EU backs Ukraine after Trump debacle

President Donald Trumps meets Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelenskyy in the Oval Office at the White House in Washington PTI

PTI ■ NEW YORK
Ukraine's European partners as well as other global leaders rallied behind President Volodymyr Zelenskyy while the White House touted support for President Donald Trump's 'American First strength' after a remarkable showdown in the Oval Office between the two leaders. Zelenskyy departed the White House on Friday after an unprecedented verbal clash in the Oval Office between him and Trump and Vice President JD Vance.

The heated exchange between Trump and Zelenskyy and the resulting outpouring of support for the Ukrainian leader highlighted the deep fissures that have emerged between America and Europe over Ukraine. Zelenskyy's timeline on X was filled with messages of support from European allies and other countries from across the world. His response to all the messages was "Thank you for your support." President of the European Commission Ursula von der Leyen, who was in India on Friday for an official visit, said in a post on X, "Your dignity honours the bravery of the Ukrainian people. Be strong, be brave, be fearless. You are never alone, dear President @ZelenskyyUa. We will continue working with you for a just and lasting peace." French President Emmanuel Macron, who met Trump just this past Monday, said in a post on X that there is an aggressor: Russia. "There is a victim: Ukraine. We were right to help Ukraine and sanction Russia three years ago-and to keep doing so. By 'we,' I mean the Americans, the Europeans, the Canadians, the Japanese, and many others," Macron said. "Thank you to all who have helped and continue to do so. And respect to those who have been fighting since the beginning-because they are fighting for their dignity, their independence, their children, and the security of Europe," Macron said. Italy's Prime Minister Giorgia Meloni, a close Trump ally, she would call for an EU-US summit to get diplomacy back on track. "What is needed is an immediate summit between the United States, European states, and allies to talk frankly about how we intend to deal with the great challenges of today, starting with Ukraine, which together we have defended in recent years," she said in a statement. Friedrich Merz, Germany's likely next chancellor, wrote on X, "Dear Volodymyr @zelenskyyua, we stand with #Ukraine in good and in testing times. We must never confuse aggressor and victim in this terrible war." Prime Minister of Estonia Kristen Michal said his country stands united with Zelenskyy and Ukraine in its fight for freedom. "Always. Because it is right, not easy," Michal said. The White House put out a statement 'Support Pours in for President Trump, VP Vance's America First Strength' and added that Trump and Vance "made clear to the world that the United States will not be taken advantage of - a sentiment echoed by the cabinet and members of Congress from across the country." The statement carried quotes from several lawmakers, including Secretary of State Marco Rubio and Secretary of Homeland Security Kristi Noem. "Thank you @POTUS for standing up for America in a way that no President has ever had the courage to do before. Thank you for putting America First. America is with you!", Rubio, who was seated next to Vance in the Oval Office during the bilateral meeting with Zelenskyy as the talks unravelled, said.

India to remain fastest growing economy: IMF

PTI ■ NEW YORK
Multilateral financing Agency International Monetary Fund (IMF) has said that India will retain its position as the fastest-growing major economy by clocking a GDP growth of 6.5 per cent in 2025-26, on the back of robust private investment and macroeconomic stability. India's strong economic performance, the IMF said, provides an opportunity for the country to advance critical and challenging structural reforms to realise the ambition of becoming an advanced economy by 2047. "Real GDP is expected to grow at 6.5 per cent in 2024-25 and 2025-26. According to the estimate released by the Indian government, the country's economy is expected to clock a growth rate of 6.5 per cent during 2024-25. "Headline inflation is expected to converge to target as food price shocks wane," the IMF said after Article IV consultations with India. The IMF statement also underlined the need for deeper implementation of structural reforms to boost private investment and push growth. "...Comprehensive structural reforms are crucial to create high-quality jobs, invigorate investment, and unleash higher potential growth. Efforts should focus on implementing labour market reforms, strengthening human capital, and supporting greater participation of women in the labour force," it added. Boosting private investment and FDI, the IMF statement said, was vital and would require stable policy frameworks, greater ease of doing business, governance reforms, and increased trade integration.

Delhi snaps fuel for aged vehicles

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI
In a move to check vehicle pollution, the BJP-led Delhi government announced on Saturday that vehicles older than 15 years will no longer be allowed to refuel at petrol pumps in the Capital after March 31. Environment Minister Manjinder Singh Sirsa announced on Saturday the Delhi government will stop providing petrol to vehicles older than 15 years at fuel stations across the city after March 31. This comes after a high level meeting with officials of environment department to discuss measures to combat air pollution in the national Capital. Sirsa announced anti-pollution measures saying the government is taking stringent steps to curb vehicular emissions and pollution. Besides, he also announced that all high-rise buildings, hotels, and commercial complexes in the capital must install anti-smog guns to curb air pollution levels. "We are installing gadgets at petrol pumps which will identify vehicles older than 15 years, and no fuel will be provided to them," Sirsa said after the meeting. He added that the Delhi government would inform the Union Ministry of Petroleum about this decision. Delhi and the National Capital Region (NCR) already enforce a policy prohibiting diesel vehicles older than 10 years and petrol vehicles older than 15 years from operating on the roads. A 2021 directive reinforced this rule, mandating that violators found after January 1, 2022, would have their vehicles impounded and sent to scrap yards. The meeting, which went on for over three hours, was called to discuss only issues related to air pollution. Petrol vehicles over the age of 15 and diesel vehicles over the age of 10 years have not been allowed to run in the city for the past several years. These vehicles can be sold in other states after procuring No-Objection Certificates. The national Capital has more than 425 petrol-diesel stations. According to rough estimates, there are around 55 Lakh overage vehicles, 66 per cent of which are two-wheelers and 54 per cent four-wheelers, the officer said. The government also plans to phase out nearly 90 per cent of CNG-driven public transport buses in Delhi by December 2025, replacing them with electric buses to promote cleaner and more sustainable transport. Giving more details about the implementation of new rules, the officer said many fuel stations in Delhi have already installed AI-enabled cameras to check violations of pollution under control (PUC) certificate rules. "These cameras currently detect vehicles which do not have PUC certificate and the fuel pump staff deny fuel to such vehicles. We can also use these AI-enabled cameras to detect the age of particular vehicles. For this, we need to upgrade our system," the officer added. He said the fuel pumps which currently do not have such devices will have them installed soon. Moreover, the Delhi government will deploy teams to identify overage vehicles and ensure they are either prevented from entering the city or removed if already present. Delhi Petrol Dealers Association President Nischal Singhania welcomed the announcement on fuel restrictions. "Vehicles older than 15 years are already banned by the Supreme Court; they can't ply in Delhi. We already have systems where we capture the number plates of vehicles, and the system was used only to give alerts to customers who don't have a PUC setup. I think the same system can be used to capture the number of vehicles which are 15 years old," Singhania added.

according to an official statement. He also said that strict action should be taken against those creating obstructions on the roads. Officials said Shah took stock of the security situation in Manipur and a detailed briefing was given on the overall law and order situation in the State. Shah directed that the fencing work on both sides of the designated entry points along Manipur's international border should be completed at the earliest. The Home Minister said to make Manipur drug-free, the entire network involved in the drug trade should be dismantled. Those who attended the meeting included Governor Ajay Kumar Bhalla, Union Home Secretary Govind

Mohan, Director of Intelligence Bureau Tapan Deka, Deputy Chief of Army Staff and Commander of the Army's Eastern Command among others. President's rule was imposed in Manipur on February 13 after N Biren Singh resigned as Chief Minister. The State Assembly, which has a tenure till 2027, has been put under suspended animation. The security review was held after the February 20 ultimatum given by the Governor to everyone holding illegal and looted arms to surrender. During the seven-day period, more than 300 weapons were surrendered by the public, primarily in the valley districts. These include 246 firearms surrendered by Meitei radical group Arambai

Tenggol. Bhalla on Friday extended the deadline for the surrender of looted and illegal arms until 4 pm on March 6 following demands by people from both hill and valley areas for additional time. Several thousand arms were looted from police in different places in Manipur during the initial phase of the ethnic violence that began about 22 months ago. Since taking over the charge of Governor on January 3, Bhalla has been meeting cross sections of people, taking feedback from them on how to bring back normalcy in the northeastern state. He has also chaired several meetings in Manipur where law and order situation on the state was discussed and gave necessary directions to the security forces, officials said. Bhalla, a former Union Home Secretary, who had closely worked with Shah for five years till August 2024, was handpicked by the Union home minister himself and said to have given the mandate to bring back normalcy to the restive state. The violence in Manipur started after a 'Tribal Solidarity March' was organised in the hill districts to protest against the Meitei community's demand for Scheduled Tribe (ST) status in May 2023.

Delhi police's civil wings clipped

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI
In a big relief to common man, the newly elected BJP led Delhi government has issued an order, making it clear that Delhi police has no role to stop or allow constructions in the national Capital. There is no provision under Delhi Municipal Corporation (DMC) Act, 1957 by which a person is required to seek the permission from police for carrying out the construction. It has been informed that there is a misconception prevalent to the effect that a person needs to obtain permission from the police for carrying out construction of a building. Delhi's Additional Chief Secretary further directed the Delhi police to sensitise their field officials to prevent the misuse of the provision of law and to remove the misconception that there is any need of permission from police for carrying out any construction of building. This comes after a high level meeting chaired by the Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday. The meeting was attended by Chief Minister Rekha Gupta, Delhi Home Minister Ashish Sood and Police Commissioner Sanjay Arora and other senior officials of policing departments. During the meeting concerns were raised about police officers demanding bribes for allowing illegal construction activities. There were several instances in the past when police personnel caught taking bribe for allowing constructions. "Building construction activity is regulated by the MCD and other Local Bodies in their respective jurisdictions. Section 312 / 313 of the DMC Act, 1957 provides finalising of Layout Plan, Section 336 of the DMC Act, 1957 provides for sanction of building plan and Section 346 for occupancy / completion certificate. There is no provision under DMC Act, 1957 by which a person is required to seek the permission from police for carrying out the construction." "There are, however, certain provisions, in the DMC Act, 1957, related to giving information by police to the MCD wrt an offence under the DMC Act or any rule, regulation or by laws made there under or carrying out investigation of such offence and follow up action [for example - Section 474, 475 and 466 A of the DMC Act, 1957]. It has been informed that there is a misconception prevalent to the effect that a person needs to obtain permission from the police for carrying out construction of a building. It has also been brought to the notice that there is sometimes misuse of the provisions mentioned in the (para 2) above for the purpose of rent seeking," reads the circular.

Massive fire engulfs chemical factory at Govindpura, spreads to nearby units

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

A massive fire erupted in a chemical factory in Govindpura Industrial Area of the state capital on Saturday, causing significant damage not only to the factory itself but also to two nearby factories.

The fire, which broke out around 1:30 pm, was so intense that the flames soared up to 40 feet, with thick black smoke visible from a distance of 10 kilometers. The smoke cloud caused panic in the area, and a large crowd gathered, leading to a traffic jam. Police were called in to clear the area and ensure the safety of civilians.

The fire started in the Anand Organics chemical factory, located behind the Tata and Mahindra showrooms in JK Road. This factory, owned by Prem Chawla, produced thinner, and a large stock of 40,000 liters of chemicals was stored in the rear section of the building.

The fire's intensity worsened when a large cylinder within the factory premises burst, causing a further escalation of the blaze. As the fire raged on, two nearby factories also became engulfed in flames. The response to the fire was swift, with 12 fire engines and 50 water tankers dispatched to the scene from various fire stations, including those in Govindpura, Pul Bogda, and Fatehgarh. Firefighters worked tirelessly for five hours to control the blaze.

Initially, the fire was tackled using water, but this only intensified the flames, as water reacted with the chemicals. Eventually, firefighters mixed foam with water to extinguish the fire more effectively. The rear walls of the factory were also broken down with the help of a JCB to access the stored chemicals, which helped bring the fire under control.

The large-scale fire and the thick smoke that billowed into the air created a hazardous environment. The fire's impact was felt across the industrial area, as the flames spread rapidly, damaging not only the Anand Organics factory but also affecting the neighboring factories. Employees from these factories had to be evacuated, and some workers from the affected factory were injured due to the blaze.

The cause of the fire is suspected to be a short circuit. The explosion of a large cylinder within the factory compound amplified the fire's ferocity, leading to heightened concern among the nearby businesses. As a precautionary measure, showroom operators in the vicinity, including those of the Tata and Mahindra showrooms, shut their establishments to ensure the safety of their employees and customers.

NSUI launches awareness campaign against draft UGC Regulation 2025

PNS ■ JABALPUR

The National Students' Union of India (NSUI) conducted an awareness campaign across various colleges in Jabalpur against the Draft UGC Regulation 2025, informing students about the potential threats posed by the new policy. During the campaign, NSUI activists distributed pamphlets highlighting concerns related to the privatization of education, neglect of the reservation policy, arbitrary appointments of vice-chancellors, and increasing inequality in higher education.

The campaign was led by NSUI National Spokesperson Viraj Yadav and State Secretary Rahul Yadav. Addressing the students, they alleged that the government is promoting privatization in education as part of a conspiracy to deprive common students of access to higher education. NSUI National Spokesperson Viraj Yadav accused the government of deliberately handing over higher education to corporate entities, making it increasingly difficult for students from poor and middle-class backgrounds to pursue their studies. He further stated that after the New Education Policy, the UGC Regulation 2025 poses yet another major attack on students' rights.

State Secretary Rahul Yadav criticized the government for continuously weakening the education sector, jeopardizing students' futures. He urged students to unite and fight against these policies to protect their rights. Throughout the campaign, NSUI activists engaged with students in various colleges, explaining the negative impacts of the new policy and distributing informative pamphlets.

The campaign alleged that the government is encouraging interference from the RSS and industrialists in universities, threatening the autonomy of educational institutions. Concerns were also raised over the lack of transparency in the appointment of vice-chancellors, with accusations of RSS-affiliated individuals being strategically placed in high positions. The issue of discontinuing the UGC CARE list was also highlighted, as it could adversely impact research and the quality of higher education. Additionally, the NSUI criticized the sharp increase in examination and application fees, which places an additional financial burden on students.

As per the directives of NSUI National President Varun Chaudhary, the campaign will not remain confined to Jabalpur but will be expanded across the state on a larger scale. The organization reaffirmed its commitment to fighting for students' rights and ensuring that no anti-student policy is implemented. Several NSUI activists, including Sahil Mishra, Abhay Thakur, and Shriram Chandel, were present during the campaign.

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

The Union Budget 2025-26 has placed a well-deserved spotlight on India's Annadata, reaffirming the government's commitment to spurring agricultural growth and productivity. Identified as one of the ten key focus areas for developmental intervention, agriculture remains a powerful engine driving India's economic progress.

A 'Post-Budget Webinar' was held on March 01, 2025 to discuss the implementation of the Union Budget 2025-26 Announcements. The opening remarks were delivered by the Prime Minister and chaired by the secretaries of various departments from the Department of Agriculture & Farmers' Welfare (DoA&FW). The participants included various representatives from the DoA&FW along with other stakeholders namely RBI, NABARD, Scheduled Commercial Banks (SCBs), Regional Rural Banks (RRBs), State Cooperatives and District Central Cooperative Banks (StCBs and DCCBs), State Level Bankers' Committees (SLBCs), Krishi Vikas Kendras (KVKs), and farmers from across the nook and corner of the country. As also mentioned in the Economic Survey 2024, as on 31.3.2024, there are 7.75 crore operational Kisan Credit Card (KCC) accounts. By meeting short-term credit needs, the KCC scheme has played a crucial role in enhancing agricultural productivity and boosting farmers' incomes. The KCC-Modified Interest Subvention Scheme (KCC-MISS) has been offering loans to farmers at an effective subsidized rate of interest at 4 percent.

To further ensure easy access to affordable credit, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has increased the collateral-free KCC loans from Rs 1.6 lakh to Rs 2 lakh. In a major step forward, the Union Budget 2025-26 has enhanced the credit limit under the Modified Interest Subvention Scheme (MISS) from ₹3 lakh to Rs 5 lakh. This move is expected to reduce financial stress on small and marginal farmers while promoting greater investment in agriculture. This will significantly help in meeting the increased working capital requirements of the farmers for crop production, horticulture, animal husbandry and fisheries.

Chief Minister Mohan Yadav has said that Madhya Pradesh is emerging as a major industrial hub, driven by its rich textile and apparel industry. He highlighted that the state's agricultural prosperity, the exceptional craftsmanship of traditional weaver communities, a strong modern industrial base, and investor-friendly policies significantly boost the textile sector. While inaugurating GIS-Bhopal, Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi declared Madhya Pradesh as the 'Cotton Capital' of India, recognizing it as the largest cotton-producing state in the country. He also praised the state's renowned textile heritage, including Chanderi and Maheshwari sarees, Bagh print, Chipa hand-block print, and Batik print. Additionally, he announced that one of India's seven major textile parks is being established in Madhya Pradesh. Due to the state government's proactive efforts, investors from India and abroad have shown keen interest in Bhopal. Chief Minister Dr. Yadav expressed his delight that Madhya Pradesh is rapidly emerging as India's textile and apparel hub. Investment in the textile industry received a significant boost at the Global Investors Summit in Bhopal. A major share of the Rs 21 thousand crore investment proposals for the MSME sector in Madhya Pradesh is directed toward the textile industry. This investment is expected to generate over 1.3 lakh employment opportunities for the youth. Additionally, an investment of Rs 8,616 crore has been proposed under the Department of Industry and Investment Promotion. Currently, Madhya Pradesh is home to more than 60 large textile mills, along with over 1,200 units operating in Indore's readymade garment and apparel cluster. The PM Mitra Park being built in Dhar district of Madhya Pradesh is the largest textile park in the country. It will create more than one lakh direct and more than two lakh indirect employment opportunities. PM-Mitra Park will re-establish the state in the textile industry. Madhya Pradesh accounts for 43 percent of India's organic cotton production and contributes 24 percent to the global cotton supply. The state produces approximately 31,700 metric tons of cotton annually, earning it the title of the Cotton Capital of India. Additionally, Madhya Pradesh produces 200 metric tons of silk, including mulberry silk. The Madhya Pradesh government has introduced the New Textile Policy-2025, offering a range of financial and non-financial incentives to attract investment in the textile industry. Key provisions of the policy include: Entrepreneurs will receive 10 percent to 40 percent of their investment in plant and machinery as Investment Promotion Assistance. A 5 percent to 7 percent interest subsidy on loans will be provided for five years. Infrastructure Development Assistance of up to Rs 1 crore will be granted for the development of electricity, water, and road infrastructure in industrial units. A Green Industrialization Support of up to Rs 1 crore will be provided for waste management systems within industrial premises. Investors setting up an apparel training institute will receive financial assistance of up to Rs 50 lakh. For the first time, the government will offer a 100 percent refund of patent fees (up to Rs 5 lakh) as Patent Support and provide necessary assistance in the patent registration process. At GIS-Bhopal, Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi outlined the 5F Vision—Farm, Fiber, Factory, Fashion, and Foreign—to drive growth in the textile and garment sector. He emphasized that India, particularly Madhya Pradesh, possesses all elements of the textile value chain. These include strengthening the supply chain by linking cotton and silk farmers with raw material producers.

Ramadan begins: A month of fasting, prayer, and charity

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

With the sighting of the Ramadan moon on Saturday, the Muslim community in the city will observe the month-long dawn-to-dusk fasts that culminate with the sighting of the Eid moon. The sighting of the moon resulted in congratulatory notes and messages between community members, who later downed shutters of their establishments to participate in Taraveeh prayers that continue late into the night. The month of Ramadan, the ninth on the Islamic calendar, is a period for reflection, devotion, and compassion towards the less fortunate. Leaders of the Muslim community, including Shaikh Qazi Syed Mushtaq Ali Nadvi, Naib Qazi Ali Qadr Hussaini, and others, have extended congratulations while urging community members to spend the holy month dedicating themselves to devotion and piety. Meanwhile, the Dawoodi Bohra community observed the second fast of the month, which they observe in accordance with the teachings of their spiritual leader. A large contingent of Bohra Muslims participated in prayers at the community mosque in the Malipura area of the old city. Security measures are in place as picketing and patrolling remain heightened to maintain peace in sensitive neighbourhoods across the state capital. Markets in the old city wore a festive look as large crowds of shoppers spent the day buying clothes, groceries, fruits, and other essentials for the Ramadan season. Several political leaders too have issued congratulatory messages and extended best wishes to citizens while highlighting the benefits that the holy month brings for the poor and the disadvantaged. The Hanafi sect of Indian Muslims believes that money spent on charity or for their families and themselves comes back to them manifold over the next year.

Man dies mysteriously at in-laws' house

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

A 30-year-old man's death at his in-laws' house has sparked controversy, with his family alleging that he was poisoned, while his in-laws claim he committed suicide. The police are yet to determine the exact cause of death. The deceased, Rahul Deshwali, a resident of Ganesh Nagar, Misrod, had gone to his wife's maternal home in Kolar when his health suddenly deteriorated, leading to his death. His father has alleged that Rahul was murdered by mixing poison in his alcohol, while his in-laws insist he consumed poison himself. SHO Sanjay Soni stated that Rahul's health deteriorated after arriving at his in-laws' house, and he was taken to the hospital, where he was declared dead.

His body was handed over to the family after post-mortem, but the exact cause of death remains unclear as statements from both families are yet to be recorded. The case is under investigation. According to Rahul's father, he was married to Sushma, a resident of Kajikheda, Kolar, in 2021. The couple frequently had disputes, and five months ago, they welcomed a son, Veeransh. He further claimed that three months ago, Sushma's sister's husband took her to her maternal home without reason, and she had been staying there since. Rahul had repeatedly tried to bring her back but was allegedly beaten and turned away each time. On Friday afternoon, Rahul left to bring Sushma back. However, later that night, his family received a call informing them that he was unwell and being taken to the hospital.

Prohibitory orders in Bhopal to curb social media misuse

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Bhopal Police on Saturday issued a prohibitory order to prevent the misuse of social media platforms in spreading hatred, inciting violence, and disrupting communal harmony. Enforced under Section 163 of the Indian Civil Security Code, 2023, the order took immediate effect and will remain in force for the next two months. The move comes in response to growing concerns that anti-social elements have been using platforms such as Facebook, WhatsApp, Twitter, and Instagram to circulate objectionable messages, images, and videos that could provoke communal tensions. Authorities have warned that any violation of the directive will result in stringent legal action. The order strictly prohibits individuals from using social media to disseminate messages that incite religious, social, or caste-based hatred. Posting, transmitting, or sharing inflammatory content—including photos, videos, or audio clips—likely to disturb communal peace is banned. Even liking, commenting on, or forwarding such content will be considered a violation. Social media group administrators are also held accountable for ensuring that no objectionable content circulates within their groups. Furthermore, the directive forbids the spread of rumors, distortion of facts, or promotion of illegal activities that could lead to violence or unrest. It also restricts individuals and organizations from using social media to call for gatherings that may result in unlawful activities or public disorder. As part of the preventive measures, cybercafe owners in Bhopal have been instructed to verify the identity of all users through valid ID proof. They must maintain a visitor register and install webcams to capture user photographs for security purposes. Bhopal Police has made it clear that any violations will be dealt with strictly, without prior notice. However, individuals found in breach of the directive will have the right to appeal under Section 163 of the Indian Civil Security Code, 2023.

Group of women protests against incineration of Carbide waste

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

A group of women staged a protest in Pithampur town in Dhar district of Madhya Pradesh, on Saturday, opposing the incineration of hazardous waste from the 1984 Bhopal gas tragedy. The demonstration took place a day after the trial burning of 10 tonnes of waste began. The protest was led by Monika Solanki, an activist from Pithampur industrial area and a resident of Tarpura village, located near the Waste Management Company. The group gathered at the Maharana Pratap Bus Stand, where they sat on the stairs, holding a portrait of Dr. BR Ambedkar, and raised slogans against the government and administration for ignoring their demands. Speaking to the media, Monika Solanki stated, "A large number of people lost their lives in the 1984 Union Carbide disaster, and now their remains, along with the waste, are being incinerated in Pithampur. We have been opposing this for years. We demand the government to return the waste to Bhopal, or our protest will continue until it is relocated." However, the protest lasted only 30 minutes, as officials, including the police, engaged in discussions with the demonstrators and assured them that the process was being conducted scientifically and safely. The trial incineration of 10 out of 337 tonnes of waste started on Friday afternoon in Pithampur. Initial reports indicated that air quality and environmental parameters remained within normal limits. Superintendent of Police Manoj Singh reassured protesters that the incineration was scientific and safe. Meanwhile, heavy police deployment remains at the incineration site due to previous protests since the 337 tonnes of waste were transported to Pithampur from Bhopal in special trucks on January 2.

Decorative lights worth lakhs stolen

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Having bedazzled visitors during the recent Investors Summit, decorative lights worth lakhs of rupees have gone missing from city streets and landmarks. Pointing towards the growing impunity of thieves, the lights have been stolen from right under the nose of the security apparatus in the state capital, from key areas such as VIP Road and the Upper Lake. Lights carrying an estimated value of Rs 6 lakh vanished from Sufi saint Shah Ali Shah's mausoleum, also known as his Takia, in the middle of the Upper Lake, along with other parts of the city. The theft has alarmed authorities, who are now scrambling to address the situation. The Bhopal Municipal Corporation (BMC) had invested over Rs crores in the city's beautification for the summit. The lights, installed by contractors, were stolen from multiple locations, including Polytechnic Square and VIP Road. Now, four special teams have been deployed to monitor decorations and track down those responsible. If caught, the culprits will be handed over to the police. At Shah Ali Shah's Takia alone, nearly 60 large decorative lights were installed, each costing Rs 12,000. Other theft-prone locations include Kamla Park Road, Polytechnic Road, Nanke Petrol Pump to Mata Mandir Road, and Link Road No 1. The scale of the theft suggests a well-planned operation, possibly involving multiple perpetrators. The Global Investors Summit, held on February 24-25, attracted leading industrialists from India and abroad. While the event showcased Bhopal's potential as an investment hub, the post-summit theft has left authorities red-faced, prompting urgent efforts to recover the stolen lights and prevent further incidents.

Ramadan revives city's age-old Patiyebaazi tradition

AKBAR KHAN ■ BHOPAL

When erstwhile rulers decided to cover open drains with locally available red sandstone slabs or patiyas, little did they realise that they were unwittingly creating the mise-en-scène for a city tradition that simply refuses to die. Back in the day, the few affluent in the city entertained guests in the deodhis or foyers of their houses, as the purdah tradition forbade menfolk from inviting outsiders into the sanctum of their homes. The deodhis were only open to invitees. If the elite had access to these private entertainment spaces where men gathered for discussions, debates, qissas, and leg-pulling, the hoi polloi had found an equivalent on the patiyas that had apparently been planned to curb cholera, a killer disease at the time. Come evening, working-class men would gather to sit at these patiyas and discuss life and everything that surrounded it 'til the wee hours over cups of chai, supplied by tea shops in the vicinity that were prompt in tapping into this new market. Not surprisingly, these meeting places were looked down upon by the elite, who believed them to be symbols of working-class wannabeism. The rich, however, were not the only critics of this exclusively male domain, which continued to draw resentment from women. Young brides viewed them as a bane, for their grooms often left them behind to hang out with their comrades at these highly addictive meeting places. Some complained that they felt insecure at the sight of these exclusively male gatherings. Under feminine rule for generations, the average Bhopali woman of the day was a comparatively politically evolved specimen. Though no one is sure if the ladies engineered it, the patiyas soon started to be visited by law enforcers who shooed away the men, scattering them indoors.

After India's Independence, the abolition of jagirdari and privy purses saw the elite embrace socialism as these very patiyas, where they realised that intellectualism, poetry, philosophy, and politics were not, after all, the exclusive domain of a privileged few. This dismantling of the high horse by the elite added a profound yet simple phrase to the city lexicon that noted these arrivals as patiyon pe aa jaana (to finally arrive on the patiyas). Tonight, with the commencement of Ramadan, the patiyas of Old Bhopal will come alive in a celebration of this city tradition that the law enforcers will overlook until Eid.

Implement agriculture budget in speedy way: PM

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday called for expeditious implementation of the budgetary proposals for agriculture and rural development, urging stakeholders to focus on "action" instead of deliberating on a new budget. Addressing a post-budget webinar on 'Agriculture and Rural Prosperity', the Prime Minister emphasised that the budget reflects the government's new expansion of the vision for a "Viksit Bharat" with a consistent policy approach in its third term. "It is important to implement this year's budget in a speedy manner. The budget has been formed and our entire focus should be on the action," Modi said, adding that the stakeholders should identify "obstacles and shortcomings" in budget implementation. Modi said before the budget, inputs and suggestions from all stakeholders helped in framing it. "Now this budget needs to be implemented more effectively on the ground, and for a better outcome, the (stakeholders') role is even more crucial.

Agriculture is considered as the first engine of growth and the government is moving ahead with the twin target of achieving agricultural growth and rural prosperity, he said. Modi said the government is committed towards the goal of "Viksit Bharat" and the effort is to ensure no farmer is left behind and to advance every farmer. "We need to fully explore the country's agricultural potential and achieve more targets." The Prime Minister highlighted record achievements in the agriculture sector, noting that foodgrain production has increased from 265 Million Tonnes a decade ago to over 330 Million Tonnes currently. Similarly, horticulture production has grown to exceed 350 Million Tonnes. Modi specifically mentioned the PM Dhan Dhanya Krishi Yojana, describing it as "a very important scheme" for him. The initiative will focus on 100 districts with low crop yields, following the successful model of aspirational districts. "We have announced the setting up of a Makhana Board in Bihar. I urge all stakeholders to explore and promote diverse nutritional foods across the country and in the global market," he said. The Prime Minister highlighted ICAR's contributions, stating that between 2014 and 2024, more than 2,900 new varieties of foodgrains, pulses, and sugarcane and other crops were developed using modern tools and cutting-edge technology in the breeding programme. "You have to ensure these new varieties are available at affordable rates to farmers. We also need to ensure farmers' produce is not affected by weather aberrations," Modi said. He mentioned that a central mission on high-yielding seeds has been announced in the budget. "I especially urge the private sector to become part of the seed chain to ensure high-yielding seeds reach small farmers." On pulses production, the Prime Minister acknowledged improvements but pointed out that India still imports 20 per cent of its domestic consumption needs. While the country has achieved self-sufficiency in chickpeas (chana) and moong dal, Modi stressed increasing production of tur, urad and masoor through high-yielding varieties and hybrid seeds. The Prime Minister noted that approximately ₹3.75 Lakh Crore has been transferred directly to 11 crore farmers under the PM-KISAN scheme since its launch six years ago. The annual financial assistance of ₹6,000 is strengthening the rural economy. He mentioned that a farmer-centric digital infrastructure has been created to ensure the benefits of this scheme reach farmers across the country, eliminating any scope for intermediaries or leakages. Referring to the fisheries sector, Modi said, "In 2019, we had launched PM Matsya Sampada Yojana. It was an important step towards strengthening the value chain, creating infrastructure and modernisation. It helped improve production, productivity and post-harvest management in the fishery sector." "The sector has seen higher investment and results are before us: fish production and export have increased two-fold. We are going to design a framework for sustainable harnessing of fisheries from the Indian Exclusive Economic Zone and High Seas," he added. Modi urged stakeholders to explore ideas on ease of doing business in the fisheries sector while protecting the interests of traditional fishermen. "Our government is committed to enriching the rural economy", the Prime Minister said, adding that under the PM Awas Yojana-Gramin, crores of poor people are being provided with homes, and the Swamitva Yojana has given property owners Record of Rights. He noted that the Pradhan Mantri Gram Sadak Yojana has benefited small farmers and businesses and also highlighted the progress in empowering self-help group. "We kept the target of 3 crore lakhpathi didis. With our efforts, more than 1.25 Crore women have become lakhpathi didis." The announcements in this budget for rural prosperity and development programs have created numerous new employment opportunities. Investments in skilling and technology are generating new opportunities, he added.

Probe ordered into plastic sheets use for idli steaming

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

The Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) has directed Karnataka's State Food Safety Department to investigate reports of plastic sheets being used in the steaming process of idlis in some local restaurants. The move comes in response to concerns over food safety and hygiene, with the FSSAI urging swift action against any establishments found violating regulations. The State Food Safety Department has been directed to take immediate necessary action on the issue and implement strict measures against Food Business Operators (FBOs) or hotels found using plastic in food preparation, the FSSAI said in a statement. FSSAI, which is closely monitoring the situation, further said the practice of using plastic sheets raises significant food safety concerns due to the potential leaching of harmful chemicals from plastic into the food. "The use of low-quality or non-food-grade plastics in food preparation, particularly under high temperatures, poses a serious health risk," FSSAI CEO G Kamala Vardhana Rao said. These low-grade plastics can release toxic substances such as bisphenol. A (BPA), phthalates, and other chemicals when exposed to high heat and can leach into food items, potentially causing adverse health effects, he said. FSSAI is working closely with the state food safety officials to investigate the matter thoroughly and ensure that stringent actions are taken against those who violate food safety regulations. FSSAI emphasises that the use of food-grade materials and hygienic practices are crucial in food preparation. The process of steaming idlis should be done as per convention or approved food-grade materials that do not pose a risk of chemical contamination. Idli batter is traditionally spread out on fresh cotton cloths, which are then placed on idli pans and steam-cooked.

Goyal to visit Washington for bilateral trade talks

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal will visit Washington next week, as India and the United States (US) are planning to negotiate a bilateral trade agreement, an official said. The visit will start from March 3 and the minister is expected to be in the US till Friday, the official added. During the recent visit of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to Washington, India and the US announced their commitment to more than double the two-way commerce to $500 Billion by 2030 and negotiate the first tranche of a mutually beneficial, multi-sector Bilateral Trade Agreement (BTA) by fall of 2025. Goyal is likely to hold talks with US Trade Representative (USTR) Jamieson Greer and US Commerce Secretary Howard Lutnick during the visit. The Commerce Ministry has already started engagements with different departments on the India-US trade aspects and related developments. The proposed agreement is an opportunity to boost bilateral trade and investments between the two countries amid threat of US President Donald Trump to impose higher tariffs on Indian goods. Tariffs are import duties imposed and collected by government and paid by the companies to bring foreign goods into the country. The Commerce Ministry takes views of all ministries concerned on proposed trade agreements. The nature of the agreement would be decided by both sides.

Goyal has earlier stated that the two countries can offer concessions and duty reductions, as their economies complement each other. Normally in a free trade agreement, two trading partners either eliminate or significantly reduce customs duties on the maximum number of goods traded between them. Besides, they ease norms to promote trade in services and boost investments. During the first term of US President Donald Trump, the two countries had discussed a mini-trade deal, but it was shelved by the Joe Biden administration as they were not in favour of such pacts. In 2023, the US-India bilateral trade in goods and services stood at $190.08 Billion ($123.89 Billion in goods and $66.19 Billion in services trade). That year, India's merchandise exports to the US stood at $83.77 Billion, while imports were $40.12 Billion, leaving a trade gap of $43.65 Billion in favour of India. The country's services export to America was $36.33 Billion in 2023, while imports were aggregated at $29.86 Billion. The trade gap (difference between imports and exports) was $6.47 Billion in favour of New Delhi. During 2021-24, America was the largest trading partner of India. The US is one of the few countries with which India has a trade surplus. In 2023-24, the US was the largest trading partner of India with $119.71 Billion bilateral trade in goods $77.51 Billion worth of exports, $42.19 Billion of imports, with $35.31 Billion trade surplus).

India, EU discuss efforts to accelerate FTA talks

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

With India and the European Union (EU) setting the year-end deadline to conclude a free trade agreement, teams from both sides held discussions on Saturday to accelerate efforts towards a balanced and mutually beneficial pact. The meeting was held between Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal and EU Commissioner for Trade and Economic Security Maros Sefcovic in Mumbai along with officials from both sides. "Our discussions focused on accelerating efforts towards a balanced and mutually beneficial free trade agreement. Looking forward to deepening economic ties and fostering a prosperous India-EU partnership," Goyal said in a post on X. On February 28, Prime Minister Narendra Modi and European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen agreed to seal a much-awaited free trade deal by this year amid rising concerns over Unites States President Donald Trump's policy on tariffs. The two sides are scheduled to hold the tenth round of negotiations for the FTA from March 10-14 in Brussels. Further strengthening of economic ties between the two is crucial in light of the threat from US President Donald Trump to impose higher tariffs. In the current uncertain global economic situation, India is the fastest-growing major economy. It is projected to grow at 6.4 per cent in 2024-25. In June 2022, India and the 27-nation EU bloc resumed the negotiations after a gap of over eight years. It stalled in 2013 due to differences over the level of opening up of the markets. Besides demanding significant duty cuts in automobiles, the EU wants tax reduction in wines, spirits and a strong intellectual property regime. Indian goods' exports to the EU, such as ready-made garments, pharmaceuticals, steel, petroleum products, and electrical machinery, will become more competitive if the pact is concluded successfully. India is also seeking data security status for the IT sector. The lack of this status has prevented the flow of sensitive information to India, a big deal for its IT industry. India's bilateral trade in goods with the EU was $137.41 Billion in 2023-24 (exports $75.92 Billion, imports $61.48 Billion), making it the largest trading partner of India for goods. The EU market accounts for about 17 per cent of India's total exports, while the EU's exports to India make up nine per cent of its total exports. In addition, the bilateral trade in services, in 2023, between India and the EU was estimated at $51.45 Billion. The agreement is aimed at further boosting bilateral trade and investments between the two. The two sides are negotiating a free trade agreement, an investment protection agreement and an agreement on geographical indications (GIs). EU's investments in India are valued at over $117 Billion with around 6,000 European companies present in India. India's investments in the EU are valued at around $40 Billion.

Kuki-Zo groups from Manipur demand separate union territory

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Kuki Students' Organisation and the Kuki-Zo Women's Forum Delhi and NCR staged a demonstration here on Saturday, and raised the demand for a separate Union Territory with a legislature for the Kuki areas of Manipur. Scores of members of the Kuki-Zo tribe gathered at the Jantar Mantra and raised slogans, saying they cannot go back to Manipur unless the crisis in the north-eastern state has been resolved. The protesters carried placards with slogans that called Biren Singh's resignation from the chief minister's post a "smokescreen" and highlighted their demand for a separate Union Territory. The protesters blamed the former chief minister for the situation prevailing in Manipur. In a statement issued at the demonstration site, the protesters said the Kuki-Zo community has endured historical injustices. "The Kuki-Zo community has endured historical injustices and would like to reiterate the urgent need for a political solution for the community in Manipur," the statement, copies of which would also be sent to the offices of the prime minister and home minister as a charter of demand, said. It said the community, an integral part of the Indian Union since its inception, has historically faced marginalisation, injustices and systemic exclusion from mainstream governance structures in Manipur, despite its significant contributions to the country. "The present administrative machinery in Manipur has utterly failed to protect our lives and address our grievances, aspirations and rights," it said. The demands of the Kuki-Zos include the creation of a separate administration — a Union Territory with a legislature — for them. "A separate administration is the only viable path to the emancipation of the Kuki-Zo people," the statement said. "This will demonstrate the commitment of the Government of India to resolving Manipur's complex problems and fostering a lasting atmosphere of mutual trust," they said.

Finance Minister calls for user-friendly government annual accounts

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Saturday asked civil accounts services officials to work towards making the government's annual accounts more approachable and user-friendly. Addressing the 49th Civil Accounts Day event here, Sitharaman also said that "just-in-time" release of funds through the PFMS has helped to keep borrowings under check and saved interest cost. Sitharaman also lauded the Indian Civil Accounts Service (ICAS) officers, led by the Controller General of Accounts (CGA) for the "silent technological revolution" in which states are finding a lot more ease of operation and ease of getting their government business done by adopting the Public Financial Management System (PFMS). "I would also like you to examine, in consultation with the CAG (Comptroller and Auditor General), whether it would be possible to make the annual accounts more approachable and user-friendly and allow citizens to analyse easily and generate customisable and simpler reports," Sitharaman said.

She said that since a lot of digital integration has already taken place with the states, more research can be carried out based on the data set available with the CGA. "If you're able to make the report a lot more user-friendly, that itself can generate a lot of interest in the work that you do," the minister said. Sitharaman also asked both the Department of Expenditure and the CGA to ensure that the SNA-SPARSH is smoothly rolled out for all schemes in the upcoming financial year. "CGA should handhold states in seamless onboarding and transition to SNA-SPARSH and convince them about the benefits of this reform for quick adoption," she said, while suggesting to CGA officers to engage more with your counterparts in the states, take their input and encourage them to adopt the system. PFMS, which is developed and implemented by the Controller General of Accounts (CGA) under the Department of Expenditure, provides an IT platform and ensures end-to-end digital payments, collection of receipts, accounting.

It ensures effective cash management in the Central Government system through 'just in time' transfer of funds and complete tracking of realisation of funds from its release to its credit into the bank account of intended beneficiaries. The SNA module ensures better monitoring of availability and utilisation of funds released to states under Centrally Sponsored Schemes (CSS). SNA SPARSH is a system which ensures quick release of funds to states for CSS. The SNA module currently includes 141 CSS, 4,972 state-linked schemes, and more than 15 Lakh agencies. Over ₹13.60 Lakh Crore has been released by the Centre through the SNA module. Sitharaman also asked the Civil Accounts Officers to create more public awareness so that people appreciate that the taxpayers' money is being utilised efficiently. "Every rupee is taken seriously and therefore some public engagements to make people understand that this is the most critical job for the finances of the country, not just for the government of India," the minister said. The SNA module introduced in 2021-22 fiscal has helped save more than ₹11,000 Crore in interest cost, while the Treasury Single Account System (TSA), a system in autonomous bodies, has saved over ₹15,000 in interest costs since 2017-18. "Just-in-Time fund releases have helped us to ensure that we don't borrow more than what we need. It has also given us an advantage in making sure that to lessen the burden on future generations," Sitharaman said. Recalling her July 2024 Budget speech wherein the Minister had said, "For improving data governance, collection, processing and management of data and statistics, different sectoral databases, including those established under the Digital India mission, will be utilised with active use of technology tools". Controller General of Accounts has the potential to work in this regard, given that PFMS has a huge dataset, she added.

Vaishnav reviews Ahmedabad railway station redevelopment, bullet train projects

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ AHMEDABAD

Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnav on Saturday reviewed the progress of Ahmedabad Railway Station redevelopment and the Bullet train project at Anand in Gujarat. During a day-long visit to Gujarat, the minister went to Ahmedabad Railway Station with senior officials of the Western Railway Zone and inspected the construction work in detail.

"The design and appearance of the station will reflect the culture and heritage of Ahmedabad," Vaishnav said, adding that he expects the redevelopment work to be finished in three-and-a-half years. According to the Western Railway, the redevelopment work of Ahmedabad station was awarded in November 2023 and it is targeted to be completed by June 2027.

Vaishnav said several innovations have been made for the Ahmedabad railway station redevelopment project, and special care is being taken to ensure that the facility's design reflects the city's rich heritage. Vaishnav, who reviewed the redevelopment project, said architectural elements inspired by the city's heritage, such as the 'Jhulta Minar' (swaying minaret), kite festival, etc, will be incorporated into the design. He said this approach was in line with Prime Minister Narendra

Modi's commitment to preserve the cultural fabric of modern India. The redevelopment is a part of the Indian Railways' ambitious Amrut Bharat station project, which aims to transform over 1,300 railway stations across the country. Vaishnav said the station's design was revised after considering representations from Ahmedabad residents to include aspects of the city's heritage.

"The representations were discussed in detail, and the station design was completely revised according to the city's architecture. Union Home Minister Amit Shah had also reviewed this. The prime minister has given us one guidance, the station should be made according to the city culture," he said.

Reiterating the Centre's commitment to the development of Gujarat, the minister said a record budget of ₹17,155 Crore was allocated to the state for the development of the railways, and an investment of ₹1.27 Lakh Crore is being made in the sector. The Western Railway also said the architecture of the upcoming Ahmedabad station building has been inspired by the Modhera Sun Temple. According to it, a 15-acre concourse plaza and a seven-acre mezzanine plaza have been planned over the railway tracks. "This concourse shall have a waiting area for passengers which will be equipped with facilities like toilets, drinking water, food courts, retail shops, kiosks and baby feeding rooms, among others."

After reviewing the station, Vaishnav visited a 200-m-long steel bridge for the Mumbai-Ahmedabad Bullet Train project. It will be launched over National Highway 48 near Nadiad. Vaishnav said the girder of the bridge was made in India with its fabrication components successfully completed at the Salasar plant in Hapur.

Yogi government intensifies action against land encroachments

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ LUCKNOW

The Yogi government has intensified its crackdown on land encroachments, ensuring that government land remains free from illegal occupation.

Under Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath's zero-tolerance policy against land mafias, more than 68,000 hectares of encroached land have been reclaimed across Uttar Pradesh. To prevent re-encroachment, an innovative initiative has been launched in Shravasti, where the district administration is installing plaques on government land with complete ownership details.

This step, aligned with CM Yogi's vision, will ensure transparency and protection of public land. The Shravasti model is set to become a benchmark for similar efforts across the state. Shravasti District Magistrate Ajay Kumar Dwivedi stated that continuous action is being taken to free government land from illegal encroachments.

As part of this effort, plaques are now being installed on vacant government land, clearly marking them as government-owned. Strict action will be taken against anyone attempting illegal occupation. He further explained that in 397 Gram Panchayats, several such government lands exist only in official records, making them vulnerable to encroachment.

The plaques will include details such as land type, category, area, Gram Sabha and Gata number, eliminating any chances of false ownership claims. He informed that the total number of government ghats in the three tehsils of Shravasti, Ikouna, Jamunha and Bhinga is 1,49,239. The total area of these ghats is 26650.8177 hectares. Before 2017, due to the negligence of the previous government, illegal land encroachments had become a major challenge. In many cases, influential individuals and land mafias had occupied government land, causing revenue losses and obstructing development projects. Recognising this issue, the Yogi government took decisive steps to reclaim government land from encroachers, ensuring better governance and land security. DM Ajay Kumar Dwivedi further stated that any attempt to remove the plaques, tamper with government land, or illegally occupy it will lead to strict action under the Public Property Damage Prevention

UP CM Yogi Adityanath

Act. Offenders will face legal action and fines. He mentioned that the installation of these plaques will help in identifying and securing government land, while also raising public awareness that such land belongs to the government and encroachment is illegal. This move is expected to deter land mafias and illegal occupants. He said that the plaques will display detailed land information, making it easier for citizens to distinguish between government and privately owned land, thereby reducing disputes over land ownership. The Yogi government is considering expanding this initiative across Uttar Pradesh, ensuring better protection of government land and stricter action against encroachers. By improving land identification and transparency, this initiative will significantly reduce illegal occupations in the future. It marks a major step towards making Uttar Pradesh a law-abiding and well-governed state.

No need of 'shadow cabinet': Omar Abdullah attacks BJP

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

Ahead of the month long crucial Budget session of the Jammu and Kashmir Legislative Assembly, Chief Minister Omar Abdullah on Saturday reacted strongly to the media reports claiming that the saffron party is forming 'shadow cabinet' to build pressure on the government. Without mincing any words Omar told reporters in Srinagar, "There is only one Cabinet. In our country, there is no provision of 'shadow cabinet'. BJP ruled in past and it is time for the elected government to serve people. So there is no need of 'shadow cabinet'. Whatever we have promised to our people, will be addressed and the government is firm on that. Omar was interacting with media persons after meeting Mirwaiz Umar Farooq and Hasnain Masoodi to offer condolences with them. According to sources, Leader of the Opposition Sunil Sharma has played a key role in the formation of the "shadow cabinet". "The party has talked to the senior MLAs, who served as ministers in the previous PDP-BJP government, to closely audit the functioning of the departments assigned to them for Assembly interventions and other issues". Referring to the holy month of Ramadan starting from March 2, Omar said that the departments have been directed to ensure better facilities to the people. TCS manager's suicide: Family seeks action against wife, in-laws

BISWAJEET BANERJEE ■ LUCKNOW

The family of TCS manager Manav Sharma is in shock following his suicide, demanding strict action against his wife, Nikita and her family. After a case was registered against them, Nikita and her family have gone missing. However, she has released a video on social media, denying all allegations. Manav's sister, Akanksha, has dismissed Nikita's claims, stating that Manav was under severe stress due to repeated threats of police action. She revealed that on the day of the incident, Nikita called Manav at around 2:30 PM. Earlier, she had spoken to her brother until 12:40 PM, during which he had sent her some documents for preparing a PPT. "Nikita insisted on speaking to him, saying that he was about to do something drastic," Akanksha said. Concerned, she immediately called Manav, but he didn't answer. Instead, he messaged, saying he was watching a video and that it would end soon. Akanksha inquired about his well-being, asking if he had a bad dream. Manav replied that he was fine and was going to sleep. Believing everything was alright, she informed Nikita, hoping to prevent any marital dispute. "I never imagined my brother would take such a drastic step," she added. According to Akanksha, Manav had learned about Nikita's past through an Instagram account, which deeply disturbed him. In a previous incident, he had even attempted self-harm. Their parents traveled to Mumbai to counsel him. Later, he came to Agra with the intention of divorcing Nikita. However, upon arrival, he was allegedly threatened by Nikita and her family, which pushed him further into depression and led to his suicide. The grieving parents are demanding justice but remain too devastated to speak extensively. In response to the accusations, Nikita released a video defending herself. She claimed that Manav had attempted suicide twice before, and she had saved him both times. She said she had even informed Manav's father and sister about his mental state shortly before his death. Nikita also shared WhatsApp chat records as evidence to support her claims. Nikita further stated that Manav had dropped her off at her parents' home in Barhan that evening, seemingly in good spirits. She admitted that he had been under stress for some time, but she had always supported him. She alleged that when she raised concerns about his mental health with her in-laws, they dismissed it as a personal matter between husband and wife. She also claimed that it was she who brought Manav from Mumbai to Agra to help him recover. Akanksha recalled how emotional Manav was even on his wedding day.

"When he was bringing Nikita home after their wedding, he was in tears, worried about how our parents would manage without him," she said. "He was always deeply moved by others' suffering." In a similar case, Atul Subhash Modi, an AI engineer in a Bengaluru-based company, had also died by suicide. Before taking the drastic step, he recorded a one hour 20-minute-long video and left a 24-page suicide note, accusing his wife and in-laws of harassment. The tragic case of Manav Sharma has once again raised concerns over marital disputes leading to extreme consequences, with both sides presenting conflicting narratives. The police investigation is ongoing.

Bird flu: Mass culling in three districts of Karnataka

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ BENGALURU

In view of bird flu cases being detected in three districts of Karnataka, the administration is carrying out mass culling, while ramping up its surveillance across the state, especially in districts bordering Andhra Pradesh and Telangana, officials said on Saturday. Avian influenza (AI), also known as bird flu, is a zoonotic viral disease that primarily affects poultry and may occasionally spill over to mammals, including humans and swine, they said. Cases of bird flu among poultry birds have been reported in Manvi taluk of Raichur, Chikkaballapur taluk of Chikkaballapur and Sandur taluk of Ballari districts, they said. However, no cases of bird flu in humans have been reported in the state so far, officials said. Ansar Ahmed, project director, integrated disease surveillance programme, told PTI that H5N1 was confirmed in the Regional Poultry Breeding and Training Centres of Kurekoppa, Ballari District and Chikkaballapur District at NIHSAD Lab, Bhopal on February 25. The matter was reported to the Department of Animal Husbandry and Health and Family Welfare, following which an area of radius 3 kms around the infected site was notified as "Infected Area."

Kurdish militants declare ceasefire in 40-year insurgency in Turkiye

PTI ■ ISTANBUL

Kurdish militants who have waged a 40-year insurgency in Turkiye declared a ceasefire on Saturday in what could mark a significant boost to President Recep Tayyip Erdogan's government, two days after their imprisoned leader called for the group to disarm.

The announcement by the Kurdistan Workers Party, or PKK, comes against the backdrop of fundamental changes in the region, including the reconfiguration of power in neighbouring Syria after the toppling of President Bashar Assad, the weakening of the Hezbollah militant movement in Lebanon and the Israel-Hamas war in Gaza.

The PKK declaration was published by the Firat News Agency, a media outlet close to the group, on Saturday. It referred to the insurgents' leader, Abdullah Ocalan, who has been imprisoned by Turkiye since 1999.

"We declare a ceasefire effective today to pave the way for the implementation of Leader Apo's Call for Peace and Democratic Society. None of our forces will take armed action unless attacked," it said, referring to Ocalan by his nickname.

On Thursday, a delegation of Kurdish politicians announced Ocalan's call for the PKK to lay down its arms and disband after visiting him on his island prison earlier in the day.

The conflict between Turkey and the PKK has led to tens of thousands of deaths since it began in 1984. The ceasefire is the first sign of a breakthrough since peace talks between the PKK and Ankara broke down in the summer of 2015.

In its statement, the PKK's executive committee said Ocalan's call indicated that a "new historical process has begun in Kurdistan and the Middle East". Kurdistan refers to the parts of Turkiye, Iraq, Syria and Iran inhabited by Kurds.

While stating that it would "comply with and implement the requirements of the call from our own side", the PKK emphasized that "democratic politics and legal grounds must also be suitable for success".

Ocalan's call came as the main pro-Kurdish political party in Turkiye has faced pressure, with several of its mayors being removed from office in recent months and replaced by government appointees.

The PKK also appealed for Ocalan to be released from Imrali prison, located in the Marmara Sea, to "personally direct and execute" a party congress that would lead to the militants laying down their arms.

The peace initiative between the Turkish state and the PKK, which is considered a terrorist organisation by Turkiye and its Western allies, was started in October by Erdogan's coalition partner, Devlet Bahceli, a far-right politician who suggested that Ocalan could be granted parole if his group renounces violence and disbands.

Erdogan said Ocalan's message was a "new phase" in peace efforts in Turkiye.

"There is an opportunity to take a historic step toward tearing down the wall of terror that has stood between (Turkish and Kurdish peoples) thousand-year-old brotherhood," Erdogan said on Friday.

Some believe the main aim of the reconciliation effort is for Erdogan's government to garner Kurdish support for a new constitution that would allow him to remain in power beyond 2028, when his term ends.

Bahceli has openly called for a new constitution, saying it was essential for Turkiye's future that Erdogan remain in power.

Erdogan and Bahceli are reportedly seeking parliamentary support from the pro-Kurdish People's Equality and Democracy Party, or DEM.

Ocalan, 75, wields significant influence in the Kurdish movement despite his 25-year imprisonment, during which the PKK has been led by top figures who have fled and found sanctuary in the Kurdish region in northern Iraq.

In Syria, Kurdish fighters — who have ties to the PKK — have been involved in intense fighting with Turkish-backed forces on the ground there.

The leader of the US-backed, Kurdish-led Syrian Democratic Forces has said Ocalan's call for a ceasefire does not apply to his group in Syria.

The Turkish government, however, says all Kurdish groups it claims are tied to the PKK — whether in Turkiye, Syria or Iraq — must disband.

In recent years, the PKK has been limited to isolated attacks inside Turkiye as the Turkish military, backed by armed drones, has pushed PKK insurgents increasingly across the mountainous border into Iraq.

Federal workers start to get new email demanding their accomplishments

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

Federal employees are starting to receive another email requiring them to explain their recent accomplishments, a renewed attempt by President Donald Trump and billionaire entrepreneur Elon Musk to demand answers from the government workforce.

The plan was disclosed by a person with knowledge of the situation who requested anonymity because they were not authorized to discuss it publicly. Originally expected to go out Saturday, the new request began landing in the inboxes of some employees late Friday.

The first email, which was distributed a week ago, asked employees "what did you do last week?" and prompted them to list five tasks that they completed. Musk, who empowered by Trump is aiming to downsize agencies and eliminate thousands of federal jobs, said anyone who didn't respond would be fired.

Many agencies, meanwhile, told their workforces not to respond or issued conflicting guidance.

The second email was expected to be delivered in a different way, according to the person with knowledge of the situation, potentially making it easier to discipline employees for noncompliance.

Instead of being sent by the Office of Personnel Management, which functions as a human resources agency for the federal government but doesn't have the power to hire or fire, the email was to come from individual agencies that have direct oversight of career officials.

But a version of the email received late Friday by some employees at two separate agencies - with the subject line, "What did you do last week? Part II" - came from "hr@opm.gov," the same OPM address that sent the first version.

"Please reply to this email with approx. 5 bullets describing what you accomplished last week and cc your manager," the message read, adding that going forward, employees would be expected to submit a response each week by the following Monday at 11:59 p.m. Eastern.

It's unclear how national security agencies will handle the second email. After the first one, they directed employees not to write back because much of the agencies' work is sensitive or classified.

Less than half of federal workers responded, according to the White House.

The version viewed late Friday by The Associated Press reads in part: "If all of your activities are classified or sensitive, please write, All of my activities are sensitive." That may not eliminate all security concerns given that sending an email creates a digital footprint regardless of the message's content.

On Wednesday, at Trump's first Cabinet meeting of his second term, Musk argued that his request was a "pulse check" to ensure that those working for the government have "a pulse and two neurons."

Both Musk and Trump have claimed that some workers are either dead or fictional, and the president has publicly backed Musk's approach.

Addressing people who didn't respond to the first email, Trump said "they are on the bubble," and he added that he wasn't "thrilled" about them not responding.

"Now, maybe they don't exist," he said without providing evidence. "Maybe we're paying people that don't exist."

In addition to recent firings of probationary employees, a memo distributed this week set the stage for large-scale layoffs and consolidation of programs.

The Education Department offered employees a $25,000 buyout and warned of looming layoffs. An email sent to all agency workers gave them until the end of Monday to decide on the offer, which was touted as coming "in advance of a very significant Reduction in Force."

It was sent from the department's chief human capital officer.

The agency did not immediately offer comment.

No progress in talks on truce with Israel

PTI ■ CAIRO

The latest round of talks on the ceasefire between Israel and Hamas has made no progress so far, and it was unclear whether the talks would resume on Saturday, a senior Hamas official said.

The first phase of the ceasefire, which paused 15 months of fighting in the Gaza Strip, saw the release of 33 hostages, including eight bodies, in exchange for nearly 2,000 Palestinian prisoners.

Phase one expires on Saturday, but under the terms of the deal, fighting is not to resume while negotiations are underway on the second phase, which could end the war in Gaza and see the remaining living hostages returned home.

Officials from Israel, Qatar, Egypt and the United States have been involved in negotiations on the second phase in Cairo, with the goal of bringing an end to the war with the return of all remaining living hostages and the withdrawal of Israeli troops.

Hamas did not attend the talks, but its position has been represented through Egyptian and Qatari mediators. Basem Naim, a member of Hamas' political bureau, told The Associated Press there had been "no progress" on finding a solution before Israeli negotiators returned home on Friday.

It was unclear whether those mediators were going to return to Cairo to resume talks on Saturday as has been expected, and Naim said he had "no idea" when negotiations might start again.

Hamas started the war with its October 7, 2023 attack that left 1,200 dead in Israel. Since then, Israel's military offensive has killed more than 48,000 Palestinians, according to Gaza health officials, who do not differentiate between civilian and combatant deaths but say that more than half the dead have been women and children.

The two sides agreed to three-phase ceasefire deal in January, with the aim of bringing an end to the war.

On Friday, Hamas said that it "reaffirms its full commitment to implementing all terms of the agreement in all its stages and details" and called on the international community to pressure Israel to "immediately proceed to the second phase without any delay or evasion."

In addition to phase two of the ceasefire, the office of Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said last week that mediators in the talks were "also discussing ways to enhance the delivery of humanitarian aid to the Gaza Strip, as part of efforts to alleviate the suffering of the population and support stability in the region."

Hamas has rejected an Israeli proposal to extend the ceasefire's first phase by 42 days, saying it goes against the truce agreement, according to a member of the group who requested anonymity to discuss the closed-door negotiations.

The Israeli proposal calls for extending the ceasefire through the Muslim holy month of Ramadan, which started on Saturday, in return for an additional hostage exchange, the Hamas member said.

Trump admin approves nearly USD 3 b arms sale to Israel

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

The Trump administration has approved a major nearly USD 3 billion arms sale to Israel, bypassing a normal congressional review to provide the country with more of the 2,000-pound bombs that it has used in the war against Hamas in Gaza.

In a series of notifications sent to Congress late Friday, the State Department said it had signed off on the sale of more than 35,500 MK 84 and BLU-117 bombs and 4,000 Predator warheads worth USD 2.04 billion.

Secretary of State Marco Rubio "has determined and provided detailed justification that an emergency exists that requires the immediate sale to the Government of Israel of the above defence articles and defense services in the national security interests of the United States, thereby waiving the Congressional review requirements," the department said.

Deliveries are set to begin next year, it said.

Using the same justification, the department also said Rubio had approved another munitions sale to Israel worth USD 675.7 million to be delivered starting in 2028.

In addition, it said Rubio had approved the emergency sale of D9R and D9T Caterpillar bulldozers worth USD 295 million.

China reopens Mt Everest area in Tibet after January earthquake

PTI ■ BEIJING

China on Saturday reopened the scenic area of Mt Everest, known as Mount Qomolangma, in the Tibet Autonomous Region after it was closed to the public following the January earthquake.

The area was closed on January 7 after a 6.8-magnitude quake struck Dingri, home to the northern base camp of the world's highest peak. The quake claimed 126 lives and left 188 others injured.

The scenic area was closed on the same day for the safety of tourists and staff.

In the Tibetan language, Mount Everest is known as Mount Qomolangma which forms the part of the border between China and Nepal.

Both countries settled their border dispute in 1961 with the boundary line passing through the summit of Mount Everest.

The Mt Everest area had not been affected by the quake, with no obvious ice falls, avalanches or geological changes being observed, said Ma Weiqiang, director of Mount Qomolangma Atmosphere and Environment Comprehensive Observation and Research Station under the Chinese Academy of Sciences.

"This shows the scenic area has the safe conditions necessary for reopening," Ma told state-run Xinhua news agency.

To prepare for the reopening, the local government formed a joint inspection working group on January 22, which took 35 days to carry out comprehensive and meticulous inspections on important locations in the scenic area, he said.

"Only through comprehensive inspections could we ensure the safety of tourists when the scenic area reopened," said Pasang, a maintenance worker at the scenic area.

The local accommodation industry is also ready for the reopening. "All 35 rooms have been cleaned up and half of the rooms have already been booked," said Tsering Geden, a hotel owner in the county's Pasum Village.

Last year, the scenic area of the world's tallest mountain received more than 547,600 domestic and overseas tourists — an increase of 18 per cent year on year, including 13,700 overseas tourists, mainly from Singapore, Malaysia, Germany and France, earning USD 15.3 million in revenue, the Xinhua report said.

Trump expected to sign order making English official language of US

PTI ■ CAIRO

President Donald Trump is expected to sign an executive order designating English as the official language of the United States, according to the White House. The order will allow government agencies and organizations that receive federal funding to choose whether to continue to offer documents and services in language other than English, according to a fact sheet about the impending order.

Trump had been expected to sign the order Friday. But by Friday night, the White House had not announced the order had been signed and did not immediately respond to a message seeking comment.

The executive order will rescind a mandate from former President Bill Clinton that required the government and organisations that received federal funding to provide language assistance to non-English speakers. Designating English as the national language "promotes unity, establishes efficiency in government operations, and creates a pathway for civic engagement," according to the White House.

More than 30 states have already passed laws designating English as their official language, according to US English, a group that advocates for making English the official language in the United States. For decades, lawmakers in Congress have introduced legislation to designate English as the official language of the US, but those efforts have not succeeded.

Within hours of Trump's inauguration last month, the new administration took down the Spanish language version of the official White House website. Hispanic advocacy groups and others expressed confusion and frustration at the change. The White House said at the time it was committed to bringing the Spanish language version of the website back online. As of Friday, it was still not restored.

The White House did not immediately respond to a message about whether that would happen.

Trump shut down the Spanish version of the website during his first term. It was restored when President Joe Biden was inaugurated.

The Wall Street Journal first reported on the order Friday.

Rishi Sunak, Akshata plan new math charity for children in England

PTI ■ LONDON

Former British prime minister Rishi Sunak and his wife Akshata Murty on Saturday revealed plans to set up a new charity focussed on improving the mathematics and numeracy skills among children and young people in England.

The Richmond Project, named after the North Yorkshire home and constituency Sunak continues to represent as a backbench Conservative Party member of Parliament for Richmond and Northallerton, will be launched later this year as a registered charity.

It marks the first major joint project by the couple, both 44, since Sunak left 10 Downing Street last year and will be aimed at helping schoolchildren build confidence in tackling numbers.

"Later this year, Akshata and I will launch The Richmond Project — a new charity focussed on improving numeracy," Sunak announced on social media.

"Confidence with numbers transforms lives. It unlocks opportunity, fuels social mobility, and helps people thrive. But right now, too many struggle. More to come soon," he said.

Akshata Murty took to her Instagram to note that the charity signifies their shared passion around the power of education.

"Maths anxiety is real, but opportunity starts with confidence! Later this year, we're launching The Richmond Project, a new charity focused on helping more people build confidence with numbers — because we believe numeracy unlocks opportunity," she said.

"Right now, half of the working-age adults in the UK have low numeracy skills. That impacts everything like getting a job, managing household bills, even navigating daily life. Both of us have seen firsthand the power of education to change lives. Now, we want to help more young people and adults build the confidence with numbers, ensuring a happier life."

The daughter of Infosys co-founder Narayana Murthy said it was "early days" for the project but asked her followers to "watch this space" for more details.

During her time at Downing Street, Murty held a regular "Lessons at 10" programme to provide children from across the UK an opportunity to see behind the scenes of the famous black door — the office and residence of the British PM in London.

During his time as prime minister in 2023, Sunak had launched a review into how best to ensure all pupils in England study some form of mathematics up to the age of 18 as part of his strategy to change an "anti-maths mindset" that he said was holding the country back.

The former investment banker had also committed to extending Maths Hubs — unique partnerships of schools and colleges coming together to support maths teaching.

Earlier this week, Sunak took on another charity role as ambassador for the UK's Prostate Cancer Research.

"Prostate cancer is now the UK's most common cancer — yet there's still no national screening programme for the most at-risk groups," he said, during an intervention in the House of Commons calling on Prime Minister Keir Starmer for a targeted screening programme for the disease.

In January, the British Indian politician had taken on new academic roles at the University of Oxford in the UK and the University of Stanford in the US.

Champions Trophy: India to sharpen spin play against NZ

PTI ■ DUBAI

A seemingly invincible India will be eager to sharpen their spin game and give a run to second-line players ahead of the semifinal when they take on New Zealand in their last group match of the Champions Trophy here on Sunday.

A win in their last league match will help India top the Group A. But that position of pride is of little value because they are set to face either Australia or most likely South Africa in the last four, and both of them have handy spin units at their disposal.

Indian batters have not been really comfortable against spin despite two victories thus far in the event, and New Zealand, which also qualified for the semifinals, could offer them a tough challenge.

The star Indian batters were focusing more on playing out Bangladesh spinners Mehidy Hasan Miraz (0/37) and Rishad Hossain (2/38) without taking risks, and they followed the same approach against Pakistan leg-spinner Abrar Ahmed (1/28). But they will come up against more wily customers in Mitchell Santner and Michael Bracewell on Sunday, and it could be their hardest test against spin yet in this event.

Both the Kiwi spinners are in fine fettle here, and could be even more effective on the worn out surface at Dubai.

Indian batters have been clever enough to milk spinners for singles and twos, while reserving too to tackle.

The off-spinner has been quite parsimonious so far, conceding just 3.2 runs per over across two matches.

So, the effectiveness of Shubman Gill, India's standout batter in ODIs of late, batting icon Virat Kohli, who made a morale-boosting 100 against Pakistan, Shreyas Iyer and KL Rahul against them will have a telling impact on the outcome of the game.

And even beyond this match, considering the slowing-down nature of the decks at the DICS.

Spinners to the fore

But there is a pleasing side to spinners' dominance here.

The selection of five spinners - Ravindra Jadeja, Axar Patel, Kuldeep Yadav, Varun Chakravarty, Washington Sundar - was not viewed with any conviction ahead of the marquee event because of the overwhelming success pacers had at this venue in the past.

But what India encountered at Dubai are tired pitches after the venue hosted the LLT20 recently, vindicating the selection call to a large extent.

Praggnanandhaa scores first win in Prague Masters

PTI ■ PRAGUE

Grandmaster R Praggnanandhaa cruised to a smooth victory against Nguyen Thai Dai Van of Czech Republic, while Aravindh Chithambaram emerged as the sole leader, defeating top seed Wei Yi of China in the third round of the Prague Masters here.

It was a swift and commanding victory for Praggnanandhaa, widely regarded as the biggest favourite to win this tournament. It was a Nimzo-Indian defense and in Praggnanandhaa's words it was "just a position to play".

The middle game surfaced with Dai Van being on the defensive despite his extra pawn, a typical feature of the structure and the Indian navigated the complexities with ease.

The decisive moment came on the 14th move itself when Praggnanandhaa got an undeniable advantage and after that though the game took a few twists but the result was never in doubt.

Having played two draws in the first two rounds, it was an essential victory for Praggnanandhaa and he achieved the final result in style. The Indian won a rook for a minor piece and when it comes to technicalities, no one can doubt the acumen of Praggnanandhaa.

"Yesterday (the second round) was nothing, in the first round I had a good position", was how the Indian reflected on his performance thus far.

While Praggnanandhaa scored his first win, compatriot Aravindh Chithambaram announced his arrival in the elite circles by entering the world top 20 in live ratings for the first time.

Aravindh showed deeper opening understanding in the Ragozin where the Chinese played as black.

The middle game approached with a dynamic balance but Aravindh out-calculated Yi and launched a king side attack, sacrificing two pawns on the other flank.

The game lasted 44 moves. The victory took Aravindh to 2.5 points out of a possible 3 on a day when American Sam Shankland lost to Vincent Keymer of Germany.

Gukesh attains career-best number three ranking

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

India's reigning world champion D Gukesh climbed to a career-high number three ranking, while compatriot R Praggnanandhaa broke back into the top 10 in the latest FIDE classical ratings released on Saturday.

The 18-year-old Gukesh, who has been in sublime form ever since he beat China's Ding Liren to clinch the world title in Singapore in December, has gained 10 points and now has a 2787 rating.

Gukesh, who lost the Tata Steel Masters in Wijk aan Zee to Praggnanandhaa on tiebreak, is behind second-placed Hikaru Nakamura (2802) while and Norway's Magnus Carlsen (2833) continues to be the top-ranked chess player in the world.

The Indian Grandmaster has overtaken compatriot Arjun Erigasi and USA's Fabiano Caruana.

Erigasi, who was the highest-ranked Indian for a long time, has moved down to fifth with a rating of 2777.

Hard on Pant not playing: Doeschate

PTI ■ DUBAI

India assistant coach Ryan ten Doeschate has acknowledged that it has been really hard for ace wicketkeeper-batter Rishabh Pant to be watching the ongoing Champions Trophy matches from the sidelines but "that's the nature of sport at this level".

Pant has not been a part of the playing XI in the last two group games, with India handing over the wicket-keeping duties to KL Rahul, who has performed remarkably well behind the stumps and provided solidity to the middle order.

"It's been very hard on Rishabh not playing. But that's the nature of sport at this level, Doeschate told reporters on Friday, when asked if having two quality keepers has been a good dilemma.

"KL has been good. He didn't get many chances... We've got to keep Rishabh up and running. We never know when we're going to need him. But certainly to have two wicket-keepers of that calibre is a nice thing to have."

Doeschate admitted that Sunday's match against New Zealand could be a contest of spin between the two sides.

"They (New Zealand) have four spinners as well, so it could be a contest of spin. Coming into the competition, we weren't expecting such an over-reliance on spin.

"But the guys have bowled nicely and the pitch has helped a little bit, so I'm sure it's going to be the same for the next game here tomorrow."

The South Africa-born former Dutch cricketer hinted that the team might ring in some changes in the bowling attack for its last group match against New Zealand.

At the same time, Doeschate said the side would not compromise on the balance as it also wants to top the group with an all-win preliminary campaign.

New Zealand have also already qualified for the semifinals after two wins and Sunday's match will decide the Group A topper.

"We've had two pretty tough training sessions, so that's been the preparation. In terms of the bench strength, I think the priority is making sure that we have our best guys available and fully fit for the second game (semifinal on March 4)," Doeschate said.

"But we also don't want to rest

Matthew Short likely to miss Champions Trophy semifinal

PTI ■ LAHORE

Australian opener Matthew Short will likely miss the Champions Trophy semifinal against either India or New Zealand after the in-form batter suffered a quad injury in the washed out match against Afghanistan here.

Short had scored a 15-ball 20 on Friday but had looked in visible pain before he was dismissed by Azmatullah Omarzai as Australia advanced to the semifinals with four points.

The 29-year-old white-ball player had scored 63 as Steve Smith's Australia had chased down England's mammoth 351 in their opening match of the Champions Trophy. Smith said he didn't think the star opener would be fit to play in next week's semifinal.

"I think he'll be struggling. I think we saw tonight he wasn't moving very well. I think it's probably going to be too quick between games for him to recover," Smith said.

Australia could include in big-hitter Jake Fraser-McGurk as a like-for-like replacement in the playing XI, though he suffered two failures in the recent one-day series in Sri Lanka.

All-rounder Aaron Hardie too could be an option, while the team also has Cooper Connolly as a travelling reserve in case Short is completely ruled out from the tournament.

"We've got a few guys there to come in to fill a job," added Smith. Australia will either play the semifinal against India in Dubai on Tuesday or against New Zealand on Wednesday in Lahore, as their opponents will only be known after Sunday's group clash between Rohit Sharma's side and the Black Caps in Dubai.

Australia are currently leading Group B with four points but that can change if South Africa, who are on three points, defeat England in Saturday's final group tie in Karachi.

South Africa qualifies for semifinals

PTI ■ KARACHI

South Africa and Australia on Saturday qualified for the Champions Trophy semifinals after the Proteas bowled out a struggling England for 179, the lowest total of the tournament, in their final Group B match here.

Already eliminated from the semifinal race, England needed a victory by at least 207 runs to give Afghanistan a chance of qualifying based on the run-rate.

However, Marco Jansen (3/39) stole the show with the new ball, taking three crucial wickets, and Wiaan Mulder (3/25) and Keshav Maharaj (2/35) applied the pressure in the middle overs as South Africa confirmed their knockout berth, irrespective of the match's result.

It remains to be seen who finishes on top of Group B and that will decide who India and New Zealand will play in the knockout stage.

In his final game as England's ODI captain, Jos Buttler won the toss and chose to bat, but the decision backfired as Jansen wreaked havoc early, reducing England to 37 for 3 by the seventh over. Opener Phil Salt (8) top-edged a rising Jansen delivery, while Jamie Smith (0) failed to handle a short ball and followed Salt back to the pavilion. Ben Duckett (24) then perished to a caught-and-bowled effort by Jansen, as England's top-order collapsed. Harry Brook (19) and Joe Root (37) attempted a recovery with a 62-run stand, but just when the partnership seemed to gain momentum, South Africa struck twice in quick succession.

Brook fell to Maharaj as when Jansen took a superb catch in the deep while Root's off-stump was sent cart-wheeling by Mulder.

England's woes continued as Liam Livingstone (9) and Jamie Overton (11) quickly followed, leaving the side in disarray at 129-7 in the 26th over. Buttler (21) and Jofra Archer (25) added some respectability to the total with a partnership of 42, but Archer was dismissed by Mulder, and the England skipper was then removed by Lungi Ngidi with a slow ball.

East Bengal needs two wins to keep playoff hopes alive

PTI ■ KOLKATA

Chasing a first-ever playoffs berth, East Bengal find themselves in a must-win situation when they face former champions Bengaluru FC in an Indian Super League (ISL) match here on Sunday.

Currently eighth in the table with 27 points from 22 matches, the Red-and-Gold brigade have already won three consecutive games and now must win their remaining two to achieve a perfect five-out-of-five run and keep their playoff hopes alive.

The Blues have already confirmed their qualification, which puts additional pressure on East Bengal to produce an unblemished record in the remaining matches.

The Oscar Bruzon side recently registered their fourth home clean sheet in a 2-0 victory over Hyderabad FC, boosting their season tally to six, a performance level they must build on in the upcoming fixtures.

In previous matches, East Bengal and Bengaluru have split their nine face-offs evenly, with four wins apiece and one draw. Sunday's clash offers East Bengal a crucial opportunity not only to extend their unbeaten run but also to the top-six right until the end. "If you ask me, no doubt, we want to make it but it depends on other results. We are not going to stop fighting until our last breath," he said.

Like East Bengal, Bengaluru FC are on the back of winning three ISL matches while keeping clean sheets, and their form continues to make them a formidable opponent even as they rest on their playoffs qualification.

With key contributions from players like the talismanic Sunil Chhetri and Alberto Nogueira, the Blues have also made a mark with strong domestic performances, further solidifying their standing in the league.

— ELVIS PRESLEY

VINTAGE CARS: THE ROYAL TOUCH

The erstwhile Maharajas of India had a deep fascination with luxury cars, particularly Rolls-Royce, which symbolised their opulence, status and power. During the early 20th century, Indian royalty became one of the biggest patrons of Rolls-Royce, commissioning custom-built models adorned with gold, ivory and exquisite embellishments. It is estimated that more than half of the Rolls-Royce cars produced in the world during that era were made for Indian Maharajas. These cars were not just transport; they showcased wealth, used in ceremonies, hunting, and even garbage collection.

THE TIMELESS CHARM OF

Vintage Cars

The passion for vintage cars in India is no longer limited to a select few; it has evolved into a nationwide obsession, writes GYANESHWAR DAYAL, captured by PANKAJ KUMAR

Love for Vintage cars is no less than a romance of a lifetime. The person who falls for the beauty and demeanour of these old ladies has a love of a lifetime. For the uninitiated, recall Farhan Akhtar of the iconic Bollywood movie Zindagi namelagidobara who goes nuts just seeing these old cars in bright colours of red and sky blue. From the stunning curves of a 1929 Rolls-Royce Phantom II to the bold presence of a 1954 Chevrolet Bel Air, these 'old ladies' have a charm that is unmatched. Over the past few decades, the passion for vintage cars has seen a remarkable surge in India, with collectors and enthusiasts taking this love to new heights. For many vintage car enthusiasts, the fascination goes beyond aesthetics. These cars represent a bygone era of luxury, precision engineering and hand-crafted beauty. Owning and restoring a vintage car is akin to preserving a piece of history, with each vehicle carrying a unique story. Be it the grandeur of a Buick Super Eight or the timeless appeal of a Hindustan Landmaster, vintage cars have a soul that resonates deeply with collectors.

The Growth of Vintage Car Culture in India
In recent years, India has witnessed a rising trend in vintage car appreciation. What was once a niche hobby has now turned into a thriving community of collectors, restorers, and automobile historians. Vintage car rallies, exhibitions, and heritage drives have become a common sight in cities like Mumbai, Delhi, Kolkata, and Hyderabad. Events such as the 21 Gun Salute International Vintage Car Rally and the Cartier Concours d'Elegance have provided a platform for enthusiasts to showcase their prized possessions. Moreover, social media has played a crucial role in connecting vintage car lovers across the country.

Challenges and Triumphs of Restoration

Unlike modern vehicles with readily available spare parts, vintage cars often require extensive research and sourcing of original components. In India, restorers and mechanics specialising in vintage cars have become increasingly sought after. Cities like Chennai and Pune have seen the rise of skilled craftsmen who can meticulously rebuild engines, repair bodywork and replicate period-correct interiors. Interestingly enough the earlier cars were made of wood and a metal sheet was plastered over it to give a metallic look. Besides their spoke wheels and their carriage style gave them a majestic look. Many of these cars are painstakingly restored and are at display in Heritage Transport Museum in Delhi NCR. "Restoring old cars is like preserving a piece of history. It's a meticulous process to bring them back to their original glory," says Tarun Thakral, whose passion brought the Heritage Transport Museum to life. Despite the challenges, the joy of seeing a beautifully restored classic on the road is unparalleled.

Preserving Automotive Heritage

With the growing interest in vintage cars, there is also a renewed focus on preserving India's automotive heritage. Museums and private collectors are working to document and showcase the evolution of automobiles in India. Efforts are being made to protect historically significant vehicles from being scrapped or lost to time. Vintage car clubs, restoration garages and automobile historians are ensuring that the legacy of these "old ladies" continues to thrive. Their dedication highlights that these cars are symbols of history, art and engineering excellence.

THE RIGOROUS JUDGING PROCESS WAS LED BY A DISTINGUISHED INTERNATIONAL PANEL FEATURING VINTAGE AUTOMOBILE EXPERTS SUCH AS CHRISTIAN KRAMER, WHITNEY OVEROCKER, SHINICHI EKKO, ALEX VON MOZER AND ALLAN WINN.

THE CLASSIFICATION OF OLD CARS

Contrary to popular perception not all cars are vintage cars. Old cars are classified into different categories based on the era of their manufacture, reflecting historical and technological advancements in automobile design. Here's a rundown of the key classifications:

- VETERAN CARS (PRE-1905)
 - Also known as the Brass Era or Pioneer Era cars.
 - Characterized by hand-built craftsmanship, steam, electric, and early gasoline engines.
 - Example: 1886 Benz Patent-Motorwagen, the first car by Karl Benz.
- EDWARDIAN CARS (1905-1918)
 - Named after King Edward VII's reign in Britain.
 - Marked by improvements in internal combustion engines, the introduction of the steering wheel (replacing tillers), and mass production.
 - Example: Ford Model T (1908), which revolutionized the automobile industry with assembly line production.

- VINTAGE CARS (1919-1930)
 - Cars produced between World War I and the Great Depression.
 - More advanced engineering, stronger steel chassis, and luxurious coachbuilding.
 - Example: Rolls-Royce Phantom I (1925), Bugatti Type 35.
- PRE-WAR CARS (1931-1945)
 - Includes both Depression-Era Cars and World War II Vehicles.
 - Innovations like independent suspension, hydraulic brakes, and streamlined designs.
 - Example: Cadillac V16, Mercedes-Benz 540K, Volkswagen Beetle (designed in the late 1930s).

- POST-WAR CLASSIC CARS (1946-1959)
 - The post-WWII era saw major automotive growth with more stylish designs, tailfins, and the introduction of muscle cars.
 - Examples: Chevrolet Bel Air, Jaguar XK120, Mercedes-Benz 300SL Gullwing.
- Classic Cars (1960-1979)
 - Covers muscle cars, early supercars, and the transition to modern engineering.
 - Examples: Ford Mustang (1964), Porsche 911 (1964), Lamborghini Miura (1966).

- MODERN CLASSICS OR YOUNGTIMERS (1980-1999)
 - These are not officially vintage yet but are recognized as emerging classics.
 - Includes early supercars, high-performance sedans, and experimental designs.
 - Examples: Ferrari F40 (1987), McLaren F1 (1992), BMW E30 M3.

Each of these categories reflects the evolving design, engineering, and cultural significance of automobiles throughout history.

THE 21 GUN SALUTE: CONCOURS D'ELEGANCE

To honour vintage cars, numerous rallies are organised across the country throughout the year, with some gaining increasing popularity. One such event is the 21 Gun Salute. The heart of New Delhi witnessed an extraordinary spectacle as the 11th edition of the 21 Gun Salute Concours d'Elegance. A breathtaking parade of over 125 rare vintage cars and 50 vintage motorcycles, capturing the essence of India's rich motoring history.

The event featured an impressive lineup of iconic vehicles, including the 1939 Delahaye, the 1903 De Dion Bouton-one of the oldest cars in the concours-the 1917 Ford Model T Roadster and the regal 1935 Cadillac Fleetwood. The three day event concluded at the Leela Ambience, Gurugram. The coveted Best of Show award was claimed by the majestic 1922 Rolls Royce Silver Ghost of Mayurbhanj princely state, owned by Dhanraj Gidwani since 1992. Gidwani remarked, "All the cars in this event are special and priceless." The 1935 Buick 90L (ex-Ayodhya), owned by Diljit Titus, secured first prize in the Post-War American Coupe category.

Tarun Thakral, Founder and Managing Trustee of the Heritage Transport Museum.

A GROWING INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY

This event is a tribute to India's motoring legacy. Besides the sentimental value, vintage cars have also emerged as lucrative investments. As the demand for well-maintained classics rises, so does their market value. Collectors are willing to pay a premium for rare models, and auctions have seen skyrocketing prices for pristine examples. Owning a vintage car is now seen not only as a passion project but also as a valuable asset that appreciates over time.

FROM THRONES TO TRIALS

Post-independence in 1947, the princely states were integrated into the Republic of India, and the economic realities shifted drastically. The newly independent nation imposed high taxes on princely wealth and the Privy Purse-financial allowances given to the former royals-was abolished in 1971 by the Indian government. Stripped of their vast fortunes, many Maharajas had no choice but to sell their prized possessions, including their magnificent Rolls-Royce collections, to collectors and museums worldwide. Today, these cars remain a testament to a bygone era of regal extravagance.

Despite its beauty, Mauritius honours its painful history of slavery annually on Abolition Day

History in Every Wave

THE HEARTFELT HONOUR

With several misty eyes among the assembled guests, the event also served as a catharsis for the descendants of slaves, whose ancestors played a pivotal role in Mauritius' nation-building. As I mingled with them, listening to their forefathers' tales of remarkable fortitude, I could not help but be moved by the fact that many of them today occupy positions of power as ministers and top bureaucrats, a development only an inclusive nation like Mauritius could have fostered. Populated by Indians, Creoles, Africans and Dutch, the country today resembles a colourful mosaic of nationalities, forming a progressive nation.

As I dived into an ambitious itinerary on my fourth visit to Mauritius, checking into the breathtaking island's luxury hotels, savouring world-class gastronomy, and admiring its storied landscapes, lagoons and reefs, I also had a rare chance this time to reflect on the country's early beginnings, marked by suffering and social upheaval.

In fact, it is impossible to understand Mauritian history, dominated by the Arabs, Dutch, English and French, without delving into its past of slavery. Located on the east coast of Africa, 702 miles east of Madagascar, the island traces its provenance to its discovery by Arabs and Malays in 1507. The Portuguese arrived in 1510, bestowing upon it the moniker 'Cirné'. By 1598, the Dutch wrested control of the island, renaming it 'Maurice' after their head of state, the Prince of Orange and Count of Nassau.

Mauritius' magnetic draw among rapacious foreign invaders was hardly surprising, given its plentiful natural resources and breathtaking beauty. No wonder Mark Twain famously said that Mauritius was "created first and then Heaven copied after it!" However, slave trading marked its ugly presence on the island in the 1640s when the Dutch ushered in the first lot of slaves.

Between the 16th and 19th centuries, some 27 million Africans were forced onto ships and transported across the Atlantic to work on lush Mauritian sugarcane fields. By the 17th century, the country was teeming with slaves from Madagascar, Africa, India and Java, who worked in Dickensian conditions, abused and exploited.

However, after centuries of slavery and international resistance, in 1834, the British Empire proclaimed the abolition of the slave trade following the passage of the Slavery Abolition Act in 1833. On 1st February 1835, Mauritius was declared free of slavery. Planters were compensated with two million pounds for their slave loss, and eventually, Mauritius gained independence in 1968.

To commemorate the abolition of slavery, celebrated as 'Abolition Day', the island nation organises a series of activities each year. This year, which marked the 190th anniversary of the practice, was both a poignant and joyous occasion, as dignitaries acknowledged the island's fraught past and the sacrifices made by its people.

At the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Le Morne Brabant, a towering mountain serving as a powerful symbol of the struggle against slavery and the enduring impact of this dark period on the island's societies, I watched a moving wreath-laying ceremony conducted by Mauritian Prime Minister Dr Navinchandra Ramgoolam, attended by international delegates, celebrities and global media.

In his address, Dr Ramgoolam highlighted the significance of honouring the abolition of slavery, emphasising the need to remember history, promote social justice and strengthen national unity. "This commemoration is not just about remembering our history; it is a call to action to ensure that the values of freedom, dignity, solidarity and justice continue to guide our nation," he said. The island's legacy of slavery and its lasting impact, he added, remained one of the most painful chapters of history.

At Aapravasi Ghat, another UNESCO Heritage Site and an immigration depot in Port Louis, where thousands of Indian slaves landed in the nineteenth century, another poignant celebration took place. A symbol of Indo-Mauritian ties, the depot includes a rice store, a military hospital complex, a civil hospital and a museum. It also records Mahatma Gandhi's work on the abolition of slavery and his visit to Mauritius in 1901 on his way back to India from South Africa.

The ceremony at Aapravasi Ghat was marked by the presence of international dignitaries, top ministers, renowned human rights advocates, activists and international media. This offered me a deep dive into Mauritius' fraught past and what shapes it today.

Next, I attended a thought-provoking conference, Routes of Enslaved Peoples: Resistance, Liberty and Heritage Project, which acknowledged the commemoration of 190 years of slavery in Mauritius. Premised on the theme Resistance, Liberty, Heritage in the Western Indian Ocean, it was held at the University of Mauritius in Réduit, the island's first university. International delegates and authors listened in rapt attention to Mauritian President Dharambeer Gohul, who shared that the occasion "marks a pivotal moment in our ongoing journey to understand, reconcile and learn from shared histories of slavery and its enduring legacy".

At the Pamplemousses Slave Heritage Trail, another heritage site, descendants of indentured slaves gathered to pay tribute to their ancestors. Stephan Karghoo, Director at the Nelson Mandela Centre for African Culture in Mauritius, noted that Abolition Day celebrates the nation's ancestors in the most meaningful way.

Dawn in the Mountains

In the sacred hours of a Mussoorie morning, tears of joy kissed my cheeks as consciousness gently returned after eight hours of profound sleep. The embrace of the "Queen of Hills" welcomed me back, not just to physical awareness, but to a deeper awakening that only these majestic mountains could inspire. Two thousand meters closer to heaven, I felt the weight of mundane existence lifting from my shoulders. My training hostel window framed a masterpiece that no artist could replicate. The ethereal blue light, nature's most delicate performer, danced across the vast canvas of sky. Each molecule of pristine mountain air seemed to carry fragments of ancient wisdom, painting the firmament in hues that deepened at the zenith and softened towards the horizon, like emotions that grow more profound as they reach the heart.

breath became a prayer of gratitude. The mountain path unfurled before me like a ribbon of possibilities, winding three kilometers through veils of mountain mist.

In this morning theatre, a moment of divine Connection unfolded as several cows blessed me with their presence. Their eyes held the wisdom of ages, reflecting a gentleness that spoke of unconditional giving. When my empty pockets whispered regret, modern technology offered salvation through a simple QR code. Time surrendered its linear march in these precious moments of connection, allowing eternity to peek through the veil of ordinary existence.

The morning's gifts continued to unfold as two langurs graced the scene, their regal presence demanding to be captured through my phone's lens. As I shared offerings with them, more emerged from the misty shadows like spirits of the forest.

This morning in Mussoorie was more than a series of moments; it was a reunion with a forgotten part of myself. In the embrace of the Himalayas, where heaven touches earth, I rediscovered the profound Truth that We are Connected - humans, animals, mountains, and sky - in an eternal dance of being.

Healing Power of Mantras: Transforming Health with Sound

THE LIFE GUIDANCE

Seerat Kaur Marwaha

If a person believes they are healthy and holds a positive mindset, their body adapts to align with that reality

Mantras have a certain sound frequency that is deeply healing, resonating with the body's energy fields and promoting wellness. Some mantras, such as the Mahamrityunjaya Mantra, are known for their powerful vibrations that can aid in recovery and longevity. Similarly, Bajrang Baan is chanted to invoke Lord Hanuman's unwavering devotion and strength to assist in times of dire need. Beyond the sound itself, the intention and faith behind these prayers play a pivotal role in their effectiveness.

A fascinating story demonstrates the profound impact of sound and intention on healing. Imagine being told that a cancerous tumor could disappear within three minutes-without medication, surgery, or medical intervention. It might sound impossible, but this is precisely what was observed in China, where a man diagnosed with a bladder tumor experienced spontaneous healing through an ancient practice. Several Qigong practitioners, experts in Chinese alternative medicine, surrounded the patient. Without administering any medicine or performing any surgical procedure, they began chanting high-vibrational words in their native language, which loosely translated to "already gone" and "healed." Their voices carried unwavering conviction, and their collective focus was on the complete eradication of the tumor and the total healing of the patient. As they chanted, a live ultrasound sonogram was attached to the patient, displaying the tumor in real time. Miraculously, the sonogram showed the tumor gradually decreasing in size as the chanting continued. Within minutes, the tumor had completely vanished. What had just occurred? Could the power of words and intention have rewritten the body's physical state? If our emotions and intentions can alter the very fabric of our physical reality-dissolving a tumor within minutes-what impact do our daily emotions, thoughts, and words have on our lives? Every thought, whether conscious or subconscious, sends signals to our body, influencing our well-being. Negative self-talk, fear, and stress can manifest as illness, while positive affirmations, gratitude, and high vibrations foster healing and prosperity. Science, too, provides compelling evidence supporting this phenomenon. Dr. Masaru Emoto, a Japanese scientist, conducted groundbreaking research on the effect of words, intentions, and emotions on water molecules. In his experiments, he exposed water to different words, sounds, and intentions. Water that was blessed with loving and affirming words formed beautifully symmetrical, intricate crystals when frozen, while water exposed to hateful words and negative energy formed chaotic, distorted structures. Given that the human body is composed of nearly 60% water, his research suggests that our words and emotions have a direct impact on our physical health. Another example comes from epigenet-ics, a field of science that explores how gene expression is influenced by environmental factors, including emotions and thoughts. Dr. Bruce Lipton, a renowned biologist, has shown that our beliefs and perceptions can directly influence our genes. Conversely, chronic stress and negative emotions can activate harmful genetic expressions, leading to illness. Mantra chanting is a practice that bridges spirituality and science. The vibrations created by chanting mantras stimulate the vagus nerve, which plays a crucial role in the parasympathetic nervous system-the body's natural healing and relaxation response. This leads to reduced stress, lower blood pressure, and improved immune function. Studies have shown that chanting 'Om' or other sacred syllables induces a state of deep relaxation and harmony, which is essential for the body's natural healing mechanisms. The story of the bladder tumor disappearing within minutes is not an isolated case. Many ancient traditions, including Ayurveda, Tibetan Buddhism, and indigenous healing practices, have long recognized the power of sound and intention in healing. In the Hindu tradition, Vedic chants and Sanskrit mantras are used for their precise vibrational frequencies, designed to bring balance and restoration to the body and mind. Similarly, Gregorian chants in Christianity and Sufi whirling meditations use sound and movement to connect with higher consciousness and promote healing. If a tumor can dissolve through focused intention and sound, consider what your everyday emotions, intentions, and words are doing to your body and your life. Every time you engage in self-criticism, worry, or anger, you send disharmonious vibrations through your system. Conversely, when you speak words of love, gratitude, and healing, you create an environment conducive to well-being and success. This is why it is essential to practice mindful speech and positive affirmations. Mantras such as "I am healthy, I am whole" or "I am blessed with abundance" are not just empty words-they carry a frequency that can shift your reality. Whether through prayer, chanting, or daily affirmations, aligning your words with healing intentions can reshape your life in ways you never imagined. In the end, the power of healing lies within us. Science is beginning to catch up with ancient wisdom, proving that our thoughts, words, and intentions play a vital role in our well-being. Let us use this knowledge wisely-eliminating negative self-talk and embracing words of health, prosperity, love, and blessings. When we do, we don't just change our mindset; we transform our reality.
