concerns about the resurgence of imperialistic tendencies in US policy. While Trump's rhetoric aligns with his "Make America Great Again" ideology, this bold expansionism poses significant risks, not just internationally but also domestically. Trump's rhetoric appears rooted in a blend of perceived economic advantages, strategic military considerations and nationalist bravado. By targeting Canada, Greenland and Panama, Trump seeks to project American dominance across North America and the Arctic while countering Chinese influence in Central America. His approach, however, reflects an oversimplification of complex geopolitical realities. Trump argues that the United States subsidises Canada through trade and defence, portraying annexation as an economic and security measure. Yet, his claims ignore the deeply interdependent trade relationship and Canada's contributions to NATO. Greenland's strategic importance in the Arctic has long been recognised, particularly as climate change opens new shipping routes. Trump's desire for Greenland stems from its untapped resources and its position as a geopolitical chokepoint. Trump's statements on reclaiming the canal, under the guise of countering Chinese influence, invoke a bygone era of US interventionism in Latin America.

His assertions about Chinese control, however, lack evidence and risk alienating Panama and other regional allies. Trump's expansionist vision is fraught with potential consequences that could undermine the very goals he claims to pursue. NATO allies like Canada and Denmark view these claims as direct threats to their sovereignty. Such actions could strain alliances crucial to US security and global standing. Mexico and Panama, already wary of US interventions, would likely bolster ties with other global powers like China and Russia to counterbalance American aggression. Annexation or economic coercion could disrupt vital trade relationships, harming industries reliant on Canadian imports and exports. Greenland's acquisition could spark conflicts over Arctic resources, involving not only Denmark but also other Arctic nations like Russia and Norway. Trump's plans may rally his core supporters, but they risk alienating moderates and independents. Opposition from US lawmakers, including those wary of overreach and isolationist policies, could stall any practical implementation of these ideas. Any attempt to annex sovereign nations would violate international law, drawing condemnation from the United Nations and other global bodies. Trump's motivations appear to be a mix of strategic calculus and political theater. By reigniting nationalist fervour, he aims to solidify his support base ahead of assuming office. He must know that imperialism is a relic of the past.

The battle for Bihar: Can BJP forge unity to win?

As the race for the upcoming assembly elections intensifies, the Bihar elections emerge as the BJP's most formidable test since its victory in Delhi

As preparations for the upcoming assembly elections gather pace, the Bihar elections present the BJP with its most significant challenge since its triumph in Delhi. The key to success lies in maintaining unity within the NDA under all circumstances. However, the question remains: can this unity be sustained?

This concern looms large among NDA leaders. Amit Shah, often referred to as the BJP's election Chanakya, faces a daunting task in Bihar. Much like the lone warrior Abhimanyu, Shah stands against an opposition alliance steeped in socialist ideology. His mission is to keep all NDA factions united and harness their collective strength.

Despite being aligned with the JDU, Shah must devise his unique strategies to secure victory. This entails testing new political equations daily and forging consensus among allies. The BJP is set to confront the formidable Mahagathabandhan, comprising the RJD, Congress, and the Left parties. Historically, Bihar has been a fertile ground for political experiments, but the challenges for the BJP here are substantial. The state lacks leaders with strong grassroots connections and effective leadership skills. Adding to BJP's woes are the growing demands of its allies. According to Sangh sources, the party is inclined to retain the LJP in its traditional form, fearing that a split could fracture its vote base. Leaders like Pashupati Paras, who have long awaited electoral rewards, are now pinning hopes on the 2025 assembly elections.

However, with BJP and JDU unlikely to concede additional seats, Paras and Chirag Paswan must reconcile with the limited number allocated to the LJP in the NDA's seat-sharing arrangement. Bihar's political history underscores three key regions that have long shaped its political landscape: Munger in Ang, Muzaffarpur in Tirhut, and Nalanda in Magadh. Presently, these regions remain central to the political contest. Mithilanchal, which gained prominence during the Mandal era and Lalu Yadav's social engineering, also remains significant due to the M-Y (Muslim-Yadav) equation. To counter these entrenched dynamics, the BJP plans to extend its influence to these regions.

Amit Shah, spearheading this strategy, has made multiple visits to these areas since the Lok Sabha elections. Notably, JDU-BJP has positioned Sanjay Jha, a leader known for his harmonious approach, as a key figure. Additionally, two Bhumihar leaders from Munger-Begusarai have been inducted into the cabinet to bolster the party's presence in the region. Nalanda, a JDU stronghold, is also in BJP's crosshairs. Winning Bihar is not just a desire but a necessity for Amit Shah and the BJP. The NDA secured 39 MPs from Bihar in the 2019 Lok Sabha elections, but JDU's subsequent separation cost the alliance 16 seats. This loss has left Bihar BJP scrambling to retain its seats while identifying new opportunities for the upcoming elections.

Amit Shah's electoral groundwork began in February last year, with his campaign kickoff in West Champaran. His focus has extended to constituencies like Shivhar, where BJP workers demand new candidates to replace underperforming veterans. In Seemanchal, a critical region where the MY equation holds sway, Shah faces the additional challenge of countering Prashant Kishore's rising Jansuraj movement.

Acknowledging the need for change, the BJP is poised to prioritise fresh faces over its traditional leadership. This shift aligns with Shah's vision of creating a "new BJP" in Bihar. The party's strategy includes an intensified campaign led by Shah, whose upcoming visits are expected to finalise decisions and dispel speculation. The battle for Bihar will test the BJP's adaptability and resilience, with Amit Shah's leadership playing a decisive role in shaping the state's political future.

Engaging the Taliban amid strategic challenges

By re-entering the high-stakes game of Afghan diplomacy, India is seeking to protect its security and geopolitical interests

PARUL CHANDRA

Over three years after the Taliban assumed control of Afghanistan, forcing the then President Ashraf Ghani to flee the nation, India is yet to officially recognise the new government. And yet, shedding its misgivings about the new hard-line regime and driven by its strategic concerns, New Delhi has finally decided to step up its engagement with Kabul. In what is a significant policy shift, foreign secretary Vikram Misri met the acting foreign minister of the Afghan government, Amir Khan Muttaqi, in Dubai on January 8.

The two sides chose to meet in a third country because a meeting either in New Delhi or Kabul would not have made for the right optics for India. The Taliban administration has not been recognised by any country so far though several countries, including China, are engaging with it diplomatically, including exchanging ambassadors. While New Delhi had remained in touch with the Taliban leadership with an outreach at the joint secretary level thus far, the Misri-Muttaqi meeting essentially signals India's willingness to take the bilateral relationship forward. With this upgrade in outreach, India has also indicated it's back in the high-stakes game of seeking strategic influence in Afghanistan, an important neighbour in the region even if it means engaging with a UN Security Council-sanctioned entity.

A pariah among Western nations, the Taliban finds itself trying to run an internationally isolated country with a beleaguered economy that's battling crippling economic sanctions. The Taliban's approach to women - their rights and freedom have been severely curtailed - has contributed to Afghanistan's isolation. Amid this backdrop, India's outreach at the foreign secretary level has predictably drawn a positive response from the Taliban leadership.

Not only has it assured New Delhi that it will remain sensitive to India's security concerns, but also described it as a "significant regional and economic partner". What has also impelled New Delhi's diplomatic moves are its security concerns vis-à-vis Afghanistan and the instability in the region owing to the geo-political churn in West Asia.

As for Afghanistan, India has had its worries about the Afghan Taliban and its links to Al Qaeda and other terror outfits though, ironically enough, it now finds itself engaging with it formally. Also fuelling Indian anxieties after the Taliban's takeover was the possibility of its nexus with Pakistan, something a jubilant Islamabad had hoped for in the aftermath of the Islamist group seizing power. Instead, Islamabad-Kabul ties have now nose-dived to a point where the initial bonhomie has given way to heightened tensions and mistrust. Islamabad has accused the Afghan Taliban of allowing the Tehreek-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP) - the two have strong links - to use Afghanistan's soil to launch attacks against it. Kabul, of course, has denied the charge. Amid the escalating Islamabad-Kabul tensions, New Delhi saw it as an opportune moment to reach out to the Afghan Taliban leadership and build on ties thereon. China's moves in Afghanistan and its close strategic clinch with Pakistan are yet another reason for New Delhi seeking to return to a more active role in Afghanistan. India's arch geopolitical rival China took the lead in sending an envoy to Kabul, making it the first country to do so after the Taliban takeover. The China-Pakistan collusion poses a serious threat to India's security interests in the region. China has been seeking to increase its footprint in the beleaguered nation long before the Afghan Taliban's takeover in August 2021. Afghanistan, like many countries in India's neighbourhood, is a vital element of China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) and the Afghan Taliban has voiced support for it. A resource-rich Afghanistan seeking friends during its isolation presents strategic opportunities for China.

In its endeavour to forge close economic and diplomatic links with the Taliban, China has already offered the regime tariff-free access to its energy, construction and consumer sectors. In the Great Game involving Afghanistan, Russia has also been backing Kabul. Moscow, with its complex history with Kabul, has initiated moves to remove the Afghan Taliban from its list of banned terror outfits, while also boosting trade with the country. With all these geopolitical moves centred around Afghanistan in play, India has wisely realised it can no longer afford to remain a mere bystander. A course correction was required to protect its strategic interests, hence the pragmatic decision to engage with the Afghan Taliban. During the Misri-Muttaqi meeting, India indicated its willingness to resume development projects in Afghanistan shortly. In the past, India had undertaken several large and small development projects in Afghanistan despite the security risks they entailed.

As India takes its first tentative steps to "normalise" ties with the Islamic Emirate of Afghanistan, it will be hoping that the Afghan Taliban will keep to its word of not undermining its security interests. India, of course, will need to tread with caution on the difficult road that lies ahead.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

AAP-BJP POSTER WAR

Madam — The poster war between AAP and BJP has taken an ugly turn. AAP has posted the poster "Gali Baaz Party ke Gaali Baaz CM Chehra," while BJP released the "Sheesh Mahal Wale AAP Da E Azam" poster. While AAP attacked BJP with the "Gaali Baaz Daanav" poster, BJP attacked AAP with the "Purvanchalikon ke Dushman" poster. Previously elections were fought with dignity and respect at the time of Sheila Dikshit and Khurana in Delhi and now Delhi elections have become just like street fighting. The elections for AAP are crucial as it has been in power for ten years and a defeat will seriously damage the party.

The AAP has a popular leader in Arvind Kejriwal, while the BJP party does not have any CM face candidate and is banking on Narendra Modi's charisma. The Congress party is also in a foray, but the fear is it will end up splitting the anti-BJP votes. BJP has its steady vote bank, but still it was unable to grab Delhi for decades. For AAP it is an existential battle for the party that came into being in the national capital more than a decade ago. Narendra Modi, in his election rallies, has raised Arvind Kejriwal's residence into a "Sheesh Mahal" poll plank and AAP was swift enough to counter Modi's residence as "Raj Mahal." BJP faces trouble with his candidate Ramesh Bidhuri's loose talk on Priyanka Gandhi and on Delhi CM Atishi. Now only time will tell who will win Delhi this time. It is sure that the Delhi election results may change the equations of Indian politics.

IMD CELEBRATES 150 YEARS

Madam — The Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) is completing 150 years of its service on January 15, 2025. India has a rich and well-documented history of astronomical observations that were made in ancient classics such as Varahmihir's Brihatsamhita and Kautilya's Arthashastra. However, the British East India has the credit for laying the founda-

PM inaugurates Z-Morh tunnel

PM Narendra Modi inaugurated the Z-Morh tunnel built in central Kashmir at the cost of Rs 2700 cr at an altitude of 8650 ft. It is vital in terms of the defence needs of the country in the Ladakh region and also connecting the Union Territory to the rest of the country. It will enhance all-weather connectivity between Srinagar and Sonamarg en route to Leh, bypassing landslide and avalanche routes and ensuring safer and uninterrupted access to the strategically critical Ladakh region. The tunnel is equipped with cutting-edge technologies that provide real-time updates and seamless connectivity for users.

This futuristic infrastructure will not only enhance the travel experience but also set a new standard for road connectivity in the region. The Z-Morh tunnel will promote tourism by transforming Sonamarg into a year-round destination, boosting winter tourism, adventure sports, and local livelihoods. This futuristic infrastructure will not only enhance the travel experience but also set a new standard for road connectivity in the region. This enhanced connectivity will boost defence logistics and drive economic growth and socio-cultural integration across Jammu-Kashmir and Ladakh.

tion of modern meteorological research in India. In the last 150 years, the IMD has undergone several phases of evaluation by improving its weather forecasting year after year, helping the authorities to make better disaster management.

The way the IMD made the accurate prediction of cyclones Amphan, Biparjoy, and Mocha saved many lives, property and infrastructure. The successive government gave due priority to developing infrastructure for climate-forecasting systems. In the last 10 years itself, the necessary Met infrastructure has witnessed robust growth. On one hand, the number of Doppler radars has increased from 15 in 2014 to 39 in 2023. Rainfall monitoring stations have also increased from 3955 in 2014 to 6095 in 2024. Now the IMD has developed its own web-GIS-based Integrated Decision Support System (DSS), which provides real-time information for various sectors such as urban, power, hydrology, health, energy, agriculture, transport, and tourism under the 'UPHHEATT' initiative. However, there is an urgent need to develop AI-based climatic-forecasting systems so that disasters may be detected and responded to in a quicker and more accurate manner.

CONSERVING INDIAN RIVERS

Madam — India's revered rivers, once considered sacred and life-giving, are facing an unprecedented crisis. Decades of neglect, pollution and exploitation have transformed these natural wonders into toxic wastelands, threatening the health, livelihoods and faith of millions.

The alarming levels of industrial waste, pesticides, and heavy metals in our rivers have made them uninhabitable for aquatic life and hazardous for human consumption. It's time for action. We must demand that our governments take immediate measures to restore our rivers to their former glory. The revival of our rivers is not just an environmental imperative, but a sacred duty.

FIRST COLUMN DEALING WITH DOOMSCROLLING

Doomscrolling is a modern phenomenon that reflects the darker side of digital connectivity

SHAINY SHARMA

In the age of constant connectivity dominated by smartphones and 24/7 access to information, the way people consume information has evolved significantly. While this has brought numerous benefits, such as instant communication and access to a wealth of knowledge, it has also given rise to concerning behaviours like doomscrolling. The term refers to the compulsive habit of endlessly consuming negative news, particularly through digital platforms. It is an act of excessively scrolling through negative news and information, often leading to feelings of anxiety, despair, and helplessness. This phenomenon has become increasingly prevalent in recent years, particularly during global crises, and its impact on mental health, productivity, and societal wellbeing cannot be ignored. While staying informed is an essential aspect of responsible citizenship, the practice of doomscrolling often tips into an unhealthy preoccupation with distressing content, leading to detrimental effects on mental health, productivity, and overall wellbeing.

Doomscrolling stems from the human brain's natural tendency to focus on threats and negative stimuli. This evolutionary trait better known as negativity bias, was historically essential for survival. However, in the digital era, it has been amplified by the design of social media platforms and news algorithms, which prioritise sensational and emotionally charged content to maximise engagement. As users scroll through their feeds, they encounter an endless stream of distressing headlines, graphic images, and polarising opinions, creating a feedback loop that keeps them hooked. One of the key ways doomscrolling affects mental health is through its impact on dopamine, a neurotransmitter associated with pleasure and reward. While engaging with digital content, even negative content provides brief surges of dopamine, the subsequent emotional toll can lead to a crash, leaving individuals feeling drained and unsatisfied. This cycle of seeking quick dopamine hits through scrolling reinforces the habit, making it increasingly difficult to stop. Beyond mental health, it also affects productivity and overall quality of life.

The habit can lead to procrastination, as individuals become overwhelmed by the weight of the issues they are reading about, making it harder to focus on the tasks at hand. Over time, this can erode personal and professional relationships, as well as hinder personal growth. On a broader scale, the prevalence of doomscrolling has implications for societal well-being too. The constant exposure to divisive and fear-inducing content can deepen political and social polarisation, as people become entrenched in echo chambers that reinforce their existing beliefs. This fragmentation undermines collective action and civic discourse, making it harder for societies to address complex challenges effectively. Addressing doomscrolling requires a multifaceted approach. On an individual level, practising digital mindfulness is crucial. This includes setting boundaries for screen time, curating one's news feed to prioritise reputable sources, and engaging in activities that promote mental wellbeing, such as exercise, meditation, or spending time in nature. Developing a habit of seeking solutions-oriented news content that highlights positive progress and actionable steps can also help mitigate feelings of helplessness. By designing algorithms that prioritize balanced and constructive content rather than sensationalism, these platforms can create a healthier digital environment. Educational initiatives that teach media literacy and emotional resilience can further empower users to navigate the digital landscape responsibly. While it taps into deep-seated psychological tendencies, its effects on mental health, productivity, and society are far-reaching. By fostering awareness and implementing strategies to counteract its impact, individuals and institutions can work together to cultivate a healthier relationship with technology and information. In doing so, they can ensure that the digital age enhances rather than diminishes human well-being.

Relief from high power bills: Delhiites are chasing a mirage

UTTAM GUPTA

A significant reduction in the Power Purchase Adjustment Cost levied by Delhi power companies have raised eyebrows due to their timing and magnitude

On December 26, 2024, the Delhi Electricity Regulatory Commission (DERC) announced a reduction in the Power Purchase Adjustment Cost (PPAC) imposed by the three power distribution companies (discoms) in Delhi: BSES Rajdhani Power Limited (BRPL), BSES Yamuna Power Limited (BYPL), and Tata Power Delhi Distribution Limited (TPDDL). The reductions, ranging from 50 per cent to 60 per cent, require scrutiny. What is PPAC?

To understand this and its implication for the electricity bills of Delhiites, let us capture some basics. The discoms are expected to sell electricity to the consumers at tariffs - duly approved by the DERC - that are set such that the revenue generated from sale at these tariffs fully covers the power purchase cost plus the cost of wheeling and distribution. The requirement is mandatory under the Electricity Act, of 2003. But, this is rarely complied with. Under a highly complex regime, the tariff charged from households (HHs) consuming up to 200 units a month is Rs 3 per unit which is just about half of the average cost leading to an under-recovery of Rs 3 per unit. Including levies adding to 44.6 per cent, the shortfall comes to Rs 4.3 per unit. For HHs consuming between 201 and 400 units, the tariff is Rs 4.5 per unit implying an under-recovery of Rs 1.5 per unit. Including the levies, this comes to Rs 2.2 per unit. These under-recoveries are cross-subsidised by charging more from industries and businesses for which the tariff can go up to a high of Rs 18 per unit.

The irony is that despite charging exorbitant rates from industries and businesses, a good slice of under-recoveries from HHs consuming less than 400 units a month remains uncovered. Additionally, the Delhi government doesn't want the latter to even pay the small tariff of Rs 3 per unit (courtesy, of Kejriwal's freebies). Discoms are told not to raise any bill on HHs consuming up to 200 units even as HHs consuming up to 400 units get a rebate of 50 per cent of the bill amount subject to a cap of Rs 800 per month. Though the government promises to reimburse them for these subsidies from the state budget, this promise is held more in breach.

This increases discoms' losses which are compounded by large-scale power theft. The discoms have no control over the tariff chargeable from majority of consumers (read: those having consumption less than 400 units a month). They are also helpless when it comes to reining in theft as power thieves have the blessings of their political bosses. Discoms have flexibility only about fixing tariffs on supplies to industries and businesses besides HHs consuming more than 400 units. But, there is a limit to which they can charge more from these consumers. The result is: the total revenue generated from the sale of electricity can never reach a level that will fully cover the cost of the power purchase cost and the cost of wheeling and distribution.

The problem is germane to most of the discoms where the States take recourse to indiscriminate power freebies and permit large-scale theft (Delhi is on top of the list). To lend them a helping hand, the Ministry of Power (MoP) issued an order on November 9, 2021, that allowed discoms to impose a surcharge known as PPAC. Levied as a percentage of the 'total energy cost and fixed charge component' of the electricity bill, PPAC is meant to compensate them for variations in the fuel and power procurement cost. The discoms are allowed to revise this surcharge every quarter. In the case of BYPL, the ongoing PPAC applicable till December 20, 2024, was 32.27 per cent. On this, based on changes in the cost of power purchase during the second quarter ending September 30, 2024, of the current FY, the DERC allowed the discom to recover an additional 5.85 per cent for the three months from December 21, 2024, to March 20, 2025. As a result, the existing PPAC (before the announcement on December 26, 2024) for BYPL was 38.12 per cent. Making a similar calculation, the regulator fixed PPAC for BRPL at 35.83 per cent and for TPDDL at 36.33 per cent. Following the DERC's 'unexpected' announcement on December 26, 2024, the PPAC will reduce to 13.62 per cent for BYPL - a reduction of around 65 per cent; 18.19 per cent for BRPL - a reduction of more than 50 per cent, and 20.52 per cent for TPDDL - a cut of 45 per cent. It defies logic. Having hiked PPAC to 38.12 per cent including 5.85 per cent sanctioned in December 2024 - based on data for the quarter ending September 30, 2024, what is this new/extraordinary development that prompted the regulator to bring the surcharge down by almost 2/3rd? It is absurd to believe that power purchase costs would have decreased by that much. In any case, revisions in tariff/PPAC are made based on available data with a time lag and that is Qr ending September 30, 2024, which was already captured in the extant figure of 38.12 per cent. This gives credence to the possibility that the steep reduction in PPAC has been made with an eye on the impending elections in Delhi; and that the decision could be reversed 'surreptitiously' after the elections are over. There is another compelling reason to believe that this relief (albeit substantial) will be temporary and deceptive. The shortfall in revenue at unrevised tariff and the cost is booked by discom as receivable and classified as RA. The Electricity Act (2003) and the National Power Tariff Policy (NPTT) strictly prohibit RAs. These documents emphatically say "tariffs must reflect costs and regulatory assets should not be created". In December 2022, the MoP even warned against creating a pile of RAs. Yet, RAs have proliferated. These stand at a monumental level despite the discoms imposing PPAC currently at 38.12 per cent (BYPL) as also levying a surcharge of eight per cent - an ad hoc arrangement intended to Take care of the RAs, which are duly permitted by the regulator. With huge RAs piled up in their books, discoms are leaving no stone unturned in recovering the money say by getting sanction of a steep hike in tariff to make up for the entire cumulative deficit in revenue.

Indeed, the matter had gone right up to the Supreme Court (SC) which in an order given in early 2023 had directed the DERC to let discoms recover their RAs. If the DERC were to act upon it, this could lead to a 100 per cent hike in tariff. So, it decided to contest that order. At present, the matter is in the court.

To conclude, the discoms perennially face huge under-recoveries due to subsidies given to the majority of consumers, power theft and their inefficiencies and irregularities leading to inflated costs.

This loss can't be covered even by making 'paying' consumers viz. industries, businesses, and HHs at the higher end pay more. Unless there is political will to tackle these fundamental maladies, Delhiites won't get any respite from high electricity bills.

The Cloud revolution: Real-time insights, sustainability and strategic transformation

In 2025, cloud computing is no longer just a utility—it is the driving force behind digital transformation and innovation

Today, data doesn't just reside in distant servers but operates at the edge, enabling real-time insights while safeguarding privacy. The future of cloud computing in 2025, a technology driven by innovation, scalability, and sustainability.

As we look ahead, the cloud is no longer just a utility but a strategic enabler of digital transformation. Emerging technologies like Kubernetes, Docker, hybrid-multi-cloud architectures, and edge computing are poised to redefine how businesses operate. Additionally, the focus on data security and sustainability will ensure the cloud ecosystem supports not only businesses but also global environmental goals. The right cloud service provider plays a pivotal role in this transformation. Choosing the right provider ensures businesses get access to the latest technologies, robust security, scalability, and cost efficiency. It also enables organisations to meet regulatory requirements and integrate seamlessly with existing systems, making cloud adoption a catalyst for innovation. Major trends expected to dominate cloud computing in 2025 AI-Powered Cloud Solutions: The integration of artificial intelligence (AI) into cloud computing is poised to revolutionise the industry by 2025. Enhanced automation will streamline complex tasks like resource allocation and anomaly detection, freeing businesses to prioritise innovation over operations.

Predictive analytics powered by AI will help organisations anticipate market trends, optimise processes, and elevate customer experiences. Additionally, intelligent decision-making capabilities, driven by machine learning models, will enable cloud platforms to provide real-time recommendations, fostering smarter and more impactful business outcomes.

Edge Computing With the proliferation of IoT devices and real-time applications, edge computing is set to transform industries by 2025. Critical computations will occur closer to data sources, drastically reducing latency for time-sensitive applications like autonomous vehicles and remote surgeries.

Multi-Cloud Strategies: By 2025, organisations will increasingly shift to multi-cloud environments, breaking free from single-vendor dependencies to enhance resilience and flexibility. This approach enables businesses to distribute workloads across multiple cloud providers, optimising performance and cost efficiency. Advanced tools for streamline management will streamline governance, security, and orchestration, making it easier to harness the full potential of multi-cloud setups. Serverless Computing: Serverless architecture is set to become the go-to choice for developers, offering unmatched efficiency and convenience. With cost-effective pay-per-use models, businesses can avoid resource overprovisioning while developers concentrate on coding as cloud providers handle infrastructure.

Kubernetes and Docker: Containerisation technologies like Kubernetes and Docker are revolutionising cloud computing, setting the stage for 2025. Kubernetes ensures seamless scalability by orchestrating containerised applications across varied environments, while Docker enhances flexibility with consistent application performance across platforms. By automating deployment, scaling, and maintenance, these tools free developers to focus on innovation, enabling more reliable application delivery.

Hybrid-Multi-Cloud Architectures: Hybrid and multi-cloud strategies are poised to dominate as businesses aim to optimise their cloud environments. These approaches offer operational flexibility by enabling workloads across on-premises, private, and public clouds, ensuring businesses leverage the best of each. By reducing dependency on a single vendor, multi-cloud setups enhance resilience and continuity while allowing cost-efficient workload allocation without compromising performance.

Data Security in Cloud Computing: As cyber threats continue to escalate, securing cloud environments has become a top priority. Zero-trust architecture enforces stringent identity verification at every level, reducing the risk of unauthorised access. AI-driven threat detection leverages machine learning to identify and neutralise potential breaches in real time, while advanced encryption techniques safeguard data both in transit and at rest. Sustainability in the Cloud Energy-efficient data centers powered by renewables and AI-driven cooling systems are minimising carbon footprints. Circular hardware models emphasise recycling components, reducing waste, and promoting resource efficiency. The future of cloud computing is not just about technology but the strategic advantages it brings to businesses.

Hamas close to accepting Gaza ceasefire, hostages release

PTI ■ CAIRO
Hamas has accepted a draft agreement for a ceasefire in the Gaza Strip and the release of dozens of hostages, two officials involved in the talks said on Tuesday. Mediator Qatar said the negotiations were at the "closest point" yet to sealing a deal. The Associated Press obtained a copy of the proposed agreement, and an Egyptian official and a Hamas official confirmed its authenticity. An Israeli official said progress has been made, but the details are being finalized. The plan would need to be submitted to the Israeli Cabinet for final approval. All three officials spoke on condition of anonymity to discuss the closed-door talks. The United States, Egypt and Qatar have spent the past year trying to mediate an end to the 15-month war and secure the release of dozens of hostages captured in Hamas' October 7, 2023, attack that triggered it. Some 100 Israelis are still captive inside Gaza, and the military believes at least a third of them are dead. Officials have expressed mounting optimism that they can conclude an agreement ahead of the January 20 inauguration of US President-elect Donald Trump, whose Mideast envoy has joined the negotiations. Qatari Foreign Ministry spokesman Majed al-Ansari said at a weekly briefing Tuesday that the ongoing negotiations are positive and productive, while declining to get into the details of the sensitive talks. "Today, we are at the closest point ever to having a deal," he said. Hamas, meanwhile, said in a statement that the ongoing negotiations had reached their "final stage". The offensive has reduced large areas of the territory to rubble and displaced around 90 per cent of Gaza's population of 2.3 million, with hundreds of thousands packed into tent camps along the coast where hunger is widespread. Israeli strikes across Gaza overnight and into Tuesday killed at least 18 Palestinians, including two women and four children, while Yemen's Houthi rebels fired two missiles at Israel, setting off sirens and sending people racing into shelters. No one was wounded by the projectiles. A three-phase agreement — based on a framework laid out by US President Joe Biden and endorsed by the UN Security Council — would begin with the gradual release of 33 hostages over a six-week period, including women, children, older adults and wounded civilians in exchange for potentially hundreds of Palestinian women and children imprisoned by Israel. Among the 33 would be five female Israeli soldiers, each of whom would be released in exchange for 50 Palestinian prisoners, including 30 convicted militants who are serving life sentences. By the end of the first phase, all civilian captives — living or dead — will have been released. During this first, 42-day phase, Israeli forces would withdraw from population centers,

Palestinians would be allowed to start returning to their homes in northern Gaza and there would be a surge of humanitarian aid, with some 600 trucks entering each day. Details of the second phase still must be negotiated during the first. Those details remain difficult to resolve — and the deal does not include written guarantees that the ceasefire will continue until a deal is reached. That leaves the potential for Israel to resume its military campaign after the first phase ends. The three mediators, however, have given Hamas verbal guarantees that negotiations will continue as planned and that they will press for a deal to implement the second and third phases before the end of the first, the Egyptian official said. The deal would allow Israel throughout the first phase to remain in control of the Philadelphi Corridor, the band of territory along Gaza's border with Egypt, which Hamas had initially demanded Israel withdraw from. But Israel would pull out from the Netzarim Corridor, a belt across central Gaza where it had sought a mechanism for searching Palestinians for arms when they return to the territory's north. In the second phase, Hamas would release the remaining living captives, mainly male soldiers, in exchange for more prisoners and the "complete withdrawal" of Israeli forces from Gaza, according to the draft agreement. But Hamas has said it will not free the remaining hostages without an end to the war and a complete Israeli withdrawal, while Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has in the past vowed to resume fighting unless Hamas's military and governing capabilities are eliminated. Unless an alternative government for Gaza is worked out in those talks, it could leave Hamas in charge of the territory. In a third phase, the bodies of remaining hostages would be returned in exchange for a three- to five-year reconstruction plan to be carried out in Gaza under international supervision. Growing pressure ahead of Trump's inauguration Israel and Hamas have come under renewed pressure to halt the conflict in the lead-up to Trump's inauguration next week. His Middle East envoy, Steve Witkoff, recently joined US, Egyptian and Qatari mediators in the Gulf country's capital, Doha. Trump said late Monday that a ceasefire was "very close". "I understand... there's been a handshake and they are getting it finished — and maybe by the end of the week," he told the American cable channel Newsmax. Hamas has blamed Israel for the repeated setbacks in the negotiations, saying that on more than one occasion, the militant group had accepted a proposal from mediators only to see Israel reject it or launch a new military operation immediately afterwards. Israel and its close ally the United States have blamed setbacks on Hamas. Hamas-led militants killed around 1,200 people, mostly civilians, in the October 7 attack and abducted another

250. Around half those hostages were freed during a brief ceasefire in November 2023. Israel's retaliatory offensive has killed over 46,000 Palestinians, more than half of them women and children, according to Gaza's Health Ministry, which does not say how many of the dead were combatants. STRIKES IN GAZA CONTINUE Two strikes in the central Gaza city of Deir al-Balah overnight and into Tuesday killed two women and their four children, who ranged in age from 1 month to 9 years old. One of the women was pregnant and the baby did not survive, according to Al-Aqsa Martyrs Hospital, which received the bodies. Another 12 people were killed in two strikes on the southern city of Khan Younis, according to the European Hospital. There was no immediate comment from the Israeli military. Israel says it only targets militants and accuses them of hiding among civilians in shelters and tent camps for the displaced. YEMENI REBELS FIRE MISSILES AT ISRAEL The war has rippled across the region, igniting over a year of fighting between Israel and Lebanon's Hezbollah militants that ended with a tense ceasefire in November. Israel has also traded direct fire with Iran, which backs Hamas, Hezbollah and Yemen's Houthis. The Israeli military said it made several attempts to intercept the missile launched from Yemen early Tuesday and that "the missile was likely intercepted". It said an earlier missile fired from Yemen was also intercepted. Police said several homes were damaged outside Jerusalem and released a photo of a missile casing that had crashed into a roof. The Houthis, who captured Yemen's capital, Sanaa, and much of the country's north in 2014, have launched a series of missile and drone attacks on Israel and have attacked international shipping in the Red Sea.

ICC prosecutor calls to reject Israeli objections to Netanyahu warrant

The Hague (PTI): The International Criminal Court's chief prosecutor has told judges that Israeli objections to the investigation into the 13-month war in Gaza should be rejected. Karim Khan submitted his formal response late Monday to an appeal by Israel over The Hague-based court's jurisdiction after judges issued arrest warrants last year for Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, his former defence minister and Hamas' military chief, accusing them of crimes against humanity in connection with the war in Gaza. The embattled Israeli leader, who is also facing corruption charges in his homeland, called the arrest warrant "a black day in the history of nations" and vowed to fight the allegations. Individuals cannot contest an arrest warrant directly, but the state of Israel can object to the entire investigation. Israel argued in a December filing that it could look into allegations against its leaders on its own and that continuing to investigate Israelis was a violation of state sovereignty. The ICC was established in 2002 as the permanent court of last resort to prosecute individuals responsible for the world's most heinous atrocities — war crimes, crimes against humanity, genocide and the crime of aggression. The court's 125 member states include Palestine, Ukraine, Canada and every country in the European Union, but dozens of countries don't accept the court's jurisdiction, including Israel, the United States, Russia and China. In Khan's combined 55-page response, he says the Rome Statute, the treaty that established the ICC, allowed it to prosecute crimes that take place in the territory of member states, regardless of where the perpetrators hail from. The judges are expected to render a decision in the coming months.

Special counsel who investigated Trump says his team 'stood up for rule of law'

PTI ■ WASHINGTON
Special counsel Jack Smith said his team "stood up for the rule of law" as it investigated President-elect Donald Trump's efforts to overturn the results of the 2020 election, writing in a much-anticipated report released on Tuesday that he stands fully behind his decision to bring criminal charges that he believes would have resulted in a conviction had voters not returned Trump to the White House. "The throughline of all of Mr. Trump's criminal efforts was deceit — knowingly false claims of election fraud — and the evidence shows that Mr. Trump used these lies as a weapon to defeat a federal government function foundational to the United States' democratic process," the report states. The report, arriving just days before Trump is to return to office on January 20, focuses fresh attention on the Republican's frantic but failed effort to cling to power in 2020 after he lost to Democrat Joe Biden. With the prosecution foreclosed thanks to Trump's 2024 election victory, the document is expected to be the final Justice Department chronicle of a dark chapter in American history that threatened to disrupt the peaceful transfer of power, a bedrock of democracy for centuries, and complements already released indictments and reports. Trump responded early Tuesday with a post on his Truth Social platform, claiming he was "totally innocent" and calling Smith "a lamebrain prosecutor who was unable to get his case tried before the Election". He added, "THE VOTERS HAVE SPOKE!!!" Trump had been indicted in August 2023 on charges of working to overturn the election, but the case was delayed by appeals and ultimately significantly narrowed by a conservative-majority Supreme Court that held for the first time that former presidents enjoy sweeping immunity from criminal prosecution for official acts. That decision, Smith's report states, left open unresolved legal issues that would likely have required another trip to the

Hegseth, Trump's defence secy nominee, faces key test at hearing

Washington (PTI): President-elect Donald Trump's choice for defence secretary, Pete Hegseth, is heading into a potentially explosive confirmation hearing Tuesday as senators question whether the former combat veteran and TV news show host is fit to lead the US military. Hegseth's former experience in the Army National Guard is widely viewed as an asset for the job, but he also brings a jarring record of past statements and actions, including allegations of sexual assault, excessive drinking and derisive views about women in military combat roles, minorities and "woke" generals. He has vowed to not drink alcohol if he is confirmed to lead the Pentagon. He is among the most endangered of Trump's Cabinet choices, but GOP allies are determined to turn Hegseth into a cause celebre for Trump's governing approach amid the nation's culture wars. Outside groups, including those aligned with the Heritage Foundation, are running costly campaigns to prop up Hegseth's bid. "He will be ripped, he will be demeaned. He will be talked about," said Sen. Tommy Tuberville, R-Ala., at an event with former Navy SEALs, Army special forces and Marines supporting the nominee. "But we're going to get him across the finish line." The hearing at the Senate Armed Services Committee is the start of a weeklong marathon as senators begin scrutinising Trump's choices for more than a dozen top administrative positions. The Republican-led Senate is rushing to have some of Trump's picks ready to be confirmed as soon as Inauguration Day, Jan. 20, despite potential opposition to some from both sides of the aisle. "We're going to grind them down," Senate Majority Leader John Thune, R-S.D., said on Fox News. Hegseth faces perhaps the most difficult path to confirmation. He will be forced to confront allegations of sexual assault, which he has denied, and his own comments that are far from the military mainstream, though he has the support of some veterans' groups that say his past indiscretions are not as important as his focus on improving military readiness to fight. And Hegseth will have to answer for his comments that women should "straight up" not be in combat roles in the military, a view he has softened following recent meetings with senators. Two former female combat veterans, Republican Joni Ernst of Illinois and Democrat Tammy Duckworth of Illinois, are among those grilling him from the dais. "He can try to walk back his comments on women in combat all he wants, but we know what he thinks, right?" said Duckworth, an Iraq War veteran who lost her legs and partial use of her right arm when the Black Hawk helicopter she was piloting in the Army National Guard was shot down. "He's the most unqualified person to ever be nominated for secretary of defense."

Supreme Court in order for the case to have moved forward. Though Smith sought to salvage the indictment, the team dismissed it in November because of longstanding Justice Department policy that says sitting presidents cannot face federal prosecution. "The Department's view that the Constitution prohibits the continued indictment and prosecution of a President is categorical and does not turn on the gravity of the crimes charged, the strength of the Government's proof, or the merits of the prosecution, which the Office stands fully behind," the report states. "Indeed, but for Mr. Trump's election and imminent return to the Presidency, the Office assessed that the admissible evidence was sufficient to obtain and sustain a conviction at trial." The Justice Department transmitted the report to Congress early Tuesday after a judge refused a defence effort to block its release. A separate volume of the report focused on Trump's hoarding of classified documents at Mar-a-Lago, actions that formed the basis of a separate indictment against Trump, will remain under wraps for now. The report is unsparing in its details about schemes undertaken by Trump to undo the presidential contest, accusing him of an "unprecedented criminal effort to overturn the legitimate results of the election in order to retain power". It recounts his role in trying to force the Justice Department to use its law enforcement authorities to advance his personal interests, participating in a scheme to enlist fake electors in battleground states won by Biden and having directed "an angry mob to the United States Capitol to obstruct the congressional certification of the presidential election and then leverage rioters' violence to further delay it." And it documents his fallout with his vice president, Mike Pence, over Trump's demands that he refuse

Biden signs executive order aimed at growing AI infrastructure in US

Los Angeles (PTI): President Joe Biden on Tuesday signed an ambitious executive order on artificial intelligence that seeks to ensure the infrastructure needed for advanced AI operations, such as large-scale data centres and new clean power facilities, can be built quickly and at scale in the United States. The executive order directs federal agencies to accelerate large-scale AI infrastructure development at government sites, while imposing requirements and safeguards on the developers building on those locations. It also directs certain agencies to make federal sites available for AI data centres and new clean power facilities. Those agencies will help facilitate the infrastructure's interconnection to the electric grid and help speed up the permitting process. In a statement, Biden said AI will have "profound implications for national security and enormous potential to improve Americans' lives if harnessed responsibly, from helping cure disease to keeping communities safe by mitigating the effects of climate change." "However, we cannot take our lead for granted," the Democratic president said. "We will not let America be out-built when it comes to the technology that will define the future, nor should we sacrifice critical environmental standards and our shared efforts to protect clean air and clean water." Under the new rules, the departments of Defense and Energy will each identify at least three sites where the private sector can build AI data centres. The agencies will run "competitive solicitations" from private companies to build AI data centres on those federal sites, senior administration officials said. Developers building on those sites will be required, among other things, to pay for the construction of those facilities and to bring sufficient clean power generation to match the full capacity needs of their data centres. Although the US government will be leasing land to a company, that company would own the materials it creates there, officials said. Biden said the efforts are designed to accelerate the clean energy transition in a way that is "responsible and respectful to local communities" and does not add costs to the average American. Developers selected to build on government sites will be required to pay all costs of building and operating AI infrastructure so that development does not raise electricity prices for consumers, the administration said. The orders also direct construction of AI data centres on federal sites to be done with public labour agreements. Some of the sites are reserved for small and medium-sized AI companies, according to government officials. Government agencies will also complete a study on the effects of all AI data centers on electricity prices, and the Energy Department will provide technical assistance to state public utility commissions regarding electricity tariff designs that can support connecting new large customers with clean energy. As part of the order, the Interior Department will identify lands it manages that are suitable for clean energy development and can support data centres on government sites, administration officials said.

Strong winds forecast for Los Angeles threatens area's fight against fires

Los Angeles (PTI): Additional water tankers and scores of firefighters arrived at the Los Angeles area on Monday ahead of fierce winds that were forecast to return and threaten the progress made so far on two massive infernos that have destroyed thousands of homes and killed at least 24 people. Planes doused homes and hillsides with bright pink fire-retardant chemicals, while crews and fire engines were being placed near particularly vulnerable spots with dry brush. Dozens of water trucks rolled in to replenish supplies after hydrants ran dry last week when the two largest fires erupted. Tabitha Trosen and her boyfriend said she feels like they are "teetering" on the edge with the constant fear that their neighbourhood could be the next under threat. "Our cats are ready to go, we have their carriers by the door prepped with their little stuffed animals and things like that," Trosen said, adding that she's packed things as she thinks about what she could lose. "It's like, how do I take care of myself, and what are the things that will ground me as a human and remind me of my background and my life and my family."

NATO launches mission to protect Baltic Sea undersea cables

Helsinki (PTI): NATO Secretary-General Mark Rutte announced on Tuesday that the alliance is launching a new mission to protect undersea cables in the Baltic Sea region. Rutte said at a meeting in Helsinki with the leaders of NATO countries located on the Baltic Sea that the effort would be dubbed Baltic Sentry. "It will involve a range of assets, including frigates and maritime patrol aircraft, among others, and will enhance our vigilance in the Baltic," Rutte told reporters. He also said that a small fleet of naval drones will be deployed "to provide enhanced surveillance and deterrence". The meeting follows a string of incidents in the Baltic that have heightened concerns about possible Russian activities in the region. Announcing the new operation, Rutte noted that more than 95 per cent of internet traffic is secured via undersea cables, and 1.3 million kilometers (808,000 miles) of cables guarantee an estimated USD 10 trillion worth of financial transactions every day.

Top aide of impeached S Korean prez pleads for investigators to halt detention efforts

Seoul (PTI): The top aide of impeached South Korean President Yoon Suk Yeol pleaded with law enforcement agencies on Tuesday to abandon their efforts to detain him over his imposition of martial law last month, as authorities prepared a second attempt to take him into custody. Presidential Chief of Staff Chung Jinsuk said Yoon could instead be questioned at a "third site" or at his residence and said the anti-corruption agency and police were trying to drag him out like he was a member of a "South American drug cartel." However, Yoon Kab-keun, one of the president's lawyers, said Chung issued the message without consulting them and that the legal team has no immediate plan to make the president available for questioning by investigators. Yoon Suk Yeol has not left his official residence in Seoul for weeks, and the presidential security service prevented dozens of investigators from detaining him after a nearly six-hour standoff on January 3. The Corruption Investigation Office for High-Ranking Officials and police pledged more forceful measures to detain Yoon while they jointly investigate whether his brief martial law declaration on December 3 amounted to an attempted rebellion. The National Police Agency has convened multiple meetings of field commanders in Seoul and nearby Gyeonggi province in recent days to plan their detainment efforts, and the size of those forces fueled speculation that more than a thousand officers could be deployed in a possible multi-day operation. The agency and police have openly warned that presidential bodyguards obstructing the execution of the warrant could be arrested. The anti-corruption agency and police haven't confirmed when they might return to the presidential residence, which has been fortified with barbed wire and rows of vehicles blocking entry paths. But Chung said he understood "D-day" to be Wednesday, without specifying the information he had. Anti-corruption agency and police officials met with representatives of the presidential security service on Tuesday morning for unspecified discussions regarding efforts to execute the detention warrant for Yoon, the agency said. It wasn't immediately clear whether any kind of compromise was reached. Yoon declared martial law and deployed troops around the National Assembly on Dec. 3. It lasted only hours before lawmakers managed to get through the blockade and voted to lift the measure. His presidential powers were suspended when the opposition-dominated assembly voted to impeach him on Dec. 14, accusing him of rebellion. His fate now rests with the Constitutional Court, which has begun deliberating on whether to formally remove Yoon from office or reject the charges and reinstate him.

Zelensky, Macron discuss Western troop deployment

PTI ■ KYIV
Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky said that he has held further discussions with French President Emmanuel Macron about the possibility of Western troops deploying in Ukraine to safeguard any peace deal ending the nearly three-year war with Russia. Zelensky's disclosure came before an official visit to Kyiv on Tuesday by German Defence Minister Boris Pistorius. He arrived in Kyiv on an unannounced visit following a meeting in Warsaw on Monday with his counterparts from France, the United Kingdom, Italy and Poland. Germany and the four other countries are Europe's five top military spenders. Pistorius told German news agency dpa that his visit to Kyiv aims to underscore Germany's strong support for Ukraine at a time when US President-elect Donald Trump's term beginning next week looks set to bring deep changes to Washington's policy on the war. Pistorius said that his visit "is a signal that Germany, as the biggest NATO country in Europe, stands by Ukraine — not alone, but with the group of five and many other allies." Trump has criticised the cost of the war for US taxpayers through major military aid packages for Ukraine, and vowed to bring the conflict to a swift end. He also has made it clear that he wants to shift more of the Ukraine burden onto Europe. Macron prompted an outcry from other leaders, and he appeared isolated on the European stage, after his remarks almost a year ago floated the possibility of putting Western troops in Ukraine. Zelensky has said that Ukraine needs security guarantees to bolster any peace agreement — an issue he said late Monday that he discussed with the French leader. "As one of these guarantees, we discussed the French initiative to deploy military contingents in Ukraine," Zelensky said. "We considered practical steps for its implementation, possible expansion and involvement of other countries in this process." Potentially sending European troops as peacekeepers to Ukraine is fraught with risk. Such a move may not deter Russia from attacking Ukraine again in the future, which is the fear of Ukrainian officials, and could drag European countries into a direct confrontation with Moscow. That, in turn, could pull NATO — including the United States — into a conflict. Russia's bigger army has largely pinned Ukrainian forces on the defensive along the around 1,000-kilometre front line. Ukraine's defenses are creaking in the eastern Donetsk region amid a Russian onslaught. Ukraine has built up a domestic arsenal of long-range drones and missiles that it uses to hit targets on Russian soil far behind the front line. The targets are usually infrastructure that supports the Russian war effort, such as arms depots, oil refineries and manufacturing plants. Two industrial facilities in Russia's western Saratov region were damaged after a "massive" Ukrainian drone attack, regional Gov. Roman Busargin said Tuesday. He claimed that Russian air defences downed "a large number" of drones and said that there were no casualties, offering no further details.

Imran Khan's wife Bushra Bibi secures bail in over a dozen cases

PTI ■ ISLAMABAD
Jailed former prime minister Imran Khan's wife Bushra Bibi on Tuesday secured interim bail in more than a dozen cases despite telling the court she has lost faith in the justice system of Pakistan. Anti-terrorism court judge Tahir Abbas Supra, who presided over the hearing, granted Bushra interim bail until February 7 in 13 cases related to the D-Chowk protests apart from another case involving the killing of paramilitary rangers during the demonstration last year. Apart from Bibi, her spouse Khan, 72, and other party leaders have been nominated in the first information report (FIR) registered at the Ramna police station under Section 302 (murder) and other sections of the Pakistan Penal Code. According to the FIR, Khan issued instructions to the party leadership, spouse Bushra, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Chief Minister Ali Amin Gandapur, and his sister Aleema Khan for making all-out efforts to get him released from jail and "set anything on fire or kill anyone for this purpose". Geo News reported the judge in a conversation with Bushra during the proceedings said: "It has taken some time, but legal protocols have been followed." Bushra said: "That is not an issue, but we have lost faith in the courts." Disagreeing, Judge Supra assured: "It is not like that everywhere. The justice system, despite its flaws, is functioning. If it collapses, society itself will cease to exist. You have appeared before me in other hearings as well." Bushra further highlighted her concerns regarding the judicial process, recounting an instance during a trial where a judge's blood pressure rose to 200 yet he proceeded to pronounce a verdict against her. "There is law in the country but no justice. The PTI founder is imprisoned for upholding the supremacy of the Constitution. What we have endured has completely shattered our faith in the law," she said. The judge was informed that 13 cases were registered at various police stations in Islamabad against the former first lady. The court subsequently granted her interim bail in all 13 cases until February 7 against surety bonds of Rs 5,000 each. The bail is a major relief to Bushra who married the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) founder in January 2018, the year he won the election later on and became the prime minister. Bushra, Khan's third wife, was his spiritual heir before marriage.

B'desh ex-premier Khaleda Zia's BNP demands election by July-August

PTI ■ DHAKA
Former prime minister Khaleda Zia's Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP) on Tuesday demanded that the general election be held by July-August this year, refuting interim government chief adviser Muhammad Yunus's stance to stage it by the year-end or mid-2026. "There is no reason to delay the election that much," said BNP secretary general Mirza Fakhrul Islam Alamgir after an overnight meeting of the party's standing committee that was chaired virtually by acting BNP chairperson Tarique Rahman from London. Alamgir said the standing committee held a lengthy discussion on Yunus's planned election deadline but came up with a conclusion that the polls should not be delayed for so long as voters list updating should not take more than a month and other related tasks would take one to two months at most. "We believe, as the Election Commission has already been formed and there is relative stability in governance, there is no reason to delay the national election further. Delays only deepen the political and economic crises," he said. The BNP also opposed the idea propagated by some leaders of the interim government to hold local government elections before parliamentary polls. The party also criticised the interim government's economic policies, particularly plans for gas price hikes and tax increases. "We have repeatedly said there is no alternative to elected government and this is the most important factor for democracy," Alamgir said. He called upon the "government, the Election Commission and political parties" to take steps to hold the elections by mid-2025 in the

"greater interest of the country". Yunus and his advisers or de facto ministers said reforms and preparedness for elections were going on, suggesting that polls should be staged after accomplishment of some basic reforms. But Alamgir said it is a continued process and the BNP was committed to reforms. The BNP secretary general said "there is no question of holding local government elections before the national parliamentary election. Our demand is for the national election first". Alamgir said the last three national elections could not be held properly, and the people want to ensure a democratic transition through elections. Ousted prime minister Sheikh Hasina, 77, has been living in India since August 5 last year when she fled Bangladesh following a massive student-led protest that toppled her Awami League's 16-year regime. Bangladesh's International Crimes Tribunal (ICT) has issued arrest warrants for Hasina and several former Cabinet ministers, advisers, and military and civil officials for "crimes against humanity and genocide". But this was for the first time that the BNP, visibly the largest organised political party in Bangladesh now, came with a tougher stance over the demand for an early election. Zia, who has previously served thrice as premier, is currently in London for treatment with critical health issues while her son Rahman is also in the British capital as a process was underway to settle several legal cases lodged against him. An interim government headed by Nobel Peace Prize laureate Muhammad Yunus is running the country and plans to hold elections in December this year or in the first half of 2026.

Domestic aviation industry likely to clock ₹2,000-₹3,000 Crore net loss in FY25: Report

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The country's civil aviation industry is projected to report a net loss of Rs 2,000 to Rs 3,000 crore in the current and next financial year as supply chain challenges and engine issues are expected to continue for some more time, according to a report.

In the report on Tuesday, rating agency Icria also said that domestic air passenger traffic was estimated at 153 lakh in December, 7.3 per cent higher compared to 142.5 lakh recorded in November last year.

"Further, it grew by ~10.8 per cent on a YoY basis and was higher by ~17.5 per cent than the pre-Covid levels, i.e., December 2019. The airlines' capacity deployment in December 2024 was higher than December 2023 by ~7.5 per cent and by ~3.8 per cent over November 2024," it added. Giving a stable outlook for the Indian aviation industry, Icria said there are expectations of moderate growth in domestic air passenger traffic and a relatively stable cost environment in FY25. Moreover, the industry witnessed improved pricing power during FY24, reflected in the higher yields (over pre-Covid levels) and the revenue per available seat kilometre-cost per available seat kilometre (RASK-CASK) spread of the airlines. "The momentum in the air passenger traffic growth witnessed in FY2024 is likely to marginally taper to 7-10 per cent in FY2025 (compared to 13 per cent in FY2024), given the high base of FY2024 and lower passenger traffic in H1 FY2025, impacted by severe heat waves and other weather-related disruptions.

"The yields are also likely to be under pressure, as airlines strive to maintain adequate passenger load factor (PLF). International passenger traffic for Indian carriers is expected to grow by 15-20 per cent in FY2025," the report said. For FY 2025 and FY 2026, Icria has projected the industry to register a net loss of Rs 20-30 billion. Supply chain challenges and engine failure issues impacted the industry capacity over the last 18 months and are expected to continue affecting it this year, it added.

Union Minister Piyush Goyal launches National Turmeric Board in Telangana

PTI ■ HYDERABAD

Union Minister for Commerce and Industry Piyush Goyal on Tuesday launched the National Turmeric Board in Nizamabad district of Telangana, a long-awaited dream of turmeric farmers.

Goyal virtually inaugurated the Board and said it is being launched on the auspicious occasion of Sankranti.

There is immense potential of increasing productivity of turmeric in Andhra Pradesh and Telangana, Goyal noted, according to an official release.

The Board will pay special attention to the welfare of 'Golden Spice' farmers, develop good varieties and focus on its export, he said. Nizamabad MP Arvind Dharmapuri was also present. The creation of the National Turmeric Board was announced by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on October 1, 2023, during a public meeting in Telangana. This historic decision reflects PM Modi's commitment to farmers and his visionary leadership in recognizing the importance of turmeric as a vital crop for India's agricultural economy, a release from the office of Arvind Dharmapuri said on Monday.

The announcement also fulfilled a 40-year-old demand of turmeric farmers who had long sought dedicated support and infrastructure to bolster turmeric cultivation and trade. Over the last decade, the

Government approves alternative payment methods for rooftop solar installation

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Ministry of New & Renewable Energy has come out with new guidelines, allowing two more payment methods for the installation of rooftop solar system under PM-Surya Ghar: Muft Bijli Yojana. The move will ensure payment security as well as the grant of subsidy to households in case of payments through Renewable Energy Service Company (RESCO) and utility-led aggregation models. The ministry has notified scheme guidelines for implementation of 'Payment Security Mechanism' component and 'Central Financial Assistance' component for RESCO models/utility-led aggregation models under PM-Surya Ghar: Muft Bijli Yojana, an official statement said. Under this scheme, Rs 100 crore has been earmarked for payment security mechanism (PSM) for de-risking investments in RESCO-based grid-connected rooftop solar models in residential sectors, which may be supplemented through other grants, funds and sources after due approval, the statement said. Under the RESCO model, third-party entities invest in rooftop solar installations, enabling consumers to pay only for the electricity consumed without bearing the upfront costs. Under the utility-led aggregation (ULA) model, power distribution companies or state designated entities install rooftop solar projects on behalf of individual households. The ministry further clarified that these guidelines are in addition to the existing mode of implementation undertaken by consumers (capex mode) through the national portal and said these alternative models will support the national portal-based implementation of the scheme.

Rupee recovers from record low to settle eight paise higher at 86.62 against US Dollar

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The rupee rebounded from its lowest-ever level and settled 8 paise higher at 86.62 (provisional) against the US dollar on Tuesday as the American currency retreated from record high. Some recovery in domestic equity markets after the release of macroeconomic numbers also supported the Indian currency even though it remained under pressure due to elevated crude oil prices and continuous outflow of foreign funds. At the interbank foreign exchange, the rupee opened at 86.57 and touched the intraday high of 86.45 before closing for the day at 86.62 (provisional) against the greenback, registering a gain of 8 paise from its previous close. On Monday, the rupee logged its steepest single-day fall in nearly two years and ended the session 66 paise down at its historic low of 86.70 against the US dollar. The currency's previous record one-day fall of 68 paise was witnessed on February 6, 2023. The local unit has plunged more than Re 1 in the past two weeks from the closing level of 85.52 on December 30. It had breached the 85-per-dollar mark for the first time on December 19, 2024. Key imports are petroleum products and urea. These account for over 70 per cent of imports. Other key products are propylene and ethylene polymers, pet coke, gypsum, chemicals, and iron and steel. The bilateral trade stood has declined to USD 8.94 billion in 2023-24 from USD 12.39 billion in 2022-23. India's exports stood at USD 4.42 billion in the last fiscal.

bounce back in the domestic markets and a weak US dollar. Cooling retail inflation and easing dollar brought some respite to the falling rupee, he said, but added that the Indian currency is expected to remain weak as crude oil prices continue to remain elevated, raising inflationary pressures. "Traders may take cues from PPI (producer price index) data from US today and CPI data from US tomorrow. USD-INR spot price is expected to trade in a range of Rs 86.40 to Rs 86.85," Choudhary added. Meanwhile, the dollar index, which gauges the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies, was trading 0.39 per cent lower at 109.38. Brent crude, the global oil benchmark, rose 0.10 per cent to USD 81.09 per barrel in futures trade. In the domestic equity market, the 30-share BSE Sensex climbed 169.62 points, or 0.22 per cent, to settle at 76,499.63 points, while the Nifty rose 90.10 points, or 0.39 per cent, to 23,176.05 points. Foreign institutional investors (FIIs) offloaded equities worth Rs 4,892.84 crore on Monday. Government data released on Tuesday showed, wholesale price inflation rose to 2.37 per cent in December 2024, led by a spike in manufactured products even though prices of food items eased. Retail inflation, however, declined to a four-month low of 5.22 per cent in December amid easing of prices in the food basket, giving headroom to the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) to reduce the key interest rate in upcoming monetary policy reviews, according to the data released on Monday.

Jaguar Land Rover, Tata Communications strengthen partnership for connected car tech

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Jaguar Land Rover and Tata Communications have strengthened their collaboration for connected car technologies, the companies said in a joint statement on Tuesday. As part of the enhanced collaboration, Tata Communications will offer its MOVE platform to enhance JLR's connected vehicle ecosystem, transforming the driving experience for customers worldwide. The partnership will empower JLR's next-generation software-defined vehicles with continuous connectivity and access to intelligent services even in the remotest locations across 120 countries, the auto maker said in a statement. India, Oman holding fifth round of talks for free trade agreement

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

India and Oman are holding the fifth round of talks for a proposed free trade agreement here to boost bilateral economic ties, an official said on Tuesday. The two-day talks started on January 13, the official said. The negotiations for the agreement, officially dubbed as Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA), formally began in November 2023. Oman is the third largest export destination among the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) countries. According to the think tank GTRI (Global Trade Research Institute), Indian goods worth USD 3.7 billion like gasoline, iron and steel, electronics, and machinery will get a significant boost in Oman, once both sides reach a comprehensive free trade agreement. Currently, over 80 per cent of its goods enter Oman at an average of 5 per cent import duties, a GTRI report has said. Oman's import duty ranges from 0 to 100 per cent, along with the existence of specific duties.

A duty of 100 per cent is applicable on specific meats, wines and tobacco products. India already has a similar agreement with another GCC member UAE which came into effect in May 2022. On the imports front, India's merchandise imports from Oman dipped to USD 4.5 billion from USD 7.9 billion in 2022-23. Key imports are petroleum products and urea. These account for over 70 per cent of imports. Other key products are propylene and ethylene polymers, pet coke, gypsum, chemicals, and iron and steel. The bilateral trade stood has declined to USD 8.94 billion in 2023-24 from USD 12.39 billion in 2022-23. India's exports stood at USD 4.42 billion in the last fiscal.

ITC Chairman rejects 90-hour workweek, advocates for flexible work environment and employee empowerment

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Weighing in on the 90-hour workweek controversy, ITC Ltd Chairman Sanjiv Puri said that it is more important for the workers to be aligned to the grander vision of the company rather than the number of hours put in. Giving an analogy of many workers building a castle, he said, "If you ask a mason what he is doing, he might say he is laying a brick, another might say he is building a wall but some might say he is building a castle. It is that vision that workers should have," he told PTI in an interview. Asked if he is saying that mean if he would rather not put a number to the work hours at ITC, he said, "We would not do that."

involved and kind of feel the urge amongst themselves to make a difference to the enterprise. That's how we look at it". The cigarettes-to-consumer goods conglomerate allows a flexible work environment, including work from home on two days every week, he said. ITC, he said, provides a lot of flexibility in working. "Also two days a week, you can work from home," he said. "So it's not so much about, you know, really monitoring each individual's number of hours. It's more about enabling individuals, helping them to actualise their potential, and then reviewing what goals people have achieved. His comments follow a controversy SN Subrahmanyam, Chairman and Managing Director of India's largest engineering and construction company Larsen & Toubro Ltd, sparked on social media when he said employees should work 90-hour a week including on Sundays rather than sit at home. "I regret I am not able to make you work on Sundays," Subrahmanyam said in an undated video of his discussion with staff. "What do you do sitting at home? How long can you stare at your wife, and how long can the wife stare at the husband." The video, which was circulated widely on social media platforms X and LinkedIn, led to heated debate about work-life balance. "I know that he (Subrahmanyam) has been debated a lot, but let me tell you the philosophy with which you look at it," Puri said. He then went on to explain how empowering the employees with the company vision and goal was important. Vision, values and vitality are what ITC is all about, he added. "So we put a lot of effort in making sure that everybody understands the vision of the enterprise. We use a part of the vision and want to contribute to making the vision a reality. And we enable vitality by our processes, by the resources we provide, by the freedom to act, that we provide, the empowerment that we provide, which are very different and very clear goals for individuals to achieve, and these are the primary things that we look at," he said. While Subrahmanyam's comments sparked a heated debate about work-life balance in the country, a Larsen & Toubro spokesperson last week said that the chairman's remarks reflect the company's "larger ambition". "We believe this is India's decade, a time demanding collective dedication and effort to drive progress and realise our shared vision of becoming a developed nation," the company had said in a statement. I&T head's views drew criticism from some peers in the business community. RPG Group Chairman Harsh Goenka said longer working hours was a recipe for burnout and not success. Subrahmanyam's comments followed Infosys co-founder Narayana Murthy's suggestion of a 70-hour workweek and Adani Group chairman Gautam Adani's "biwi bhaag jayegi (wife will run away)" remark if one spent more than eight hours at home.

Tanisha, Dhruv revive India's hopes in mixed doubles with strong performances

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The rising duo of Tanisha Crasto and Dhruv Kapila have sparked renewed hope for India in mixed doubles badminton with a series of strong performances while enjoying every bit of their journey together.

Before the two joined hands post the Paris Olympics, Jwala Gutta and V Diju were India's best mixed doubles pair, achieving a career-high world ranking of six. Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Ashwini Ponnappa also made significant strides before parting ways, with the former focusing on men's doubles alongside Chirag Shetty.

"We played a couple of tournaments before the Olympics and saw a lot of potential in this partnership. I think it was a good decision for both of us to start this journey together," Tanisha told PTI.

"Dhruv is a very talented mixed doubles player. He has a great understanding of the game, and I enjoy playing upfront. It's a combination that works well and makes us a dangerous pair."

Tanisha and Dhruv on Tuesday progressed to the second round of the India Open Super 750 tournament with a 8-21 21-19 21-17 win over Chinese Taipei's Chen Cheng Kuan and Hsu Yin-Hui.

Interestingly, Tanisha, along with Ishaan Bhatnagar, had made a serious push for the Paris Olympics before an unfortunate injury derailed their plans.

"Sometimes, setbacks lead to better opportunities. Mixed doubles is my main focus now. I'm not sure how long Ashwini will continue playing, so I'm fully focused on this event," said Tanisha, who competed in the Paris Games last summer.

The duo had finished runner-up at Syed Modi Super 300 tournament last December and climbed 13 places to reach world number 56. They also reached the semifinals of couple of Super 100 events in Vietnam and Guwahati last year.

Both Tanisha and Dhruv are seasoned players with notable success at the highest level, albeit with different partners in women's and men's doubles.

Dhruv, known for his mixed doubles style even in his junior days, initially played men's doubles with MR Arjun, with some success.

However, an injury to Arjun led Dhruv to refocus on mixed doubles.

"I wasn't fully into mixed doubles initially because I didn't have a partner, and everyone else was already paired up. Arjun and I were playing well, but eventually, I decided to concentrate on one discipline," Dhruv said.

"Unfortunately, Arjun got injured, but he's fine now and playing with Vishnu."

The return of renowned Malaysian coach Tan Kim Her

has further boosted their confidence.

"He's been a great help to both Dhruv and me," Tanisha said.

"He understands our weaknesses and helps us work on them together. It's very comfortable talking to him, and he helps us refine our game, both individually and as a pair. It's been really beneficial for us."

As for filling the void left by Jwala-Diju, both Tanisha and Dhruv are cautious but optimistic.

"We need to improve further. We can't set expectations too high just yet," Dhruv said.

"Our focus is on this year. We're taking it step by step -- starting with performing well in Super 500 and 700 events.

"We aim to reach the quarter-finals and semi-finals. We're not there yet, but we're learning from every tournament, and our short-term goal is continuous improvement over the next few months."

Canada football appoints former England captain Casey Stoney as head women's coach

PTI ■ OTTAWA

Former England captain Casey Stoney said she's confident she can move Canada past the drone spying scandal that shook the women's national team at the Olympics last summer.

Stoney was named head coach of Canada's women on Monday. She signed a three-year contract with Canada Soccer that runs through the 2027 Women's World Cup, with an option for 2028.

Stoney takes over the Canadian team from Bev Priestman, who was fired in the wake of a drone surveillance scandal at last year's Olympics.

"It's about now what we can do moving forward, how we can improve the team," Stoney said. "The team's done fantastic. I'm here to just support, make it better and make sure that the players are completely focused on what their job is, which is to win football matches."

Stoney will formally take over Canada ahead of next month's Pinatar Cup in Spain.

She most recently coached the San Diego Wave in the National Women's Soccer League and was named the league's Coach of the Year in 2022, the team's inaugural season. She was dismissed by the Wave last June in the midst of a seven-game losing streak.

Kevin Blue, Canada Soccer CEO and general secretary, said the federation is

Ratchanok Intanon eyes Asian Games medal

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Once a formidable force in world badminton, star Thai shuttler Ratchanok Intanon believes her on-court wizardry and handwork is a "god's gift" and she will continue to nurture her skills despite the challenges that come with aging.

With the years catching up, Intanon's focus has shifted towards staying fit. She is eyeing a medal at the Asian Games and a spot in the top-8 of the world rankings.

Intanon is part of a golden generation of players, including PV Sindhu, Carolina Marin, and Tai Tzu Ying, all of whom are in the twilight of their careers but are trying to find a second wind.

The 29-year-old, a 2013 world champion, has faced setbacks in recent years, but her resilience shines through. After struggling for form, she marked a solid comeback by reaching the semifinals of the Malaysia Open—her first appearance at a Super 1000 event since June 2023.

On Tuesday, Intanon showed she's still a force to be reckoned with, cruising into the second round of the India Open Super 750 with a convincing 21-13, 21-15 win over Japan's Nozomi Okuhara, who herself is recovering from an injury and searching for past glory.

"I failed in the Olympic Games, but I have to rise again," Intanon admitted, reflecting on her quarterfinal exit from the Paris Olympics.

"I try not to think too much and just focus on getting back to my fitness. I know it's hard, especially as I get older with each passing year. But I do my best to take care of myself," she told PTI.

"I trust my technical skills and my handwork, and I push harder to improve my fitness. Since last week, it's been getting better, and I'm happy with my performance now."

I still feel like I'm 18

While Intanon might be in the final stretch of her illustrious career, her approach to the sport remains youthful.

"Everything feels different now," she says.

"Badminton is something I've been playing since I was very young, so it becomes automatic. But the mental side also requires training, and for me, I put extra focus on my fitness. As it improves, my handwork becomes automatic again." I still feel young, like I'm 18 years old. I know all the other players are strong, but I try to change my mindset and not think I'm too old or too slow. If I want to keep playing, I have to push harder and aim to get back into the top-8. That's my goal for this year."

Her immediate focus is the Asian Games, where she is determined to bag her first individual medal.

"I'm mainly focused on the next two years because my target is the Asian Games. I want to achieve a medal there, that's my main goal. As for the next Olympic Games, I'm unsure about my fitness, but I'll keep working hard and taking care of myself," she shared.

While the younger generation is fast emerging, Intanon believes experience still gives them an edge.

"It depends on mentality and whether you feel ready. If you want to continue, you have to give it 100%. I don't want to just play without a goal. I'm aiming to get back to the top," she said.

"My friends, like Tai Tzu or Sindhu, are also recovering. Carolina Marin is still in her recovery phase, so I hope they all get better, and we can continue playing against each other. That would be very exciting for all of us," she added.

Some Paris Olympic athletes ask for medals to be replaced after quickly deteriorating

PTI ■ PARIS

Some of the medals from the Paris Olympics seem to be quickly losing their shine. The French mint told The Associated Press on Tuesday that it is replacing a number of medals from the 2024 Paris Games and Paralympics after athletes complained that they have already deteriorated — with some posting pictures on social media.

The Monnaie de Paris declined to say how many medals have been returned, but French website La Lettre put the number at over 100.

Contacted by the AP, the French Olympic committee and the IOC also would not reveal figures.

In total, the French mint produced 5,084 medals for the Paris Olympic and Paralympic Games.

"The Monnaie de Paris has taken the issue of damaged medals very seriously since the first exchange requests in August, and has mobilized its internal teams," the French mint said.

"Since then, the company has modified and optimized its relative varnishing process. The Monnaie de Paris will replace all damaged medals at the athletes' request during the first quarter of 2025."

Parisian jewelry house Chaumet designed the medals, which were part of the Games' lasting legacy. A hexagonal, polished chunk of iron taken from the iconic Eiffel Tower was embedded in each gold, silver and bronze medal.

But concerns about their quality emerged before the Games had even ended last summer when American skateboarder Nyjah Huston posted a video showing how quickly his bronze medal had deteriorated. Many other athletes have since also complained.

French swimmers Yohann Ndoye-Brouard and Clément Secchi recently posted images of their medals on social media, describing them as looking like "crocodile skin," or dating back to 1924.

The IOC told the AP that Paris organizers are in contact with the national Olympic committees of the athletes concerned. It confirmed that the replacement process will start in the coming weeks, and that the French mint is working with Paris organizers to understand the circumstances and cause of any damage.

"Damaged medals will be systematically replaced by the Monnaie de Paris and engraved in an identical way to the originals," the IOC said.

The iron pieces embedded in the center of the Olympic medals each weigh 18 grams (about two-thirds of an ounce).

They were cut from girders and other bits that were swapped out of the Eiffel Tower during renovations and stored for safekeeping, according to Joachim Roncin, head of design at the Paris Games organizing committee.

Indian community playing big role in popularising kho kho in England

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

For teenage kho kho players from England, Jaian Saunders and Anya Shah, the traditional Indian sport is not just a means to win medals and popularise the game back home but also a way to remain connected to their roots here.

Indian-origin players Jaian and Anya are part of the 30-member England contingent touring India for the Kho Kho World Cup and say their adopted country has a competitive structure to rival India, a powerhouse of the sport.

Jaian, 16, took up the sport because of his grounding in athletics. An accomplished 200m runner, he finished fourth in the U17 age-group national athletics championship and missed making the England team.

But kho kho provided him another opportunity to remain connected with sports.

"I developed a liking for kho kho through my Oshwal community. It gave me the opportunity to play in the nationals. I made it to the England trials from the nationals, following which I was scouted by coaches.

"I think, my sporty background, being an athlete and a sprinter, helped me in kho kho," said the teenager, proudly informing that his team had beaten Germany in the opening match of the World Cup at the IG Stadium.

Jaian, whose grandparents moved to the UK from Gujarat, said England has a well-established structure, which is helping kho kho prosper.

He said that the sport is played in almost all the top universities in the country and players, predominantly Indians, number in thousands.

"We have a very competitive structure. We have communities playing the sport in almost every part of England... London, Leicester, to name a few."

Jaian comes from the Oshwal community, which has 10 players in the World Cup contingent.

"The Kho Kho Federation of England hosts the nationals once a year in September. From there we get scouted for the England trials and the deserving players are then selected to the England team," said Jaian, adding that the team comprises mostly of Indians and Nepalese settled in England, besides some English players as well.

"I suppose 70 percent of the players are Indian origin and the rest are from different backgrounds. But they are all born in England," said Jaian, whose younger sister too wants to play kho kho competitively.

Anya stated playing kho kho when she was nine years old and said that at 17 she feels she has been playing for ages.

"I am 17 years old now. I took up the sport when I was nine, so have been playing it for quite some time," said Anya, whose team beat Australia in the World Cup opener.

"I got inspired seeing my Indian friends playing the sport in the community. I thought let's give it a try and I really enjoyed it. My parent and grand parents moved to England from Jamnagar in Gujarat," said Anya, who too is from the Oshwal community and got selected into the England side through the national trials.

While she cannot put a number on how many kho kho players are there in England, but said they would be in thousands.

"I have no idea how many women play kho kho in the country but we play the game all over the country. It could be in thousands. It is community and university-based. Even the top five universities in the UK play kho kho," she said.

One of the major reasons for the sport becoming popular in England is the ease of playing it, said Anya.

"It's easy, it's a fun game with very little equipment required. Besides, social media has played a huge role in popularising it. We are the first national kho kho team from England and we feel we are the big stating names," said the Economics and Physical Education student.

She hoped that with kho kho's popularity growing in the country, the country will have better equipment in future.

"We are not there yet, but hopefully next year we will have that equipment."

Bumrah named ICC Men's Player of Month for December 2024

PTI ■ DUBAI
India pace spearhead Jasprit Bumrah was on Tuesday named ICC Men's Player of the Month for December 2024 after his sensational performance during the recent tour of Australia for the Border-Gavaskar Trophy. Leading India's attack single-handedly, Bumrah relentlessly kept Australian batsmen under intense pressure, claiming 22 wickets in three Tests in December last year at an outstanding average of 14.22. He ended with 32 wickets in the five-match series which concluded on January 5. The first match was played in November. His match-winning contributions included a nine-wicket haul in Brisbane and a five-wicket display in Melbourne as he edged out Australian skipper Pat Cummins and South African Dane Paterson for the award, stated the ICC. He also reached a significant milestone, becoming the first bowler to take 200 Test wickets at an average below 20.

Bumrah's brilliance was evident from the very start, with a standout performance in Adelaide. His four-wicket haul was instrumental in minimising Australia's lead in the first innings, keeping India within striking distance.

He followed this up with a sensational display in Brisbane, where his six wickets in the first innings dismantled Australia's batting order. Bumrah added three more scalps in the second innings to complete a nine-wicket match haul. His efforts ensured the rain-affected match ended in a draw, keeping India alive in the series. The Boxing Day Test in Melbourne saw Bumrah deliver yet another stellar performance. He picked up four wickets in the first innings, providing a rare bright spot in an otherwise lacklustre bowling effort by the Indian team. He then secured a five-wicket haul in the second innings, bowling Australia out for 234. Despite his heroics, India's batting faltered, resulting in a 184-run defeat. India lost the Border-Gavaskar Trophy 1-3. In a challenging tour for the Indian team, Bumrah emerged as the lone warrior, earning him the Player of the Series Award.

Real Kashmir FC hold fort against Sreenidi Deccan FC

PTI ■ SRINAGAR
Down to 10 men in the match, Real Kashmir FC held fort to settle for a 2-2 draw with Sreenidi Deccan FC in a crucial I-League clash that had everything from penalties and goals to a red card here on Tuesday. Sreenidi Deccan took the lead twice in the match through Faysal Shayesteh (2nd minute) and Angel Orelie (15th) only to see Real Kashmir's Paulo Cezar (4th) and Muhammad Hammad (22nd) scoring timely equalisers. Real Kashmir's Cameroonian recruit Aminou Bouba was shown the red card in less than a minute. The draw meant Real Kashmir occupy the eighth spot in the table with 10 points from eight games. Sreenidi Deccan, on the other hand, also have the same number of points after playing an identical number of matches but they see themselves at ninth spot because of an inferior goal difference. The match got off to an intense start when Bouba was dismissed for a foul inside the penalty area, leading to Shayesteh converting a penalty in the second minute to put Sreenidi Deccan ahead. Contrary to expectations, the 10-man Real Kashmir side did not retreat but responded swiftly. In the fourth minute, a cleverly taken short corner allowed Lalramsanga to assist Cezar, whose precise header restored parity. Undeterred by the setback, Sreenidi Deccan regained the lead in the 15th minute. Following a series of passes that dissected the Kashmir defence, Orelie found himself with space to unleash a fierce shot that found the net, demonstrating the attacking prowess of the Deccan Warriors. The persistent spirit of Real Kashmir shone through yet again as they equalised for the second time in the 22nd minute. From a well-placed Lalramsanga free-kick, the Sreenidi Deccan keeper managed only a partial clearance, and Hammad was on hand to pounce on the rebound, driving the ball home to level the scores. As the match progressed, both teams had opportunities to clinch the win. Sreenidi Deccan, inspired by their recent comeback victory against Aizawl FC, pushed hard. Vanlalremdika struck the woodwork, and Munoz's header was brilliantly saved by the Real Kashmir goalkeeper, who also denied Orelie's long-range effort that rattled the crossbar. Despite playing with a man less for virtually the entire match, Real Kashmir's defence stood resilient, managing to hold off Sreenidi Deccan's late surges to ensure the points were shared.

SA20: MI Cape Town beats Paarl Royals

PTI ■ CAPE TOWN

MI Cape Town returned to winning ways with a comprehensive 33-run victory over neighbours Paarl Royals in their first home match of the season in Betway SA20 here. Newlands, which was filled to capacity for MI Cape Town's first home game of Season 3, delivered a near-perfect all-round performance to clinch the win here on Monday. New signing Reeza Hendricks led the way with the bat with his first half-century for home side. His 59 off 37 balls provided the foundation for the team to post a formidable 172/7. Hendricks was ably supported by Rassie van der Dussen (43 off 33 balls). The pair shared a 78-run partnership off 54 balls before the in-form Delano Potgieter smashed another 18-ball 29 to provide the late innings momentum. The Royals' chase began positively with Joe Root (26) and Lhuan-dre Pretorius (26) smashing 38 runs in just the three overs. However, the introduction of Kagiso Rabada into the attack reaped immediate rewards with the fast bowler dismissing both Root and Pretorius within a couple of overs of each other. Both were wicket maiden overs from Rabada. The Royals never recovered from the double blow with MI Cape Town's spin twins George Linde and Rashid Khan adding to their woes.

10,000-run milestone is different beast and played on my mind during India series: Smith

PTI ■ SYDNEY

Star Australian batter Steve Smith has described the elusive 10,000-run mark in Tests as a "different beast" after falling just one run short of touching it at his home ground of Sydney in the fifth and final game against India during which the milestone weighed heavily on his mind. Smith needed 38 runs to achieve the landmark but managed 37 during the game that Australia won by six wickets to reclaim the Border-Gavaskar Trophy after more than a decade. "I don't read too much into stats and stuff, but, 10,000 is a bit of a different beast," Smith told 'SEN 1170 Breakfast'. "It probably was (on my mind), to be honest. Normally I sort of don't buy into any of that stuff, but pre-game, I was doing lots of media because I was approaching that mark." The 'number 38' played on his mind in such a way that Smith joked he would forever associate it with Josh Hazlewood, whose jersey number is 38. "I knew I needed 38, and all I could actually picture trying to sleep at night was the back of Josh Hazlewood's shirt because he's number 38 (laughs). It's strange like that, isn't it? "It was probably playing on my mind more than any other game that I've played, to be honest. "But, it is what it is, fortunately, we were able to win that game in the end, so it didn't really matter," he said. Australia will next tour Sri Lanka for a two-match Test series beginning in Galle on January 29 and Smith hopes to do it on day one of the series itself if Australia get to bat first. "It would have been great to have been able to do it in Sydney in front of all my friends and family because you're joining a pretty elite group there I suppose, but it wasn't to be. "As a kid, I never would have dreamt of that, I dreamt to play cricket for Australia and have a career playing for Australia, but to have been able to get to this mark, it's a dream come true in a way," he added. Smith would become the 15th overall and only fourth Australian Test player ever to achieve the landmark.

Struggling Rohit trains with Mumbai team ahead of Ranji resumption

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Embattled India captain Rohit Sharma practised with the Mumbai team here on Tuesday as the side geared up for the resumption of Ranji Trophy from January 23 but there was no clarity on whether he would play for the side in its upcoming fixture. The 37-year-old, who endured a horror run with the bat in the national team's tour of Australia recently, took part in a morning practice session which lasted a couple of hours at the Wankhede stadium here. "As is the process and routine owing to the gaps between tournaments, the management speaks with the players about their availability," a Mumbai Cricket Association official told PTI. "Rohit will also be approached around the time of selection for the Ranji Trophy game against Jammu and Kashmir from January 23," he added when asked about Rohit's availability for the clash. Rohit batted with Mumbai stalwart and his India teammate Ajinkya Rahane during the session. His participation in the match may not be clear yet but it is learnt that Rohit will continue to practice with the team. The past few weeks have been tumultuous for Rohit. He managed just 31 runs across three Tests during his time Down Under and was forced to drop himself from the series-deciding fifth and final Test in Sydney due to his poor form. Rohit handed over the leadership duties to Jasprit Bumrah in that game, sparking widespread speculations about his future. However, in an interview to the host broadcaster of the series, Rohit asserted that he was not going anywhere. Despite his future as a red-ball cricketer hanging by a thread, Rohit attended a review meeting on Sunday to assess the team's performance. He was joined by head coach Gautam Gambhir and BCCI's new secretary Devajit Saikia during the deliberations. Mumbai will play their match against J&K at the MCA-BKC ground and the game holds significance as far as advancing to the knockouts is concerned. Rohit last played for Mumbai in a Ranji game way back in 2015 against Uttar Pradesh.

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Gautam Gambhir's position as head coach will be "reevaluated" on the basis of India's Champions Trophy performance next month amid concerns that there is discontent in the dressing room due to his push to end the long-prevalent "superstar culture" in the team. Since Gambhir took over in July last year, the Indian team has lost six out of 10 Tests and also a bilateral ODI series in Sri Lanka. The results have left Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma's international future in significant disarray thanks to their own poor form. But Gambhir's position has also become slightly shaky. Adding to the drama is his speculated rift with prominent players during the Border-Gavaskar Test series in Australia which India lost 1-3. "If India doesn't do well in the Champions Trophy, the head coach's position could become untenable. Yes, his contract runs till the 2027 World Cup but the process of evaluation continues. "Sport is result-oriented and till now, Gambhir hasn't given any tangible results," a senior BCCI source told PTI on conditions of anonymity. There has already been a review of the team's performance in Australia by the BCCI. It is understood that Gambhir and senior players aren't on the same page on the issue of team culture. "Gambhir wants to end the superstar culture that has been prevalent for so many years now. As captain of Kolkata Knight Riders in 2012, he had dropped Brendon McCullum from the playing XI for the IPL final against CSK. "He has come here to dismantle the superstar culture and that's what has caused discomfort for some playing members," a source, who has seen Gambhir's functioning closely, said. He cited another instance from his Delhi playing days to explain Gambhir's mindset. "Once, as Delhi Ranji captain, Gambhir decided that they will play home matches at the Roshanara Ground in Delhi North-West where the pitches were green-top.

"But one huge superstar, who was also out of the Indian team, wanted to play the games at the Jamia Millia Islamia ground, which was closer to his south Delhi residence. Gambhir turned him down. Similarly, in the Indian team, he doesn't want star culture to breed," the person added.

India aim for clean sweep in final women's ODI vs Ireland

PTI ■ RAJKOT

A dominant India will fancy their chances of completing a clean sweep of the women's ODI series against Ireland in the third and final match here on Wednesday, having recorded two convincing wins in the preceding games. With another power-packed batting performance, the Indian team will be aiming to continue their impressive run and finish on a high note. Pratika Rawal, after scoring her third half-century in just four innings, will be eager to translate her start into a maiden hundred. Her blistering opening partnerships with skipper Smriti Mandhana have been the biggest takeaway of the series. The duo added 156 runs for the first wicket in their previous outing, marking their third century-plus stand in five innings. Mandhana's consistency at the top continues to be a major highlight for India as the flamboyant left-hander has carried on her form across formats from the West Indies series.

Harleen Deol, who initially struggled for momentum, found her rhythm later in the innings, scoring an important 89. Thanks to Jemimah Rodrigues, who displayed patience and composure before accelerating in the final stages of the innings, India smashed their highest-ever ODI total of 370/5 in the last game. Promoted to No. 4 in Harmanpreet Kaur's absence, Rodrigues showed maturity after getting a reprieve on

34, and it took her just 28 balls to reach her second fifty. "It was an added responsibility... Initially I showed a lot of patience, which was again a big positive for me because it was important for me to spend time there to get those runs," Rodrigues said. "And you know, I was getting the runs. But I was not spending enough time to make it bigger. So I was happy I could do that today." Seasoned batter Tejal Hasانبis also made a fine comeback with an unbeaten fifty in the opening ODI. In the absence of big hitters like Shafali Verma and Kaur, who has been rested, the series also highlighted the performance of the emerging talents with Pratika making the most of it. India's bowling though has raised some concerns, as the team has struggled to take wickets consistently in home conditions and allowed Ireland to post 254/7 in pursuit of 371. While India are missing Renuka Singh, the injury to Pooja Vastrakar has compounded their misery. Deepthi Sharma, who played in her 100th ODI in the last match, has been the standout bowler with four wickets at 19.50, while the likes of Priya Mishra, Sayali Satghare, Titas Sadhu have not been able to impress. The Irish batting has largely revolved around the trio of skipper Gaby Lewis, Christina Coulter-Keilly, and Leah Paul, each of whom has posted a half-century. However, the Irish fielding has been a cause for concern with the team conceding unnecessary runs.
