Parliament Committee to question Meta CEO

DEEPAK KUMAR JHA ■ NEW DELHI

Peeved by the unwarranted comments on Lok Sabha elections by social media giant Mark Zuckerberg, the Parliamentary Committee is to summon representatives of the Meta during the next couple of days.

In past also social media giants Facebook and the then Twitter, Amazon, Google were summoned by the Centre and Parliament committees on different issues including protection of data and its privacy and allegation over supporting a particular individual, group or party in elections.

The Centre led by Union Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw has already responded and countered to Meta CEO Mark Zuckerberg's claims that most incumbent governments, including BJP led NDA, lost their positions post the Covid-19 pandemic.

BJP MP Nishikant Dubey, who heads the Parliament's Standing Committee on Communications and Information Technology, sought an apology from social media giant Meta for "tarnishing" India's image. He said that the panel will summon the firm very soon.

"My committee will summon Meta for this incorrect information. Incorrect information about any democratic country tarnishes its image. This organisation will have to apologise to the Indian Parliament and the people here for this mistake," Dubey said in a statement.

A day earlier Vaishnaw took the lead to criticise Zuckerberg for making "factually incorrect" statement that the incumbent government in India lost the election in 2024 over issues arising out of the COVID-19 pandemic.

"It is disappointing to see misinformation from Zuckerberg himself. Let's uphold facts and credibility," Vaishnaw said on several

Police find NGO, political ties in Delhi bomb threats

SAUMYA SHUKLA ■ NEW DELHI

Hinting towards a deeper conspiracy behind the bomb threats being sent to schools and several educational institutions across Delhi-NCR in recent past, the Delhi Police on Tuesday revealed link of an NGO, who opposed the hanging of terrorist Afzal Guru and has a political party, with the 12th class student who had sent mails to over 400 schools.

BJP alleged that the police investigation hints towards Aam Aadmi Party's (AAP) involvement in the case, charging that AAP chief Arvind Kejriwal is not just Delhi's but the country's enemy ahead of the Delhi elections.

The BJP has been targeting Chief Minister Atishi on her parents opposing the hanging of Guru. Addressing a Press conference, Special CP/Law and Order Division Zone-II Madhup Tiwari said that the minor has sent about seven threatening mails to more than 400 schools between February 12 and January 8. He also sent the mail on May 1 when about 250 schools received the hoax bomb threat creating large-scale panic and fear among both parents and children, disrupting normal lives of the public, the officer added.

The matter came to fore when the police identified a 16 year old for sending bomb threats to about 23 schools on January 8. The hoax threats were delivered through heavily encrypted email services and complex digital pathways, clearly indicating intent to conceal identity and evade detection, Tiwari said.

However, he added that considering technical complexities and advanced techniques used in sending such emails, the police started probing the role of other entities/players/associates. The police pulled out at the background of the juveniles family. "We wanted to see how this child could have done all this on his own. To investigate this, we did a background profiling of the entire family. It is revealed that one NGO, which is part of a civil society group, has a significant influence at the workplace of the juvenile's guardian. It has a longstanding association and deep connection with a political party. This NGO is known for advocacy for the political party in open public domain and questions the legitimacy of Afzal Guru's hacking, a convicted terrorist involved in the 2001 Parliament attack," the officer said.

Release Indians hired to army: MEA to Russia

Mohammad Asfan was killed on the Russia-Ukraine frontlines last year. He travelled to Russia for a security guard's job but was sent to the war zone

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

India on Tuesday pressed Russia to release all the Indians recruited by the Russian military, following the death of another Indian national in the Russia-Ukraine conflict zone, taking the death toll to 10.

Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said an Indian national from Kerala has died and another has sustained injuries and is undergoing treatment at a hospital in Moscow. Jaiswal said the matter has been strongly taken up with Russian authorities in Moscow as well as with the Russian embassy in New Delhi. "We have also reiterated our demand for an early discharge of the remaining Indian nationals," he said.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi had strongly raised the issue of early discharge of the Indian nationals working in

The death of Binil TB, who hailed from Thrissur, was made public on Monday by one of his relatives. Though the MEA did not provide the circumstances of his death, he reportedly died on the frontlines of the conflict in Ukraine.

According to official data, nine Indians died while serving in the Russian Army in the last few months. Binil's death has taken the toll to 10. "We have learnt of the unfortunate death of an Indian national from Kerala, who had apparently been recruited to serve in the Russian Army," Jaiswal said.

"Another Indian national from Kerala, who was similarly recruited, has been injured and is receiving treatment in a hospital in Moscow," he said. The MEA offered condolences to the family of the deceased.

Kite string slits claims four lives in Gujarat

PNS ■ AHMEDABAD

Four persons including a four-year-old boy died after their throats were slit by 'manja' or kite string during Uttarayan celebrations in Gujarat on Tuesday. A death each was reported in Rajkot, Panchmahal, Mehsana and Surendranagar districts while numerous cases of injury were reported across the state, officials said.

Manja made from nylon or coated with crushed glass is sharp enough to cause fatal injuries. Despite being banned, it is used by kite enthusiasts who find them effective for cutting an opponent's kite.

Kunal Parmar (4) bled to death in Halol town of Panchmahal district after his neck was slit by kite string, said an official of the local police station. He was riding with his father on motorcycle to buy kites and balloons from the market when a piece of string wrapped around his neck and caused a deep gash.

Mansaji Thakor (35), a farmer, died in Vadnagar taluka of Mehsana district.

Kumbh to boost UP's revenue by ₹2 Lakh Crore

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

The Maha Kumbh 2025 is expected to generate a revenue from Rs 2,00,000 crore to Rs 4,00,000 crore, to boost the economy of Uttar Pradesh. After Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath claims that Maha Kumbh 2025 will generate a revenue to the tune of Rs 2 lakh crore, traders' body the Confederation of All India Traders (CAIT) has also backed these figures, saying that Maha Kumbh is expected to generate trade worth approximately Rs 2 lakh crore.

Furthermore, Industry estimates the average cost of accommodation and food for each visitor in Prayagraj would be Rs 10,000, which would contribute Rs 4 lakh crore to the state government's treasury by the end of the Mela. It is also expected to boost both nominal and real GDP by over 1 per cent.

The national capital, being a largest trading centre of goods and services, is anticipated to supply items worth approximately Rs 40,000 crore from Delhi to Prayagraj and nearby towns.

According to CAIT's estimates, revenue from transportation, including inter-state travel, taxis and goods transport, is estimated at Rs10,000 crore. The tourism sector, including travel guides and tour packages, is expected to generate another Rs 10,000 crore. Temporary medical camps, medicines and Ayurvedic products are expected to contribute Rs 3,000 crore. Revenue from e-tickets, digital transactions, transportation and logistics; Rs 5,000 crore by handicrafts and souvenirs; Rs 3,000 crore by healthcare services; Rs 1,000 crore by IT and digital services; Rs 10,000 crore by entertainment and media; and more.

According to estimates, the event may generate Rs 2 lakh crore if each of 40 crore visitors spends an average of Rs 5,000. Some experts estimated the average cost of accommodation and food for each visitor in Prayagraj would be Rs 10,000, which would contribute Rs 4 lakh crore to the state government's treasury by the end of the Mela.

BJP MP from Chandni Chowk and Secretary General of CAIT, Praveen Khandelwal said an estimate suggests that with an average expenditure of Rs 5,000 per person during religious travel, the total spending will exceed Rs 2 lakh crore. This includes spending on hotels, guesthouses, temporary accommodations, food, religious items, healthcare, and other services. Many companies and corporate sectors from India as well as abroad are jostling for space to showcase their presence during the 45 day event. Dabur, Parle, Coca-Cola, Reliance Consumer Products, ITC Mangaldeep, Aditya Birla Sun Life AMC are just some of the companies out to woo the crores of devotees expected at the holy fair. Dabur has also tied up with dhabas and eateries in the city and on the highways. ITC Mangaldeep has set up unique 5 ft tall agarbatti installations at high traffic locations including Sangam Ghat. Reliance Consumer Products has also set up Campa Ashram, a space that offers a safe and serene haven for pilgrims to rest.

The Maha Kumbh 2025, the largest religious congregation in Prayagraj, started on January 13 and will end on February 26. The event is anticipated to attract around 400 million visitors during its 45-day period. Back in 2019, the Kumbh Mela generated Rs 1.2 lakh crore in revenue, which is expected to grow to Rs lakh crore this time.

SANGAM BANK BECOMES SELFIE HOTSPOT

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ MAHAKUMBH NAGAR

The Sangam bank in Prayagraj on Monday became a hotspot with crowds flocking to take selfies with the cutouts of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on the first bathing festival of the Maha Kumbh.

The 45-day Maha Kumbh Mela will culminate on February 26 with 40 crore devotees expected to take a dip in the Sangam. Retail inflation drops, Sensex, Nifty bounce Benchmark indices Sensex and Nifty bounced back on Tuesday after declining for the past four sessions on easing retail inflation and a rebound in global markets. Besides, bargain hunting in energy, banking and metal stocks supported the market sentiment.

However, rising global crude prices and unrelenting selling by foreign investors capped the gains, traders said. The 30-share BSE benchmark Sensex rose 169.62 points or 0.22 per cent to settle at 76,499.63. During the day, it surged 505.6 points or 0.66 per cent to 76,835.61. As many as 2,867 stocks advanced while 1,096 declined and 110 remained unchanged on the BSE.

The NSE Nifty climbed 90.10 points or 0.39 per cent to 23,176.05. The BSE Sensex has plunged 1,869.1 points or 2.39 per cent in the past four trading sessions.

"A rebound in the global market and an ease in domestic CPI inflation provided respite to the broader indices. This may provide some leeway for RBI in its next policy meeting. However, rising oil prices and higher 10-year yields will be watched carefully.

"The IT sector weighed down amid concerns over weak earnings guidance for Q4. The domestic sentiment will be more inclined towards the ongoing earnings season and upcoming union budget, which has a mixed view," Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Financial Services, said.

Australia loss prompts BCCI to limit wives, girlfriends on tours

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

India's 1-3 loss to Australia in the recent five test match series there has prompted Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) to consider disciplinary measures like limiting the presence of wives on tours. The BCCI also proposes to make it mandatory for players to travel together in the team bus. They may also be asked to pay for extra luggage. These proposed measures also come in the backdrop of next Test assignment away from home is a five-match tour of England starting in June.

Moreover, it will be made mandatory for the players to travel together in team buses. They have also been asked to pay for extra luggage. If players' luggage exceeds 150 kg, BCCI will not cover the extra charges, and players will have to pay them.

Two top players of the Indian team reportedly travelled with their families between cities during Australian tour while the rest of the players travelled together. A report even claimed that the Indian team did not celebrate their historic win in Perth together. The BCCI decided to avoid any knee-jerk reactions in terms of the combination of the team. It is understood that with an important ODI tournament like the Champions Trophy scheduled in another six weeks' time, any immediate reaction would hurt the team as well as the support staff.

Moreover, the issue of managers of players and coaches was highlighted when the personal manager of a senior coaching staff member was allowed on the team bus on the recent tour in Australia. The issue of managers of players and coaches was highlighted when the personal manager of a senior coaching staff member was allowed on the team bus on the recent tour that ended with India losing 1-3.

Personal managers travelling on the team bus also raised a red flag with the anti-corruption unit. It should be avoided going forward. As far as the presence of wives on tours is concerned, it is being discussed in the board and a call would be taken on it soon, sources said.

Also players and coaches should only travel by team bus. It was always supposed to be the case but of late, players use other modes of transportation. That should be avoided, they said.

India's 1-3 defeat, their first loss to Australia in 10 years also meant that the Indians failed to make the cut for the World Test Championship final to be held in London in June.

GDMC's ophthalmology department proposes two working units

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

In an effort to improve patient facilities, the ophthalmology department at Government Doon Medical College (GDMC) has proposed the establishment of two operational units in the hospital. To advance this initiative, departmental officials recently submitted a letter to the principal of the medical college Dr Geeta Jain. Informing about this, the officials said that at present, there is only one operational unit in the department which occasionally hinders the provision of efficient services to patients in both the outpatient department and surgical settings. Currently, one doctor is responsible for overseeing the entire OPD seven days a week, alongside some new faculty members who work on a daily rotational basis.

The officials said that this arrangement complicates the workflow for senior doctors, making it challenging to maintain consistency in patient care with the constant changes in faculty. They further said that the presence of only one operational unit in the department often results in prolonged wait times for patients, insufficient supervision during surgical procedures and other related issues. Additionally, the National Medical Commission (NMC) stipulates that two operational units in the ophthalmology department of the medical colleges are essential for facilitating improved patient care. In light of this, the officials have recently submitted a letter to the college principal requesting the establishment of a second working unit in the department.

They further said that with the implementation of a second working unit, one professor in the department could engage in outpatient services while supervising faculty during eye surgeries on their designated off days and vice versa for the second professor. This enhancement is anticipated to enhance departmental operations, address more patient concerns and increase the overall success rate of eye surgeries. It is hoped that the hospital administration will soon grant approval for the establishment of the two operational units in the department, official sources added.

Drunk ABDO runs over trio, kills girl, injures two

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

At a time when the authorities are acting tough on drunk drivers, one teenage girl died and two sustained serious injuries after a speeding car reportedly driven by an intoxicated assistant block development officer (ABDO), ran over them in Kotabagh near Haldwani. The accident occurred when the three girls were walking home from the Uttarayani fair in the area on Tuesday. The officials informed that the deceased, 14-year-old Mahi, was a resident of Nathunagar village in Kotabagh. She was accompanied by her elder sister Kanak (17) and their neighbour Mamta (15). The trio was returning home on foot when the speeding car was heading towards Haldwani. They stated that all three girls sustained severe injuries and were taken to the hospital where Mahi succumbed to her injuries during treatment. The two other girls were later admitted to a private hospital in Mukhani, where they are currently in the intensive care unit and the doctors have reported their condition as stable, as per the officials. According to them, the accused Bhubendra Singh was reportedly under the influence of alcohol at the time of the accident. Singh, who serves as an ABDO in Kotabagh, attempted to flee the scene after the collision. However, his car collided with a hillside near Gudi Nala, about one kilometre from the accident site. The police, responding to a tip-off on Dial 112, apprehended the accused and confirmed his intoxicated state through a medical examination. The damaged car was later removed from the scene with the help of a crane and has been seized as evidence, the officials said. This incident has sparked an outrage over the negligence and irresponsibility of the driver. The police are investigating the case and will take further action accordingly, the officials said.

Two dead, one injured in road accident in Almora

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Two men died and one sustained injuries after a car fell into a gorge about 200 metres deep near Jamrani Bend at Dholachina in the Almora district late on Monday night. The State Disaster Response Force (SDRF) was alerted through the Almora district control room that dispatched a rescue team from the Sariyapani post, led by assistant sub-inspector Mahipal Singh, equipped with essential rescue tools.

The commandant of the State Disaster Response Force (SDRF) Arpan Yaduvanshi said that the accident involved a vehicle that lost control and plunged about 200 metres into a deep gorge near Jamrani Bend. Out of the three individuals in the vehicle, one was rescued in an injured state by locals before the SDRF team's arrival and rushed to the hospital for medical treatment. The two other passengers were found deceased at the scene. Yaduvanshi said that despite the pitch darkness and challenging terrain, the SDRF team worked tirelessly to recover the bodies from the gorge in the wee hours of Tuesday. After a strenuous rescue operation, the team retrieved the remains and handed them over to the district police for identification and further procedures.

The injured individual, identified as Pushkar Singh Bhandari, a resident of Naugaon, is currently undergoing treatment. The two deceased were identified as Manoj Singh Bisht and Ajay Singh Bisht, both residents of Naugaon. Yaduvanshi has urged drivers to exercise extreme caution, especially during night time journeys in winter.

BJP to release its ULB poll manifesto today

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

The Bharatiya Janata Party will release its manifesto for the ensuing municipal elections on Wednesday in the presence of chief minister Pushkar Singh Dhama. According to BJP State general secretary Aditya Kothari, the manifesto will describe the achievements of the 'double-engine' government as well as the party's vision for municipal governance. Kothari stated that the manifesto has been meticulously prepared after thorough deliberations and public consultations. It comprises a State-level manifesto alongside separate, tailored manifestos for all 11 municipal corporations in the State. The CM, along with his cabinet colleagues, party office-bearers, legislators and senior workers, will make the manifesto public, outlining not only the accomplishments of the BJP-led government but also the initiatives planned for the development of municipal bodies. Emphasising on the unique nature of the manifesto, Kothari said that the challenges and requirements of each municipal body differ considering which, the BJP has prepared a comprehensive State manifesto along with specific documents for each municipal corporation. Following the launch at the headquarters, similar programmes will be conducted across districts and municipal areas to present the manifesto to the public. These events will be attended by local legislators, party in-charges, and officials responsible for municipal governance. Kothari also said that the BJP will intensify its efforts in the final phase under Dhama's leadership. The campaign will kick off in Karnprayag, with Dhama slated to hold 28 public meetings and roadshows across the State. The other star campaigners will also participate in over 200 events in the Garhwal region, including rallies, roadshows, Padyatras, public outreach initiatives and cultural programmes. Responding to rumours regarding Congress MLA Mayukh Mahar joining the BJP, Kothari clarified that the party is open to welcoming individuals who align with its ideology and are committed to contributing to the development of the state and the nation. He stated that over 15,000 Congress workers have joined the BJP since the last Lok Sabha elections, with many Congress leaders currently in touch with the BJP leadership. Decisions regarding their inclusion will be taken after careful consideration, he added.

Congress a divided house in Pithoragarh mayoral battle

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

The Pithoragarh mayoral election has deepened the fissure lines in Uttarakhand Congress. Here the local strongman and three time MLA Mayukh Mahar has openly challenged the party by extending support to the Congress rebel Monika Mahar. In Pithoragarh, the Congress has fielded Anju Lunthi for the position of mayor. Interestingly the vice president of the Uttarakhand Congress Mathuradity Joshi has already left the party following denial of the mayoral ticket to his wife.

et to Lunthi. The PCC president said in the public meeting in Pithoragarh that despite a strong sympathy factor, Lunthi put up a spirited fight and lost the election by a thin margin. He said that instead of supporting Lunthi, MLA Mahar is supporting the wife of Rishabh Mahar, who was an upcoming young leader of the Congress party. Continuing the diatribe on Mahar, the PCC President said that he got major mining contracts during the regime of the Congress party.

The Pradesh Congress Committee (PCC) president Karan Mahara is actively campaigning for Lunthi and has thrown the gauntlet to the party MLA Mahar to resign. He has also recommended to the party high command to take disciplinary action against the MLA who is openly supporting an independent candidate. In a public meeting, Mahara accused Mahar of leaving the battlefield in the Vidhan Sabha by-election of 2019. The by-election was necessitated after the death of then Finance minister Prakash Pant. In this election the BJP had fielded Chandra Pant, the wife of late Prakash Pant while the Congress, following the denial of Mahar to contest, gave tick-

Responding to the attack, Mahar said that there was a powerful person who was close to the most prominent leader of the party who used to demand money for the mining contracts. He said that the mining contracts were given after payment of bribes at that time.

The internal bickering in the Congress party is expected to benefit BJP in Pithoragarh which has fielded Chandrakala Mahar as its mayoral candidate.

The political advisor of the PCC president Amarjeet Singh said that the PCC president has recommended the party high command to take disciplinary action against Mayukh Mahar.

on the issue from the district magistrate of Pauri. The CM has also asked the DM to ensure that all the basic facilities are made available to the patients in the Pauri hospital immediately.

The CM convened a meeting of senior officers of Health department and State administration at his camp office on Tuesday. In the meeting, discussion was held on the complaint regarding lack of proper facilities in Pauri district hospital.

facility should be provided in the hospital to deal with any emergency situation. The CM claimed that a network of health services is now available in every corner of the State and in such a situation there should be no paucity in the treatment of the serious patients and injured in the hospitals of the State. The CM also ordered an inquiry in the Pauri bus mishap and said that action against the transport department officers should be taken in case of any negligence.

of the dead and Rs one lakh to the seriously injured passengers.

The CM's action in the Pauri bus mishap case assumes significance since the accident victims had complained of gross negligence in treatment and absence of basic facilities in the district hospital Pauri. The agitated people of Pauri had observed a Bandh of local markets on Monday on the issue.

Green up Doon, clear traffic mess & make more public toilets, say Doonites to ULB candidates

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Local residents are seeking afforestation, solutions to traffic congestion and the establishment of public toilets in the city and across the State, particularly in anticipation of the upcoming Urban Local Bodies (ULB) elections slated to be held on January 23. In this context, many local residents have voiced their concerns regarding the issues that they believe should be prioritised by the candidates running for the mayoral position. They emphasised that resolving these matters should not merely be viewed as a formality but rather as a crucial step towards the genuine implementation of the city's development initiatives.

Local resident David Winget said that he has been residing in Dehradun for 10 years following his retirement from work. He has observed that the city's development has so far been superficial rather than being substantive. Residents like himself expect the candidates for the mayoral position to prioritise concerns such as traffic congestion, afforestation, the introduction of pink and smart toilets and other factors vital to the city's growth. Further, he emphasised that these initiatives should extend beyond Dehradun- the candidates across all districts should adopt similar strategies for the development of their respective areas.

"I have recognised that the development of the city has primarily been confined to improvements in roads, sanitation, construction and other related issues over many years. However, no authority has addressed the challenges that affect local residents, such as deforestation, which has impacted the health of many citizens and traffic congestion, which causes major inconvenience. Considering this, I would appreciate it if those contesting in the ULB elections could concentrate more on afforestation, traffic congestion solutions, and other pertinent matters. The mayoral candidates should prioritise this type of development throughout the city," local resident Bindu Kalra said.

Similarly, retired government school teacher Lalita Pandey expressed her belief that it is high time for this year's ULB elections to focus on resolving the issues affecting the city's residents. She said that the local residents like her want the elected candidates to prioritise the establishment of public toilets and essential issues across the city as much as possible.

DM warns adult progeny to care for elderly parents or face action

LT recruitment process makes guest teachers anxious

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

The decision of the School Education department to start the process of appointment of newly selected Licentiate Teachers (LT) in the schools of the State has made thousands of guest teachers anxious. The Uttarakhand Subordinate Services Selection Commission (UKSSSC) had released the merit list of the LT examination on January 10. After the release of the result, the UKSSSC has started the process of verification of the documents of the selected candidates. The Education department will start the process of appointment of the selected candidates after the list is submitted to it by the UKSSSC.

1,554 guest teachers to accommodate the newly selected teachers. Sensing threat to their jobs the guest teachers have become alert and are demanding that the selected permanent teachers should be appointed on such vacant seats where the guest teachers are not working.

They point out that they are working with dedication on a meagre salary and the students taught by them are giving good results in the board examinations. It is pertinent to mention here that the Education department appointed guest teachers in 2016 on vacant posts of LTs in government schools of the State.

The former president of the guest teachers association Kailash Koranga said that the State government should formulate a proper policy for the guest teachers.

As per the regulations, the department treats the vacancy where the guest teachers are deployed as vacant. This means that the department can terminate the services of their sons. Considering this, he ordered the sons that either they respect and care for their parents or face legal action as per the law. He also instructed the police to take immediate action in such cases through the Senior Citizen Cell to ensure justice. The DM received 60 complaints in the public hearing, predominantly concerning land disputes, interpersonal conflicts, health, municipal issues, education and welfare services.

Jammu and Kashmir incomplete without PoK: Rajnath Singh

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

Sending out a stern warning to the neighbouring Pakistan Defence Minister Rajnath Singh Tuesday said Jammu and Kashmir is incomplete without Pakistan Occupied Kashmir (PoK). He also hit out at the Prime Minister of Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK), Chaudhry Anwarul Haq, over his remarks on India.

Noting that Pakistan has not stopped destabilising India and has been promoting illegal infiltration and terrorism since 1965 Singh also cautioned Pakistan to dismantle all the existing 'terrorist training camps operating from PoK. Addressing a gathering of veteran soldiers on the occasion of the 9th Armed Forces Veterans' Day programme at Tanda Artillery Brigade, Akhnoor, the Defence Minister described PoK as the crown jewel of India, which is nothing more than a foreign territory to Pakistan. He said, "J&K is incomplete without PoK. The people living there are being deprived of a dignified life. Efforts are being made by Pakistan to mislead and provoke them against India in the name of religion. PoK's land is being used for terrorism. Training camps for terrorists are running and launch pads have been built in the areas adjacent to the border. The Indian government is well aware of the situation. Pakistan will have to put an end to its nefarious designs."

Referring to the glorious history of the Indian army, Rajnath Singh said, "2025 is the diamond jubilee year of the 1965 Indo-Pak war, and India's victory was the result of the valour & sacrifice of the Armed Forces. "Pakistan has lost every war it fought with India, whether it was the attack in 1948, the war of 1965, the war of 1971 or the Kargil war of 1999. Pakistan has been promoting illegal infiltration and terrorism since 1965 and has tried to influence the local population in J&K.

"Our Muslim brothers have sacrificed their lives fighting against terrorism. Even today, more than 80% of the terrorists entering India are from Pakistan. Cross-border terrorism would have ended in 1965 itself, but the then central government was unable to convert the tactical advantage gained in the war into a strategic advantage," he said. The situation on the ground has significantly improved since the abrogation of Article 370," he added.

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh also reiterated the government's top priority is bridging the gap between Kashmir and the rest of India. "Kashmir was treated differently (by previous governments) in the past as a result our brothers and sisters in the region could not get connected with Delhi as it should have been. I do not want to go into the past as our government's biggest achievement is that we have been working to bridge 'dil ki duri' (distance between hearts) between Kashmir and the rest of the country.

"I congratulate Chief Minister Omar Abdullah for taking the right steps to help overcome the little bit of gap (which is still there)," the defence minister said.

The event was also attended by Chief Minister Omar Abdullah, Lieutenant Governor Manoj Sinha, Chief of Defence Staff General Anil Chauhan; General Officer Commanding-in-Chief, Northern Command Lieutenant General MV Suchindra Kumar and other civil and military officers. During his visit to Akhnoor, Rajnath Singh inaugurated a heritage museum and also hoisted a 108-foot national flag. The museum showcases weapons used in various wars in J-K and sculptures of war heroes. Certain mobility equipment in terms of Motorised Wheelchairs, Tri Scooters, Scooters and Auto Rickshaws were handed over to the ex-servicemen on the occasion. More than 40 stalls/help desks of various Records Offices, Defence & Government Welfare Organisations, Banks & Employment Agencies were established at the venue for in-situ grievance redressal and awareness.

The Defence Minister also interacted with the ex-servicemen and expressed gratitude to the Armed Forces personnel, both retired & serving, for their selfless service towards protecting the borders with unmatched bravery, dedication, sacrifice and patriotism.

'One nation, one election' to be milestone towards achieving 'Viksit Bharat', says Chouhan

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

One nation, one election will be a milestone towards achieving the goal of 'Viksit Bharat' or developed India, Union Agriculture and Rural Development Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan said on Tuesday, as he gave a call to people to come out in support of the proposal.

Speaking at an event organised by 'Panchjanya', a magazine associated with the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), Chouhan said the whole government machinery halts at the time of elections, and frequent polls have become a major disruptor for governments to take decisions in public interest.

Asked about the proposal to hold simultaneous polls that is under the scrutiny of a joint parliamentary panel, Chouhan said, "The makers of our Constitution made a provision for elections every five years, but they never thought that Article 356 will be misused so many times. Elections were held together till 1968 because till 1966, Congress had governments everywhere. When other parties started coming to power, they were toppled."

"At present, there is some election or the other all the time. Now Delhi is going to polls, then it will be Bihar. Political parties are only preparing for elections 365 days, they are not able to work in public interest. "The agriculture minister has to leave his work and focus on elections of a state... How much time does that waste," said Chouhan, who was BJP's election in-charge for Jharkhand during the Assembly polls held last year.

"Should nothing happen in the country apart from elections? These continuous elections are the biggest barriers in India's development. Looking at the situation today, this (simultaneous polls) is an appropriate step," he added.

Asked about the opposition to the proposal on holding simultaneous polls to Lok Sabha, state assemblies, municipalities and panchayats from a number of parties, Singh said they should all agree as the move is in national interest.

"Any patriot who thinks in national interest would realise that continuous elections have become a disaster for the nation. If elections happen once in five years, people would also be excited," the senior BJP leader said.

"This is the demand of the people. People should take oath supporting simultaneous elections, organisations should pass till 1966, Congress had governments everywhere. When other parties started coming to power, they were toppled."

He also said that voters are mature and they even vote for different parties in assembly and Lok Sabha polls even if they are held together, citing Odisha as an example. Referring to Delhi, where assembly polls will be held on February 5, Chouhan expressed confidence that the BJP would win this time.

Statistical tools and quantitative techniques play significant role in effective governance: President

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

President Droupadi Murmu on Tuesday said statistical tools and quantitative techniques play a significant role in effective governance by providing empirical foundation for policy decisions.

The governments rely on national statistical systems to collect data on health, education, population size and employment among others, which form the basis for policy-making, she said addressing the probationers of the Indian Statistical Service (ISS), who had called on the president at the Rashtrapati Bhavan here.

President Murmu said statistics were used even in ancient civilisations, when the rulers used basic census data for taxation purposes.

"Statistical analysis is a tool to bring in transparency and accountability in governance. Statistics is not only the backbone of efficient governance but also a tool for socio-economic development," the president said.

She said it is their duty to collect accurate data, which can be the foundation for sound and objective decisions. "Government needs data to formulate, implement and monitor policies as well as for policy review and impact assessment. The citizens need data for impartial understanding and assessment of government schemes and programmes. Your job requires high proficiency in statistical methods, which you would use to provide solutions to data and information needs of the country," the President said.

She urged them to be sensitive towards the needs of common people, especially the poor and underprivileged, while collecting data.

"Every bit of data that you collect will be processed, analysed and ultimately used for addressing the needs of the people and helping them achieve their dreams. The development of various sections of the society will lead to greater prosperity of the country," President Murmu said.

For example, authentic data in the fields of health and education will serve as the basis for monitoring literacy rates, school enrolment ratios, health infrastructure and prevalence of diseases, she said.

President Murmu said the ISS officers are responsible for preparing national accounts, Consumer Price Index, Index of Industrial Production and other such important indices for measuring various aspects of the health of the economy. "You will also develop and analyse various social statistics on population, human development, employment and social justice, multi-domain statistics on poverty and persons with disabilities, and indicators related to Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)," she said.

These authentic data act as key instruments for measuring economic development and making effective policies, the president said.

"Statistics are like diagnostic tools for policy makers. The accuracy of diagnostic data is critical for effective intervention," she said.

The President also emphasised on the urgent need to learn and utilise latest and advanced technologies. "The growing use of generative AI, augmented reality, predictive analysis and machine learning worldwide has made it imperative for you all to make use of these new technologies effectively. Research is another important area that needs to be focused upon by the Indian Statistical Service officers," she said.

The research conducted by you all will be crucial for developing policies that can respond to the dynamic needs of the country. Through rigorous statistical modeling and forecasting techniques, you can contribute to long-term planning in sectors like agriculture, industry and services, President Murmu added.

By studying patterns in employment, productivity or income inequality, you can help policymakers generate targeted solutions, the president said.

"As India moves towards achieving inclusive and sustainable development, statistical research will play a greater role in monitoring environmental impacts and climate change," she added.

President Murmu said the research conducted by the ISS officers to track indicators related to energy consumption and carbon emissions can enable India to create data-driven strategies for sustainable development and environmental conservation. "These strategies will further help India in meeting the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals," the president said.

Murmu said during India's journey to become a global economic powerhouse, the officers will play an important role in driving informed decision-making, promoting transparency and fostering sustainable growth across all sectors of the economy.

PM Modi to dedicate two frontline naval warships and submarine to the nation today

T N RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

In a landmark event in the country's history, Prime Minister Narendra Modi will commission two frontline warships Nilgiri and Surat and submarine Vaghsheer into the Indian Navy on Wednesday, adding significantly to the blue water capabilities of the Indian Navy.

This is for the first time that three combatants --- INS Surat, INS Nilgiri and INS Vaghsheer --- will be commissioned into the Indian Navy simultaneously, at a function to be held at the Naval Dockyard in Mumbai. All three combatants have been designed and constructed entirely at Mazagon Dock Shipbuilders Limited (MDL) in Mumbai.

"This historic event will provide a significant boost to the Indian Navy's combat potential while underscoring the country's pre-eminent status in indigenous shipbuilding. The successful commissioning of these advanced warships and submarines highlights the rapid progress made in warship design and construction, cementing India's position as a global leader in defense manufacturing," a defence spokesperson said.

Nilgiri, the lead ship of Project 17A, is a major advancement over the Shivalik-class frigates, incorporating significant stealth features and reduced radar signatures through state-of-the-art technology, while the Project 15B destroyer, Surat is the culmination of the follow-on class to the Kolkata-class (Project 15A) destroyers, featuring substantial improvements in design and capabilities.

Both ships were designed by the Indian Navy's Warship

Design Bureau and are equipped with advanced sensors and weapon packages developed primarily in India or through strategic collaborations with leading global manufacturers.

Equipped with modern aviation facilities, Nilgiri and Surat can operate a range of helicopters, including Chetak, ALH, Sea King, and the newly inducted MH-60R, during both day and night operations.

Both the warships have features like a Rail-Less Helicopter Traversing System and a Visual Aid and Landing System ensure seamless operations under all conditions. These ships also include specific accommodations to support a sizeable complement of women officers and sailors, aligning with the Navy's progressive steps toward gender inclusion in frontline combat roles.

Our veterans are heroes and enduring symbols of patriotism, says PM Modi

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

On Armed Forces Veterans' Day, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday hailed the brave women and men who dedicated their lives to safeguarding the nation and said our veterans are heroes and enduring symbols of patriotism.

"On Armed Forces Veterans Day, we express gratitude to the brave women and men who dedicated their lives to safeguarding our nation. Their sacrifices, courage and unwavering commitment to duty are exemplary," Modi said in a social media post.

"Our Veterans are heroes and enduring symbols of patriotism. Ours is a Government that has always worked for the welfare of veterans and we will keep doing so in the times to come," he said.

Armed Forces Veterans' Day is celebrated on January 14 every year to recognise the service rendered by the First Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces Field Marshal KM Cariappa, who retired on this day in 1953.

The day was first celebrated in 2016 and it is commemorated every year since by hosting interactive events in the honour of the ex-servicemen.

24 Akbar Road: Wrapping within its walls, history of Congress and much more

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

If walls could talk, 24 Akbar Road would write itself a book - of the days of the Raj, of the Burma of the 1960s and mostly of the dramatic ups and downs of the Congress that headquartered itself in its spacious premises 47 years ago.

Always more than an address, the Lutyens era bungalow that witnessed many a story and secret cedes its place as a political nerve centre on Wednesday when the opposition party moves to its new office, the Indira Gandhi Bhawan, at Kotla Road a few kilometres away.

The Akbar Road bungalow once housed Sir Reginald Maxwell who was a member of Viceroy Lord Linlithgow's executive council. It was also home to a teen Aung San Suu Kyi in 1961 when her mother was appointed ambassador to India. The Congress has been its mainstay though. More than just an office for the party, the premises set in expansive lawns was witness to the tenure of seven Congress presidents. It is the constant in the Congress' history - and through it the country's -- as the party navigated the twists and turns of India's politics through the decades.

Party old-timers and romantics agree that modern amenities and a larger area are the need of the hour but the emotional connect and unfolding of history associated with the 24 Akbar Road address will always stay strong.

On a chilly January morning in 1978, a team of 20 workers from the Indira Gandhi-headed breakaway Congress entered its precincts, the first Congress members to do so.

It is another cold January. And then, as now, the Congress is again in the opposition, facing mounting electoral challenges as it did post-Emergency under Indira Gandhi and striving to stage a comeback.

A Type VII bungalow in the heart of Lutyens' Delhi, 24 Akbar Road was then allotted to G Venkatswamy, a Rajya Sabha MP from Andhra Pradesh who chose to side with Indira Gandhi at a time when most Congress leaders had distanced themselves from her for fear of retaliation from the then ruling Janata Party. The story of how and in what circumstances the party moved and the address' previous brush with history is well documented in political commentator Rasheed Kidwai's book "24 Akbar Road".

Suu Kyi, who went on to become a Nobel laureate for peace and leader of the movement for human rights and democracy in Myanmar, was "barely fifteen, her hair in thick long plaits, when she first arrived at 24 Akbar Road with her mother, Daw Khin Kyi, Aung San's widow, who was appointed Myanmar's ambassador to India", Kidwai writes.

"Back then, 24 Akbar Road was called Burma House - so named by Jawaharlal Nehru in recognition of Daw Khin Kyi's special status," he says.

The house, built by Sir Edwin Lutyens between 1911 and 1925, is regarded as a singularly fine example of a blend of British colonial architecture and the new modernist style. As the Congress embraces the new, many would look back at its time at 24 Akbar Road as a mixed bag electorally but acknowledge it had been a witness to shaping India's history for decades.

The period after the Emergency was a testing time for Indira Gandhi. Family loyalist Mohammad Yunus offered his residence, 12 Willingdon Crescent, to the Gandhi family as their private residence. It thus became home to Indira, Rajiv, his wife Sonia, their children, Rahul and Priyanka, Sanjay, Maneka, and five dogs - all moving in.

Since 12 Willingdon Crescent was filled to capacity, 24 Akbar Road was chosen as the new official Congress headquarters.

"Facing the residence of the Chief of the Indian Air Force and the Intelligence Bureau's political surveillance unit, it comprised five barely-furnished bedrooms, a living and dining hall, and a guest room. The outhouses were in a state of complete neglect and the garden was a mess of unruly hedges and a riot of weeds," Rasheed says in his book.

As the Congress finally moved to 24 Akbar Road, under Indira Gandhi's leadership, the office quickly became synonymous with the grand old party and the theatre to many historic decisions and drama.

Who can forget the Congress comeback in 1980 when Indira Gandhi stormed back to power, the dramatic developments that saw the ouster of Sitaram Kesri and Sonia Gandhi taking over as party chief, the back-to-back Lok Sabha wins in 2004 and 2009 and the crushing defeats in 2014 and 2019.

Just a few months ago, a picture of party chief Mallikarjun Kharge, former party chiefs Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi, and Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, flashing smiles and victory signs at the party headquarters after the Lok Sabha results went viral. One more of the historic images taken at the address etched in public memory.

The advantage of the house was that it had a wicket gate linking it to 10 Janpath, which was then the office of the Indian Youth Congress and subsequently allotted to Rajiv and then Sonia Gandhi.

Over the years, 10 Janpath and 24 Akbar Road forged an unbreakable link. The two premises next to each other served as the powerhouse of the grand old party and played hosts to many key meetings. Before Independence, Motilal Nehru's Anand Bhavan in then Allahabad was the Congress party headquarters. After 1947, the party moved to the party's headquarters in New Delhi.

India's Congress lost control over 7 Jantar Mantar in 1969 when the Congress suffered its first split. Indira Gandhi set up a temporary party office at Windsor Place at the residence of Congress party loyalist M V Krishnappa. In 1971, the Congress office moved to 5 Rajendra Prasad Road and from there to 24 Akbar Road in 1978.

And now to another new address. Indira Gandhi Bhawan will be inaugurated by Chairperson of the Congress Parliamentary Party Sonia Gandhi in the presence of party president Mallikarjun Kharge and Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi.

The new state-of-the-art AICC headquarters symbolises the Congress party's continuing mission to uphold the vision of its stalwarts, the party has said. As the Congress moves to the Indira Bhawan, the electoral challenges are daunting, especially on the back of assembly polls defeats in Haryana and Maharashtra.

However, the Congress would be hoping that just like last time when it switched headquarters, lady luck would shine on it and its fortunes would turn for the better.

MAHAKUMBH 2025: SPECIAL COVERAGE

Devotees flock to Sangam for Makar Sankranti

BISWAJEET BANERJEE ■ MAHAKUMBH NAGAR

As the first rays of dawn broke over Prayagraj, millions of pilgrims gathered at the Sangam—the sacred confluence of the Ganga, Yamuna, and the mythical Saraswati—to take a holy dip on Makar Sankranti, inaugurating the Amrit Snan. With chants of “Har Har Gange” echoing through the air, the event became a grand celebration of faith, spirituality, and cultural heritage. The sacred ritual commenced at 5:15 a.m. as saints and sadhus from the 13 akharas arrived in a meticulously organized procession. Akhara after akhara marched toward the river, performed their ceremonial dip, and retreated to their camps with military-like precision. By evening, the entire sequence had unfolded seamlessly, leaving devotees in awe of the orderliness amid the vibrant chaos. Swami Kailashanand Giri, Acharya Mahamandaleswar of Shri Panchayati Niranjani Akhara, described the day’s significance: “The Rajasi Shahi Snan is a rare privilege, even for the gods. Today marks the sun’s transition to Uttarayan, a deeply auspicious occasion that saints across the country eagerly await. Around 3 crore people are expected to participate in this holy dip.” Naga sadhus, the ascetic warriors, captivated the crowd with an electrifying display of martial arts. Armed with swords, tridents, and spears, they performed awe-inspiring feats, showcasing their agility and skill. Spectators watched with bated breath as the sadhus engaged in mock combat, their movements embodying a blend of discipline and spirituality. “Watching the Naga sadhus is like witnessing history come alive,” said Rajiv Sharma, a pilgrim from Kanpur. “Their dedication is truly inspiring.” Each akhara brought its unique flavor to the ritual. Shri Panchayati Akhara Mahanirvani led the proceedings, with marigold-adorned sadhus chanting hymns as they entered the icy waters. Devotees thronged the ghats, cheering and showering flower petals on the processions. Some akharas arrived on horses, while others came in ornately decorated silver palanquins, adding to the grandeur of the event. “This is not just a dip; it is a divine moment that connects us to the eternal,” said Swami Kailashanand Giri, Acharya Mahamandaleswar of Shri Panchayati Niranjani Akhara. “Makar Sankranti marks the sun’s transition into Uttarayan, a time of immense spiritual significance. To be here today is a blessing beyond words.” The spectacle extended beyond the riverbanks. The sprawling festival grounds, dotted with over a million tents, buzzed with activity. Families performed rituals, lit diyas, and offered flowers, while the air resonated with the sound of conch shells and temple bells. Young pilgrims captured the scenes on their phones, eager to share the experience with the world. “This is our culture in its full glory,” said 24-year-old Riya Verma from Lucknow. Young pilgrims like Aniket Mishra captured the scenes on their smartphones, eager to share the grandeur with the world. “This is our culture in its full glory,” said 24-year-old Riya Verma from Lucknow. Young pilgrims like Aniket Mishra captured the scenes on their smartphones, eager to share the grandeur with the world. “This is our culture in its full glory,” he said, smiling as he adjusted his selfie stick. Safety and logistics were paramount for the event, which saw over three crore participants. More than 50,000 police personnel managed the crowds, supported by mounted squads. Makeshift toilets numbering 1.5 lakh ensured sanitation, while 15,000 sweepers maintained cleanliness. Ravindra Puri, President of the Akhara Parishad, praised the arrangements, saying, “The time slots allocated to each akhara have ensured smooth execution. It’s heartening to see such meticulous planning for an event of this scale.”

Young devotees leave engineering and modelling to embrace ancient Sanatan

BISWAJEET BANERJEE ■ MAHAKUMBH NAGAR

The ancient Sanatan culture is witnessing a growing attraction among today’s youth, especially those from professional backgrounds. Anchors, models, and engineers, both from India and abroad, are increasingly embracing the Sanatan faith and spirituality. The Mahakumbh has become a platform where such transformations are evident. Several inspiring stories have emerged during the Mahakumbh. Among them, a young woman from Uttarakhand, Harsha, left the world of glamour to embrace spirituality and took initiation from Swami Kailashananda Giri. Similarly, Abhay Singh, known as “Engineer Baba,” a former Aerospace Engineering student from IIT Bombay, is introducing devotees to the profound depths of spirituality using scientific principles.

Harsha, a resident of Uttarakhand, was once a part of the national and international glamour industry. Seeking deeper fulfillment, she took spiritual initiation into Sanatan Dharma during the Maha Kumbh. Sharing her experience, she said, “A life full of show and superficial glamour left me feeling empty. I realized that true happiness and peace lie in the teachings of Sanatan Dharma. After taking initiation from Swami Kailashanand Giri, I have discovered a new purpose in life.” Abhay Singh, famously known as “Engineer Baba,” hails from Haryana and is a former Aerospace Engineering student from IIT Bombay. He has captivated the devotees at Mahakumbh with his unique approach, blending scientific knowledge with spiritual wisdom. Using diagrams and visual presentations, he simplifies complex spiritual concepts, making them relatable to modern minds. “Science helps explain the physical world, but its deeper study inevitably leads one towards spirituality. A true understanding of life ultimately brings one closer to spirituality,” he shared while engaging with devotees. The ongoing Mahakumbh has not only brought millions together but has also become a space where spiritual transformation is visibly unfolding. Personalities like Engineer Baba and Harsha stand as examples of how individuals, once immersed in modern professions, are seeking the peace and stability offered by Sanatan Dharma. Their journey reflects a growing realization that material success alone cannot provide lasting fulfillment. Mahakumbh not only showcases the greatness of Sanatan Dharma but also highlights the need for spirituality in the lives of professionals and youth.

Four siblings take leap of faith at Maha Kumbh, leaving home to sell tea and snacks

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ MAHAKUMBH NAGAR

A video of Maha Kumbh showing a Rs 10,000 loan from a kind friend, and the grandeur of the largest human gathering on Earth have lured four siblings from Gorakhpur to Prayagraj. While this could be anybody’s story, what sets the four siblings apart is that they left home without informing their parents, bought a pushcart, and set up a tea and snacks stall near Kali Road in Prayagraj, quietly slipping into the sea of humanity that has descended on this holy city for the Maha Kumbh. Requesting anonymity, the 22-year-old elder sister told PTI, “Our father is a policeman, while our mother is a homemaker. My father bears all the expenses for our education and running the household. It is painful to see him struggle so much.” “One day, we came across a video of the Kumbh showing people earning good profits. My younger sister then suggested that we should also set up a stall at the Kumbh. Our father was against the idea. So we ran away from home when he was out for duty, bought a pushcart, and set up a stall near Kali Road.” The runaway brigade comprises her 20-year-old younger sister, and two brothers aged 15 and 17. “My sister borrowed Rs 10,000 from a friend, and I pawned my earrings for Rs 5,000. With this amount, we started this stall,” she said.

Rose petal shower adds to spiritual fervour at Maha Kumbh’s amrit snan

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ MAHAKUMBH NAGAR

Rose petals were showered on devotees during their ‘Amrit Snan’ at the Maha Kumbh on Makar Sankranti, draping the ghats and akharas at the Sangam bank with flowers. As the rose petals rained down on the devotees, they responded with chants of Jai Shri Ram and Har Har Mahadev.

The Uttar Pradesh government said in a statement, “The Horticulture Department, following the directives of the Yogi Adityanath government, had been meticulously preparing for the flower showers at the Maha Kumbh Mela for weeks. Special arrangements were made to procure and store rose petals to ensure an uninterrupted shower during the bathing festivals.” “Preparations have been made for flower showers on all major ‘snan parv’ (bathing rituals) of Maha Kumbh, with plans to use around 20 quintals of rose petals for each occasion,” it added. Rose petals were showered on the devotees on Monday, too, during the first bathing festival ‘Paush Purnima Snan.’ The Horticulture Department ensured sufficient stock for the first two days, arranging over 40 quintals of rose petals, the statement said. The Maha Kumbh, being held after 12 years, started on the banks of Triveni Sangam in Prayagraj on Monday and will continue till February 26. Around 1.75 crore devotees took a dip at the Sangam on Monday and another 1.38 crore till Tuesday afternoon, according to official estimates.

Sangam nose becomes focal point for holy dip during Mahakumbh

BISWAJEET BANERJEE ■ MAHAKUMBH NAGAR

On the auspicious occasion of Makar Sankranti, millions of devotees gathered for the first Amrit Snan of Mahakumbh 2025 at the sacred Triveni Sangam, with the Sangam Nose emerging as the most favored spot for the holy dip. Saints and spiritual leaders from various Akharas also performed their ritual baths at this iconic location, enhancing its spiritual significance. The seamless arrangement at the Sangam Nose was made possible by the relentless efforts of the Irrigation Department’s Mechanical Barrage Maintenance Section in Varanasi. Over an 85-day period, a dedicated team worked around the clock in three shifts to expand the Sangam area by 26 hectares, with 2 hectares added exclusively to the Sangam Nose. This expansion allowed for a harmonious coexistence of saints and devotees during the sacred event. On January 13, during the first bathing festival of Poush Purnima, and on January 14, during the Amrit Snan, over 3 crore devotees took the holy dip. The Sangam Nose witnessed the highest footfall, with over 3 lakh people bathing every hour at peak time. Crowds began assembling at the spot late at night, eager to experience the spiritual aura of this sacred confluence. The expansion project was meticulously planned and executed by Chief Engineer (Arrangement and Material Management) Upendra Singh, along with Executive Engineer Sujeet Kumar Singh and his team, which included Surya Bhushan, Pradeep, Anurag, and others. Using four advanced American dredger machines, they placed sandbags along a 1,650-meter stretch to create temporary ghats. This increased the bathing capacity at the Sangam Nose to over 2 lakh devotees per hour, a threefold rise compared to 2019 when the capacity was 50,000 per hour. The project, which stretched from Shastri Bridge to the Sangam Nose, was completed in record time, showcasing the exceptional coordination and dedication of the team. The improved arrangements ensured a smoother and more inclusive experience for all pilgrims, reinforcing Mahakumbh’s reputation as a celebration of spiritual unity. This year’s Mahakumbh has set a new benchmark for planning and execution, with the Sangam Nose standing out as a testament to the unparalleled efforts of the organizers.

FIRST COLUMN DEALING WITH DOOMSCROLLING

Doomscrolling is a modern phenomenon that reflects the darker side of digital connectivity

SHAINY SHARMA

In the age of constant connectivity dominated by smartphones and 24/7 access to information, the way people consume information has evolved significantly. While this has brought numerous benefits, such as instant communication and access to a wealth of knowledge, it has also given rise to concerning behaviours like doomscrolling. The term refers to the compulsive habit of endlessly consuming negative news, particularly through digital platforms. It is an act of excessively scrolling through negative news and information, often leading to feelings of anxiety, despair, and helplessness. This phenomenon has become increasingly prevalent in recent years, particularly during global crises, and its impact on mental health, productivity, and societal wellbeing cannot be ignored. While staying informed is an essential aspect of responsible citizenship, the practice of doomscrolling often tips into an unhealthy preoccupation with distressing content, leading to detrimental effects on mental health, productivity, and overall wellbeing.

Doomscrolling stems from the human brain's natural tendency to focus on threats and negative stimuli. This evolutionary trait better known as negativity bias, was historically essential for survival. However, in the digital era, it has been amplified by the design of social media platforms and news algorithms, which prioritise sensational and emotionally charged content to maximise engagement. As users scroll through their feeds, they encounter an endless stream of distressing headlines, graphic images, and polarising opinions, creating a feedback loop that keeps them hooked. One of the key ways doomscrolling affects mental health is through its impact on dopamine, a neurotransmitter associated with pleasure and reward. While engaging with digital content, even negative content provides brief surges of dopamine, the subsequent emotional toll can lead to a crash, leaving individuals feeling drained and unsatisfied. This cycle of seeking quick dopamine hits through scrolling reinforces the habit, making it increasingly difficult to stop. Beyond mental health, it also affects productivity and overall quality of life.

The habit can lead to procrastination, as individuals become overwhelmed by the weight of the issues they are reading about, making it harder to focus on the tasks at hand. Over time, this can erode personal and professional relationships, as well as hinder personal growth. On a broader scale, the prevalence of doomscrolling has implications for societal well-being too. The constant exposure to divisive and fear-inducing content can deepen political and social polarisation, as people become entrenched in echo chambers that reinforce their existing beliefs. This fragmentation undermines collective action and civic discourse, making it harder for societies to address complex challenges effectively. Addressing doomscrolling requires a multifaceted approach. On an individual level, practising digital mindfulness is crucial. This includes setting boundaries for screen time, curating one's news feed to prioritise reputable sources, and engaging in activities that promote mental wellbeing, such as exercise, meditation, or spending time in nature. Developing a habit of seeking solutions-oriented news content that highlights positive progress and actionable steps can also help mitigate feelings of helplessness. By designing algorithms that prioritize balanced and constructive content rather than sensationalism, these platforms can create a healthier digital environment. Educational initiatives that teach media literacy and emotional resilience can further empower users to navigate the digital landscape responsibly. While it taps into deep-seated psychological tendencies, its effects on mental health, productivity, and society are far-reaching. By fostering awareness and implementing strategies to counteract its impact, individuals and institutions can work together to cultivate a healthier relationship with technology and information. In doing so, they can ensure that the digital age enhances rather than diminishes human well-being.

Relief from high power bills: Delhiites are chasing a mirage

UTTAM GUPTA

A significant reduction in the Power Purchase Adjustment Cost levied by Delhi power companies have raised eyebrows due to their timing and magnitude

On December 26, 2024, the Delhi Electricity Regulatory Commission (DERC) announced a reduction in the Power Purchase Adjustment Cost (PPAC) imposed by the three power distribution companies (discoms) in Delhi: BSES Rajdhani Power Limited (BRPL), BSES Yamuna Power Limited (BYPL), and Tata Power Delhi Distribution Limited (TPDDL). The reductions, ranging from 50 per cent to 60 per cent, require scrutiny. What is PPAC?

To understand this and its implication for the electricity bills of Delhiites, let us capture some basics. The discoms are expected to sell electricity to the consumers at tariffs - duly approved by the DERC - that are set such that the revenue generated from sale at these tariffs fully covers the power purchase cost plus the cost of wheeling and distribution. The requirement is mandatory under the Electricity Act, of 2003. But, this is rarely complied with. Under a highly complex regime, the tariff charged from households (HHs) consuming up to 200 units a month is Rs 3 per unit which is just about half of the average cost leading to an under-recovery of Rs 3 per unit. Including levies adding to 44.6 per cent, the shortfall comes to Rs 4.3 per unit. For HHs consuming between 201 and 400 units, the tariff is Rs 4.5 per unit implying an under-recovery of Rs 1.5 per unit. Including the levies, this comes to Rs 2.2 per unit. These under-recoveries are cross-subsidised by charging more from industries and businesses for which the tariff can go up to a high of Rs 18 per unit.

The irony is that despite charging exorbitant rates from industries and businesses, a good slice of under-recoveries from HHs consuming less than 400 units a month remains uncovered. Additionally, the Delhi government doesn't want the latter to even pay the small tariff of Rs 3 per unit (courtesy, of Kejriwal's freebies). Discoms are told not to raise any bill on HHs consuming up to 200 units even as HHs consuming up to 400 units get a rebate of 50 per cent of the bill amount subject to a cap of Rs 800 per month. Though the government promises to reimburse them for these subsidies from the state budget, this promise is held more in breach.

This increases discoms' losses which are compounded by large-scale power theft. The discoms have no control over the tariff chargeable from majority of consumers (read: those having consumption less than 400 units a month). They are also helpless when it comes to reining in theft as power thieves have the blessings of their political bosses. Discoms have flexibility only about fixing tariffs on supplies to industries and businesses besides HHs consuming more than 400 units. But, there is a limit to which they can charge more from these consumers. The result is: the total revenue generated from the sale of electricity can never reach a level that will fully cover the cost of the power purchase cost and the cost of wheeling and distribution.

The problem is germane to most of the discoms where the States take recourse to indiscriminate power freebies and permit large-scale theft (Delhi is on top of the list). To lend them a helping hand, the Ministry of Power (MoP) issued an order on November 9, 2021, that allowed discoms to impose a surcharge known as PPAC. Levied as a percentage of the 'total energy cost and fixed charge component' of the electricity bill, PPAC is meant to compensate them for variations in the fuel and power procurement cost. The discoms are allowed to revise this surcharge every quarter. In the case of BYPL, the ongoing PPAC applicable till December 20, 2024, was 32.27 per cent. On this, based on changes in the cost of power purchase during the second quarter ending September 30, 2024, of the current FY, the DERC allowed the discom to recover an additional 5.85 per cent for the three months from December 21, 2024, to March 20, 2025.

As a result, the existing PPAC (before the announcement on December 26, 2024) for BYPL was 38.12 per cent. Making a similar calculation, the regulator fixed PPAC for BRPL at 35.83 per cent and for TPDDL at 36.33 per cent. Following the DERC's 'unexpected' announcement on December 26, 2024, the PPAC will reduce to 13.62 per cent for BYPL - a reduction of around 65 per cent; 18.19 per cent for BRPL - a reduction of more than 50 per cent, and 20.52 per cent for TPDDL - a cut of 45 per cent. It defies logic.

Having hiked PPAC to 38.12 per cent including 5.85 per cent sanctioned in December 2024 - based on data for the quarter ending September 30, 2024, what is this new/extraordinary development that prompted the regulator to bring the surcharge down by almost 2/3rd? It is absurd to believe that power purchase costs would have decreased by that much. In any case, revisions in tariff/PPAC are made based on available data with a time lag and that is Qr ending September 30, 2024, which was already captured in the extant figure of 38.12 per cent.

This gives credence to the possibility that the steep reduction in PPAC has been made with an eye on the impending elections in Delhi; and that the decision could be reversed 'surreptitiously' after the elections are over. There is another compelling reason to believe that this relief (albeit substantial) will be temporary and deceptive. This has to do with the existence of the so-called regulatory assets (RAs) in the balance sheets of discoms currently at a mammoth Rs 27,200 crore. RAs are created when the DERC accept that the tariffs don't cover discom purchase costs but don't raise rates.

The shortfall in revenue at unrevised tariff and the cost is booked by discom as receivable and classified as RA. The Electricity Act (2003) and the National Power Tariff Policy (NPTT) strictly prohibit RAs. These documents emphatically say "tariffs must reflect costs and regulatory assets should not be created". In December 2022, the MoP even warned against creating a pile of RAs. Yet, RAs have proliferated. These stand at a monumental level despite the discoms imposing PPAC currently at 38.12 per cent (BYPL) as also levying a surcharge of eight per cent - an ad hoc arrangement intended to Take care of the RAs, which are duly permitted by the regulator. With huge RAs piled up in their books, discoms are leaving no stone unturned in recovering the money say by getting sanction of a steep hike in tariff to make up for the entire cumulative deficit in revenue.

Indeed, the matter had gone right up to the Supreme Court (SC) which in an order given in early 2023 had directed the DERC to let discoms recover their RAs. If the DERC were to act upon it, this could lead to a 100 per cent hike in tariff. So, it decided to contest that order. At present, the matter is in the court.

To conclude, the discoms perennially face huge under-recoveries due to subsidies given to the majority of consumers, power theft and their inefficiencies and irregularities leading to inflated costs.

This loss can't be covered even by making 'paying' consumers viz. industries, businesses, and HHs at the higher end pay more. Unless there is political will to tackle these fundamental maladies, Delhiites won't get any respite from high electricity bills.

The Cloud revolution: Real-time insights, sustainability and strategic transformation

In 2025, cloud computing is no longer just a utility—it is the driving force behind digital transformation and innovation

Today, data doesn't just reside in distant servers but operates at the edge, enabling real-time insights while safeguarding privacy. The future of cloud computing in 2025, a technology driven by innovation, scalability, and sustainability.

As we look ahead, the cloud is no longer just a utility but a strategic enabler of digital transformation. Emerging technologies like Kubernetes, Docker, hybrid-multi-cloud architectures, and edge computing are poised to redefine how businesses operate. Additionally, the focus on data security and sustainability will ensure the cloud ecosystem supports not only businesses but also global environmental goals. The right cloud service provider plays a pivotal role in this transformation. Choosing the right provider ensures businesses get access to the latest technologies, robust security, scalability, and cost efficiency. It also enables organisations to meet regulatory requirements and integrate seamlessly with existing systems, making cloud adoption a catalyst for innovation. Major trends expected to dominate cloud computing in 2025 AI-Powered Cloud Solutions: The integration of artificial intelligence (AI) into cloud computing is poised to revolutionise the industry by 2025. Enhanced automation will streamline complex tasks like resource allocation and anomaly detection, freeing businesses to prioritise innovation over operations.

Predictive analytics powered by AI will help organisations anticipate market trends, optimise processes, and elevate customer experiences. Additionally, intelligent decision-making capabilities, driven by machine learning models, will enable cloud platforms to provide real-time recommendations, fostering smarter and more impactful business outcomes.

Edge Computing With the proliferation of IoT devices and real-time applications, edge computing is set to transform industries by 2025. Critical computations will occur closer to data sources, drastically reducing latency for time-sensitive applications like autonomous vehicles and remote surgeries.

Multi-Cloud Strategies: By 2025, organisations will increasingly shift to multi-cloud environments, breaking free from single-vendor dependencies to enhance resilience and flexibility. This approach enables businesses to distribute workloads across multiple cloud providers, optimising performance and cost efficiency. Advanced tools for streamline management will streamline governance, security, and orchestration, making it easier to harness the full potential of multi-cloud setups. Serverless Computing: Serverless architecture is set to become the go-to choice for developers, offering unmatched efficiency and convenience. With cost-effective pay-per-use models, businesses can avoid resource overprovisioning while developers concentrate on coding as cloud providers handle infrastructure.

Kubernetes and Docker: Containerisation technologies like Kubernetes and Docker are revolutionising cloud computing, setting the stage for 2025. Kubernetes ensures seamless scalability by orchestrating containerised applications across varied environments, while Docker enhances flexibility with consistent application performance across platforms. By automating deployment, scaling, and maintenance, these tools free developers to focus on innovation, enabling more reliable application delivery.

Hybrid-Multi-Cloud Architectures: Hybrid and multi-cloud strategies are poised to dominate as businesses aim to optimise their cloud environments. These approaches offer operational flexibility by enabling workloads across on-premises, private, and public clouds, ensuring businesses leverage the best of each. By reducing dependency on a single vendor, multi-cloud setups enhance resilience and continuity while allowing cost-efficient workload allocation without compromising performance.

Data Security in Cloud Computing: As cyber threats continue to escalate, securing cloud environments has become a top priority. Zero-trust architecture enforces stringent identity verification at every level, reducing the risk of unauthorised access. AI-driven threat detection leverages machine learning to identify and neutralise potential breaches in real time, while advanced encryption techniques safeguard data both in transit and at rest. Sustainability in the Cloud Energy-efficient data centers powered by renewables and AI-driven cooling systems are minimising carbon footprints. Circular hardware models emphasise recycling components, reducing waste, and promoting resource efficiency. The future of cloud computing is not just about technology but the strategic advantages it brings to businesses.

Hamas close to accepting Gaza ceasefire, hostages release

PTI ■ CAIRO
Hamas has accepted a draft agreement for a ceasefire in the Gaza Strip and the release of dozens of hostages, two officials involved in the talks said on Tuesday. Mediator Qatar said the negotiations were at the "closest point" yet to sealing a deal. The Associated Press obtained a copy of the proposed agreement, and an Egyptian official and a Hamas official confirmed its authenticity. An Israeli official said progress has been made, but the details are being finalized. The plan would need to be submitted to the Israeli Cabinet for final approval. All three officials spoke on condition of anonymity to discuss the closed-door talks. The United States, Egypt and Qatar have spent the past year trying to mediate an end to the 15-month war and secure the release of dozens of hostages captured in Hamas' October 7, 2023, attack that triggered it. Some 100 Israelis are still captive inside Gaza, and the military believes at least a third of them are dead. Officials have expressed mounting optimism that they can conclude an agreement ahead of the January 20 inauguration of US President-elect Donald Trump, whose Mideast envoy has joined the negotiations. Qatari Foreign Ministry spokesman Majed al-Ansari said at a weekly briefing Tuesday that the ongoing negotiations are positive and productive, while declining to get into the details of the sensitive talks. "Today, we are at the closest point ever to having a deal," he said. Hamas, meanwhile, said in a statement that the ongoing negotiations had reached their "final stage". The offensive has reduced large areas of the territory to rubble and displaced around 90 per cent of Gaza's population of 2.3 million, with hundreds of thousands packed into tent camps along the coast where hunger is widespread. Israeli strikes across Gaza overnight and into Tuesday killed at least 18 Palestinians, including two women and four children, while Yemen's Houthi rebels fired two missiles at Israel, setting off sirens and sending people racing into shelters. No one was wounded by the projectiles. A three-phase agreement — based on a framework laid out by US President Joe Biden and endorsed by the UN Security Council — would begin with the gradual release of 33 hostages over a six-week period, including women, children, older adults and wounded civilians in exchange for potentially hundreds of Palestinian women and children imprisoned by Israel. Among the 33 would be five female Israeli soldiers, each of whom would be released in exchange for 50 Palestinian prisoners, including 30 convicted militants who are serving life sentences. By the end of the first phase, all civilian captives — living or dead — will have been released. During this first, 42-day phase, Israeli forces would withdraw from population centers,

Palestinians would be allowed to start returning to their homes in northern Gaza and there would be a surge of humanitarian aid, with some 600 trucks entering each day. Details of the second phase still must be negotiated during the first. Those details remain difficult to resolve — and the deal does not include written guarantees that the ceasefire will continue until a deal is reached. That leaves the potential for Israel to resume its military campaign after the first phase ends. The three mediators, however, have given Hamas verbal guarantees that negotiations will continue as planned and that they will press for a deal to implement the second and third phases before the end of the first, the Egyptian official said. The deal would allow Israel throughout the first phase to remain in control of the Philadelphi Corridor, the band of territory along Gaza's border with Egypt, which Hamas had initially demanded Israel withdraw from. But Israel would pull out from the Netzarim Corridor, a belt across central Gaza where it had sought a mechanism for searching Palestinians for arms when they return to the territory's north. In the second phase, Hamas would release the remaining living captives, mainly male soldiers, in exchange for more prisoners and the "complete withdrawal" of Israeli forces from Gaza, according to the draft agreement. But Hamas has said it will not free the remaining hostages without an end to the war and a complete Israeli withdrawal, while Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has in the past vowed to resume fighting unless Hamas's military and governing capabilities are eliminated. Unless an alternative government for Gaza is worked out in those talks, it could leave Hamas in charge of the territory. In a third phase, the bodies of remaining hostages would be returned in exchange for a three- to five-year reconstruction plan to be carried out in Gaza under international supervision. Growing pressure ahead of Trump's inauguration Israel and Hamas have come under renewed pressure to halt the conflict in the lead-up to Trump's inauguration next week. His Middle East envoy, Steve Witkoff, recently joined US, Egyptian and Qatari mediators in the Gulf country's capital, Doha. Trump said late Monday that a ceasefire was "very close". "I understand... there's been a handshake and they are getting it finished — and maybe by the end of the week," he told the American cable channel Newsmax. Hamas has blamed Israel for the repeated setbacks in the negotiations, saying that on more than one occasion, the militant group had accepted a proposal from mediators only to see Israel reject it or launch a new military operation immediately afterwards. Israel and its close ally the United States have blamed setbacks on Hamas. Hamas-led militants killed around 1,200 people, mostly civilians, in the October 7 attack and abducted another

250. Around half those hostages were freed during a brief ceasefire in November 2023. Israel's retaliatory offensive has killed over 46,000 Palestinians, more than half of them women and children, according to Gaza's Health Ministry, which does not say how many of the dead were combatants. STRIKES IN GAZA CONTINUE Two strikes in the central Gaza city of Deir al-Balah overnight and into Tuesday killed two women and their four children, who ranged in age from 1 month to 9 years old. One of the women was pregnant and the baby did not survive, according to Al-Aqsa Martyrs Hospital, which received the bodies. Another 12 people were killed in two strikes on the southern city of Khan Younis, according to the European Hospital. There was no immediate comment from the Israeli military. Israel says it only targets militants and accuses them of hiding among civilians in shelters and tent camps for the displaced. YEMENI REBELS FIRE MISSILES AT ISRAEL The war has rippled across the region, igniting over a year of fighting between Israel and Lebanon's Hezbollah militants that ended with a tense ceasefire in November. Israel has also traded direct fire with Iran, which backs Hamas, Hezbollah and Yemen's Houthis. The Israeli military said it made several attempts to intercept the missile launched from Yemen early Tuesday and that "the missile was likely intercepted". It said an earlier missile fired from Yemen was also intercepted. Police said several homes were damaged outside Jerusalem and released a photo of a missile casing that had crashed into a roof. The Houthis, who captured Yemen's capital, Sanaa, and much of the country's north in 2014, have launched a series of missile and drone attacks on Israel and have attacked international shipping in the Red Sea.

ICC prosecutor calls to reject Israeli objections to Netanyahu warrant

The Hague (PTI): The International Criminal Court's chief prosecutor has told judges that Israeli objections to the investigation into the 13-month war in Gaza should be rejected. Karim Khan submitted his formal response late Monday to an appeal by Israel over The Hague-based court's jurisdiction after judges issued arrest warrants last year for Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, his former defence minister and Hamas' military chief, accusing them of crimes against humanity in connection with the war in Gaza. The embattled Israeli leader, who is also facing corruption charges in his homeland, called the arrest warrant "a black day in the history of nations" and vowed to fight the allegations. Individuals cannot contest an arrest warrant directly, but the state of Israel can object to the entire investigation. Israel argued in a December filing that it could look into allegations against its leaders on its own and that continuing to investigate Israelis was a violation of state sovereignty. The ICC was established in 2002 as the permanent court of last resort to prosecute individuals responsible for the world's most heinous atrocities — war crimes, crimes against humanity, genocide and the crime of aggression. The court's 125 member states include Palestine, Ukraine, Canada and every country in the European Union, but dozens of countries don't accept the court's jurisdiction, including Israel, the United States, Russia and China. In Khan's combined 55-page response, he says the Rome Statute, the treaty that established the ICC, allowed it to prosecute crimes that take place in the territory of member states, regardless of where the perpetrators hail from. The judges are expected to render a decision in the coming months.

Special counsel who investigated Trump says his team 'stood up for rule of law'

PTI ■ WASHINGTON
Special counsel Jack Smith said his team "stood up for the rule of law" as it investigated President-elect Donald Trump's efforts to overturn the results of the 2020 election, writing in a much-anticipated report released on Tuesday that he stands fully behind his decision to bring criminal charges that he believes would have resulted in a conviction had voters not returned Trump to the White House. "The throughline of all of Mr. Trump's criminal efforts was deceit — knowingly false claims of election fraud — and the evidence shows that Mr. Trump used these lies as a weapon to defeat a federal government function foundational to the United States' democratic process," the report states. The report, arriving just days before Trump is to return to office on January 20, focuses fresh attention on the Republican's frantic but failed effort to cling to power in 2020 after he lost to Democrat Joe Biden. With the prosecution foreclosed thanks to Trump's 2024 election victory, the document is expected to be the final Justice Department chronicle of a dark chapter in American history that threatened to disrupt the peaceful transfer of power, a bedrock of democracy for centuries, and complements already released indictments and reports. Trump responded early Tuesday with a post on his Truth Social platform, claiming he was "totally innocent" and calling Smith "a lamebrain prosecutor who was unable to get his case tried before the Election". He added, "THE VOTERS HAVE SPOKE!!!" Trump had been indicted in August 2023 on charges of working to overturn the election, but the case was delayed by appeals and ultimately significantly narrowed by a conservative-majority Supreme Court that held for the first time that former presidents enjoy sweeping immunity from criminal prosecution for official acts. That decision, Smith's report states, left open unresolved legal issues that would likely have required another trip to the

Hegseth, Trump's defence secy nominee, faces key test at hearing

Washington (PTI): President-elect Donald Trump's choice for defence secretary, Pete Hegseth, is heading into a potentially explosive confirmation hearing Tuesday as senators question whether the former combat veteran and TV news show host is fit to lead the US military. Hegseth's former experience in the Army National Guard is widely viewed as an asset for the job, but he also brings a jarring record of past statements and actions, including allegations of sexual assault, excessive drinking and derisive views about women in military combat roles, minorities and "woke" generals. He has vowed to not drink alcohol if he is confirmed to lead the Pentagon. He is among the most endangered of Trump's Cabinet choices, but GOP allies are determined to turn Hegseth into a cause celebre for Trump's governing approach amid the nation's culture wars. Outside groups, including those aligned with the Heritage Foundation, are running costly campaigns to prop up Hegseth's bid. "He will be ripped, he will be demeaned. He will be talked about," said Sen. Tommy Tuberville, R-Ala., at an event with former Navy SEALs, Army special forces and Marines supporting the nominee. "But we're going to get him across the finish line." The hearing at the Senate Armed Services Committee is the start of a weeklong marathon as senators begin scrutinising Trump's choices for more than a dozen top administrative positions. The Republican-led Senate is rushing to have some of Trump's picks ready to be confirmed as soon as Inauguration Day, Jan. 20, despite potential opposition to some from both sides of the aisle. "We're going to grind them down," Senate Majority Leader John Thune, R-S.D., said on Fox News. Hegseth faces perhaps the most difficult path to confirmation. He will be forced to confront allegations of sexual assault, which he has denied, and his own comments that are far from the military mainstream, though he has the support of some veterans' groups that say his past indiscretions are not as important as his focus on improving military readiness to fight. And Hegseth will have to answer for his comments that women should "straight up" not be in combat roles in the military, a view he has softened following recent meetings with senators. Two former female combat veterans, Republican Joni Ernst of Illinois and Democrat Tammy Duckworth of Illinois, are among those grilling him from the dais. "He can try to walk back his comments on women in combat all he wants, but we know what he thinks, right?" said Duckworth, an Iraq War veteran who lost her legs and partial use of her right arm when the Black Hawk helicopter she was piloting in the Army National Guard was shot down. "He's the most unqualified person to ever be nominated for secretary of defense."

the report focused on Trump's hoarding of classified documents at Mar-a-Lago, actions that formed the basis of a separate indictment against Trump, will remain under wraps for now. The report is unsparing in its details about schemes undertaken by Trump to undo the presidential contest, accusing him of an "unprecedented criminal effort to overturn the legitimate results of the election in order to retain power". It recounts his role in trying to force the Justice Department to use its law enforcement authorities to advance his personal interests, participating in a scheme to enlist fake electors in battleground states won by Biden and having directed "an angry mob to the United States Capitol to obstruct the congressional certification of the presidential election and then leverage rioters' violence to further delay it". And it documents his fallout with his vice president, Mike Pence, over Trump's demands that he refuse

Biden signs executive order aimed at growing AI infrastructure in US

Los Angeles (PTI): President Joe Biden on Tuesday signed an ambitious executive order on artificial intelligence that seeks to ensure the infrastructure needed for advanced AI operations, such as large-scale data centres and new clean power facilities, can be built quickly and at scale in the United States. The executive order directs federal agencies to accelerate large-scale AI infrastructure development at government sites, while imposing requirements and safeguards on the developers building on those locations. It also directs certain agencies to make federal sites available for AI data centres and new clean power facilities. Those agencies will help facilitate the infrastructure's interconnection to the electric grid and help speed up the permitting process. In a statement, Biden said AI will have "profound implications for national security and enormous potential to improve Americans' lives if harnessed responsibly, from helping cure disease to keeping communities safe by mitigating the effects of climate change."

"However, we cannot take our lead for granted," the Democratic president said. "We will not let America be out-built when it comes to the technology that will define the future, nor should we sacrifice critical environmental standards and our shared efforts to protect clean air and clean water." Under the new rules, the departments of Defense and Energy will each identify at least three sites where the private sector can build AI data centres. The agencies will run "competitive solicitations" from private companies to build AI data centres on those federal sites, senior administration officials said. Developers building on those sites will be required, among other things, to pay for the construction of those facilities and to bring sufficient clean power generation to match the full capacity needs of their data centres. Although the US government will be leasing land to a company, that company would own the materials it creates there, officials said. Biden said the efforts are designed to accelerate the clean energy transition in a way that is "responsible and respectful to local communities" and does not add costs to the average American. Developers selected to build on government sites will be required to pay all costs of building and operating AI infrastructure so that development does not raise electricity prices for consumers, the administration said. The orders also direct construction of AI data centres on federal sites to be done with public labour agreements. Some of the sites are reserved for small and medium-sized AI companies, according to government officials. Government agencies will also complete a study on the effects of all AI data centers on electricity prices, and the Energy Department will provide technical assistance to state public utility commissions regarding electricity tariff designs that can support connecting new large customers with clean energy. As part of the order, the Interior Department will identify lands it manages that are suitable for clean energy development and can support data centres on government sites, administration officials said.

Strong winds forecast for Los Angeles threatens area's fight against fires

Los Angeles (PTI): Additional water tankers and scores of firefighters arrived at the Los Angeles area on Monday ahead of fierce winds that were forecast to return and threaten the progress made so far on two massive infernos that have destroyed thousands of homes and killed at least 24 people. Planes doused homes and hillsides with bright pink fire-retardant chemicals, while crews and fire engines were being placed near particularly vulnerable spots with dry brush. Dozens of water trucks rolled in to replenish supplies after hydrants ran dry last week when the two largest fires erupted. Tabitha Trosen and her boyfriend said she feels like they are "teetering" on the edge with the constant fear that their neighbourhood could be the next under threat. "Our cats are ready to go, we have their carriers by the door prepped with their little stuffed animals and things like that," Trosen said, adding that she's packed things as she thinks about what she could lose. "It's like, how do I take care of myself, and what are the things that will ground me as a human and remind me of my background and my life and my family."

NATO launches mission to protect Baltic Sea undersea cables

Helsinki (PTI): NATO Secretary-General Mark Rutte announced on Tuesday that the alliance is launching a new mission to protect undersea cables in the Baltic Sea region. Rutte said at a meeting in Helsinki with the leaders of NATO countries located on the Baltic Sea that the effort would be dubbed Baltic Sentry. "It will involve a range of assets, including frigates and maritime patrol aircraft, among others, and will enhance our vigilance in the Baltic," Rutte told reporters. He also said that a small fleet of naval drones will be deployed "to provide enhanced surveillance and deterrence". The meeting follows a string of incidents in the Baltic that have heightened concerns about possible Russian activities in the region. Announcing the new operation, Rutte noted that more than 95 per cent of internet traffic is secured via undersea cables, and 1.3 million kilometers (808,000 miles) of cables guarantee an estimated USD 10 trillion worth of financial transactions every day.

Top aide of impeached S Korean prez pleads for investigators to halt detention efforts

Seoul (PTI): The top aide of impeached South Korean President Yoon Suk Yeol pleaded with law enforcement agencies on Tuesday to abandon their efforts to detain him over his imposition of martial law last month, as authorities prepared a second attempt to take him into custody. Presidential Chief of Staff Chung Jinsuk said Yoon could instead be questioned at a "third site" or at his residence and said the anti-corruption agency and police were trying to drag him out like he was a member of a "South American drug cartel". However, Yoon Kab-keun, one of the president's lawyers, said Chung issued the message without consulting them and that the legal team has no immediate plan to make the president available for questioning by investigators. Yoon Suk Yeol has not left his official residence in Seoul for weeks, and the presidential security service prevented dozens of investigators from detaining him after a nearly six-hour standoff on January 3. The Corruption Investigation Office for High-Ranking Officials and police pledged more forceful measures to detain Yoon while they jointly investigate whether his brief martial law declaration on December 3 amounted to an attempted rebellion. The National Police Agency has convened multiple meetings of field commanders in Seoul and nearby Gyeonggi province in recent days to plan their detainment efforts, and the size of those forces fueled speculation that more than a thousand officers could be deployed in a possible multi-day operation. The agency and police have openly warned that presidential bodyguards obstructing the execution of the warrant could be arrested. The anti-corruption agency and police haven't confirmed when they might return to the presidential residence, which has been fortified with barbed wire and rows of vehicles blocking entry paths. But Chung said he understood "D-day" to be Wednesday, without specifying the information he had. Anti-corruption agency and police officials met with representatives of the presidential security service on Tuesday morning for unspecified discussions regarding efforts to execute the detention warrant for Yoon, the agency said. It wasn't immediately clear whether any kind of compromise was reached. Yoon declared martial law and deployed troops around the National Assembly on Dec. 3. It lasted only hours before lawmakers managed to get through the blockade and voted to lift the measure. His presidential powers were suspended when the opposition-dominated assembly voted to impeach him on Dec. 14, accusing him of rebellion. His fate now rests with the Constitutional Court, which has begun deliberating on whether to formally remove Yoon from office or reject the charges and reinstate him.

Zelensky, Macron discuss Western troop deployment

PTI ■ KYIV

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky said that he has held further discussions with French President Emmanuel Macron about the possibility of Western troops deploying in Ukraine to safeguard any peace deal ending the nearly three-year war with Russia. Zelensky's disclosure came before an official visit to Kyiv on Tuesday by German Defence Minister Boris Pistorius. He arrived in Kyiv on an unannounced visit following a meeting in Warsaw on Monday with his counterparts from France, the United Kingdom, Italy and Poland. Germany and the four other countries are Europe's five top military spenders. Pistorius told German news agency dpa that his visit to Kyiv aims to underscore Germany's strong support for Ukraine at a time when US President-elect Donald Trump's term beginning next week looks set to bring deep changes to Washington's policy on the war. Pistorius said that his visit "is a signal that Germany, as the biggest NATO country in Europe, stands by Ukraine — not alone, but with the group of five and many other allies." Trump has criticised the cost of the war for US taxpayers through major military aid packages for Ukraine, and vowed to bring the conflict to a swift end. He also has made it clear that he wants to shift more of the Ukraine burden onto Europe. Macron prompted an outcry from other leaders, and he appeared isolated on the European stage, after his remarks almost a year ago floated the possibility of putting Western troops in Ukraine. Zelensky has said that Ukraine needs security guarantees to bolster any peace agreement — an issue he said late Monday that he discussed with the French leader. "As one of these guarantees, we discussed the French initiative to deploy military contingents in Ukraine," Zelensky said. "We considered practical steps for its implementation, possible expansion and involvement of other countries in this process." Potentially sending European troops as peacekeepers to Ukraine is fraught with risk. Such a move may not deter Russia from attacking Ukraine again in the future, which is the fear of Ukrainian officials, and could drag European countries into a direct confrontation with Moscow. That, in turn, could pull NATO — including the United States — into a conflict. Russia's bigger army has largely pinned Ukrainian forces on the defensive along the around 1,000-kilometre front line. Ukraine's defenses are creaking in the eastern Donetsk region amid a Russian onslaught. Ukraine has built up a domestic arsenal of long-range drones and missiles that it uses to hit targets on Russian soil far behind the front line. The targets are usually infrastructure that supports the Russian war effort, such as arms depots, oil refineries and manufacturing plants. Two industrial facilities in Russia's western Saratov region were damaged after a "massive" Ukrainian drone attack, regional Gov. Roman Busargin said Tuesday. He claimed that Russian air defences downed "a large number" of drones and said that there were no casualties, offering no further details.

B'desh ex-premier Khaleda Zia's BNP demands election by July-August

PTI ■ DHAKA

Former prime minister Khaleda Zia's Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP) on Tuesday demanded that the general election be held by July-August this year, refuting interim government chief adviser Muhammad Yunus's stance to stage it by the year-end or mid-2026. "There is no reason to delay the election that much," said BNP secretary general Mirza Fakhrul Islam Alamgir after an overnight meeting of the party's standing committee that was chaired virtually by acting BNP chairperson Tarique Rahman from London. Alamgir said the standing committee held a lengthy discussion on Yunus's planned election deadline but came up with a conclusion that the polls should not be delayed for so long as voters list updating should not take more than a month and other related tasks would take one to two months at most. "We believe, as the Election Commission has already been formed and there is relative stability in governance, there is no reason to delay the national election further. Delays only deepen the political and economic crises," he said. The BNP also opposed the idea propagated by some leaders of the interim government to hold local government elections before parliamentary polls. The party also criticised the interim government's economic policies, particularly plans for gas price hikes and tax increases. "We have repeatedly said there is no alternative to elected government and this is the most important factor for democracy," Alamgir said. He called upon the "government, the Election Commission and political parties" to take steps to hold the elections by mid-2025 in the "greater interest of the country". Yunus and his advisers or de facto ministers said reforms and preparedness for elections were going on, suggesting that polls should be staged after accomplishment of some basic reforms. But Alamgir said it is a continued process and the BNP was committed to reforms. The BNP secretary general said "there is no question of holding local government elections before the national parliamentary election. Our demand is for the national election first". Alamgir said the last three national elections could not be held properly, and the people want to ensure a democratic transition through elections. Ousted prime minister Sheikh Hasina, 77, has been living in India since August 5 last year when she fled Bangladesh following a massive student-led protest that toppled her Awami League's 16-year regime. Bangladesh's International Crimes Tribunal (ICT) has issued arrest warrants for Hasina and several former Cabinet ministers, advisers, and military and civil officials for "crimes against humanity and genocide". But this was for the first time that the BNP, visibly the largest organised political party in Bangladesh now, came with a tougher stance over the demand for an early election. Zia, who has previously served thrice as premier, is currently in London for treatment with critical health issues while her son Rahman is also in the British capital as a process was underway to settle several legal cases lodged against him. An interim government headed by Nobel Peace Prize laureate Muhammad Yunus is running the country and plans to hold elections in December this year or in the first half of 2026.

Sri Lankan Prez Dissanayake arrives in Beijing on four-day visit to China

PTI ■ BEIJING/ COLOMBO

Sri Lankan President Anura Kumara Dissanayake arrived here on Tuesday on a four-day visit during which he is scheduled to hold talks with his Chinese counterpart Xi Jinping and other Chinese leaders on deepening bilateral ties. Upon his arrival, the President was accorded a ceremonial welcome by the Chinese military, and he was formally received by China's Deputy Foreign Minister Chen Xiaodong, according to a press release issued by Dissanayake's office in Colombo. This is Dissanayake's second overseas visit - the first being to India - since assuming office in September last year. During his China visit, Dissanayake will hold bilateral talks with President Xi on areas of mutual interest and will also meet Chinese Premier Li Qiang, and Chairman of the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress of China Zhao Leji. Several Memorandums of Understanding (MoUs) aimed at strengthening bilateral cooperation between Sri Lanka and China are expected to be signed during the visit, the Presidential office press release said on Tuesday. During this state visit,

Dissanayake is scheduled to participate in several key engagements and undertake field visits focused on technological and agricultural development, as well as initiatives aimed at poverty alleviation. The visit also includes high-level business meetings and discussions, it said. "The visit to the People's Republic of China will further strengthen the longstanding ties between the two countries," the Sri Lankan Foreign Ministry said earlier. A host of issues, including permitting Chinese research vessels, regarded as spy ships by India; Sri Lanka's debt commitments to China, stated to be Colombo's largest creditor and expansion of the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) investments are expected to figure in Dissanayake's talks with Xi. Sri Lanka expects the visit to result in the digitisation of Sri Lanka's two state TV channels - Rupavahini and ITN. Sri Lanka would also seek Chinese assistance to complete the central expressway, which has been stalled for over a decade, the media division of the Sri Lanka President's Office here said in a press release earlier. The talks would also cover the Chinese industrial zone around the southern port of Hambantota. Qin Boyong, a top Chinese official who visited Dissanayake immediately upon his return from Delhi in December, said the Chinese companies were eagerly waiting to set themselves up for business at Hambantota. Dissanayake, once a bitter critic of India, chose Delhi for his first visit abroad. During his visit to India in December, where he met Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Dissanayake assured New Delhi that Colombo would not permit its territory to be used in a manner that is detrimental to the interest of India, in an apparent reference to China. China, which expanded its strategic ties with Sri Lanka during the pro-Beijing leader Mahinda Rajapaksa, his brother Gotabaya Rajapaksa and Ranil Wickremasinghe with the acquisition of Hambantota port for 99 years' lease as a debt swap followed by the development of Colombo Port City project, Dissanayake is a new generation leader representing new realities of his island nation. A high-level delegation, including Minister of Foreign Affairs, Foreign Employment and Tourism Vijitha Herath, and the Minister of Transport, Highways, Ports, and Civil Aviation Bimal Rathnayake, has accompanied him to China. Imran Khan's wife Bushra Bibi secures bail in over a dozen cases

PTI ■ ISLAMABAD

Jailed former prime minister Imran Khan's wife Bushra Bibi on Tuesday secured interim bail in more than a dozen cases despite telling the court she has lost faith in the justice system of Pakistan. Anti-terrorism court Judge Tahir Abbas Supra, who presided over the hearing, granted Bushra interim bail until February 7 in 13 cases related to the D-Chowk protests apart from another case involving the killing of paramilitary rangers during the demonstration last year. Apart from Bibi, her spouse Khan, 72, and other party leaders have been nominated in the first information report (FIR) registered at the Ramna police station under Section 302 (murder) and other sections of the Pakistan Penal Code. According to the FIR, Khan issued instructions to the party leadership, spouse Bushra, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Chief Minister Ali Amin Gandapur, and his sister Aleema Khan for making all-out efforts to get him released from jail and "set anything on fire or kill anyone for this purpose". Geo News reported the judge in a conversation with Bushra during the proceedings said: "It has taken some time, but legal protocols have been followed." Bushra said: "That is not an issue, but we have lost faith in the courts." Disagreeing, Judge Supra assured: "It is not like that everywhere. The justice system, despite its flaws, is functioning. If it collapses, society itself will cease to exist. You have appeared before me in other hearings as well." Bushra further highlighted her concerns regarding the judicial process, recounting an instance during a trial where a judge's blood pressure rose to 200 yet he proceeded to pronounce a verdict against her. "There is law in the country but no justice. The PTI founder is imprisoned for upholding the supremacy of the Constitution. What we have endured has completely shattered our faith in the law," she said. The judge was informed that 13 cases were registered at various police stations in Islamabad against the former first lady. The court subsequently granted her interim bail in all 13 cases until February 7 against surety bonds of Rs 5,000 each. The bail is a major relief to Bushra who married the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) founder in January 2018, the year he won the election later on and became the prime minister. Bushra, Khan's third wife, was his spiritual heir before marriage.

Domestic aviation industry likely to clock ₹2,000-₹3,000 Crore net loss in FY25: Report

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
The country's civil aviation industry is projected to report a net loss of Rs 2,000 to Rs 3,000 crore in the current and next financial year as supply chain challenges and engine issues are expected to continue for some more time, according to a report.
In the report on Tuesday, rating agency Icrs also said that domestic air passenger traffic was estimated at 153 lakh in December, 7.3 per cent higher compared to 142.5 lakh recorded in November last year.
"Further, it grew by ~10.8 per cent on a YoY basis and was higher by ~17.5 per cent than the pre-Covid levels, i.e., December 2019. The airlines' capacity deployment in December 2024 was higher than December 2023 by ~7.5 per cent and by ~3.8 per cent over November 2024," it added. Giving a stable outlook for the Indian aviation industry, Icrs said there are expectations of moderate growth in domestic air passenger traffic and a relatively stable cost environment in FY25. Moreover, the industry witnessed improved pricing power during FY24, reflected in the higher yields (over pre-Covid levels) and the revenue per available seat kilometre-cost per available seat kilometre (RASK-CASK) spread of the airlines. "The momentum in the air passenger traffic growth witnessed in FY2024 is likely to marginally taper to 7-10 per cent in FY2025 (compared to 13 per cent in FY2024), given the high base of FY2024 and lower passenger traffic in H1 FY2025, impacted by severe heat waves and other weather-related disruptions.

"The yields are also likely to be under pressure, as airlines strive to maintain adequate passenger load factor (PLF). International passenger traffic for Indian carriers is expected to grow by 15-20 per cent in FY2025," the report said. For FY 2025 and FY 2026, Icrs has projected the industry to register a net loss of Rs 20-30 billion. Supply chain challenges and engine failure issues impacted the industry capacity over the last 18 months and are expected to continue affecting it this year, it added.

Union Minister Piyush Goyal launches National Turmeric Board in Telangana

PTI ■ HYDERABAD
Union Minister for Commerce and Industry Piyush Goyal on Tuesday launched the National Turmeric Board in Nizamabad district of Telangana, a long-awaited dream of turmeric farmers.
Goyal virtually inaugurated the Board and said it is being launched on the auspicious occasion of Sankranti.
There is immense potential of increasing productivity of turmeric in Andhra Pradesh and Telangana, Goyal noted, according to an official release.
The Board will pay special attention to the welfare of 'Golden Spice' farmers, develop good varieties and focus on its export, he said. Nizamabad MP Arvind Dharmapuri was also present. The creation of the National Turmeric Board was announced by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on October 1, 2023, during a public meeting in Telangana. This historic decision reflects PM Modi's commitment to farmers and his visionary leadership in recognizing the importance of turmeric as a vital crop for India's agricultural economy, a release from the office of Arvind Dharmapuri said on Monday.

The announcement also fulfilled a 40-year-old demand of turmeric farmers who had long sought dedicated support and infrastructure to bolster turmeric cultivation and trade. Over the last decade, the average price for Nizamabad turmeric hovered around Rs 6,000 per quintal. However, in 2024, the price touched an all-time high of Rs 18,000 per quintal, a trend that continues this season, it said.
The National Turmeric Board will provide targeted support to turmeric farmers by promoting research and development, facilitating infrastructure development such as setting up of processing units, enhancing exports, and ensuring better prices for their produce, the release said.

Wholesale Price Inflation rises to 2.37 per cent in December

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
Wholesale price inflation rose to 2.37 per cent in December 2024, led by spike in manufactured products even though prices of food items eased, government data released on Tuesday showed. The Wholesale Price Index (WPI) based inflation was 1.89 per cent in November 2024. It was 0.86 per cent in December 2023. As per the data, inflation in food items eased to 8.47 per cent in December 2024, as against 8.63 per cent in November. Inflation in vegetable stood at 28.65 per cent, as against 28.57 per cent in November.
Inflation in potato continued to be high at 93.20 per cent, and in onion it spiked to 16.81 per cent in December. Among food items, cereals, pulses, wheat saw easing in inflation in December. The fuel and power category witnessed a deflation of 3.79 per cent in December, against a deflation of 5.83 per cent in November. In manufactured items, inflation was 2.14 per cent, against 2 per cent in November.
Retail inflation data released on Monday showed that consumer price index (CPI) based inflation eased to 4-month low of 5.22 per cent in December on easing food prices.

Government approves alternative payment methods for rooftop solar installation

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
The Ministry of New & Renewable Energy has come out with new guidelines, allowing two more payment methods for the installation of rooftop solar system under PM-Surya Ghar: Muft Bijli Yojana. The move will ensure payment security as well as the grant of subsidy to households in case of payments through Renewable Energy Service Company (RESCO) and utility-led aggregation models. The ministry has notified scheme guidelines for implementation of 'Payment Security Mechanism' component and 'Central Financial Assistance' component for RESCO models/utility-led aggregation models under PM-Surya Ghar: Muft Bijli Yojana, an official statement said.
Under this scheme, Rs 100 crore has been earmarked for payment security mechanism (PSM) for de-risking investments in RESCO-based grid-connected rooftop solar models in residential sectors, which may be supplemented through other grants, funds and sources after due approval, the statement said. Under the RESCO model, third-party entities invest in rooftop solar installations, enabling consumers to pay only for the electricity consumed without bearing the upfront costs. Under the utility-led aggregation (ULA) model, power distribution companies or state designated entities install rooftop solar projects on behalf of individual households. The ministry further clarified that these guidelines are in addition to the existing mode of implementation undertaken by consumers (capex mode) through the national portal and said these alternative models will supplement the national portal-based implementation of the scheme.

Rupee recovers from record low to settle eight paise higher at 86.62 against US Dollar

PTI ■ MUMBAI
The rupee rebounded from its lowest-ever level and settled 8 paise higher at 86.62 (provisional) against the US dollar on Tuesday as the American currency retreated from record high. Some recovery in domestic equity markets after the release of macroeconomic numbers also supported the Indian currency even though it remained under pressure due to elevated crude oil prices and continuous outflow of foreign funds. At the interbank foreign exchange, the rupee opened at 86.57 and touched the intraday high of 86.45 before closing for the day at 86.62 (provisional) against the greenback, registering a gain of 8 paise from its previous close.
On Monday, the rupee logged its steepest single-day fall in nearly two years and ended the session 66 paise down at its historic low of 86.70 against the US dollar. The currency's previous record one-day fall of 68 paise was witnessed on February 6, 2023. The local unit has plunged more than Re 1 in the past two weeks from the closing level of 85.52 on December 30. It had breached the 85-per-dollar mark for the first time on December 19, 2024. Key imports are petroleum products and urea. These account for over 70 per cent of imports. Other key products are propylene and ethylene polymers, pet coke, gypsum, chemicals, and iron and steel. The bilateral trade stood has declined to USD 8.94 billion in 2023-24 from USD 12.39 billion in 2022-23. India's exports stood at USD 4.42 billion in the last fiscal.

Jaguar Land Rover, Tata Communications strengthen partnership for connected car tech

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
Jaguar Land Rover and Tata Communications have strengthened their collaboration for connected car technologies, the companies said in a joint statement on Tuesday. As part of the enhanced collaboration, Tata Communications will offer its MOVE platform to enhance JLR's connected vehicle ecosystem, transforming the driving experience for customers worldwide. The partnership will empower JLR's next-generation software-defined vehicles with continuous connectivity and access to intelligent services even in the remotest locations across 120 countries, the auto maker said in a statement. The latest tie-up is an extension of their existing partnership to future-proof the carmaker's digital transformation. Leveraging the MOVE platform, JLR's upcoming medium-sized SUVs built on the new electric modular architecture (EMA) will seamlessly transition between mobile networks and operators, enabling non-stop access to personalised connected services, such as media streaming, it said. The platform will also enable greater and more secure data exchange between JLR and its customers' vehicles, delivering more efficient Software Over-the-air (SOTA) updates and supporting the rollout of evolving Advanced Driver Assistance Systems (ADAS), it added.

India, Oman holding fifth round of talks for free trade agreement

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
India and Oman are holding the fifth round of talks for a proposed free trade agreement here to boost bilateral economic ties, an official said on Tuesday.
The two-day talks started on January 13, the official said. The negotiations for the agreement, officially dubbed as Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA), formally began in November 2023. Oman is the third largest export destination among the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) countries. According to the think tank GTRI (Global Trade Research Institute), Indian goods worth USD 3.7 billion like gasoline, iron and steel, electronics, and machinery will get a significant boost in Oman, once both sides reach a comprehensive free trade agreement. Currently, over 80 per cent of its goods enter Oman at an average of 5 per cent import duties, a GTRI report has said. Oman's import duty ranges from 0 to 100 per cent, along with the existence of specific duties.

A duty of 100 per cent is applicable on specific meats, wines and tobacco products. India already has a similar agreement with another GCC member UAE which came into effect in May 2022. On the imports front, India's merchandise imports from Oman dipped to USD 4.5 billion from USD 7.9 billion in 2022-23. Key imports are petroleum products and urea. These account for over 70 per cent of imports. Other key products are propylene and ethylene polymers, pet coke, gypsum, chemicals, and iron and steel. The bilateral trade stood has declined to USD 8.94 billion in 2023-24 from USD 12.39 billion in 2022-23. India's exports stood at USD 4.42 billion in the last fiscal.

ITC Chairman rejects 90-hour workweek, advocates for flexible work environment and employee empowerment

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
Weighing in on the 90-hour workweek controversy, ITC Ltd Chairman Sanjiv Puri said that it is more important for the workers to be aligned to the grander vision of the company rather than the number of hours put in. Giving an analogy of many workers building a castle, he said, "If you ask a mason what he is doing, he might say he is laying a brick, another might say he is building a wall but some might say he is building a castle. It is that vision that workers should have," he told PTI in an interview. Asked if he is saying that mean if he would rather not put a number to the work hours at ITC, he said, "We would not do that."

involved and kind of feel the urge amongst themselves to make a difference to the enterprise. That's how we look at it". The cigarettes-to-consumer goods conglomerate allows a flexible work environment, including work from home on two days every week, he said. ITC, he said, provides a lot of flexibility in working. "Also two days a week, you can work from home," he said. "So it's not so much about, you know, really monitoring each individual's number of hours. It's more about enabling individuals, helping them to actualise their potential, and then reviewing what goals people have achieved. His comments follow a controversy SN Subrahmanyam, Chairman and Managing Director of India's largest engineering and construction company Larsen & Toubro Ltd, sparked on social media when he said employees should work 90-hour a week including on Sundays rather than sit at home. "I regret I am not able to make you work on Sundays," Subrahmanyam said in an undated video of his discussion with staff. "What do you do sitting at home? How long can you stare at your wife, and how long can the wife stare at the husband." The video, which was circulated widely on social media platforms X and LinkedIn, led to heated debate about work-life balance. "I know that he (Subrahmanyam) has been debated a lot, but let me tell you the philosophy with which you look at it," Puri said. He then went on to explain how empowering the employees with the company vision and goal was important. Vision, values and vitality are what ITC is all about, he added. "So we put a lot of effort in making sure that everybody understands the vision of the enterprise. We use a part of the vision and want to contribute to making the vision a reality. And we enable vitality by our processes, by the resources we provide, by the freedom to act, that we provide, the empowerment that we provide, which are very different and very clear goals for individuals to achieve, and these are the primary things that we look at," he said. While Subrahmanyam's comments sparked a heated debate about work-life balance in the country, a Larsen & Toubro spokesperson last week said that the chairman's remarks reflect the company's "larger ambition". "We believe this is India's decade, a time demanding collective dedication and effort to drive progress and realise our shared vision of becoming a developed nation," the company had said in a statement. L&T head's views drew criticism from some peers in the business community. RPG Group Chairman Harsh Goenka said longer working hours was a recipe for burnout and not success. Subrahmanyam's comments followed Infosys co-founder Narayana Murthy's suggestion of a 70-hour workweek and Adani Group chairman Gautam Adani's "biwi bhaag jayegi (wife will run away)" remark if one spent more than eight hours at home.

Tanisha, Dhruv revive India's hopes in mixed doubles with strong performances

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The rising duo of Tanisha Crasto and Dhruv Kapila have sparked renewed hope for India in mixed doubles badminton with a series of strong performances while enjoying every bit of their journey together.

Before the two joined hands post the Paris Olympics, Jwala Gutta and V Diju were India's best mixed doubles pair, achieving a career-high world ranking of six. Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Ashwini Ponnappa also made significant strides before parting ways, with the former focusing on men's doubles alongside Chirag Shetty.

"We played a couple of tournaments before the Olympics and saw a lot of potential in this partnership. I think it was a good decision for both of us to start this journey together," Tanisha told PTI.

"Dhruv is a very talented mixed doubles player. He has a great understanding of the game, and I enjoy playing upfront. It's a combination that works well and makes us a dangerous pair."

Tanisha and Dhruv on Tuesday progressed to the second round of the India Open Super 750 tournament with a 8-21 21-19 21-17 win over Chinese Taipei's Chen Cheng Kuan and Hsu Yin-Hui.

Interestingly, Tanisha, along with Ishaan Bhatnagar, had made a serious push for the Paris Olympics before an unfortunate injury derailed their plans.

"Sometimes, setbacks lead to better opportunities. Mixed doubles is my main focus now. I'm not sure how long Ashwini will continue playing, so I'm fully focused on this event," said Tanisha, who competed in the Paris Games last summer.

The duo had finished runner-up at Syed Modi Super 300 tournament last December and climbed 13 places to reach world number 56. They also reached the semifinals of couple of Super 100 events in Vietnam and Guwahati last year.

Both Tanisha and Dhruv are seasoned players with notable success at the highest level, albeit with different partners in women's and men's doubles.

Dhruv, known for his mixed doubles style even in his junior days, initially played men's doubles with MR Arjun, with some success.

However, an injury to Arjun led Dhruv to refocus on mixed doubles.

"I wasn't fully into mixed doubles initially because I didn't have a partner, and everyone else was already paired up. Arjun and I were playing well, but eventually, I decided to concentrate on one discipline," Dhruv said.

"Unfortunately, Arjun got injured, but he's fine now and playing with Vishnu."

The return of renowned Malaysian coach Tan Kim Her

has further boosted their confidence.

"He's been a great help to both Dhruv and me," Tanisha said.

"He understands our weaknesses and helps us work on them together. It's very comfortable talking to him, and he helps us refine our game, both individually and as a pair. It's been really beneficial for us."

As for filling the void left by Jwala-Diju, both Tanisha and Dhruv are cautious but optimistic.

"We need to improve further. We can't set expectations too high just yet," Dhruv said.

"Our focus is on this year. We're taking it step by step -- starting with performing well in Super 500 and 700 events.

"We aim to reach the quarter-finals and semi-finals. We're not there yet, but we're learning from every tournament, and our short-term goal is continuous improvement over the next few months."

Canada football appoints former England captain Casey Stoney as head women's coach

PTI ■ OTTAWA

Former England captain Casey Stoney said she's confident she can move Canada past the drone spying scandal that shook the women's national team at the Olympics last summer.

Stoney was named head coach of Canada's women on Monday. She signed a three-year contract with Canada Soccer that runs through the 2027 Women's World Cup, with an option for 2028.

Stoney takes over the Canadian team from Bev Priestman, who was fired in the wake of a drone surveillance scandal at last year's Olympics.

"It's about now what we can do moving forward, how we can improve the team," Stoney said. "The team's done fantastic. I'm here to just support, make it better and make sure that the players are completely focused on what their job is, which is to win football matches."

Stoney will formally take over Canada ahead of next month's Pinatar Cup in Spain.

She most recently coached the San Diego Wave in the National Women's Soccer League and was named the league's Coach of the Year in 2022, the team's inaugural season. She was dismissed by the Wave last June in the midst of a seven-game losing streak.

Kevin Blue, Canada Soccer CEO and general secretary, said the federation is

Ratchanok Intanon eyes Asian Games medal

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Once a formidable force in world badminton, star Thai shuttler Ratchanok Intanon believes her on-court wizardry and handwork is a "god's gift" and she will continue to nurture her skills despite the challenges that come with aging.

With the years catching up, Intanon's focus has shifted towards staying fit. She is eyeing a medal at the Asian Games and a spot in the top-8 of the world rankings.

Intanon is part of a golden generation of players, including PV Sindhu, Carolina Marin, and Tai Tzu Ying, all of whom are in the twilight of their careers but are trying to find a second wind.

The 29-year-old, a 2013 world champion, has faced setbacks in recent years, but her resilience shines through. After struggling for form, she marked a solid it and then continuing a agenda of change and reform is something that the federation is committed to," Blue said in a conference call with reporters Monday afternoon.

"Hopefully bringing in people obviously like Casey, who is a world class coach with a strong values and character, is an example of what we're trying to do."

Stoney appeared in 130 games for England as a player and was also captain of the Britain squad at the 2012 London Olympics.

She played in three World Cups for England and won the bronze medal at the 2015 tournament in Canada. She also played in three Women's European Championships.

"I think the fact that I played 18 years internationally really helps me with the players. I understand some of the things they've been through, some of the things they've faced. I've faced them in my own career," Stoney said. "I said to the players on Saturday morning, 'I'm a players' coach,' but I have trust in Kevin and the way he's leading this organization. I know that they've been through a troubled past, but I wouldn't have took this job if I wasn't confident that it was moving in the right direction."

the second round of the India Open Super 750 with a convincing 21-13, 21-15 win over Japan's Nozomi Okuhara, who herself is recovering from an injury and searching for past glory.

"I failed in the Olympic Games, but I have to rise again," Intanon admitted, reflecting on her quarterfinal exit from the Paris Olympics.

"I try not to think too much and just focus on getting back to my fitness. I know it's hard, especially as I get older with each passing year. But I do my best to take care of myself," she told PTI.

"I trust my technical skills and my handwork, and I push harder to improve my fitness. Since last week, it's been getting better, and I'm happy with my performance now."

I still feel like I'm 18

While Intanon might be in the final stretch of her illustrious career, her approach to the sport remains youthful.

"Everything feels different now," she says.

"Badminton is something I've been playing since I was very young, so it becomes automatic. But the mental side also requires training, and for me, I put extra focus on my fitness. As it improves, my handwork becomes automatic again." I still feel young, like I'm 18 years old. I know all the other players are strong, but I try to change my mindset and not think I'm too old or too slow. If I want to keep playing, I have to push harder and aim to get back into the top-8. That's my goal for this year."

Her immediate focus is the Asian Games, where she is determined to bag her first individual medal.

"I'm mainly focused on the next two years because my target is the Asian Games. I want to achieve a medal there, that's my main goal. As for the next Olympic Games, I'm unsure about my fitness, but I'll keep working hard and taking care of myself," she shared.

While the younger generation is fast emerging, Intanon believes experience still gives them an edge.

"It depends on mentality and whether you feel ready. If you want to continue, you have to give it 100%. I don't want to just play without a goal. I'm aiming to get back to the top," she said.

"My friends, like Tai Tzu or Sindhu, are also recovering. Carolina Marin is still in her recovery phase, so I hope they all get better, and we can continue playing against each other. That would be very exciting for all of us," she added.

Some Paris Olympic athletes ask for medals to be replaced after quickly deteriorating

PTI ■ PARIS

Some of the medals from the Paris Olympics seem to be quickly losing their shine. The French mint told The Associated Press on Tuesday that it is replacing a number of medals from the 2024 Paris Games and Paralympics after athletes complained that they have already deteriorated — with some posting pictures on social media.

The Monnaie de Paris declined to say how many medals have been returned, but French website La Lettre put the number at over 100.

Contacted by the AP, the French Olympic committee and the IOC also would not reveal figures.

In total, the French mint produced 5,084 medals for the Paris Olympic and Paralympic Games.

"The Monnaie de Paris has taken the issue of damaged medals very seriously since the first exchange requests in August, and has mobilized its internal teams," the French mint said.

"Since then, the company has modified and optimized its relative varnishing process. The Monnaie de Paris will replace all damaged medals at the athletes' request during the first quarter of 2025."

Parisian jewelry house Chaumet designed the medals, which were part of the Games' lasting legacy. A hexagonal, polished chunk of iron taken from the iconic Eiffel Tower was embedded in each gold, silver and bronze medal.

But concerns about their quality emerged before the Games had even ended last summer when American skateboarder Nyjah Huston posted a video showing how quickly his bronze medal had deteriorated. Many other athletes have since also complained.

French swimmers Yohann Ndoye-Brouard and Clément Secchi recently posted images of their medals on social media, describing them as looking like "crocodile skin," or dating back to 1924.

The IOC told the AP that Paris organizers are in contact with the national Olympic committees of the athletes concerned. It confirmed that the replacement process will start in the coming weeks, and that the French mint is working with Paris organizers to understand the circumstances and cause of any damage.

"Damaged medals will be systematically replaced by the Monnaie de Paris and engraved in an identical way to the originals," the IOC said.

The iron pieces embedded in the center of the Olympic medals each weigh 18 grams (about two-thirds of an ounce).

They were cut from girders and other bits that were swapped out of the Eiffel Tower during renovations and stored for safekeeping, according to Joachim Roncin, head of design at the Paris Games organizing committee.

Indian community playing big role in popularising kho kho in England

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

For teenage kho kho players from England, Jaian Saunders and Anya Shah, the traditional Indian sport is not just a means to win medals and popularise the game back home but also a way to remain connected to their roots here.

Indian-origin players Jaian and Anya are part of the 30-member England contingent touring India for the Kho Kho World Cup and say their adopted country has a competitive structure to rival India, a powerhouse of the sport.

Jaian, 16, took up the sport because of his grounding in athletics. An accomplished 200m runner, he finished fourth in the U17 age-group national athletics championship and missed making the England team.

But kho kho provided him another opportunity to remain connected with sports.

"I developed a liking for kho kho through my Oshwal community. It gave me the opportunity to play in the nationals. I made it to the England trials from the nationals, following which I was scouted by coaches.

"I think, my sporty background, being an athlete and a sprinter, helped me in kho kho," said the teenager, proudly informing that his team had beaten Germany in the opening match of the World Cup at the IG Stadium.

Jaian, whose grandparents moved to the UK from Gujarat, said England has a well-established structure, which is helping kho kho prosper.

He said that the sport is played in almost all the top universities in the country and players, predominantly Indians, number in thousands.

"We have a very competitive structure. We have communities playing the sport in almost every part of England... London, Leicester, to name a few."

Jaian comes from the Oshwal community, which has 10 players in the World Cup contingent.

"The Kho Kho Federation of England hosts the nationals once a year in September. From there we get scouted for the England trials and the deserving players are then selected to the England team," said Jaian, adding that the team comprises mostly of Indians and Nepalese settled in England, besides some English players as well.

"I suppose 70 percent of the players are Indian origin and the rest are from different backgrounds. But they are all born in England," said Jaian, whose younger sister too wants to play kho kho competitively.

Anya stated playing kho kho when she was nine years old and said that at 17 she feels she has been playing for ages.

"I am 17 years old now. I took up the sport when I was nine, so have been playing it for quite some time," said Anya, whose team beat Australia in the World Cup opener.

"I got inspired seeing my Indian friends playing the sport in the community. I thought let's give it a try and I really enjoyed it. My parent and grand parents moved to England from Jamnagar in Gujarat," said Anya, who too is from the Oshwal community and got selected into the England side through the national trials.

While she cannot put a number on how many kho kho players are there in England, but said they would be in thousands.

"I have no idea how many women play kho kho in the country but we play the game all over the country. It could be in thousands. It is community and university-based. Even the top five universities in the UK play kho kho," she said.

One of the major reasons for the sport becoming popular in England is the ease of playing it, said Anya.

"It's easy, it's a fun game with very little equipment required. Besides, social media has played a huge role in popularising it. We are the first national kho kho team from England and we feel we are the big stating names," said the Economics and Physical Education student.

She hoped that with kho kho's popularity growing in the country, the country will have better equipment in future.

"We are not there yet, but hopefully next year we will have that equipment."

Bumrah named ICC Men's Player of Month for December 2024

PTI ■ DUBAI

India pace spearhead Jasprit Bumrah was on Tuesday named ICC Men's Player of the Month for December 2024 after his sensational performance during the recent tour of Australia for the Border-Gavaskar Trophy. Leading India's attack single-handedly, Bumrah relentlessly kept Australian batsmen under intense pressure, claiming 22 wickets in three Tests in December last year at an outstanding average of 14.22. He ended with 32 wickets in the five-match series which concluded on January 5. The first match was played in November. His match-winning contributions included a nine-wicket haul in Brisbane and a five-wicket display in Melbourne as he edged out Australian skipper Pat Cummins and South African Dane Paterson for the award, stated the ICC. He also reached a significant milestone, becoming the first bowler to take 200 Test wickets at an average below 20.

Bumrah's brilliance was evident from the very start, with a standout performance in Adelaide. His four-wicket haul was instrumental in minimising Australia's lead in the first innings, keeping India within striking distance.

He followed this up with a sensational display in Brisbane, where his six wickets dismantled Australia's batting order. Bumrah added three more scalps in the second innings to complete a nine-wicket match haul. His efforts ensured the rain-affected match ended in a draw, keeping India alive in the series. The Boxing Day Test in Melbourne saw Bumrah deliver yet another stellar performance. He picked up four wickets in the first innings, providing a rare bright spot in an otherwise lacklustre bowling effort by the Indian team. He then secured a five-wicket haul in the second innings, bowling Australia out for 234. Despite his heroics, India's batting faltered, resulting in a 184-run defeat. India lost the Border-Gavaskar Trophy 1-3. In a challenging tour for the Indian team, Bumrah emerged as the lone warrior, earning him the Player of the Series Award.

Real Kashmir FC hold fort against Sreenidi Deccan FC

PTI ■ SRINAGAR

Down to 10 men in the very first minute of the match, Real Kashmir FC held fort to settle for a 2-2 draw with Sreenidi Deccan FC in a crucial I-League clash that had everything from penalties and goals to a red card here on Tuesday. Sreenidi Deccan took the lead twice in the match through Faysal Shayesteh (2nd minute) and Angel Orelie (15th) only to see Real Kashmir's Paulo Cezar (4th) and Muhammad Hammad (22nd) scoring timely equalisers. Real Kashmir's Cameroonian recruit Aminou Bouba was shown the red card in less than a minute. The draw meant Real Kashmir occupy the eighth spot in the table with 10 points from eight games. Sreenidi Deccan, on the other hand, also have the same number of points after playing an identical number of matches but they see themselves at ninth spot because of an inferior goal difference. The match got off to an intense start when Bouba was dismissed for a foul inside the penalty area, leading to Shayesteh converting a penalty in the second minute to put Sreenidi Deccan ahead. Contrary to expectations, the 10-man Real Kashmir side did not retreat but responded swiftly. In the fourth minute, a cleverly taken short corner allowed Lalramsanga to assist Cezar, whose precise header restored parity. Undeterred by the setback, Sreenidi Deccan regained the lead in the 15th minute. Following a series of passes that dissected the Kashmir defence, Orelie found himself with space to unleash a fierce shot that found the net, demonstrating the attacking prowess of the Deccan Warriors. The persistent spirit of Real Kashmir shone through yet again as they equalised for the second time in the 22nd minute. From a well-placed Lalramsanga free-kick, the Sreenidi Deccan keeper managed only a partial clearance, and Hammad was on hand to pounce on the rebound, driving the ball home to level the scores. As the match progressed, both teams had opportunities to clinch the win. Sreenidi Deccan, inspired by their recent comeback victory against Aizawl FC, pushed hard. Vanlalremdika struck the woodwork, and Munoz's header was brilliantly saved by the Real Kashmir goalkeeper, who also denied Orelie's long-range effort that rattled the crossbar. Despite playing with a man less for virtually the entire match, Real Kashmir's defence stood resilient, managing to hold off Sreenidi Deccan's late surges to ensure the points were shared.

SA20: MI Cape Town beats Paarl Royals

PTI ■ CAPE TOWN

MI Cape Town returned to winning ways with a comprehensive 33-run victory over neighbours Paarl Royals in their first home match of the season in Betway SA20 here. Newlands, which was filled to capacity for MI Cape Town's first home game of Season 3, delivered a near-perfect all-round performance to clinch the win here on Monday. New signing Reeza Hendricks led the way with the bat with his first half-century for home side. His 59 off 37 balls provided the foundation for the team to post a formidable 172/7. Hendricks was ably supported by Rassie van der Dussen (43 off 33 balls). The pair shared a 78-run partnership off 54 balls before the in-form Delano Potgieter smashed another 18-ball 29 to provide the late innings momentum. The Royals' chase began positively with Joe Root (26) and Lhuan-dre Pretorius (26) smashing 38 runs in just the three overs. However, the introduction of Kagiso Rabada into the attack reaped immediate rewards with the fast bowler dismissing both Root and Pretorius within a couple of overs of each other. Both were wicket maiden overs from Rabada. The Royals never recovered from the double blow with MI Cape Town's spin twins George Linde and Rashid Khan adding to their woes.

10,000-run milestone is different beast and played on my mind during India series: Smith

PTI ■ SYDNEY

Star Australian batter Steve Smith has described the elusive 10,000-run mark in Tests as a "different beast" after falling just one run short of touching it at his home ground of Sydney in the fifth and final game against India during which the milestone weighed heavily on his mind. Smith needed 38 runs to achieve the landmark but managed 37 during the game that Australia won by six wickets to reclaim the Border-Gavaskar Trophy after more than a decade. "I don't read too much into stats and stuff, but, 10,000 is a bit of a different beast," Smith told 'SEN 1170 Breakfast'. "It probably was (on my mind), to be honest. Normally I sort of don't buy into any of that stuff, but pre-game, I was doing lots of media because I was approaching that mark." The 'number 38' played on his mind in such a way that Smith joked he would forever associate it with Josh Hazlewood, whose jersey number is 38. "I knew I needed 38, and all I could actually picture trying to sleep at night was the back of Josh Hazlewood's shirt because he's number 38 (laughs). It's strange like that, isn't it? "It was probably playing on my mind more than any other game that I've played, to be honest. "But, it is what it is, fortunately, we were able to win that game in the end, so it didn't really matter," he said. Australia will next tour Sri Lanka for a two-match Test series beginning in Galle on January 29 and Smith hopes to do it on day one of the series itself if Australia get to bat first. "As a kid, I never would have dreamt of that, I dreamt to play cricket for Australia and have a career playing for Australia, but to have been able to get to this mark, it's a dream come true in a way," he added. Smith would become the 15th overall and only fourth Australian Test player ever to achieve the landmark.

Struggling Rohit trains with Mumbai team ahead of Ranji resumption

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Embattled India captain Rohit Sharma practised with the Mumbai team here on Tuesday as the side geared up for the resumption of Ranji Trophy from January 23 but there was no clarity on whether he would play for the side in its upcoming fixture. The 37-year-old, who endured a horror run with the bat in the national team's tour of Australia recently, took part in a morning practice session which lasted a couple of hours at the Wankhede stadium here. "As is the process and routine owing to the gaps between tournaments, the management speaks with the players about their availability," a Mumbai Cricket Association official told PTI. "Rohit will also be approached around the time of selection for the Ranji Trophy game against Jammu and Kashmir from January 23," he added when asked about Rohit's availability for the clash. Rohit batted with Mumbai stalwart and his India teammate Ajinkya Rahane during the session. His participation in the match may not be clear yet but it is learnt that Rohit will continue to practice with the team. The past few weeks have been tumultuous for Rohit. He managed just 31 runs across three Tests during his time Down Under and was forced to drop himself from the series-deciding fifth and final Test in Sydney due to his poor form. Rohit handed over the leadership duties to Jasprit Bumrah in that game, sparking widespread speculations about his future. However, in an interview to the host broadcaster of the series, Rohit asserted that he was not going anywhere. Despite his future as a red-ball cricketer hanging by a thread, Rohit attended a review meeting on Sunday to assess the team's performance. He was joined by head coach Gautam Gambhir and BCCI's new secretary Devajit Saikia during the deliberations. Mumbai will play their match against J&K at the MCA-BKC ground and the game holds significance as far as advancing to the knockouts is concerned. Rohit last played for Mumbai in a Ranji game way back in 2015 against Uttar Pradesh.

Gambhir's position as head coach to reevaluated post Champions Trophy

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Gautam Gambhir's position as head coach will be "reevaluated" on the basis of India's Champions Trophy performance next month amid concerns that there is discontent in the dressing room due to his push to end the long-prevalent "superstar culture" in the team. Since Gambhir took over in July last year, the Indian team has lost six out of 10 Tests and also a bilateral ODI series in Sri Lanka. The results have left Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma's international future in significant disarray thanks to their own poor form. But Gambhir's position has also become slightly shaky. Adding to the drama is his speculated rift with prominent players during the Border-Gavaskar Test series in Australia which India lost 1-3. "If India doesn't do well in the Champions Trophy, the head coach's position could become untenable. Yes, his contract runs till the 2027 World Cup but the process of evaluation continues. "Sport is result-oriented and till now, Gambhir hasn't given any tangible results," a senior BCCI source told PTI on conditions of anonymity. There has already been a review of the team's performance in Australia by the BCCI. It is understood that Gambhir and senior players aren't on the same page on the issue of team culture. "Gambhir wants to end the superstar culture that has been prevalent for so many years now. As captain of Kolkata Knight Riders in 2012, he had dropped Brendon McCullum from the playing XI for the IPL final against CSK. "He has come here to dismantle the superstar culture and that's what has caused discomfort for some playing members," a source, who has seen Gambhir's functioning closely, said. He cited another instance from his Delhi playing days to explain Gambhir's mindset. "Once, as Delhi Ranji captain, Gambhir decided that they will play home matches at the Roshanara Ground in Delhi North-West where the pitches were green-top. "But one huge superstar, who was also out of the Indian team, wanted to play the games at the Jamia Milia Islamia ground, which was closer to his south Delhi residence. Gambhir turned him down. Similarly, in the Indian team, he doesn't want star culture to breed," the person added. It is learnt that the head coach was not pleased with how some star players gave specific demands about hotels and practice timings during the tour of Australia. But, on the other side, senior players have felt a lack of communication from his end. Selection committee's take Amid this ongoing tussle is the view of the national selection committee, which does not want the head coach to have too much of a say in selection matters. A former selector said Gambhir has shown shades of mercurial former coach Greg Chappell in his approach.

The Australian, who came amid much fanfare, left in chaos after developing differences with senior players over his training methods. "Either you be like a Ravi Shastri, who would be media-friendly, give those sound bites propping up players making them look like alpha males," said the former selector, who toured a lot during Shastri's tenure as coach. "Or be like Rahul Dravid, Gary Kirsten or John Wright, who would remain aloof, letting the players hog the limelight. "The 'Chappell Way' doesn't work in India. Gambhir or Shastri or Dravids will go but players will stay," he added. The BCCI brass is also upset with how Gambhir's personal assistant shadowed the team everywhere in Australia. "Why was his PA sitting in the car specified for national selectors? They can't even discuss things in private with an unknown third person in the car. Why was he allotted space in the BCCI's hospitality box in Adelaide?," an irritated BCCI official said.

India aim for clean sweep in final women's ODI vs Ireland

PTI ■ RAJKOT

A dominant India will fancy their chances of completing a clean sweep of the women's ODI series against Ireland in the third and final match here on Wednesday, having recorded two convincing wins in the preceding games. With another power-packed batting performance, the Indian team will be aiming to continue their impressive run and finish on a high note. Pratika Rawal, after scoring her third half-century in just four innings, will be eager to translate her start into a maiden hundred. Her blistering opening partnerships with skipper Smriti Mandhana have been the biggest takeaway of the series. The duo added 156 runs for the first wicket in their previous outing, marking their third century-plus stand in five innings. Mandhana's consistency at the top continues to be a major highlight for India as the flamboyant left-hander has carried on her form across formats from the West Indies series. Harleen Deol, who initially struggled for momentum, found her rhythm later in the innings, scoring an important 89. Thanks to Jemimah Rodrigues, who displayed patience and composure before accelerating in the final stages of the innings, India smashed their highest-ever ODI total of 370/5 in the last game. Promoted to No. 4 in Harmanpreet Kaur's absence, Rodrigues showed maturity after getting a reprieve on 34, and it took her just 28 balls to reach her second fifty.

"It was an added responsibility... Initially I showed a lot of patience, which was again a big positive for me because it was important for me to spend time there to get those runs," Rodrigues said.

"And you know, I was getting the runs. But I was not spending enough time to make it bigger. So I was happy I could do that today." Seasoned batter Tejal Hasanbis also made a fine comeback with an unbeaten fifty in the opening ODI. In the absence of big hitters like Shafali Verma and Kaur, who has been rested, the series also highlighted the performance of the emerging talents with Pratika making the most of it. India's bowling though has raised some concerns, as the team has struggled to take wickets consistently in home conditions and allowed Ireland to post 254/7 in pursuit of 371. While India are missing Renuka Singh, the injury to Pooja Vastrakar has compounded their misery. Deepti Sharma, who played in her 100th ODI in the last match, has been the standout bowler with four wickets at 19.50, while the likes of Priya Mishra, Sayali Satghare, Titas Sadhu have not been able to impress. The Irish batting has largely revolved around the trio of skipper Gaby Lewis, Christina Coulter-Reilly, and Leah Paul, each of whom has posted a half-century. However, the Irish fielding has been a cause for concern with the team conceding unnecessary runs.
